Jack Trudeau, chairman of the Dance Committee announced that the Kiwanis Dance would be held on February 6th and that no invitation would be sent out this year but instead everyone would be invited and cards placed about the city. Novel arrangements are being introduced for this dance and an excellent time is expected at this annual affair. Morley Wyman, chairman of Publicity, asked that all committee chairmen hand in to him a report of their committees so that due publicity can be given of the activities of the club.

Education is Subject

The speaker of the day was introduced by P. C. MacLaurin while Ross Stiver expressed Kiwanian appreciation for the splendid address. Mr. Pickering has had a brilliant career in Education and his address was timely and interesting. "Long ago a Greek philospher said that knowledge was Power" said Mr. Pickering was "that falsehood, led to the idea that children's heads were hollow and that it was the task of education to cram them full of knowledge to be squeezed out at examination time. This idea was changed in the 19th century. Herbart, a philosopher, taught his students that the purpose of education was not to cram the child full of knowledge but to develop their mental power. His idea was that the child's mind was like the other systems of the body and was developed in much the same way that the muscles of the body were developed".

Mr. Pickering stated that from this school of thought came a definition of which he was fond and is "Education is what you have left when you have forgotten all that you have learned." "One can always recognize an educated men whether he is a walking encyclopaedia or not', said the speaker. Mr. Pickering told his listeners that recently a conflict had started between that idea of education and another that started about the same time. Pestalozzi in Switzerland and Froebel in France reached other conclusions", said Mr. Pickering. "They concluded that the child's mind was not plastic clay to be moulded by the teacher but that it was a living organism that grew by its own thinking and planning and its own doing. Froebel argued that the duty of the school was not to cram knowledge into a child but to surround him with proper environment."

Fanny's Title

By BUD OVERMAN

Fanny Regal had always lived with her aunt and uncle in a medium-priced apartment. She had studied music and art and elocution (called expression, which was too strong a word entirely for the instruction she had!) and had been prepared hopefully by her aunt for a legacy that had been long looked for.

And now the legacy had come! Uncle Regal quickly bought in Fanny's name a beautiful country estate some thirty miles out of the city, according to the genial realtor who closed the deal.

"And now, Fanny," said Aunt Regal, "your estate is much, much larger than we hoped it might be, and there is no use in letting yourself be married off to some commoner. You will marry a title. You can well afford it, dear. And I'll get you the title, see?"

And, sure enough, they hadn't been in the new house two weeks before a prince was invited to visit them for the week-end.

"So lucky you've been trained to sing a little and play a little and speak nice pieces," said her aunt to Fanny. "It will stand you in good stead now that you are to marry into royalty my dear."

"Oh, but, aunty!" expostulated Fanny with a pretty blush. "Nothing is settled yet, you know. Why, I haven't even seen this prince of yours and he hasn't seen me."

"Well, I must say," admitted her aunt, "he certainly isn't much for looks. Skinny old thing, to tell the truth. But when he sees you, my dear—you're remarkably pretty, you know—and then with the pennies you have . . ."

"It's a pity that the head gardener isn't a prince," mused Fanny.

She looked at the gardener wistfully. She found occasion to ask him how hollyhocks were planted and taken care of.

"You like hollyhocks?" asked the gardener gravely.

"Oh, yes," said Fanny. "When I was a little girl, Sims, we had a book at home showing English gardens, and they always seemed to have tall hollyhocks nodding in such a gracious manner. Of course, that sounds silly—but they did look like that—really!"

"It doesn't seem a bit silly to me," he replied, as he bent over some very fine bulbs he was planting himself. "Weston! Wheel the barrow over fifty yards west there—to the bed I've been having smoothed."

"Don't talk to these gardeners, child," scolded her aunt. "They charge us an incredible sum for the work anyhow. Why that head gardener had a college degree, if you'll believe it."

And so Fanny found that Sims would talk a little about college and hollyhocks and the bugs that bother rose bushes.

The night that the prince arrived found Fanny weeping stormily in the garden pergola. "Skinny old thing!" she wailed between sobs.

"Who?" demanded a voice at her elbow.

And then she was telling Sims all about it, and some way or other his arms went around her to comfort her and pretty soon—well, well—these things will happen—he kissed her! And Fanny, having been brought up very strictly by her watchful aunt, considered themselves engaged immediately and Sims willingly agreed to hustle right off after a wedding licence. In fact, he was more than willing.

And when they came back next morning to the estate Fanny expected her aunt to marvel at the romance of it all. Instead her uncle told Winfield Sims that he was a rascally fortune hunter.

"As far as that doggoned prince was concerned," said Uncle Regal to Fanny, quite as if her husband were not there at all, "you didn't miss a thing. It seems he gave his real name all right but I had some detectives look him up, and say! He didn't have a title any more'n I have—the faker! Why, he'd served time in a penitentiary—and he—"

"Oh, oh, oh!" laughed Fanny. "I believe I'm going to be a character reader or whatever they're called. I didn't like his looks at all and Win didn't like him either. Did you, Win?"

Winfield Sims did not hear his new wife. He was staring with horror-stricken eyes at a telegram that a servant had just put into his hands. "My—brother has been killed—hunting. They cabled the New York lawyer and he telegraphed that I—I must go home at once."

"Did you think so much of this brother?" asked Aunt Regal uneasily as she looked at his suddenly deep-lined face.

"I haven't seen him for eight years," confessed Winfield. "But, you see, it will take Fanny away from you—I'll inherit the title now and I'll just about have to live at home to take charge of things. You see, I wanted to make my own way and I decided on expert gardening. I never thought of inheriting the title because there is only eighteen months' difference in age between Steven and me. Poor Steven! Will you mind—much—living abroad, Fanny, darling?"

And so, after all, Aunt Regal had her way and Fanny married a title.

FEARS OF GERMAN

Both Belgium and the Netherlands followed up a week-end of military preparedness moves with official declarations that their views on the international situation were formed only on information from sources controlled by themselves.

The German version of the scare in the low countries over the possibility of a Nazi invasion to sidestep the French Maginot Line was that the anxiety was "made in Paris", to "provoke" Germany into an aggressive move against those two neutral neighbors.

Belgium had found the situation sufficient to warrant calling technicians in a next-to-final mobilization step, while the Netherlands had cancelled military and naval leaves. The joint steps gave the two nations close to 1,000,000 men under arms.

Must Be Alert.

John Cudahy, the United States Ambassador who arrived here early today from Dublin by way of Paris, was understood to be under urgent orders from Washington to assume full powers as quickly as possible. He is former minister to Ireland.

The coming of the American envoy was on the heels of unexplained consultations between the Belgian foreign minister, Paul Henri Spaak, and the ambassadors of Germany, Great Britain and France.

Arrange For German Coal.

A Belgian economic delegate, who just returned from Germany, is reported to have arranged for continued imports of German coal and smoother passage of Belgian exports to Germany.

The delegate, director of commercial treaties at the foreign office, went to Berlin late last month, primarily concerned, it was said, with the coal question.

It was undrstood at that time Belgium could not continue indefinitely to fulfill her part of a pre-war iron and coal exchange agreement with France, if German coal shipments were cut off and she were forced to rely on Belgian-mined coal.

It was explained that while coal mined in Germany might not find its way to French steel mills, the imports would release for export to France Belgian coking coal which otherwise would have to be reserved for Belgium's own use.

Egg Prices Improve, Butter Easier

Toronto, Jan. 17 — Fractional price upturns were shown by eggs on the Toronto open produce market yesterday, while butter prices continued to drift downward.

Light receipts gave the egg market a firmer tone. With demand improving and previously accumulated stocks fairly well cleared, A-large eggs firmed to a range of 21 1-2c to 22c in the graded section. Other grades also advanced. Inspected shipments sold at a 1-2c premium above the prevailing prices.

Trading was extremely slow on the butter market—too slow to establish representative prices. Sellers were unable to interest buyers in offerings and first-grade Ontario creamery solids eased to a nominal price of 27 1-4c.

Montreal Produce

Butter — First grade creamery prints, jobbing price, 29c; first grade solids, jobbing price, 28 1-2c.

Eggs—Graded shipments in used free cases, selling price, A-large, 23c; A-medium, 21c-21 1-2c; A-pullet, 20c; B-large and C, unquoted. Receipts, 623 cases.

LIVESTOCK

Montreal, Jan. 17 — (CP)—Although prices held steady on Montreal Livestock Markets today, turnover was so light cattle and lamb markets could not be established, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Veal calves remained unchanged at $9 for common lights to $11.50 for choice qualities. Grassers traded at $5.25.

Bacon hogs drew $9.35 fed and watered. Selects made $1 premium with regular cuts on off grades. Sows ranged from $6.75 to $7.25 while hogs sold on rail grade, brought $12.40 hot weight.

Toronto, Jan. 17—(CP)— Trade in cattle was slow up to mid-session on the Toronto Livestock Market with sales too few to establish prices. The calf, lamb and sheep sections were steady. No price was established for hogs. The cattle holdover from Tuesday was 300 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: cattle 780, calves 160, hogs 920, sheep and lambs 40.

A few lots of butcher steers and heifers sold at $6.25-$7.50, butcher cows selling at $4.25-$5.50 and a few fed calves at $8-$9.

Choice veal calves made $12-$13 with common lights selling downward to $7.

Previous close on hogs was $9.10 off-truck for bacon and $12.10-$12.25 dressedweight.

Lambs sold at $10.50-$10.75 for good ewes and wethers with others at $8-$10.

Sheep ranged from $3-$6 cwt.

HEPBURN, DREW

No Wish to Divide Opinion

Mr. Cross said the government did not wish to divide public opinion on the matter in time of war and was dropping any move to make the extension compulsory. Another change from original intention is that the bill will not become effective until after the next municipal elections.

Included in the act's provisions are municipal councils, school boards, technical school boards, utilities commissions, transportation commissions, library boards, parks boards, police village boards and generally all municipal bodies appointed or elected for a definite term.

The question set forth in the act to be asked of the electors in these municipalities deciding to take a vote is: Are you in favor as a wartime measure under the local Government Extension Act, 1940, of the municipal council elected for 1941 holding office for the term of two years?

Purpose of Bill Economy

Mr. Cross said the purpose of the bill was economy in war time.

In a surprise speech, Col. Drew condemned alleged inefficiency by the government of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and found himself echoed a few minutes later by Premier Hepburn who expressed general agreement with Col. Drew's indictment.

Whereas Col. Drew largely confined himself to general allegations of unpreparedness, Premier Hepburn cited specific examples of what he said was lack of speed in equipping the armed forces.

"Let no one suggest that these are matters which do not concern the members of a Provincial Parliament," said Col. Drew. "It will be a sorry day for Canada if the doctrine is ever accepted that interest in the successful prosecution of this war is the exclusive prerogative of members of the House of Commons. Every Canadian is engaged in this war."

Col. Drew alleged delay in equipping the Canadian forces, failure to train adequate replacement personnel, poor treatment of men who quit jobs and tried to enlist and could not. He urged the creation of a defence service corps, on a non-combatant basis, to guard utilities and to provide a reservoir of trained men.

No Reason to be Secretive

"Why should there be any pretence that we are satisfied with what the Dominion Government is doing when nearly every man you meet is talking about the inefficiency of our war efforts," asked Col. Drew. "There is no reason why this war should be waged in secrecy as though it were some shameful thing. From every part of Canada comes the demand that our full fighting strength be organized at the earliest possible moment. Never was there greater unity in Canada than there is today. That unity must not be destroyed by nerveless indecision."

Col. Drew repeated his contention that the guarding of public utilities is a national obligation to be performed by armed forces under military discipline. Danger to the utilities rose from a federal act, the declaration of war.

The policy of leaving the guarding of these utilities to non-federal authorities might lead to private armies.

Threat Within Canada

Men of great skill and reckless courage will attempt to destroy utilities in Canada, prophesied Col. Drew. It would be criminal folly to ignore the seriousness of the threat within Canada.

Col. Drew said he had recommended that the work of guarding utilities should be undertaken by a voluntary force made up of those who could not be accepted for the time being into the C.A.S.F. because of age or any other reason, but who would be fit for non-combatant duty. He suggested the name of the non-combatant force be the Defence Service Corps.

If such an organization were to be set up, it was vital that the task be undertaken immediately. Veterans' organizations could help.

Col. Drew continued:

"We are fighting to preserve democracy and democracy begins at home. The best way to prove our faith in democracy is to maintain the first principle of democracy which is free speech. I intend to assert that right. Only if those things are said in public, which are being said today on all sides in private, will there be any hope of that vigorous direction of our war efforts which will assure the effective organization our manpower and resources for the defence of freedom and security of Canada."

Says Statement Inaccurate

On Oct. 27, Prime Minister King said: "For weeks before as the clouds of war were gathering, we had quietly, but none the less effectively, been preparing for the eventuality of war."

That statement of the Prime Minister's was inaccurate, said Col. Drew. When Mr. King made the statement there were men who had been in the army for eight weeks and hadn't been supplied with underwear, socks, shirts, boots, nightwear, service uniforms, razors and other essentials.

"But in spite of the glaring inaccuracy of Mr. King's statement, those who knew the facts kept silent in the hope that there were men in his cabinet who would force him to act. That hope has not been fulfilled."

The situation with respect to equipping the troops was disgraceful, alleged Col. Drew. The Canadian public was being lulled into false security by "the propaganda speeches of the Prime Minister and the members of his cabinet."

"The enemy is now being misled by these speeches," he said. "It is only Canadians themselves who are being fooled. We are asked to become a nation of ostriches and hide our heads in the sands of censorship."

Premier Hepburn declared there should be no unemployment in Canada. Every man should be engaged in Canada's war effort, either in civil life or in the army.

"Naturally he (Col. Drew) knows where I stand in this matter," said Mr. Hepburn. "The leader of the Opposition and I agree on those matters which are basic."

Prime Minister King had said that Canada had been preparing for and anticipating the war for two years, said Mr. Hepburn. Yet it was only after he was in hospital with pneumonia that Lieut. Colin Campbell former Minister of Public Works, now in the Royal Canadian Engineers, could obtain cloth for a great coat.

"If he had died, he would have died because of the neglect of the Dominion Government," said Mr. Hepburn, nodding to Lieut. Campbell who sat in the house, still being member for Sault Ste. Marie.

No Uniform for 90 Days

Mr. Hepburn said he had been told by military officers that some recruits in the Canadian Active Service Force had developed active tuberculosis as the result of being improperly clad. They were given underwear "not fit to be put on a human being and footwear that wouldn't last two weeks."

One case brought to his attention was of a man who didn't have a uniform for 90 days after he was in the army. He was kept on night duty and developed a continuous cold. He was discharged and the Federal Government offered him $15 to buy a new suit.

"This war is going to break out on a colossal scale, on a scale hitherto unknown," said Mr. Hepburn. "There will be a great demand for men and we're going to commit the colossal blunder of sending half-trained men to battle, aviators not half-trained will face Germans who have trained for years. The men who do it will answer some day, regardless of the radio speeches. No one is listening to that bunk. There are too many soldiers around to tell the truth."

One Example Cited

The Premier said the new mental hospital at St. Thomas had been turned over to the Department of National Defence. Ontario evacuated 1,300 patients and staff in six days. Two and a half months later there were 30 men of the Royal Canadian Air Force in the buildings and 30 outside to guard them.

Ontario will campaign in 1940 to bring United States tourists to the province, using favorable exchange rates on American funds as one point in the tourists' advantage, Premier Hepburn said.

The Provincial Tourist Publicity Bureau is to be reorganized and a "high class man" named director, the Premier announced.

Compulsory pasteurization of milk in Ontario was already showing fruits in the reduced incidence of tuberculosis among children, the Premier said he had been told by several doctors.

Control Amply Justified

The Premier said the control given the Ontario Municipal Board over capital expenditures by municipalities has been amply justified in the improved condition of municipal finances. Despite the war, the government hoped to maintain and extend the financial aid given municipalities.

Amendments to the Income Tax Act to make life insurance annuities taxable, in lines with suggested Federal tax revisions, were hinted by Premier Hepburn.

"We follow the Dominion Government fairly closely on taxing legislation and will probably do the same," the Premier said, mentioning that taxation of insurance annuities had been proposed for the coming session of Parliament.

The Premier's only other reference to taxes was his declaration that an amendment will be made to the Succession Duties Act to prevent another court controversy.

TWO VITAL

So intense was the cold that the attackers ran forward with their arms folded for warmth, rifles slung on their backs. Finnish machine-gunners held their fire until the Russians could be slaughtered most economically, and the charge broke. The number of dead was not known.

Passes Ruined Village

Leaving Finnish troops billeted in a camouflaged tent, in a series of dugouts and in a sheltered farmhouse, I was taken on the narrow road by automobile past a village of which only blackened chimneys remain. We crossed a bridge which the Finns were mining, and transferred to a low, two-passenger sled for four miles more Men on horseback towed their captain and adjutant who were on skis.

On the border, the party stopped at a farmhouse while ski troops fanned out to reconnoiter.

I walked with others for an hour through a tree-blocked valley, past Finnish dugouts and through gaps in barbed-wire entanglements. The Finns had felled the trees to make way for artillery action, the stumps and logs remaining to guard against Russian tanks.

On Russian soil, we prowled for more than an hour in a clearing beside a frozen lake.

(Hawkins' description of the location indicates this probably was Tuulijaervi, a narrow lake about five miles inside Russia.)

Although there was a skirmish here two days previously, no warlike sounds broke the wintry silence.

The sun faded early, and we made our way back by the dim light of a quarter moon. The patrol stopped occasionally to listen intently and peer into side-paths into the woods.

Back at the tent that was headquarters, my captain-host served a dinner that included cocktails, beef stewed with macaroni and coffee, followed by cigars. The staff lolled on blankets, toasting their bare feet at the camp stove.

Still farther behind the line, at a modern railway base, I had breakfast in bed, served by two members of the Lotta Svard, the Finnish Women's Auxiliary Corps.

Have Broad Scope

The proposed ministry, it was explained, would have a broader scope than the present ministry of economic warfare headed by Ronald Cross. The present ministry's tasks are confined principally to contraband control.

While some sections of the Press termed the Hore-Belisha resignation a "closed incident," others expressed disappointment that statements by the former War Secretary and Prime Minister Chamberlain in the House of Commons yesterday failed to disclose specific reasons for the change.

Mr. Chamberlain's statement that "it may not be long" before Mr. Hore-Belisha may serve in another position added to speculation that he might become the Economic Minister.

Also revived was talk of the appointment of a Defence Minister in charge of the entire army, navy and air force. The First Lord of the Admiralty, Winston Churchill, has been mentioned for the post.

Comment of Times

The Times commented:—

"Two years ago the need for securing the most complete coordination of the means of defence by sea, land and air was uppermost in the public mind. No one would claim on the whole that the work has yet been accomplished."

Sir Noel Charles has been appointed Minister to Italy, giving added importance to the British Legation at Rome headed by Ambassador Sir Percy Loraine. Britain has both an Ambassador and Minister to France.

Sir Noel was Counsellor to the Rome Embassy, and although his duties remain the same, he now outranks Counsellors to other Embassies.

Possibly the result of action at sea, a large oil tanker of unidentified nationality exploded in flames and broke in half last night off the southwest English coast. The crew was reported rescued.

CANADA WAR LOAN

Limited to $200,000,000

Financial experts said that the books probably will be closed tomorrow night as it was suggested earlier that three days were necessary for all citizens wishing to participate to get their orders registered. When the loan was originally announced it was stated that the books were to be open a maximum of two weeks but could be closed at any time at the discretion of the Finance Minister.

Many Conversions

In addition to the cash subscriptions, it also was announced that a number of offers had been received to convert three-per-cent Dominion of Canada bonds due next March 1 into first war loan bonds. This Dominion of Canada issue was a $115,000,000 loan to cover note issue by the Bank of Canada and the great bulk of the bonds still is held by the Bank of Canada. Col. Ralston said he would accept offers to convert whatever of these bonds are held by the public.

The war loan was well received from the time the books opened Monday morning. In the first day, suscriptions amounted to $114,650,000, more than half the total offered for sale. By early yesterday afternoon, the total climbed to $136,717,950 and during the afternoon the entire amount was taken up and the oversubscription registered.

Ready Response

Appealing to citizens in every walk of life and pointing the campaign at the small wage earner under the slogan "Make Your Dollars Fight For Freedom," the government found a ready response with the issue, considered highly attractive from an investment standpoint.

The Bank of Canada made public many large subscriptions and disclosed last night that 45 Canadian mining companies applied for a total of $45,000,000 worth of the bonds.

LABOR REQUESTS MANY CHANGES IN LABOR ACT

Want Legislation to Prohibit Interference by Employers With Workers Exercising Right to Form or Join Union

OTHER REQUESTS

Toronto, Jan. 17—(CP)—Legislation to prohibit interference by employers with workers in exercising their right to form or join a labor union, was asked today of the Ontario Government by a deputation from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

The deputation's brief said labor desired to avoid all unnecessary controversy in the present critical period. The government could aid by passing the legislation suggested and also by giving labor representation on boards and commissions where labor's interests are particularly effected.

Other points in the brief were:

Enactment of legislation to prohibit the issuance by local judges of injunction in labor disputes until both parties to the dispute have been afforded an equal opportunity to be heard.

Carrying on of essential public works to relieve unemployment and higher relief scales for those forced to depend on relief.

Increased enforcement of the Minimum Wage Act as it applies to women, girls and boys under 19.

Lessening of the restrictions in the Workmen's Compensation Act so as to bring more workers under its provisions.

Statutory provision giving workers two hours off with pay on election days.

The brief alleged that the Industrial Standards Act finds its purposes frustrated "under the unfriendly administration of the present board."

"We therefore firmly ask that the board be reconstituted under a new chairman and labor representative included in its membership," the brief said.

Two Men Killed When Explosion Wrecks Unit Dupont Powder Works

Gibbstown, N.J., Jan. 17 (AP)—Two men were killed today and a third was injured in a nitroglycerine explosion that wrecked a unit of the Dupont Company powder works and shook an area of 20 miles.

A company announcement listed the dead as: Earl Leslie Harbison, 30, Clayton, N.J.; Edward M. Bundens, Jr., 31, Paulsboro, N.J.

Although 500 yards away from the blast-torn unit of the Repauno plant of the company here, Raymond Hicks, Gibbstown, was injured by the explosion.

Paul C. Kaiser, General Manager of the works, said the extent of Hicks' injuries had not been determined.

Residents of a half dozen southwestern New Jersey towns and of parts of Philadelphia 12 miles north, crowded sidewalks for half an hour after the mid-morning shock—fearing an earthquake.

Most distant report of the shock came from Lakehurst—65 miles away.

Company officials said the dead men were in or near the small unit at the centre of the detonation.

Terrific Struggle With Mad Dog Related by Woman

Sudbury, Ont., Jan. 17—(CP)—Mrs. C. Hass, of Bigwood, 38 miles south of Sudbury, told from a hospital bed here today of a terrific struggle with a mad dog that broke its chains and attacked her as she walked down a Bigwood Street.

The attack occurred Monday and Mrs. Hass is in serious condition. She said the dog bit her hip and then her arms as she fought with the snarling animal in the snow.

She was given first aid treatment at Bigwood then brought here. Vaccine treatment for rabies is being given her.

DIES IN N.Y. HOTEL

New York, Jan. 17.—(CP)—William R. Clark, 63, of St. Mary's, Ont., was found dead in bed in his room in a downtown (Hotel Roosevelt) hotel here last night. Mr. Clark was said to have suffered a heart seizure shortly after checking in at the hotel and was attended by the house physician, Dr. S. B. Ross. When Dr. Ross went to room last night he found Mr. Clark dead.

BEAR'S GUARDIANS HAVE PROBLEM

Fredericton, Jan. 17 (CP) Major T. C. Barker and Rev. J. S. Wetmore have a problem. They were named guardians of a young black bear, mascot of the 89th Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery, before the Battery went to Brantford, Ontario, last week for further training. Neither guardian wants the bear, so anyone desiring it for a household pet will be welcome.

Chicago, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Naomi Taylor's odyssey ended today in the Summerdale Avenue police station.

She forged through a snowstorm before dawn to tell of her wandering since November 4, the day she disappeared while taking $447.62 to the bank for her employer.

Lieutenant Michael Ahern said Miss Taylor, 28, told this story:—

Notified by her employer that she would be laid off from her one-day-a-week job as cashier at a meat market she decided not to deposit the money but to have "one glorious fling and then come back and face the music".

First she flew to New York where she saw six Broadway shows. Then she flew to Washington and saw the sights. Another plane took her to San Francisco and still another to Los Angeles and Hollywood.

"I looked at the homes of many of the movie stars and tried to get a job, but I'm too fat. Men don't like fat women. That's one reason I want to go to jail—to reduce. I've tried dieting but I haven't got the will power."

Miss Taylor exhibited a card from a drug store scale. One side gave her weight—210. The other told her "fortune"—"Your pleasant manner will make you many friends".

"A lot of good that will do me," she sighed.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Tower of London"

Here in sanguinary detail you see Richard III rise to power in the 15th century over six or seven rival contestants for the throne of England.

The screen version has been adapted carefully from the pages of history and the result is that with its great cast, wonderful English splendor and marvelous setting "Tower of London" is a story of a bygone century, but as new to that world of today, as tomorrow's daybreak.

Barbara O'Neil as Queen Elizabeth, Ian Hunter as King Edward IV, Vincent Price, as Duke of Clarence, Nan Grey as Lady Alice Barton, Ronald Sinclair as Boy King Edward and Boris Karloff as Mord, head the cast of thousands seen in the production which required one year to produce and which takes 90 minutes to present.

An all-star musical comedy and amusing technicolor cartoon offering precede the showing of the above which will continue at the McCarthy two more days.

AT THE BELLE

Garbo

"Ninotchka", Greta Garbo's first picture in two years, and the Swedish stars first venture into gay, sophisticated romantic comedy, is the attraction now at the Belle Theatre. Directed by Ernest Lubitsch and filled with characteristically whimsical "Lubitsch touches" the picture presents the world with an entirely new Garbo.

She plays Ninotchka, a girl reared in the stern code of Soviet Russia, who is sent to Paris on a government mission. There, in contact with the gayeties of the French capital, she changes her severe Russian garb for Paris fashions, falls in love with a debonair French count, played by Melvyn Douglas, and fails in negotiations to sell the confiscated jewels of a Russian grand duchess. The duchess, also in love with the count, trades the jewels on condition that Ninotchka returns to Russia at once. But the wily count manoeuvres until Ninotchka is sent on another mission to Constantinople where he induces her to marry him.

Garbo plays her first scenes in plain, almost unattractive garb, then blossoms out in gorgeous Adrian creations. Melvyn Douglas is her leading man for the second time having appeared opposite her in "As You Desire Me". A hilarious new comedy team is introduced in Felix Bressart, Sig Rumann and Alexander Granach, playing three Russian commissars who completely "Go Paris" during their visit to the French capital. Ina Claire [illegible] the grand [illegible] gosi the stern chief commissar. Gregory Gaye, Rolfe Sedan, Edwin Maxwell and Richard Carle are others in the picture.

Based on a story by Melchoir Lengyl, "Ninotchka while filled with comedy situations and brilliant dialogue, also has [illegible] gripping drama for Garbo, [illegible] comedy predominates.

The star dances a modern dance to swing music, sings a French chansonette and introduces a new "Garbo hat" among other gay things she does in the new picture.

Scenes in beautiful St. Augustine Florida, in technicolor, and a clever M.G.M. miniature will be exhibited on the same program.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Destry Rides Again"

The fiercest feminine fist-fight ever brought to the screen has Marlene Dietrich and Una Merkel for the principals in Universal's "Destry Rides Again", next at the Capitol.

Real Rough-House

James Stewart, who co-stars with with Miss Dietrich in the spectacular frontier picture, also is embroiled in the fight and he emerged from it with a black eye as proof that the fist-throwing was real.

Both Miss Dietrich and Miss Merkel likewise received cuts and bruises during the five days the conflict took to film. They pulled hair, clawed faces, wrestled around the floor and wound up with a drenching when Stewart poured buckets of water on them in an attempt to separate the embattled pair. The fight then continued with Marlene throwing glassware and other handy objects at Stewart.

Star is Injured

Stewart, in shielding himself, jabbed the end of a chair leg against his eye and for days thereafter he nursed a discolored orb. The battlers agreed their efforts were worth it. The result is rated the feminine counterpart of that memorable fight in "The Spoilers".

Besides these three stars, "Destry Rides Again" boasts an imposing supporting cast that includes Mischa Auer, Charles Winninger, Brian Donlevy, Irene Hervey, Allen Jenkins, Warren Hymer, Billy Gilbert and many others.

FREIGHTER GRACIA IS DAMAGED

Explosion Occurs After Vessel Leaves Port, Crew is Saved, Freighter is Beached

London, Jan. 17 (CP)—The British freighter Gracia, 5,642 tons, was damaged in the Irish Sea today by an explosion an hour after she had left a northwest English port. She was beached.

The Italian freighter Ernani, 6,619 tons, rammed the lightship Etrake. The lightship remained afloat, but was badly damaged and the Ramsgate lifeboat took off her crew.

Nearby, the Italian freighter Premuda, 4,427 tons, ran aground and lifeboats from Walmer, Ramsgate and Margate rescued her crew of 30.

YOUTH SENTENCED TO FIVE-YEAR TERM

Windsor Ont., Jan. 17—(CP)—Raymond Haggerty youthful Windsor gunman was sentenced today to five years in Portsmouth Penitentiary on an armed robbery charge. The 21-year-old man was arrested when he held up Mike Kennedy Jan. 6 but his victim grabbed him.

DEFEAT MOTION BY AMENDMENT

County Council Did Not Concur in Resolution From Another County

Motion for concurrence in a resolution forwarded by another county to the effect that companies owning telephone and hydro lines operating along county road systems, should bear 100 percent of the cost of removal or transfer of such properties, was defeated by an amendment to file the communication by a 13-12 vote today when Hastings County Councillors inaugurated the January business session with mild debate.

Discussion which preceded the vote brought out the opinion of some members that the passing of such legislation would bring a heavy financial burden on the shoulders of small municipally-owned telephone companies.

A Department of Highways representative present told council that under present regulations, the company which owned the lines paid 50 percent of the cost of labor, and all that of material, while the county involved paid the remaining 50 percent. "This however, was subsidized by the department so that the actual cost to the county was only 25 percent.

Reeve James Bell told council that in his opinion the companies involved made all profits accruing, and thus should bear the total cost.

"The actual cost to the county is only twenty-five per cent" Warden Churcher said, "we don't like to see the small municipal companies saddled with heavy costs." Reeve W. J. Davis concurred with the warden. "Why should we cripple these small companies, when they can't afford it."

Roads Chairman James Moore told council that at present there are a number of places in the county where lines are dangerous and should be moved, but the cost under present regulations would be so great that the county cannot ask for them to be moved.

A few years ago Deputy Reeve Jordan said, every farmer had a telephone. "Now there are miles of line, which have only two or three phones. These are vitally necessary, and if the companies are forced to pay 100 percent of the cost of removal, they may take them away altogether."

HARROW NEWS EDITOR DIES

Harrow, Ont., Jan. 17 (CP)—J. J. Pratt, 65, editor of the Harrow News, died last night at his home here. He came from Owen Sound, Ont., 11 years ago and organized a weekly paper, printed in Wheatley.

TWINS CLAIM SAME INJURY

Los Angeles, Jan. 17 (AP).—They say their backs were broken in the same place at the same time in the same automobile accident. So Louise Vento and Mrs. Josephine Bono, 18-year-old twin sisters, went to court with a $50,000 damage suit.

DOUBT EXPRESSED CONGRESS WILL GIVE FURTHER AID

Many Members Fear Additional Assistance to Finland Might Involve U.S. in War

CREATE PRECEDENT

Washington, Jan. 17—(AP)—Prominent members of the United States Congress said today there was a grave doubt that the legislature would vote further financial aid for besieged Finland.

They reported that a good many members feared additional assistance to the Baltic republic might involve the United States ultimately in war, despite President Roosevelt's contention that the extension of credit would neither constitute nor threaten such involvement.

Mr. Roosevelt put the question up to Congress yesterday with the observation that the "most reasonable" approach seemed to be an increase in the export-import bank's revolving credit fund to enable it to finance exports of American farm surpluses and manufactured products, not including implements of war.

No one, the President said, desired to create precedents which might lead to large credits to other European countries.

Chairman Robert Wagner of the banking committee expressed the opinion that there was no chance for passage of a direct loan, such as that proposed in the bill of Senator Prentiss Brown of Michigan to authorize the reconstruction finance corporation to lend Finland $60,000,000 for the purchase of anything, including arms, anywhere.

THOMAS CAIN IS EXONERATED

Trenton Motorist Charged With Reckless Driving in Death of Man

Trenton, Jan. 17—(Special)—Thomas Cain, of this town, was acquitted on a charge of reckless driving, when he appeared in local police court held before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., here yesterday. The charge had been preferred against Cain following a fatal accident, during which a motor car driven by the accused struck and fatally injured George Lesperance, Trenton, some weeks ago.

Since the accident, however, Cain has joined the Canadian Army Medical Corps and is now stationed for training at Kingston. His Worship lectured the accused at length before exonerating him, however.

Germans Experimenting With Long-Range Gun

London, Jan. 17—(CP) — The Germans are experimenting with a "Big Bertha" expected to have a 100-mile range, British newspapers reported today from Amsterdam.

(Paris dispatches last month said the Maginot Line had been reinforced and extended largely because the Germans were developing powerful, long-range artillery.)

The correspondent of the Daily Telegraph said the weapon will be more powerful than the one used to throw shells 80 miles into Paris during the first Great War. Tests now in progress are designed to increase the range and life of the gun the dispatch said.

According to the dispatch, tests of heavy-calibre guns already were underway last fall on the ranges of the Krupp works at Meppen, on the Ems River near the Netherland border. Traffic was stopped in the district to permit fire up to 60 miles.

The Amsterdam correspondent of the News Chronicle also said the new gun will have a range of 100 miles. Plans for the "super-Bertha" were worked out, he said, following tests at Meppen of an eight-inch "little Bertha."

Germany's Economic Position After 4½ Months Warfare Same As in Two Years of Past War

London, Jan. 17.—(CP Cable)—The formidable Allied economic warfare has placed Germany after 4 1-2 months in approximately the same economic straits as she was in after two years of the last war, Ronald Cross, Minister of Economic Warfare, told the House of Commons today.

In a survey of his departmental operations, Mr. Cross said that the economic attack, closely co-ordinated with France's efforts, came into operation with anticipated rapidity and gave German economy a sharp shock.

Profiting from lessons of the last war, Ministry was established and began to function the day war broke out. In addition to co-operation with the French, there is closest co-ordination with the Dominions.

"The Empire is participating as a whole in the economic war," Mr. Cross said. The whole problem of shutting off supplies into and out of Germany was more complicated than in the last war because only the French frontier is closed and the rest of Germany's neighbors are neutral, and therefore her possible channels of supply are increased.

Charges 'Thousands' of Mothers of Soldiers in 'Dire Need'

Hon. Dr. Manion Appeals to Prime Minister to See That Situation is Corrected

ISSUES STATEMENT

Ottawa, Jan. 17 (CP)—Conservative Leader Manion, in a statement issued today, charged that "thousands" of mothers whose sons enlisted for months ago are in "dire need" and are not receiving assistance in the form of dependent allowances.

Dr. Manion said he was mentioning this matter now rather than waiting until parliament meets because "these mothers should not be left in their extremity a day longer than necessary."

If the authorities do not act at once, Dr. Manion said, "I assure the government that it will be completely threshed out on the floor of the House of Commons at the first opportunity.

"I appeal to Mr. King (Prime Minister Mackenzie King) to see that this stain on Canada's war effort is wiped out immediately."

BLAST ICE JAMS AT PORT HOPE

Fears of Floods in Area Not Lessened by 22-Below-Zero Temperature

By the Canadian Press

A wave of bitter cold swept down through Ontario today, sending the mercury in most districts to the lowest points for the winter so far.

Lowest temperatures were reported from Northern Ontario. At Sudbury driving cold winds send the mercury down to 34 below zero while North Bay experienced a minimum of 24 below.

Fears of floods in the Port Hope area were not diminished despite 22 degrees below zero as corporation employees, mindful of the serious flood which developed suddenly three years ago in the Ganeraska River, began blasting ice jams. The river bed below the business section of Port Hope is filled with ice and snow and a stretch of rapids reduced to a mill pond.

Department of Highways snowplows, working all last night had nearly every main road in Stratford district in perfect condition after a two-day storm threatened to tie up motor traffic completely.

Highway is Opened

Highway No. 19 north from Stratford to Tralee, reported blocked when the storm reached its height yesterday, was open today. Highway No. 83 from Russeldale to Exeter was still very heavy but it will be in good condition today. Plows are working in that district and also on Highway No. 4 from Clinton to Wingham. A considerable amount of trouble developed on this latter road between Blyth and Wingham and it was almost blocked to traffic.

Meanwhile reports from all points of the province indicated that snow crews had succeeded in clearing away the last drifts hanging over from the heavy weekend storm.

In Western Ontario temperatures hovered just below zero with a gradual rise forecast by the London Airport meteorological Bureau.

Brilliant Sunshine

The cold wage was accompanied with brilliant sunshine and little wind was reported.

In Sudbury district the cold weather was pronounced ideal for lumbermen and timber was beginning to move over the northland trails.

The drought situation in the Niagara district, relieved in some areas by Sunday's rain, was worse again today. Farmers were hauling water many miles to supply their stock and large containers and barrels were unpurchasable in the city, the demand having exhausted the supply.

DROWNS IN BATHTUB

Philadelphia, Jan. 17 —(AP)— A Philadelphian drowned in a bathtub where he was watching two carp swim. Coroner Charles Hersch was told John Chystinowitz, 57, lost his balance or became ill and fell into the water yesterday. Why the carp were there was not established.

TRACTOR DRIVER SERIOUSLY HURT

Herbert Hewton Crushed by Tree Sustains Severe Injuries

Hubert Hewton, diesel tractor driver for the Sawyer-Stoll Lumber Company was admitted to Belleville General Hospital last night suffering with severe back and side injuries incurred in an accident in the woods near Massanoga

Hewton, it is reported, was crushed by a falling tree while doing his work. He was rushed to hospital where today he will undergo X-Ray examination by Dr. G. H. Stoble. His condition was said today to be fairly serious.

'JUST AS WELL' SAYS N. Y. TIMES

Remarks Riddle of Retirement May be Unsolved Until Memoirs Are Written

New York, Jan. 17.—(CP)—The New York Times concluded today that it is "probably just as well" for the success of Great Britain's war effort that both Prime Minister Chamberlain and Leslie Hore-Belisha were reticent in the British House of Commons Tuesday in their explanations of Mr. Hore-Belisha's resignation as Secretary of War.

"Frank disclosures on either side, followed by a quarrelsome debate, might have satisfied public curiosity, but could only have given comfort to Germany, and perhaps valuable information as well," the newspaper said editorially. "So the riddle of Mr. Hore-Belisha's sudden resignation remains unsolved. . . . .

"The actual points at issue, and the specific cause of the final break, may not be known until the actors in the drama write their memoirs. The events of the next fateful weeks may show whether, as a result of the Cabinet shift, there is to be a shift also in the basic policies underlying Great Britain's conduct of the war."

Safety Zone Discussed

In another editorial, The Times discusses Britain's note to the President of Panama yesterday which rejected the principle of the 300-mile-wide neutrality belt about the Americans, proposed by 21 American Republics including the United States. It said in part—

"A 'safty zone' covering about 5,000,000 square miles of ocean would be unenforceable except by placing a gigantic burden upon the United States Navy and heightening the very risk of involvement which the 21 Republics were trying to avoid. . . . .

"The proper course now is for the 21 American governments to approach Germany on the subject of the 'safety zone' and to discover how far Germany might be willing to restrict her war operations in American waters".

Subscriptions of $100,000 or More for Loan

Ottawa, Jan. 17 (CP)—Subscriptions of $100,000 or more in Ontario in Canada's first loan of the second Great War, as announced today by the Bank of Canada follow:

Fulford Company Ltd., Brockville, $50,000; The London and Western Trust Company Ltd., London, $50,000; The Hamilton Cotton Co., Ltd., Hamilton, $50,000;; Canadian Locomotive Co., Ltd., Kingston, $50,000; Guelph & Ontario Investment and Savings Society, Guelph, Ont., $50,000; Victoria Trust and Savings Co., Lindsay, Ont., $50,000; Silverwood Dairies Ltd., London, $75,000; Leitch Gold Mines Ltd., Toronto, $50,000; Sylvanite Gold Mines Ltd., Kirkland Lake, $50,000; City of Windsor Sinking Fund, $60,000; Stedman Brothers Limited, Brantford, $75,000; City of Brantford $75,000.

MEN AND TANKS OF THE C.A.F.V. UNDERGO WINTER TRAINING

The men and tanks of the Canadian Armored Fighty Vehicles training centre at Camp Borden are undergoing rigorous training in wintry weather with sub-zero temperatures such as those of the far-northern battlefront where the Finnish forces are battling it out with the might of Soviet Russia. Dressed in fur hats, with heavy leather sleeveless pullover, huge gloves and goggles, the recruits are out daily learning how to pilot their speedy tanks through heavy snow, ice and bushland.

40,000 Russian Legionnaires Fall Back on Arctic Salla Sector in Full Retreat — Give Up Hope of Holding Front for Winter, States Report

Helsingfors, Jan. 18—(AP)—The Finns announced tonight that their forces had pushed the Russians back 28 miles in the Salla region above the Arctic circle.

The army communique also announced that the Finns had shot down 11 Russian bombing planes in fighting yesterday. Previously it had been reported unofficially that 11 of 18 raiding Red planes had been shot down in a raid on a Lappeenranta in southern Finland.

"In Lapland," the communique said, "our troops have advanced 45 kilometres (28 miles) in the Salla sector during the past few days.

"The enemy has been pushed back from Joutsijaervi to Markajaervi, for possession of which fighting is proceeding."

Were 65 Miles Inland

Joutsijaervi is approximately 65 miles inside the Finnish border and the communique's account of fighting there was the first Finnish acknowledgment in recent accounts that the Russian trops had pushed this far into Finland. Markajaervi, northeast of Joutsijaervi, is 20 miles southwest of Salla, principal town of the region.

Dispatches received in Copenhagen last night reported a general Russian retreat in the Salla sector involving 40,000 troops.

The Russian drive westward in the Salla sector was the most direct of several aimed ultimately at cutting approximately 200 miles across Finland to capture Tornio,

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Water vapor and temperature! Water vapor in the air acts a good deal like the glass in a greenhouse. The radiated heat from the sun passes through the atmosphere leaving about 10 per cent and heating the atmosphere by that much. The earth, after being warmed up, radiates very readily but the character of its radiation is so different from that of the sun that 90 per cent is stopped and absorbed by the air. This absorption is largely due to the water vapor. Thus regions with high humidity keep warmer at night than would be the case were the air dry.

Swelling Beans Burst Vessel

San Francisco, Jan. 18—(AP)—A cargo of soya beans and not a mine which badly damaged it was the reason the 11,000 ton Danish liner Canada sank off the coast of England.

Captain Carl Knudsen, who was in command of the Canada when it struck a mine near Hull last November, revealed today that chances of taking the Canada into port for repairs were good until 8,000 tons of soya beans were swelled three times their size by sea water.

Even the steel sides of the vessel couldn't stop the swelling. The plates burst and the Canada sank in shallow water where later it was cut in two when another ship rammed it.

Captain Knudsen came to San Francisco in command of the liner Amerika.

PLANT EXPLOSION PURE ACCIDENT

No Thought of Sabotage at Dupont Plant When Two Killed by Blast

Gibbstown, N.., Jan. 18—(AP)—Explosion of three tons of nitroglycerine at the Repaupo plant of the DuPont Powder Works, killing two men and injuring five, was put down today as an accident.

That possibility drew attention of both State Police and the Federal Bureau of Investigation immediately after yesterday's mid-morning blast. The DuPont Company manufactures war materials at some plants.

The explosion shattered windows and jarred buildings for miles around. Thousands in Philadelphia 13 miles north, rushed from homes and buildings fearing an earthquake.

A 10-foot deep crater, resembling a battlefield shellhole, was torn in the frozen ground, where stood a small building devoted to processing nitroglycerine.

RECOVERS SILVER DOLLAR LOST TWENTY YEARS AGO

Baton Rouge, La., Jan. 18 (AP)—Vernon Howell, noticing his old schoolhouse was being torn down, recalled the silver dollar he lost 20 years ago. It had rolled behind a classroom baseboard. Now 20 years later, Howell dodged through debris of his old classroom, fished behind the ripped-up baseboard and came up triumphantly with his "cartwheel."

ALLIES FIGHTING WAR OF PRINCIPLE, CAMPBELL SAYS

British Ambassador to France Quotes Words of Jefferson as to 'Inalienable Right' of Man

DOMINIONS PRAISED

One of Happiest Days in British History When British Dominions Threw in Lot With Motherland

Paris, Jan. 18 —(CP—Havas)—Sir Ronald Campbell, British Ambassador to France, told the American Club of Paris today that the Allies "are fighting a war of principle, a war for every man's inalienable right, in Jefferson's words, 'to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'"

"This very principle," the Ambassador said, "was blatantly challenged in favor of a doctrine, acceptance of which would reverse the whole current history and would indeed destroy the very basis of international and private life; the doctrine that might is right.

"For our part, what could we do but accept the challenge? And the weapon of force being, very naturally, force, and in this case indiscriminate force, by force we must meet it, fighting as cleanly as we can."

Right vs. Wrong

The Ambassador asked his American audience not to "allow it to be thought that this is no more than 'just another war.'"

"It is not dynasties, nor markets, nor the balance of power, that are at stake," he said. "It is a struggle between right and wrong. And as to where right lies and where wrong, every citizen, not only of the United States, but of the whole civilized world, may properly be asked to make up his mind."

Sir Ronald described as one of the most significant dates in the history of the modern world the day on which Canada, South Africa, ew Zealand and Australia decided to throw in their lot with Great Britain in the present war.

"Twenty years ago," Sir Ronald said, "The Dominions, as they had by then become, lent us their aid with a generosity of spirit and means which no authority could have commanded. Today we are again in danger. Again they rally.

Action of Free Nations

"If in 1914 they were free to stay out of the struggle had they wished, they could count themselves even freer today. There were sceptical observers who thought that after the gifts which they made in blood and treasure 20 years ago—and who may not be excused for exclaiming "seemingly wasted gifts!— they would, if war surged up again, withhold their hands and however regretfully, shake their heads.

"It was one of the happiest days in our history—I add, one of the most significant in the history of the modern world—when within a few hours of the event Canada, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand confounded these sceptics and detractors by throwing in their lot with us unreservedly."

Car Signals to 'Wink and Blink' All Intentions of Their Drivers

Detroit, Jan. 18 (AP).—A vision of future motor vehicles "winking and blinking" the intentions of their operators was presented to the Society of Automotive Engineers Convention here today by Harry Doane, of General Motors Corporation, who said there was distinct need for a front view, flashing type of automobile direction signal.

"Since the pedestrian must be kept in mind as well as the motorist signals are necessary at both front and rear of the vehicle; they must be located so that front signals for left and right turns are plainly visible not only to an approaching motorist but also to a pedestrian standing at an intersection," Doane said.

Front and rear signals, he added, must have sufficient brilliance to be visible for 100 feet in bright sunlight.

"The necessity for front signals that must be plainly visible when headlights are on," he said, "stresses the need for a flashing type of signal."

P. J. Kent, of Chrysler Corporation, urged that the automotive industry and the motor vehicle administrators concentrate more effort on maintenance and usage problems of the automobile headlight.

"The patent office records," he asserted, "will testify to the amount of effort expended on the engineering phase of the headlight problem, and so far as headlighting has a bearing on traffic safety, the accident records testify to the neglect of the maintenance, adjustment and usage problem.

"Garage mechanics frequently aim headlamps so incorrectly that much of the engineers' development is of no consequence. Owners often will drive with one bulb out, a lens cracked, reflectors tarnished, or will neglect to shift the beams when meeting other cars."

Masonic Hall at Madoc Destroyed by Fire Yesterday

BUILT IN 1874

Madoc, Jan. 18 Special)— Fire caused by overheated pipes destroyed the Masonic Hall in Madoc on Wednesday evening. Preparations for a dance which was to be held last night had necessitated a fire in the hall all day. At five-thirty a passerby noticed smoke and gave the alarm, but the fire had made much headway and burning between the upstairs floors. Wonderful work was accomplished by the Madoc firemen who kept it under control saving the nearby residences and gas station of A. Connor. A constant supply of water by two hose from the new electric pumper recently purchased by the company gave excellent service. The hall a frame structure was built in 1874 by the Masonic Lodge No. 48. The Masons were fortunate in being able to save most of the furniture and many ancient relics of the lodge room. Particularly two gavels and a staff of great sentimental value. All their kitchen equipment was lost. The Royal Arch Masons No. 161 lost considerably. The building which is a complete ruin is partially covered by insurance. Estimated loss is $15,000.

ORDERS FOR LOAN STILL POUR IN; THANK INVESTORS

25 Per Cent Oversubscribed in Two Days — Dunning and Dandurand Thank Citizens Over Radio

GOOD INVESTMENT

Ottawa, Jan. 18—(CP)—With investors continuing to order war bonds despite the 25 per cent oversubscription of the $200,000,000 issue, Hon. Charles Dunning, former Finance Minister, and Hon. Raoul Dandurand, Government leader in the Senate, thanked Canadians for their financial support.

In a speech from Ottawa over the National network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, Mr. Dunning said the success of the loan was an encouragement to the Allies and a blow to the foe.

Speaking from Montreal over the C.B.C. French network, Senator Dandurand said the oversubscription of the loan in two days was "the most momentous economic mobilization in Canadian history." The Bank of Canada issued a statement which said the loan was oversubscribed in the shortest period ever experienced for a loan of such size in Canada.

GERMAN STEAMER STRIKES A MINE

Crew Takes to Boats and Swedish Warship Attempts Rescue in Broken Ice

Stockholm, Jan. 18 (AP). — The 2,342-ton German steamship August Thyssen sank this morning off the Aaland Islands at the mouth of the Gulf of Bothnia, after striking a mine believed to be Swedish.

The crew took to the boats which, at midday, were drifting southward, surrounded by masses of broken ice. A Swedish warship was trying to reach the survivors.

It was reported that the ship attempted to pass Understen Lighthouse on one of the Aalands without a pilot to steer the way through the field laid by Sweden and Finland between the Aalands and the Swedish mainland. She was the first ship sunk in this mine field.

The vessel was carrying iron ore from the Swedish port of Lulea to Germany.

SIR SAM HUGHES HELD AS EXAMPLE BY CECIL FROST

HUNTER CRITICAL

Toronto, Jan. 18 —(CP)— For two days the throne speech debate in the Ontario legislature has been devoted almost entirely to the Dominion Government's conduct of the war effort, rather than to Provincial affairs.

The legislators still were discussing the broadside delivered Tuesday by Premier Hepburn and Conservative Leader George Drew when Col. Fraser Hunter (Lib.-Toronto St. Patrick), a soldier with a long record, opened up yesterday in a renewal of the criticism of the Dominion administration's war policies.

Col. Hunter said, as he resumed the throne speech debate, that Canadians were wondering at scarcity of evidence of Canada's war activity. People were beginning to feel, he said, that not all the information that might be given was being given to the public.

"In this war it will go hard with the politician or the party seeking

FIFTY KILLED IN SECOND QUAKE NEAR ANKARA

Catastrophe is Second to Have Occurred in District in Past Three Weeks

160 INJURED

Series of Heavy Shocks Felt Accompanied by Terrifying Underground Rumblings

Ankara, Jan. 18 (AP)—Turkey's second major earthquake in three weeks was reported today to have killed 50 persons and injured 160 in the Nigde district, some 200 miles southeast of here.

This district, which escaped the disastrous earthquake of Dec. 28 which killed at least 30,000 persons in northeastern Anatolia, suffered a series of heavy shocks last night accompanied by terrifying underground rumblings.

New quakes were felt in the devastated region of the December shocks—about 200 miles northeast of the new quake area—but no casualties were reported from there.

In the western plains, rivers swollen by melting snow flooded 15 more villages and caused a landslide which crushed two bridges. In this region late December floods killed at least 1,300.

In the area wrecked by the Dec. 28 quake relief workers still were busy among the ruins, helping the inhabitants in their fight against cold, disease and hunger.

Fire in Vacant Que. Military Hospital Thought Incendiary

Quebec, Jan. 18 (CP).—An early morning fire which raced rapidly through Quebec's vacant military hospital "might have been set", Brig.-Gen. E. J. Renaud, Officer Commanding Military District No. 5, said today. He did not elaborate on the comment.

Coincident with the brigadier's statement came an announcement from military headquarters that a military court of inquiry, consisting of three officers, would be appointed to investigate the blaze.

"The court's personnel probably will be named today and it may sit tomorrow," an officer said. "Until then, we have nothing to say."

Nearly 12 hours after the outbreak of the fire in sub-zero weather, firemen continued to play several streams of water on the smouldering wooden interior of the three-storey structure, whose thick stone walls remained intact.

Cloaked in ice, firemen operated from vantage points on surrounding buildings and on a high stone wall, part of the city's ancient fortifications. The hospital roof collapsed while twelve streams were being poured into the building in Quebec's Upper Town.

The King and Queen Spend Hours At Aldershot Among Troops

By EDWIN JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Aldershot, England, Jan. 18—(CP Cable)—The King and Queen spent more than four hours today among their subjects in khaki who have been undergoing rigid training under the Aldershot Command.

Their Majesties did not visit the Canadian Divisional area. That will come later. But a number of Canadians had a ringside view along the route of inspection.

50-Mile Tour

In bitter cold Their Majesties toured informally more than 50 miles of troop-lined highway, many miles of which were covered on foot. They visited parade grounds, messes, cookhouses and billets. They inspected the men together and occasionally separately, the Queen meeting officers and men from famous British regiments while the King strolled along the ranks.

Wherever the Royal couple went they were greeted with roars of cheering from the troops and shouts of "God bless you" from civilian spectators.

The King was in the uniform of a Field Marshal with riding breeches, knee boots and British warm. The Queen was dressed in a Royal blue ensemble with matching hat and blue fox fur. On the side of her hat she wore the badge of the Black Watch Regiment of which she is Colonel in Chief.

There was no attempt to stage a colorful spectacle. The troops, wearing great coats over battle dress or kilts, lined up on either side of the road as Their Majesties strolled past, chatting with officers and men and occasionally shaking hands with them.

'Good Luck' to Highlanders

From time to time the Queen stopped to ask a Highlander about his clan, how long he had been in the army, and how he liked it. Before leaving the Scots she wished them good luck and God speed.

Although it was one of the bitterest days of the winter the Queen removed her fur halfway through the tour. Later she even discarded a silk scarf she was wearing. Spectators apparently felt the cold more keenly as they stood by the roadside bundled in scarves and furs, and with blankets wrapped around their legs.

Their Majesties had lunch with the general officer commanding the Aldershot command, Lieut-General Charles Broad, and then resumed their inspection. Before they took leave the men gave Their Majesties three rousing cheers while massed pipers and drummers played "happy we men altogether."

By SAM ROBERTSON

Gibbstown, N.J., Jan. 18—(AP)—
London, Jan. 18—(CP Cable) — Five men were killed and at least 50 injured in a series of terrific explosions in a London factory today.

Three rapid-fire blasts, felt over a radius of 20 miles, brought thousands tumbling into the streets in the belief German planes were bombing the Empire's capital, but police quickly circulated the assurance there had been no enemy action.

The Supply Ministry issued this communique.

"The Ministry of Supply greatly regret that an explosion occurred this morning at a factory in North London. Five men were killed and a number of employees were injured. Fortunately most of the injuries are slight. Inquiry into the causes of the accident is being made."

Several hours after the explosions flames were sweeping the plant and the loss is certain to be great. Flames leaped high in the air and a pall of smoke covered the area of London's northern outskirts.

Hundreds of Windows Blown In Windows of hundreds of residences and other factories were blown in, but the fire did not spread immediately.

While police ascribed the blasts to an accident, a statement by other officials had not been issued up to late this afternoon.

Grave-faced women and other relatives of employees kept an anxious vigil. Police established a cordon a quarter-mile from the plant and it was impossible to determine the full extent of the damage.

The extent of the casualties also was difficult to learn as the plant has it own hospital and the injured were not brought out.

Many Ceilings Collapse

In addition to thousands of windows destroyed, many ceilings collapsed, causing a number of minor casualties. Damage in the surrounding area would have been greater but for sandbags bolstering buildings and other air raid precautions.

Business Manager Of Communist Weekly Given Two-Year Term

Toronto, Jan. 18—(CP)—Douglas Stewart, 36, business manager of The Clarion, a communist weekly, was sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary on three charges of printing, circulating or distributing a newspaper or periodical containing reports or statements contrary to defence of Canada regulations. He was convicted yesterday by a general sessions jury.

"If you had been tried in Soviet Russia there is little doubt as to what would happen to you," Judge Ian Macdonnell said in pronouncing sentence.

"I'm not sentencing Stewart as a man who would commit an armed holdup. From his evidence it is not hard to tell that he is a well-educated man. I think he would do it again if given the chance."

"Quite possible, Your Honor," Stewart interrupted from the prisoner's box.

Stewart pleaded not guilty Tuesday at which time special Crown Prosecutor Walter Martin said that Sam Scarlett, Joseph Cline and Thomas Sims were charged jointly with Stewart but had not been apprehended.

The jury was told by Mr. Martin that reports or statements objected to were contained in the Nov. 11 issue of The Clarion. Approximately 200 copies of the issue were seized in a police raid on a printing shop here Nov. 13.

The statements to which the Crown objected were contained under the heading "Manifesto of the Executive Committee of the Communist International." Stewart was arrested Nov. 15.

GERMAN TRAIN AND BUS COLLIDE

Twelve Persons Killed and 20 Injured in 11th Wreck Involving Railroads Since October 8th.

Zittau, Germany, Jan. 18 (AP) — A passenger train and a bus collided at a grade crossing in a snowstorm today, killing 12 persons and injuring 20.

(The wreck was the 11th involving German railroads since Oct. 8. Buses figured in two of the others. The most serious of the series occurred at Genthin Dec. 23, when 196 persons were killed or fatally injured by the collision of two trains in the station.

TRAGIC ENDING TO JOKE

Philadelphia, Jan 18.— (AP) — The little joke Arthur Richter played on his wife for years took a tragic twist last night. He would shut off the light whenever she went to the basement, and turn it on after she protested. Last night he flicked off the light but heard no protest. Downstairs he found his wife dead. She apparently received a fatal shock from an extension line into which she had screwed a bulb.

Ebber Johnson Knocked Down Crossing Street

Ebber Johnson, 31 Cannifton Road, who is well known in Belleville and has delivered newspapers from the C.N.R. station to local news dealers for many years, was knocked down by a motor car on Front Street early last evening. Mr. Johnson was later rushed to the Belleville General hospital, where it was discovered he was suffering from a fractured leg and a badly lacerated head.

Mr. Johnson had delivered a package of papers to a customer and was about to cross Front St., in order to return to his waiting motor car, when he walked into the path of a motor car driven by Frank Thompson, 150 Station St. The driver immediately applied the brakes of his vehicle, but the icy conditions of the street made it impossible to stop immediately and his car skidded to strike the pedestrian. Detective Fred Isard investigated and reported no blame attached to the motorist.

G. Friesen Clarifies Relations of Hospital With County Council

Clearing up of an alleged misunderstanding between hospital authorities and members of the Hastings County Council, that occurred during the December session, occupied the time of that body yesterday afternoon, when Gordon Friesen, administrator of the hospital and Dr. R. Flynn, President of the Medical Staff of the hospital, addressed council with regard to certain allegations that were reported to have been laid to the County body.

A member of the County Council, it was charged by Mr. Friesen, had made the statement in the press that doctors of the city and district had received payment from the hospital for treatment of indigent patients in the Belleville General Hospital. This warranted an emphatic denial that such statements had been made, on the part of Council, and a more or less lively discussion followed.

Previous to the discussion, Mr. Friesen, administrator of the hospital, explained to council that his object in addressing the body was to clear up a misunderstanding rather than to criticize. He went into a detail explanation as to the aims of the hospital. He quoted figures regarding costs of staff, patients and the annual upkeep of the institution.

"Patients" he said, "were the first regard of the hospital." Insofar as doctors receiving payment for indigent patients, that was "absolutely ridiculous." The hospital, he said, is there to give service to patients who need it."

Summarizing hospital costs in Ontario, Mr. Friesen pointed out to council that in the 117 hospitals in Ontario, the cost per day per patient was $3.24. In the Belleville Hospital it was $3.03.

The total expenditure of the hospital for a year was $125,000 Mr. Friesen told council.

Taking issue with the alleged statement that profits made by the hospital were expended to build the new wing the administrator told council that bequests and sums set aside for depreciation that have accumulated over a long period of time and amounting to $100,000, were being used for the cost, plus borrowed money.

"We are building the new wing", he said, "so that the people of Belleville and its environs will have the type of hospital it deserves. The Belleville General Hospital, "Mr. Friesen said, "is a decided asset to the community, in that, a large number of people, injured in accidents, and otherwise in need of hospitalization, who might not have survived had the hospital not been here."

He wanted members of the county council to feel that the hospital was theirs, and they could make it one of the best in Ontario if they but give it their moral as well as financial support.

Dr. R. A. Flynn, president of the hospital medical staff, in a very brief address, enlightened members of the council as to whether medical men of the city and district were getting remuneration for services to indigent patients.

"There is not a vestige of truth in that report," he said. The services of the medical profession, insofar as indigent patients go, are free. They do not get one cent from hospital, government or any other source," he concluded.

Bancroft Police Court

The following cases were disposed of in Bancroft Police Court today by Magistrate J. L. Lloyd of Northbrook.

Wilfred Maxwell and Walter Maxwell of Bancroft and Chas. Trumble of Gunter were fined ten dollars and costs each for breaches of H.T.A.

Cory Neal, of Coe Hill, was fined $5.00 and costs for common assault.

Fred Reynolds of Baptiste, was assessed $5.00 and costs for cruelty to animals caused by throwing an axe at a cow.

Police Blotter

City police today are seeking to find the identity of a motorist, who it is alleged, failed to remain at the scene of a motor accident, when his car was struck by another automobile at the intersection of Sidney and College Sts., at midnight last night.

Robert Kells R.R. No. 5, Trenton, reported to police his automobile had collided with a parked car at that intersection late last night. "When I asked the driver of the parked car to wait until the police arrived for investigation, he refused and drove away', Kells told Sergeant Arthur Harman later at the police station as he provided the authorities with the licence plate number of the vehicle in question.

City police recovered a bicycle, which had been abandoned behind Linn's bakery on Dundas Street. The bike is being held at the police station awaiting identification.

Last night's sub-zero weather saw transients wending their way to the police station seeking warm sleeping quarters, when eleven weary and cold transients signed the police register for that purpose.

FATHER AND SON SENT TO JAIL

Floyd and Gerald Stapley Given Three Months for Theft of Ten Bags of Coal From C.N.R.

Father and son, Floyd Stapley, 49, and Gerald Stapley, 18, both of this city, were sentenced to serve three months in the common jail by Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., in today's County Police Court here. The Stapley's pleaded guilty to the theft of ten bags of coal, the property of the Canadian National Railway.

The charges were preferred by Special Agent Fred Chapman, of the C.N.R., who informed the court there had been repeated incidents of the wholesale-theft of coal from the local C.N.R. property. "This coal stealing is becoming a racket," added Constable Chapman, who later informed the court that C.N.R. Constable Taylor had apprehended the Stapley pair with the ten bags of coal in the rear of a motor car and ready to be driven away.

"There has been too much leniency shown this type of crime in the past," added Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., as he inferred a jail sentence would be in order. His Worship agreed as the jail sentence indicates.

MARMORA MAN GIVEN 3 MONTHS

James Dunlay Pleads Guilty to Multiple Break-ins and Thefts

James Dunlay, 21-year-old Marmora laborer, was sentenced to serve not less than three months, nor more than one year, in the Ontario Reformatory after he pleaded guilty to multiple break-ins and thefts throughout Thurlow Township during the past few months. Dunlay admitted the theft of two turkeys, the property of Fred Taylor, four bags of grain, stolen from Alex McLaren, a motor car defroster and other smaller articles.

Dunlay was arrested by Provincial Police two weeks ago, but only today elected summary trial and pleaded guilty to four charges of breaking, entering and theft. Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., produced the accused man's list of previous court convictions, which included three charges of breaking and entering summer cottages in the Marmora district in 1937. Dunlay was given a suspended sentence at that time.

"Apparently you did not profit by the advice and leniency shown you before and unless you change your attitude there's nothing short of penitentiary facing you in the future," warned Magistrate Butler as he sentenced the youth to the reformatory.

CHAPTER XXV

And then to find, when Gloria and Underwood walked into the Myrtle Bank Hotel, that Elise Cattrell accompanied by the impossible Stuart was already there! Barton had not seemed surprised, she thought now, although she had been so enraged at the moment she hadn't really noticed. Perhaps they had planned the meeting. Anyway, she had found it impossible to stop his tiresome monologue about what they had done and seen. He had scarcely looked at her again, nor did Elise appear to notice Gloria's apparent lack of enthusiasm at the reunion. Only Stuart, by occasional quick scowls, had seemed aware that she was with them.

And that embarrassing moment in the hotel dining room! Gloria stamped up the ladder as she recalled the rankling scene. In an attempt to draw Barton's interest she had broken into his eager questions about Castleton Gardens.

"You know, Barton, tonight they are going to have that silly Christmas party. Why don't you sit at our table? Mr. Coates left the ship today and there'll be room for you. Then when it gets too boring we can slip away—"

She stopped, aware that Elise was looking at her as if she had said something too shocking for comment. Stuart glared balefully from his side of the table and Barton looked faintly uncomfortable.

"That's very kind of you," he said finally. "But I have already invited Miss Cattrell to dine at my table tonight. Stuart is going to take a little nap and join up at the party later. I'm afraid there won't be more room at the table during dinner, but after it's over—" Barton cleared his throat—"why don't you come over to us?"

It was then that she walked out on them. And she had been perfectly right. As she gained the top of the ladder and paused for breath Gloria snorted. Join them! Play second fiddle to another woman! Be tolerated just because she had discovered that he was finding Elise's loneliness more intriguing than hers? No, thank you!

Gloria turned toward her cabin, almost ready to cry. Her loveliest gown, the green mandarin tunic with its stiffened shoulders and skirt that made her look oriental and at the same time bewilderingly lovely, would now be wasted. Unless—Gloria's steps slowed and she hastily composed herself as she saw Kent approaching, his eyes worriedly scanning the shore. Just as she was leaving Elise and Barton she had half suggested that Kent expected to be with her that evening. It had been hard to explain because she had already told Barton of her broken engagement. Now if she could make her assertion true—

"What's the matter?" she inquired of Kent. "Worried about tonight's party?"

"No." His tone was not encouraging, but Gloria was determined that he should not escape her.

"Stop at the cabin for me before dinner, why don't you?" she persisted. "We're practically the sole surivovrs, you know."

Kent's eyes swung around to hers. They dilated peculiarly as he stared. "What do you mean by that?"

"Oh, didn't you know? Mr. Coates has left us."

"That? Yes," Kent assented indifferently.

Gloria provoked, said sharply. "Then you know that Star is gone too?"

Kent's hand grasped her shoulder roughly. "With him?"

"You're hurting me." She shrugged her shoulder free. "Yes. She said she was just going to look at the schooner, but one of her bags is gone, and several of her dresses."

"If you're lying—" Kent's face was contorted as if he had been physically hurt, and he looked at her so savagely Gloria found herself involuntarily taking a step backward. "Why didn't you tell me this before?"

"After all, it isn't any of my business, or yours. If Star decided to elope with Jack Coates......"

But Kent was not listening. He took the stairs in long jumps and the next instant she heard shouted orders and running feet on the upper deck. The ship's launch with Kent in it was lowered into the water.

x x x

Star stepped onto the deck of the schooner, gasping as the full force of the wind struck her. The boat was bounding through the water with rabbit-like leaps. A spray of foam showered upward as the prow struck each wave, which then slid over the deck in thinning green sheets. The boat was listing heavily as the wind drove it onward and whistled shrilly through the ropes. Star clung weakly to the side of the cabin and was even grateful for Coates' steadying arm.

"Come back in the wheelhouse" he shouted in her ear.

Star nodded, unable to speak, and stumbled with him toward the small glass-enclosed cabin. Once inside its shelter she managed to draw her breath. Baldy, without glancing at her, handed the wheel to Coates and went out. Star looked at the narrow shore line rising in little bumps that might be mountains.

Her heart sank, but she forced herself to speak as naturally as she could. "I didn't realize that you had to be an acrobat as well as a sailor on a boat like this. It's terribly rough."

"Rough?" Coates laughed, his eyes on the green sea before them. "This is nothing. Wait until we get going around the point there."

"We're going further? But we've come quite a distance. Hadn't we better turn back?" Coates' eyelids flickered, otherwise he gave no sign that he had heard. "Please, you must turn back!" she cried anxiously. "Everyone is expected to help prepare for the Christmas party." She was thinking of Stuart and the fantastic Santa Claus she had described. She had to get back!

"We're not going back." Coates smiled as he said it and Star thought he was joking until he announced suddenly. "That is your bag downstairs. Gloria packed it for me."

"But—you—you can't do this! They'll want to know what happened. They'll look for me!"

"You think Doctor Barrett will look for you?" Coates asked scornfully. "You think he'll interrupt what he believes to be an elopement? No, my dear. Anyway, he won't know until later."

Star stared miserably out over the water. It no longer seemed frightening. It was almost friendly compared to this strange man at her side. What had led him to do such a thing? And why had she been so foolish as to come aboard alone? Kent had been right. He had tried to warn her and she had not listened. Tears stung her eyes.

"You said you like this part of the world," Coates was saying. "Well, here's your chance to see it. And you mentioned something about helping me with the expedition."

Star recalled that sunny day—her first day in Haiti. How far away it seemed now!

"It isn't such a bad life. And when we get the museum established—the money you inherited will be a great help for that—"

"The money?" Suddenly Star saw a ray of hope. "You don't mean to say you believed me? But it isn't true."

Coates looked at her briefly with a cynical smile and then turned away. Star continued eagerly. "I said that only for Kent's benefit. I—I haven't a cent. You must believe me!"

But her captor continued to look out, a half smile still playing about his lips. Star wedged herself close to the glass panel on the side so that he had to look at her. Her breath came with difficulty as if she had been running, but she forced herself to talk slowly, almost calmly.

"I'm just a librarian in a small town. I—I know all about children's books, that's why I knew so many stories to tell Stuart. I—I even tutor during the summer. That gave me enough money to come on this cruise. Why won't you believe me? If I had anything—anything at all—you could have it if you would only turn back."

Coates was still smiling, as if she had not spoken.

"Well," said Star hopelessly, "there's no way of convincing you, I suppose. It's hard for a man to change his mind once it's made up. When I told Gloria she knew right away I was telling the truth."

"You told Gloria?"

Something in his tone gave Star courage, although he spoke quietly.

"Yes," she said eagerly. "Days ago. You see, I didn't really want to fool anyone. I—I had a personal reason for wanting Kent Barrett to believe I had money. You and Gloria just happened to be there. And—and I didn't know it would make so much difference."

Finance Minister Expresses Gratitude To Canadian People

Ottawa, Jan. 18—(CP)—Finance Minister Ralston yesterday expressed his gratitude to the Canadian people whose prompt investment in the first loan of the second Great War enabled him to announce a heavy over-subscription for the $200,000,000 loan two days after the books opened.

"I am extremely gratified by the decisiveness and the promptness of the response which Canadains have given," Col. Ralston said.

"I did not expect to be able to send the good news to our Allies and the bad news to our enemies two days after the books opened but it must be a great satisfaction to every loyal citizen in the Dominion that they have made it possible for us to do so.

"Notwithstanding the large over-subscription, we are leaving the books open in order to give a further opportunity particularly to the smaller subscribers in the more distant communities."

FIGHT COLDS
by helping nature build up your cold-fighting resistance

IF you suffer one cold right after another, here's sensational news! Mrs. Elizabeth Vickery writes: "I used to catch colds very easily. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery helped to strengthen me just splendidly. I ate better, had more stamina, and was troubled very little with colds."

This great medicine, formulated by a practicing physician, helps combat colds this way: (1) It stimulates the appetite. (2) It promotes flow of gastric juices. Thus you eat more; your digestion improves; your body gets greater nourishment which helps nature build up your cold-fighting resistance.

So successful has Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery been that over 30,000,000 bottles have already been used. Proof of its remarkable benefits. Get Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery from your druggist today. Don't suffer unnecessarily from colds.

LIBBY'S CANADIAN KITCHEN

Make This Taste Test!

Double Your Money Back if not the best you've tasted! Accept this friendly challenge, and try LIBBY'S "Gentle Press" TOMATO JUICE. You can't lose, for LIBBY'S promise to pay you "Double Your Money Back" unless you agree that LIBBY'S "Gentle Press" is the best TOMATO JUICE you've tasted. Why are we so confident that you will prefer LIBBY'S?

Because LIBBY'S TOMATO JUICE is produced by the patented "Gentle Press" method—a process exclusively LIBBY'S. This patented LIBBY process retains all the garden-fresh flavour of vine-ripened tomatoes—unspoiled by any bitterness. The difference in flavour is difficult to describe in words—but this "taste test" does tell an emphatic story of superior flavour. But try LIBBY'S, and decide for yourself.

A regular glass of LIBBY'S "Gentle Press" TOMATO JUICE daily is a health habit worth cultivating, for LIBBY'S TOMATO JUICE is a "protective food". It is an ideal source of Vitamin C—which, if it is lacking in our diet, affects the health of our gums and teeth and in extreme cases causes scurvy. In addition, LIBBY'S "Gentle Press" TOMATO JUICE is a good source of Vitamin B, lack of which may lead to various nervous disturbances, impaired nutrition and resulting fatigue. "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice is also as valuable a source of iron as spinach. In fact, your doctor will tell you LIBBY'S "Gentle Press" TOMATO JUICE is one of the most healthful of drinks—particularly essential to the diet of both children and adults.

SCANDINAVIA TELLS SOVIET WHAT IS WHAT

The hearts of Scandinavian countries beat as one in loyalty to the four peoples which inhabit that part of Europe.

Finland fights a series of battles which write a saga of courage for all ages to admire.

Norway and Sweden have told the Soviets in no mincing terms that they know their own views of neutrality.

Scandinavia, one of the most enlightened parts of the world, with developments in some lines leading all nations, is one of the lights of liberty, and democracy, which will not go out though the Soviet Union tries to snuff it out.

South of Denmark is another big aggressor nation, Germany, which started her conquests three quarters of a century ago with conquest of Holstein and Schleswig, then part of Denmark. Denmark has had a great deal to put up with the German Nazis in the past few years since they tried to foment strife in Danish territory. After the last war Denmark regained part of the province of Schleswig by plebiscite.

It is no wonder the three kingdoms cheer their sister state, the Republic of FiFnland, in her fight which means the fight to end Russian aggression.

The Scandinavians have produced great heroes, the Vikings of old, the Danes who travelled the stormy seas of the north through history, the Swedes who number Gustavus Adolphus as one of their great kings and the Norwegians whose courage has never quailed.

Heroes are drawn to heroes. They back the young David among the nations against the mountainous bulk of the Soviet.

'ABOMINATION TO CIVILIZATION'

Russian armies collapse. So the Reds turn to aerial attacks, pouring incendiary and other bombs on scores of villages, towns and cities.

Russia believes it is better to destroy the towns, cities and countryside of an enemy than to leave them intact.

But Finnish victories go on.

Hamilton Spectator says of Soviet Russia: "What establishes the Soviet as an abomination to the civilized world is not so much that it is a military power, or that it has sacrificed even its own people to the building up of that power, but that it crusades under the most hypocritical banner that has ever been devised. It is not its strength that has brought scorn on it, but its treachery; not its armies but its methods. That, humiliated on the battlefield by the gallant Finns, it should now turn to ruthless bombing of the homes of these people, is the final revelation of its goal. Conquest—even under the most brutal guises — can earn some recognition. Murder gains none. And this present attempt at murder continues to go under the fatuous guise of the 'brotherhood' of Communism! Cynicism can go no further."

NO GRUMBLING FOR GERMANS

There must be no grumbling in Germany. That is the order or the Gestapo will handle any complaint.

There must have been some growling or grousing over the food and the other restrictions or Germans would not have been advised to keep a good nature when they are thinking or talking of the food they are allowed.

'TOTAL WARFARE' IN THE PAST

"Total warfare" with which Hitler regularly threatens Britain and occasionally France, is not really something new and untried, says the New York Times showing that it is no new practice and that it has been used throughout history.

One of the outstanding total wars was that of the Romans against the city of Carthage on the north coast of Africa, a rival for power in the Mediterranean. Throughout the last conflict with the Carthaginians the Romans took up the cry "Carthage must be destroyed." So thoroughly did Rome crush her foe that the people were scattered and the site of the city was sowed with salt after the Romans had razed the walls and ploughed over the ruins. Had Rome not defeated Carthage in that war it is just possible that a type of power less progressive than Roman civilization would have swayed the world of that day and have influenced history. But it was the destiny of the Romans to defeat Carthage and control the civilization of the world. Roman ruthlessness with Carthage was provoked as Carthaginians were more of a sea-power than the Romans for they came of the Punic or Phoenician race, among the great early people of the east Mediterranean. . Carthage became an important city of the Roman Empire, being rebuilt by Augustus.

The Times speaks of Genghis Khan whose "total warfare" was carried across two continents. "The Huns on their swift horses were adepts at it. The Duke of Alva tried it in Holland. Whenever new weapons were introduced warfare tended to become 'total.' In so far as submarines, zeppelins and bombing planes could be turned against civilian victims, the World War was a total war. Today the weapons are a little deadlier, that is all." The Times refers above to German air raids in the Great War.

The great fallacy of total warfare is the necessary assumption of weakness on the other side, the Times points out. "It worked in Poland because Poland was weak and quickly demoralized. Russia is trying it now in Finland, but Finland, weak in the air, has power on the ground. Japan has tried it in China, with inconclusive results to date."

The Times remarks that "this form of warfare is a double-edged weapon, inviting retaliation." This would suggest that the German Government may fear consequences of a "total war" though there is a body of opinion that the Nazis will strike on land, on sea and in the air in an effort to deal a blow at the Allies. Whether mass attacks will go as far as "total war" remains for the Nazis to show.

SEEK NEW LIFE ON OCEAN ISLE

Seven families and others, in all, 21 persons, are going to set up a world of their own on East Caicos Island, 750 miles out in the Atlantic ocean from the mainland of the United States. They have grown weary of the complex problems of civilization as they felt them and are headed in two cars, a truck and a trailer from California for Florida, to make the trip to the deserted island, which has as its only inhabitants, wild jackasses and once-domestic cattle.

How often people feel they would like to pull up stakes and trek to a new land! That is what these people are doing—they are going to lead the simple pastoral life. They have secured themselves with a 32-year lease of the island which is fifteen to twenty miles long and from five to ten miles wide.

They have come to feel that there is little to choose from between the monied classes and the vast stratum "just above relief." So they decided if they did not wish to live up to existing standards as they knew them, they could pass up these standards and seek a life of new interest, where they could mould their future, their standards and their needs. Or is it just a prolonged holiday?

There must have been endless discussions about that trip and expedition. How they must have talked with their friends!

Anyone attempting such an exploit would be thrilled to ecstacy. What romances can not the mind anticipate! Veritable Robinson Crusoes without any danger of cannibal invaders for the island is a British possession!

And life as they want to make it. That's what they are going to achieve.

But it is a safe bet, they will carry a lot of ideas from their old home. They will set new standards and doubtless will have new problems in their ocean-island home.

All the same, who has not dreamed of a lonely island, imagined himself in a world of dangers! Any one who has not had such a dream is a rarity.

The families in the colony are of comfortable means.

So They Shot Them

Peter Becker of Hay Tp., in Huron county, bought a pair of black bears from a man in Baden, who had received them from some individual in Northern Ontario. They were no longer cubs for one was 300 pounds, and the other 250, and Farmer Becker had kept them tied up on his property. A couple of days ago Mr. Becker's father had been badly clawed by one of the animals and they were both becoming decidedly ugly.

Then they broke loose and the countryside was alarmed. Children were kept indoors and adults were none too keen about going out. It was necessary to bring in a number of constables and finally one who used a sawed-off shotgun despatched the animals. They were tracked to a farm property three miles from where they belonged.

Why any person would want to keep a couple of black bears tied up on the premises is too deep for the average mind to fathom. It would be necessary to feed the animals, and two bears of 250 and 300 pounds would require a deal of stocking. They would never be pets, nor is there any useful service they could perform. At best it was a miserable trick to play on the bears from the day they were caught up north and shipped down to Baden and then on to Huron county. No wonder they turned ugly. The people who kept them in captivity forced an ugliness upon them which the black bear does not possess in his native haunts.—Peterborough Examiner.

Many people are asking why is it that the City Council can appoint aldermen to fill vacancies in Baldwin Ward while they have to hold an election to fill the one vacancy in Bleecker Ward? It is all owing to the statutes which state that where sufficient candidates are nominated, and enough do not qualify, another nomination and election shall be held within fifteen days after the first meeting of the council, but in the case of sufficient candidates not being nominated the council shall appoint the missing members from such ward. This is probably done because the lawmakers think that the residents of a certain ward not having sufficient interest in the matter to nominate enough candidates at the first election might not do so at the second election either. It seems reasonable, too, when you think it over.

The Amateur Minstrels performance at the opera house last night was most enjoyable and a great success. The performance opened with a minstrel first part. Gordanier and Dunning, bones; Wheeler and Carr, tambos; Lee Ketcheson, interlocutor. End songs were rendered by Messrs. Wheeler and Gordanier in a pleasing way, while their jokes provoked much laughter. Mr. Jack Hayes sang "The Union Jack of Old England," in good style and Mr. J. S. McMurray showed himself to be a vocalist of high order in his original composition, "The Heart That's True," the harmony in the chorus being very pleasing. The second part consisted of drills, songs and recitations. Ab Wheeler in his monologue and song, made many local hits and kept the audience in good humor. The physical drill by members of the 15th. Regiment was creditably performed. Wheeler and Carr danced neatly and cleverly. Fanning and Dunning in acrobatic feats showed themselves to be expert and muscular. The march and drill by the members of the Drum and Bugle Corps of the 15th. Regiment was well done, and Bugler Gerow evinced a good deal of skill as a trumpeter. Mr. J. Bensley, equilibrist, did a first class turn. Mr. George Fax in the "Absent Minded Beggar" and his patriotic recitation "Glencoe" brought down the house. After the members of the company had executed a farce, "How to Get a Wife," the performance closed with a tableau and song," Soldiers of the Queen," the solo part being well taken by Sergt Howard Sharpe.

Daily War Survey

By The Canadian Press

Announcement of the loss of three British submarines while engaged in particularly hazardous duty is one of a number of the less-heralded incidents which show that the United Kingdom and France are not fighting an entirely defensive war.

The navy is traditionally known as the 'silent service' but the most silent of its branches is the submarine branch. A few weeks ago it was revealed that other British submarines had been active in German waters where one of them sank a cruiser.

Prime Minister Chamberlain spoke of the loss of the three this week in the House of Commons but gave no inkling of the nature of the duty which took them to Heligoland Bight. It is safe to assume, however, that they had some more serious purpose than the sinking of the odd ship.

While the German submarine service is used mainly for attacks on undefended merchant ships and has thereby won much notoriety, the undersea craft of the British navy are used primarily for scouting in dangerous waters and for quick telling blows at key shore positions.

In view of the almost continuous patrols now maintained by the Royal Air Force over the exits for German mine-laying ships and aircraft the submarine activity around Heligoland might be a prelude to some larger combined air and naval operations.

Its real purpose may never be disclosed and if it is disclosed before the end of the war it will probably be by the unfolding of events rather than any word from the Admiralty.

Secret of Nazi Tank Given Away by German Toymaker

Home again in Canada after several years in England, a Saint John professional man related this strange "pre-war" incident the other day, states the Montreal Standard.

One of his friends, an officer in the Royal Air Force, made a holiday visit to Berlin and other German cities in the Christmas season of 1937. In quest of some small gifts to take back to his nephew in London he toured the toy shops and was intrigued by the large variety of life-like models of airplanes, cannons, tanks, ships and other war implements on display. Many of them were working reproductions with ingenious wind-up mechanisms. He took home a boxful of the tiny "armaments."

x x x

When he had more time to operate and inspect the toys, one day after his return to England, he was impressed by a toy tank which was unlike anything of its kind he had ever seen. Merely on speculative impulse, he sent it on to the War Office.

The War Office was excited over the toy tank — for, in some unexplained manner, the German toy designer had copied a model which the Nazis were producing in secret.

Probably, it was thought, the designer had official access to armament plants in order to obtain an accurate conception of what the toys should look like. But with the well known German single-track line of thought in carrying out his instructions, he evidently had not paused to inquire whether anything he saw might be still on the "secret" list.

x x x

The result was that thousands of new-type miniature tanks appeared on the toy counters before the authorities realized what had happened—and as luck would have it, a British officer picked up one of them.

The flier's nephew went without his Christmas tank that year. But it made an appropriate gift for the British Intelligence Department.

Alarm in the Lowlands

Germany scoffs at a new 'fear epidemic" in the Low Countries and charges that reports of German troop concentrations opposite Belgium and Holland are "nonsense." But there is an absence of official denial that may or may not indicate divided counsels in Berlin. Brussels and Amsterdam remain calm, while feeling that an invasion is still entirely possible. Hundreds of thousands of Dutch and Belgian trops remain massed in their defensive positions along the German frontier. Apparently Germany's past assurances are almost as valueless to the western neutrals as to Germany's western enemies. Meanwhile fresh offers of Allied aid to these neutrals as well as to Scandinavian countries in the event of attack are reported.

Belgium and the Netherlands are amply justified in being on the alert, but there are certain reasons for supposing that Germany will not find it worth while to invade the Low Countries now. Winter weather in Belgium and the Netherlands is something like what New York experienced on Sunday. Away from the roads the terrain is apt to become a quagmire in which invading tanks and motorized equipment would be helpless. Belgium in 1914 had a badly trained army of 230,000 men; today she has 700,000, well trained, competently led and backed by bristling fortifications along the frontier. The strip of border territory around Eupen and Malmedy, once German but now Belgian, forms a strategic outpost of the utmost value—heavily wooded, pitted with pill-boxes and gun emplacements, and commanding from its 2,000 feet of altitude the German lowlands from which an invasion might come. The Netherlands have prepared themselves so thoroughly for fighting, and flooding that a German attack there would lose whatever advantage of surprise it might have had last September. Great Britain's expeditionary force is ready to sweep into Belgium in support of the defenders whenever King Leopold calls for help; and this, it can be assumed, will come the moment German troops cross the frontier. All these factors that did not operate in August, 1914, when three weeks went by before British or French troops could be brought into large-scale action on Belgian soil.

Who, then, started the latest scare, and why? In Germany it is described as "incitement" by the Allies, although the Germans themselves have not yet charged that Belgium and the Netherlands were preparing to invade Germany. In Allied countries it has been interpreted as a repetition of German "squeeze" tactics against the little neutrals, in an effort to make them defy the British blockade. The real clue may be found in Rome, where Italian diplomacy is tireless in trying to arrange a "compromise" peace — a peace which, incidentally, would leave Hitler dominant in Europe. Some Belgian sources speak of a "friendly warning" from Italy of an impending German attack, though this is denied in Rome.

Such an attack would be as sordid as anything that has happened since power politics regained its old command of Europe. There would be no shadow of justification for a German assault on Belgium or the Netherlands. Nothing is said in the German press of "wrongs" committed by these little countries against their powerful neighbor. A pretext for an invasion has not even been invented. Strategists in Germany debate whether a "move" through the Low Countries would be to Germany's advantage and whether the Allies would checkmate it—as if the lives of millions and the fate of two of the world's most civilized nations, were of no account whatever. This is the law of the jungle; this scare of the past few days is a proof of the international anarchy that has descended upon Europe. Until such jungle law and jungle tactics are defeated there can be no peace or security for small nations, or for any one. — New York Times.

Blood Transfusions Not an Emergency Operation Now

A recent movie illustrating the various emergencies confronting the young ambulance physician showed him giving a blood transfusion to a gangster. He obtained the blood direct from the gangster's sister and made the transfusion by means of some rubber tubing. It all took place in a none too clean cellar or basement. It was a dramatic picture because the blood being transferred direct from one person to another to save life requires extreme care and cleanliness. Unfortunately, however, the blood of one willing to donate it may not be the right type and might cause death if used.

"Blood transfusion should no longer be regarded as a desperate emergency measure but as a safe routine procedure supplementing other forms of treatment for numerous diseases."

I am quoting Drs. Noah Fabricant and Leo M. Zimmerman, Chicago, in Hygeia.

"Modern knowledge of typing blood and new methods for preserving and transferring blood have greatly decreased the dangers that once attended blood transfusion. There are four group types known and it is possible to determine by simple and reliable tests into which classification a person's blood falls.

What is known as the Blood Transfusion Betterment Associated was formed in 1929. Persons in every walk of life apply to the hospital or clinic to have their blood tested and then typed. They leave their address and telephone number and when their type of blood is needed, they report immediately. To qualify a donor must be registered with the department of health, be of normal weight at least 150 pounds, have a normal pressure and show a negative Wassermahn (syphilis) test.

The latest development is blood "banks" by which blood is drawn from the donors and kept in a refrigerator until it is needed. By this means "precious hours are not lost while prospective donors journey over long city distances, and the willing donor is no longer rejected because his blood is not the right type."

70TH ANNIVERSARY

Homeville, N.S., Jan. 17—(CP)—Surrounded by many of their 44 descendants, Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Tutty observed the 70th anniversary of their marriage today in this village 15 miles from Glace Bay. The 93-year-old couple, wedded in 1870, are believed the only pair in Nova Scotia to have reached together the 70th milestone of married life in the last 100 years.

PICTON

COUNTY COUNCIL NAMES CHAIRMEN

Various Standing Committees Named by the Nominating Committee

Picton — With the thermometer dropping to fifteen below zero during Tuesday night, Picton experienced the second coldest day of the year.

Rev. and Mrs. F. M. Wootton of Oshawa have purchased the home here of Dr. D. W. Gullett and on the retirement of Rev. Mr. Wootton from the ministry next June plan to make their home in Picton, where Mr. Wootton is a former pastor of the United Church. Dr. and Mrs. Gullett will be going to Toronto in the spring, where Dr. Gullett has accepted an important post with the Ontario Dental Board.

The annual meeting of Prince Edward Scarlet Chapter was held at the hall at Allisonville. There was a good attendance despite the inclement weather and much business was transacted. The scribe was instructed to write letters of good wishes and cheer to all members of the chapter who are now with the forces overseas. An oyster supper was served. Sir Knight H. Dempsey conducted the election and installation of officers, which resulted as follows: S. K. Claude Maxwell, Worshipful Commander; S. K. John Watt, Excellent Commander; S. K. M. Dempsey, Companion Chaplain; S. K. L. N. McFaul, Companion Scribe; S. K. W. J. McFaul, Companion Treasurer; S. K. Donald Parks, Companion Marshal; S. K. Wm. Connors, Companion 1st Lecturer; S. K. Jas. Bowers, Companion 2nd Lecturer; S. K. Stanley Fox, Companion 1st Conductor; S. K. Wesley Mindall, Companion 2nd Conductor; S. K. Jotham Moon, Companion Sentinel; S. K. Kenneth Conley, Companion Herald.

Skating Party Held

Young people of Prince Edward County representing various unions of the United Churches held a skating party at Wellington Arena Wednesday night. Following skating, recreation and refreshments were enjoyed at the United Church.

Prince Edward County Council at their session yesterday elected various committees and representatives to various boards. Reeve H. S. Colliver urged that politics be forgotten in council. Appointments made were as follows:

Prince Edward County Home—Deputy Reeve D. O. Reynolds, chairman, Deputy Reeve Ralph Warren.

Supply Committee—Reeve Howard Weese, chairman, Reeve Earl Brummell.

Finance Committee — Reeve Gerard Kavanagh, chairman, Deputy Reeve J. A. Dymond, Reeve Earl Burris.

War Memorial Committee—Judge E. H. McLean, Major Gordon Walmsley, Major Colin Hepburn, Lieut. C. S. Slack, Frank Starr, Morley Ackerman.

Representatives to Collegiate Board—Carson Hubbs, B. R. Leavens, W. Benson.

Board of Criminal Audit—Deputy Reeve R. Warren, Chas. Kinnear.

Auditors—J. N. Sword, A. Archard.

Sidney Crossing

Sidney Crossing—Mrs. C. Ketcheson accompanied by Mrs. B. Bonisteel, Mrs. W. Jeffrey, Mrs. C. Stickle and Mrs. Bruce Hogle visited the Chatterton Local Institute at the home of Mrs. Bert Fink'e on Thursday last.

The regular monthly meeting of the Aiken's W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. W. Bush on Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Stickle, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stickle and children, took tea on Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogle and family. Messrs. Allen and Chas. Sandercock also spent the evening there.

Communion service was held at Aiken's United Church on Sunday morning. The pastor Rev. Scott, conducted the service and his text was taken from 1st Corinthians 3: 11, "For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." At the close of the sermon the Sunday School officers were called to the front for installation. Communion service followed this.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Munro of Belleville took dinner on Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogle and family.

The many friends of Mr. Selburn Westover are sorry to know he is a patient of the Belleville General Hospital suffering from infection in his finger, and hope for him a speedy recovery.

Much sympathy is extended to Mrs. Harry Spafford and family of Belleville in the loss of her husband. They were former residents of this neighbourhood for a number of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton and Barbara also Miss Clara Wilson spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogle and family.

SHANNONVILLE W. A.

Mr and Mrs. Claude Clarke were host and hostess for the W. A. dinner on Thursday, January eleventh. Fifty-two enjoyed the delicious pot luck meal served at noon. A special treat was a lovely white fruit cake made by Mrs. Fred Melborne in honor of the fourth birthday of the W. A. as it was four years ago this month the Society was organized. The birthday cake was decorated with four glowing candles and the thanks of all present are due Mrs. Melborne for providing such a fine treat.

The president, Mrs. Sam Elliott, was in charge of a meeting in the afternoon which opened by singing the theme song and the Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Elliott extended a hearty welcome to the visitors and to the girls. Rev. W. Sterling led in prayer. Mrs. Harvey Shetler read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. Elliott gave a reading entitled "Things to be thankful for." Mrs. Wallace Robertson expressed thanks for the card of congratulation sent her while in the hospital. Mrs. Elmer Vivian and Mrs. Gammon each thanked the W. A. for remembrance when they were ill. Mrs. Gammon gave a reading appropriate for the new year. It was decided to have a roll call at future meetings each to choose their own response. It was also decided to place a dozen new hymn books in our church. After some discussion the Group System was agreed on. Four group leaders and their assistants were appointed. A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Clarke for the use of her home. After the closing hymn all repeated the W.A. Benediction.

8TH TYENDINAGA

The Guild of 8th Tyendinaga held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Coulter on Wednesday evening, January 10th, with the vice president, Mrs. N. Wilson in charge. Opening with "As With Gladness Men of Old", followed by the usual prayers. Roll Call was answered with a verse of Scripture. Minutes were read and adopted. Business was discussed and it was decided to have a Sunshine Month. Rev. Beazer read a letter from the Bishop. It was decided to fix the church in the Spring which is badly needed. Collection was taken. Mrs. Wilson also had charge of the programme in the absence of Miss M. Hamilton. Rev. Beazer sang a solo. A duet by Georgina and Helen Goodfellow. Readings by Mrs. Beazer and Mrs. Wilson. A Floral Contest was enjoyed which was won by Mrs. Robert Copeland. Rev. Beazer closed the meeting with prayer. The hostess served a delicious lunch.

"HERE'S FUDGE THAT'LL BRING YOU FAME!"

MAGIC CHOCOLATE FUDGE

3 ounces unsweetened chocolate
1⅓ cups (1 can) Eagle Brand Sweetened Condensed Milk
1½ tablespoons butter
2⅓ cups sifted icing sugar
1 tablespoon vanilla

Cut up chocolate and melt over hot water in double boiler. Add Eagle Brand. Bring water in under pan to rapid boil and cook mixture with frequent stirring, until a thick smooth mass is formed (about 5 to 7 minutes). Remove from heat and add butter and ⅙ teaspoon salt. Gradually work in the icing sugar, then vanilla. Spread about 1 inch thick in pan lined with waxed paper. Chill until firm. Cut in squares with sharp knife.

PERSONALS

Flying Officer and Mrs. John Gay Stephenson (nee Barbara Mitchell of Windsor), who have been residing in Belleville since their marriage in December, are leaving today for Barrie, where Flying Officer Stephenson has been moved to Camp Borden.

Mrs. J. N. Hudgins has returned to the city after spending a few days in Toronto, where she and Mr. Hudgins were called owing to the serious illness of their daughter, Miss Grace Hudgins, who is a patient at Toronto General hospital. The condition of Miss Hudgins shows improvement.

The Mission Circle of the Tabernacle Church met last evening at the home of Mrs. Wesley Moore, 24 Ridley Ave., Miss Rachel Fox presided Miss Emma Dafoe was in charge of the devotional service. Two interesting readings were given "Indian Road" by Mrs. R. L. Johnston and a New Year's Message by Miss Thelma Hodges. Miss Ethel Horton had charge of the Watch Tower reading concerning the natives of the Island of Papua. The Study Book dealing with the untouchables in playlet form was taken by Miss Rachel Fox. Miss Emma Dafoe the Red Cross representative distributed wool for knitting scarves and material for quilt patches. Chinese Checkers were played and lunch served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Roy Spafford.

Mount Pleasant Resident Captures Live Buck Fawn

Rawdon, January 18. (Special)—The home of Mr. Orno Sharp, who resides near Mount Pleasant United Church on the Stirling and Hoard's Iroquois Trail is the mecca for many visitors these days as a real live buck fawn is in captivity and on display to all who care to have a look.

A few weeks ago Mr. Percy White started for Frankford, with a group of boy friends in his car namely Malcolm Sharp, Ewart Lake, Ormel MacMullen, Donald Johnson, Freddie Lawrence and Ray White.

As the party were travelling in the vicinity of River Valley, they passed a group of children walking along the road—a short distance further on a buck fawn jumped the fence and drove head on into the side of the car. The sudden impact with the car stunned the deer and the driver stopped the car immediately and Mr. Ewart Lake picked the animal up and with the assistance of the others placed it in the car. The boys believing that the deer had boken some bones and was badly hurt took it to the home of Mr. Orno Sharp.

Here the animal revived after a few hours and soon became its usual self.

It is now getting quite tame and is not so scared of visitors as it was in the beginning. It will eat hay and seems quite at home in its pen.

Through Mr. McCabe, superintendent of the Game and Fisheries Department a permit has been received allowing the group to keep the deer in captivity during 1940.

Evidently during the hunting season the fawn has strayed away and perhaps it became frightened by dogs and travelled to this part of the county. At present it is the centre of attraction.

The Stars Say

For Friday, January 19

AN EXCITING if not thrilling day is forecast from the predominant planetary configurations. There will be much commotion in the effort to push things into new and progressive channels of productivity. Brilliant ideas and reorganized methods may culminate in surprising success although change and drastic measures may be involved. It is a propitious time for pushing with ingenuity and audacity into ambitious fields of accomplishment.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a year of definite achievements, especially in new directions, where splendid talents, initiative, versatility and constructive originality may be applied with profit and perhaps dramatic success and recognition. The intellectual and intuitive faculties seem to be keyed to high gear. Speculative enterprises and adventure flourish under this stimulus.

A child born on this day may be splendidly endowed with intellectual and intuitive insight into novel and original channels for progressive and dramatic achievements. Its versatility, skill and ingenuity may be spectacular.

ST. JOHN'S MISSION

The ladies of the Guild held their weekly meeting at the home of Miss Jones. After a successful business meeting, Rev. Heaven entertained members and visitors with lantern slides on Mission work being done in India, China, Japan, North and Northwest Canada. It was a very interesting group of pictures. Miss Corby sang a solo "The Lord is my Shepherd". A dainty lunch was served by the hostess, who was thanked for the use of her home. Rev. Heaven closed the meeting with the Blessing.

Time Mends Beauty Ills

By HELEN FOLLETT

HURRIED dressing is a bad habit. A few sweeps of the comb won't make a hairdress; slap-dash methods with rouge and powder pads will not produce a synthetic complexion that will win a beauty prize. Worse still, the hurried dresser has a breathless look.

Notice the beauteous lady who floats into the party all serene and calm. Looks as if she had nothing to do all day but her prettying chores. But that may not be the case. She probably has just given herself plenty of time to get into her glad dry goods, arrange her ambrosial locks and make herself a new face.

If you have had a busy day, rushing hither and yon and taking in a couple of tea fights on the way, do save time for a leisurely bath and a 10-minute rest before preparing for the gay evening affair. Relaxation will take the knots out of your muscles, make your nerves stop nagging and sniveling at you.

Bind back the hair with a wave net, give your face a bit of a friction and, while the cream remains on, use an ice cube. Nice to do that before the bath. Freshens you like a new bloom rose on a June morning. Don't forget to powder earlobes and the back of your neck. If the hands aren't up to beauty Hoyle, apply vanishing cream, rubbing it in until it disappears.

Be stingy with perfume. In a warm room it makes itself known. When it gets too familiar with other people's noses, they may not be pleased, no matter how sweet it may be.

To do way with this grievance scrub with soap suds and a heavy brush, rinse and dry gently. Massage briskly with cocoanut oil, stroking up and down, grasping the flesh between finger and thumb, pinching lightly.

Atop the oil sprinkle borated talcum, forming a pack. Wring a heavy towel out of hot water, slap it on, give the flesh a good steaming. Have these treatments twice a week until the condition clears up.

Churches in Foxboro Charge Hold Annual Business Meeting

Foxboro—The Official Board of the Foxboro Charge of the United Church, including Marsh Hill, Holloway and Foxboro Churches, met in the Sunday School room on Tuesday, Jan. 9. This was the annual meeting and each church reported all liabilities for 1939 met in full. Mr. Ben Bleecker of Marsh Hill Church was re-elected as Recording Steward and Mr. R. Morton as Treasurer for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund. Mr. S. C. Gay is representative to Presbytery until after next Conference. Marsh Hill reported an advance in givings to Missionary Funds for 1939. Foxboro Y. P. U. gave $30 to the same fund.

Foxboro Church

The Annual Congregational Meeting of Foxboro United Church was held in the Sunday School rooms on Friday, Jan. 12, commencing with a Pot Luck Supper which was provided without charge by the women of the church. There was a good attendance and happy fellowship prevailed throughout the evening.

Mr. S. C. Gay reported for the Sunday School which is in a flourishing condition and especially commended the faithfulness of the staff of teachers. Mrs. John Gowsell for the annual White Gift Service which is a beautiful service arranged by Mrs. Gowsell from year to year, and Rev. E. M. Cook for his special addresses to the Sunday School each Sunday morning. The school gave over $30 to Missions, met all expenses and has paid for supplies for the next three months.

Mr. Reg. Scott reported for the Young People's Society and showed a balance of $36 after giving $30 to Missions and paying the Church's Hydro account for the year. The Y. P. S. has an average attendance of between forty and fifty. The president is Leon Willson.

An account of the W. A. and its activities was presented by the treasurer, Mrs. Alfred Wickett. There have been four groups led respectively by Mrs. John Hall, Mrs. J. Waddell, Mrs. J. Daniels, and Mrs. E. M. Cook. Mrs. Hall's group raised over $70 and each of the others over $30 The total income of the W. A. was $256. It gave the church treasurer $140 and banked a balance of $100. The president is Mrs. Walter Wickett.

Mrs. Geo. Priest as president and Mrs. S. C. Gay as treasurer reviewed the year's activities of the W.M.S. There are twenty-three active members, three life members and three associate members. The income was $125. The Mission Band under Mrs. John Gowsell and Miss Muriel Milligan has a membership of twenty-three. Miss Doris Scott reported an income of $36.

Mr. Robinson Morton who is Treasurer for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund for Foxboro Charge reported that he has received from Foxboro Church $168. This is an encouraging advance on 1938.

The Board of Stewards spoke most appreciatively of the all-round cooperation received from every branch of the church making it possible to meet all expenses and have a balance of $13. The income was $1294. J. W. Daniels is Treasurer and W. M. Cooke, Chairman of the Board. Russell Christie is Secretary of the Board.

The minister stated that the church had lost by death eight liberal supporters during 1939. They were loyal in attendance when in health and never ceased their support during their indisposition. They are: Mrs. Cynthia Sills, Mrs. Mary Clarke, Geo. Wickett, Mrs. Emma Youker, Miss Alwilda Miller, Mrs. Alice Embury, Mrs. Wesley Henderson, and Mr. W. R. Prentice. Seven members were received on profession of faith and six by letter. Total membership is 140 resident and a number, non-resident.

The officials for 1940 are:—Secretary, Reg. Scott, Elders—Honorary—J.Wilson, Geo. Bamber, and R. Morton. Active—E. Sills, S. C. Gay, H. Dafoe, C. Wilson, Dr. P. V. Helliwell. Stewards — W. Cooke, Chairman; R. Christie, Sec.; J. W. Daniels, Treas.; J. Gowsell, M. Reynolds, H. Dafoe, F. Eggleton, W. Wickett, J. Waddell, C. Wilson.

Trustee: Alfred Wickett.

Ushers: Eugene Spencer, Reg. Helliwell.

Organist: Mrs. C. C. Davis.

Sexton: O. Dafoe.

An interesting discussion took place and resolutions passed relative to greater efficiency and widened interest in the work of the congregation for the future. Mr. M. Reynolds acted as secretary pro tem in a very acceptable way and the meeting closed in an optimistic mood and by all repeating the Mizpah Benediction.

Holloway Church

The Annual Meeting of Holloway United Church was held on Wednesday, Jan. 10, 1940, at the home of Mr and Mrs. Herb Townsend. A Pot Luck supper was served at 7 p.m., the proceeds of which are set aside in a special fund for re-roofing the church. After the supper Mrs. Embury Hough, President of the Y.P.U. conducted a devotional service and in the reports that followed stated that the Y. P. U. had a membership of twenty-five. They presented the Church with a piano last year, gave $2 to Missions and have a balance of $30.

Mr. Herb Townsend as Treasurer of the Church reported an income of $284, all liabilities met and a balance of $4. The treasurer for 1940 is Mr. Coleman Townsend. The W.M.S. has 12 members and raised $50 for W.M.S. work Mrs. Earl Snider is President

The Elders for three years are Arthur Wilson and Herb Townsend. The Stewards are: Harry Townsend, Arthur Wilson, Ernest Wilson, Embury Hough, Herb Townsend, Sec., Mrs. E. Emerson. Organist: Mrs. G. Cadman. The Church membership is twenty-six. The minister, Rev. E. M. Cook, commended the people for their constant interest in meeting the finances of the Church and urged an equal zeal in participating in its worship and fellowship and in attendance at Sunday School. It was gratifying to be able to face the New Year with no hangovers from 1939 of a retarding nature. Three members were received by letter and none was lost.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A Wife's Case For and Against Divorce

Every marriage is an individual proposition. A man who has every quality which makes for good fortune is held back by some weak, foolish woman, a human handicap.

Splendid courageous women with the capacity for love and the gifts which make for genuine success are tied to weak, inefficient men—spineless creatures who are synonyms of failure.

Curiously enough, these mismated creatures often love each other devotedly. Question, what's to be done? Should the gifted go through life with a clod which retards, or break the bonds in the hope of making a better choice, only to miss the weak creature who in his or her way has the gift of making the stronger life partner happy?

This eternal question is again raised by a highly interesting letter which comes from a woman correspondent:

"Dear Miss Fairfax,

"I am married to a man I love dearly. He is everything any woman could desire. He gives me his pay check every week. He never looks at another woman. He will help with the housework. Yet I'm not happy.

"When we were married, our joint salaries amounted to $50.00 a week, and we were very comfortable. Then came the realization that I was not living the kind of life I had hoped for. I wanted children, to stay home and take care of them, and there was little chance of advancement where my husband worked.

"He studied for three different Civil Service examinations, but was unable to pass any of them. He then decided to take up another course, which cost a considerable sum of money. Realizing the expense, my parents invited us to live with them until my husband could get a start, which he has never succeeded in doing. He has an inferiority complex, is shy, distrustful of himself, and does not make a good impression, though he is absolutely conscientious and faithful.

"I often put in nine and a half and ten hours a day on my job. I've tried to be forceful with him, and told him I would quit. He gets up early and works 'til late, trying to get a job but never succeeding. He begs me to be patient, but I have been tragically patient. It's not that he is lazy, because when he has a chance he will do the hardest kind of work. But he is just ineffectual.

"I don't want much, Miss Fairfax, only some sense of security for myself and for the children I hope that God may bless us with.

Despairing Wife."

It would be so easy to say keep on trying in the hope that your husband would overcome that constitutional weakness, that sense of self-distrust, which prevents an employer from recognizing that he's the faithful plodding type, which makes him worthy of his hire.

In her heart this woman is deeply maternal, and his ineffectual man who tries but never succeeds appeals to her maternal instinct. He is more her child than her husband. If she were to divorce him, how would the separation affect her? Because, in spite of everything, one realizes she loves him.

GOOD MANNERS

Learn to Dance Before You Go to Dances

Too many girls, as evidenced in their letters to me, think that the way to learn to dance is to go to dances. Apparently they think that because they are good-looking, wear pretty dance frocks and are popular, these assets will in some mysterious way make them good dance partners. They won't!

Those men who like to dance will ask them to dance—just once. You may be popular elsewhere, but you won't be popular on the dance floor if you depend on your dance partners to teach you. If you're at all shy or self-conscious, one of the quickest ways to develop an inferiority complex is to go to dances and have no idea of the steps your partner is trying to make you follow.

Make the New Year a joyous one for yourself by resolving to learn to dance. Use some of that money Aunt Mary gave you for Christmas, go to a dancing school, or join a group of friends who are combining to engage a dancing teacher.

First you'll be taught the basic steps. Between the lessons practise these steps alone at every opportunity you can get—in front of a long mirror, if possible. Imagine a partner leading you in these steps and visualize yourself following his leading.

If you're inclined to be heavy, whether in pounds or of foot, make a Spartan effort toward grace and lightness. For your comfort, remember that it's absolutely true that many of the best dancers are fat men and women who are "light on their feet"!

Keep everlastingly at your practice. Dance around your room alone, imagining that you are dancing with a partner. Bribe your brother or your father or even your sister, to dance with you. They'll give you honest criticism.

When you go to dances, observe the manner in which good dancers dance and, just as important, some of the faults of poor dancers.

Don't be "fancy" in your dancing. Dont wave your arms about or pump them up and down while you dance; this is maddening to a good partner. And your partner won't be able to lead you in even a semblance of rhythm if your left hand is not held firmly (but not too firmly, lady!) on the back of his shoulder, and not in the flouncing, indecisive way that instantly reveals a poor dancer.

If things don't seem to be going too well and you are missing your partner's lead too often, do a quick bit of analysis to try to see what's wrong. You may be hanging "dead weight" on your partner's arm, so that it's difficult for him to guide you. Or your steps may be too short, or you may be bending your knees too much, or your feet may be too far apart. Whatever the fault, it is undoubtedly something that can be immediately corrected.

Two more important warnings: If, at the beginning of the dance, you miss your partner's lead once or twice, don't get flustered and spend your time and effort in apologizing. The more you apologize, the worse things will get.

Second, if you see that you're not following your partner's lead too well, don't try to take his attention away from your poor dancing by nonchalantly humming or singing the tune that the orchestra is playing. This may improve your singing, but it won't improve your dancing—or your popularity with your partner.

Constipation in Children

This is a subject to which I shall return regularly, because of its importance and the number of parents who have indicated what a problem it is to them.

In the first place, it may be only a fancied problem. Some parents become worried if the child has only one bowel movement a day, or one every two days, when this may be a normal condition. The question of whether a child is constipated is dependent upon several factors, perhaps the most important being the amount of food it is getting. If the child isn't getting enough to eat, he might naturally have only one stool every two days. On the other hand, it is possible for an overfed baby to have four stools a day and still be constipated.

I am inclined to believe that a great many children are constipated simply because their parents did not see to it that their babies formed correct habits in movements of the bowels.

One month of age is not too early to begin to train the child. He should be held over a small chamber two or three times a day, usually immediately after feeding times, for at these times there is a natural tendency toward bowel movements.

If the parents follows this routine patiently, holding the baby over the chamber at least five minutes each time, the child will learn in a surprisingly short time what is expected of him. Children fed by breast instead of the bottle will be easier to train, because they are less disposed to constipation.

Bottle-fed babies may suffer from constipation because there isn't enough sugar in the food or because the sugar isn't the right type. By varying the type as well as the amounts of sugar, we can affect some changes in the manner in which the bowels behave. This should always be tried before laxatives are resorted to. Changing the food will nearly always clear up the trouble.

Laxatives of any type should always be employed with the greatest caution, and only after careful consideration is given to the type used. For each type, of course, has a different action.

I do not subscribe to the old theory that castor oil is good for children. It may be all right for adults, but it has no place in the control of constipation in the young.

As I have told you before, the Quintuplets have never had either of the common laxatives, castor oil and Epsom salts, except one. A nurse who had some rather old-fashioned ideas decided the children needed a physic and she gave them castor oil. I did not know of the dosing until next day, when I noticed the children were upset. I gave orders then that it was never to be used again.

Epsom salts and castor oil are not advisable in childhood because as a rule, their action is too drastic. Mineral oil is excellent for older children, as a lubricant of the intestines, but it doesn't work so well in younger children because they have no capacity for handling fats or oils of any kind.

For the few constipated children who do not respond to a change in diet, the use of soap sticks and enemas is advisable. The soap sticks, simply a cylinder, the diameter of a lead pencil and about an inch and a half long, which you can cut from a bar of mild baby soap, is the simplest method. This is inserted in the rectum and the diaper bound firmly into place, so that the stick cannot come out, then the baby is put to bed. It is usually effective in twenty minutes.

Fashion Flashes

WE LOOK around and note that there are plenty of satin frocks about town. A nice afternoon model is in rich brown crepe back satin with tucked shirtwaist top and collar and bow of apricot-colored satin.

A good selection for late afternoon wear is a dress with black woollen skirt and snug, hip-length jacket of white faille with tiny gold bead embroideries.

Women like the little small shallow sailor hat both for at home and southern wear. A new model of this type is in turquoise blue velvet with shirred sides to the crown and a shirred edge at the brim. Worn with a misty brown veil.

Our prize for the loveliest evening outfit of the season goes to the beautiful women who wore a white satin gown, a three-quarters coat of white ermine and a mantilla of black lace forming a hood and held at one side with fresh gardenias.

Most discussed film scene in years is this mad scramble between Marlene Dietrich and James Stewart in Universal's big western "Destry Rides Again," with an all star cast now playing at the Capitol Theatre with a daily matinee.

Soil: Beauty's Big Hazard

By HELEN FOLLETT

Every girl should be informed about the dangers of infection from soiled toilet articles. A powder pad that has worked too long at the beautifying job is often responsible for blackheads that develop into acne. Pads can be washed and fluffed out. Or absorbent cotton pledgets can be used and thrown away.

Manicuring instruments should be boiled now and then or sterilized by other means. Combs and hair brushes must be washed before the shampoo; if they're washed oftener, so much the better. Strong cleaning agents that are used in the kitchen will make a thorough job of it. Rinse them well, let stand in the sun. Place the hairbrush with bristles downward, so the back of the brush will not be waterlogged.

Toothbrushes should be soaked in salt water before being used, hung up to dry after they are used. Bathtubs and wash bowls should be scoured daily, not just wiped out with a cloth.

Never economize on household linens. Each member of the family should have his and her own towels. Soiled washcloths are an abomination and a menace. An untidy bathroom does not speak well for the boss of the domestic works.

Enlarged pores are a worry. Why the texture of the skin must change from the delicacy of young girlhood to a horrid coarse fabric nobody knows. It is believed that casual face washing is a factor, that a diet lacking in fruits and vegetables may have something to do with it.

Use very little hot water, use cold water freely. If cream is applied, remove it in half an hour. After the soapy cleansing at night, rinse with cold water and apply a lotion made by combining one ounce of witch hazel, one-fourth ounce of boric acid, one-half pint of camphor water. Let it dry on. Take orange or tomato juice every day. Good for your insides and outsides.

Eyes Adapted to Motion

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Authorities do not feel that motion pictures are any more harmful to the eyes than reading; perhaps less so. Our eyes are adapted to watching objects in motion and we do so from the time we are born. The quality of the film, the arrangement of the lighting, the mechanism of the motion and the position of the observer all are important. If the screen picture is clear and distinct, and the screen is arranged so there is no glaring reflection, little strain results. Films are retired from service after a reasonable amount of use and it is well that they are because they become spotted and cracked in continued use.

The position of the observer is very important. If he is too close to the screen, the pictures are blurred and confused, and more strain results.

Our Efficient Modern Breakfast

Is the modern breakfast more efficient than the breakfast of our grandfathers' time?

If our grandfathers or great-grandfathers returned to earth today, it is quite possible that the breakfast which we would serve them would attract as much attention as any other change that they would find. The Anglo-Saxon settlers of this country brought their breakfast ideas from England. They had beefsteak and onions, ham and eggs, pancakes swimming in syrup, doughnuts and pie, and sometimes pork chops. They had to eat these things because the benefits of modern transportation and refrigeration did not bring them fresh foods. The modern energizer of orange juice, toast and coffee, with perhaps a thin slice of bacon and one egg, is a far more efficient meal and makes for better work in the forenoon.

Early Symptoms of Diabetes

Does sugar appearing in the urine after a meal have any serious significance?

To such a question as this, the only fair answer is to say that that is one of the earliest symptoms of diabetes. It is real diabetes and not something that can be dismissed. The patient with this symptom often feels that it is of no consequence and blames his doctor for insisting on regarding it seriously and prescribing treatment for it.

Of course, it simply means that the ability of the body to burn sugar is lowered, and when there is any strain put on it, as with the additional sugar going into the system with a meal, the sugar that cannot be burned spills over in the urine. The early diabetic metabolizes sugar if he does not get too much of it at a time.

Patients with this symptom are very much encouraged by noting, for instance, that the morning urine, on getting out of bed, is clear and the urine passed before the midday or evening meal is free of sugar, and they regard the post-prandial glycosuria as a little peculiarity, but it should be taken seriously and assessed at its true value. The way to do that is to have a blood sugar concentration test. Properly done, this leaves no doubt as to whether the incidental sugar is a peculiarity or the real thing.

QUESTIONNS AND ANSWERS

J. P. B.: "Has treating hernia by injections met with fair success? Do small white spots which appear under the finger-nails have a medical significance?"

Answer: Hernia is treated by injection with success in selected cases. Small white spots under the nails are said to be due to accumulations of air and have no medical significance, either good or bad.

T. S.: "Will you please tell me what causes red spots in the throat and red puffed-up taste buds way back on the tongue?"

Answer: "Sore tongue is found in anemia, pellagra and many nutritional diseases, or may simply be due to bad teeth.

The Tracy Heirloom

By ENDAMAE SMYTH

Ann Norton turned from the telephone with a sigh. She had done a big washing for her numerous family, and was in the midst of the ironing, which she hoped to finish before supper time, when her Cousin Maud Adams called up. "Come right over. We're having a conference on the heirloom."

"I suppose somebody has made them another offer." Ann said to herself. "I don't see what they want of me. They never pay any attention to what I say. If they had they'd have got rid of that pesky old chair a long time ago. Maybe Washington did sit in it. But I'm privileged to have my doubts."

Four women were seated in Maud's softly lighted living room when Ann entered.

"Now we're all here together," she said to Ann. "Nell, Julia, Carrie, you and I, the principals in the case." She laughed. "And there's the heirloom." She pointed toward the ugly and honored chair. "Mr. Jones tells me he'll give five hundred for it."

"That makes one hundred apiece" said the greedy Sarrie Mains. "I don't know as I want to sell out my interest for that."

"You'll never get any more," Maud returned sharply.

"I paid to have it advertised in some of the best magazines," snapped Carrie.

"Pinefeathers on a hummingbird's wing!" Ann spoke softly. "Don't quarrel, girls. There have been hard feelings enough about the old thing already."

"You've never exerted yourself to sell it," Julia exclaimed hotly. "But I dare swear you'll take your hundred just the same. That's the Smith coming out in you, Ann Norton."

Ann flushed painfully at this scathing reference to her mother, who had dared to marry a Tracy although she was of no importance herself.

"Yes, I guess no one in your circumstances, Ann, is going to pass up a hundred dollars," sneered Nell Ogden.

Ann bit her lip. She was tired, she had left her work just to see a group of well-to-do women squabbling over an old chair that nobody had sat in for years.

Yes, she wanted that hundred dollars all right.

But something else looked bigger still, her pride, her self-respect, which was not all a Tracy inheritance. Maybe she hadn't lured prospective buyers or paid for advertisements or photographs but she had taken off four coats of black paint that obscured the chair's glory and pieced the little patchwork cushion which looked as natural as if it had grown there.

She stood up quietly but firmly.

"I've got to go," she said. "Settle it to suit yourselves. I don't want that hundred dollars. You're welcome to my share in the heirloom."

"If you feel that way —" Julia murmured. She looked meaningly at Maud, who added coldly: "Just as you feel about it, of course." While Carrie and Nell exchanged a wink. Twenty-five dollars apiece extra wasn't to be sneezed at.

Ann had got half-way home when she missed her purse. She remembered that she had left it upon the sofa where she had been seated. She hesitated about going back after it then, but it held all the money she had.

As Ann mounted the steps of the Adams house she saw that Maud was admitting a caller, a man, stout, very stout, decidedly prosperous in his appearance. She recognized him. It was Will Owen, who had gone to school with all of them whom she hadn't seen in years.

He saw her almost as quickly as she saw him. He grabbed her hand, pulled her into the house. There was a tremendous flutter. For Will Owen was a rich bachelor. Instead of gazing at the spinster Carrie or the widow Julia he kept his eye on Ann.

"My gracious!" he wheezed. "You haven't changed a mite."

"Considering how fat and blowzy Ann is I don't call that much of a compliment for the rest of us," Julia said, giving Will a playful push. As he started back from her, he skidded on the slippery floor and sat down with a bang in the nearest chair—the Washington chair. It crushed like an eggshell under him.

"My gracious!" he groaned. "What have I done?" Then as his agonized glance swept the faces of the women who stood frozen with consternation—"I hope," he muttered, "it isn't an heirloom."

"It—was," breathed Ann. Then frightened, she snatched up her purse and ran out of the house.

Ann's invitation to dinner was the only one Will Owen accepted. Julia, Nell, Carrie and Maud all asked him but he declined. He did however, send each one of them a costly chair to take the place of the one he had shattered. Ann was delighted with her chair, no matter how her cousins felt about theirs. And she felt a bit wickedly, perhaps, that now the famous heirloom was out of the way they should be better friends than they ever had been.

Today's Fashion

Trimmed in fitch.

By VERA WINSTON

THE FUR-TRIMMED cloth coat has never been so popular as it is this season. Fur is used with a lavish yet restrained hand. For example, this handsome coat, fashioned of soft woolen in a deep seal brown. Sable-dyed fitch makes the soft, rippling collar. The coat is done on princess lines, with the front closing of hooks and eyes concealed by the border of fur. The skirt fulness is towards the back.

Keep Furniture Well-Groomed

By ELEANOR ROSS

DURING the winter it becomes necessary to give special care to furniture. Hot, dry rooms can dry out woods and even crack them.

From 40 to 60 per cent humidity in rooms is healthy for furniture. Don't place fine woods near hot radiators or fires, or near open windows.

As for the scratches that so often seem to come from nowhere to mar fine surfaces, there is a tinted wax with enough wood stain added to cover these. It is quite satisfactory when polishing slightly damaged furniture. It comes in mahogany, walnut and light wood tints to match most furniture.

Wash Upholstery

Upholstered furniture fabrics may be washed, if the tapestry, denim, rep or other covering is fast color. First, clean as thoroughly as possible by brushing with the vacuum cleaner. Then make a stiff suds as follows: Shave and dissolve half a cake (or one cup of flakes) of any pure, neutral soap in a quart of boiling water. Mix a small amount of this solution with a little cold water and beat to a stiff, dry froth. Using this suds, scrub, about a ten-inch circle of the surface at a time, using a stiff brush, and rubbing with a rotary motion. The material should not be soaked or very wet. With a spatula scrape off all the lather possible, and then wipe with a damp sponke. Scrubbing such pile fabrics as corduroy, velvet and velours will mat the surface. These fabrics should be brushed thoroughly with a soft brush against the nap when almost dry. The upholstery should be thoroughly dry before anyone sits down on the chair or sofa.

Daily Care

Furniture, like clothes, responds to intelligent care with long life and lasting beauty. It's that constant going after things that does the job, not allowing dust and grime to accumulate, and getting after the tiniest tear or injury at once.

Daily dusting with CLEAN, soft cheesecloth, old silk material, chemically-treated dust cloths or mittens, is recommended to maintain the beauty of wood finishes. Such dusting not only removes the dust, but it polishes up the surface and brings out the beauty of the grain of the wood. Soiled dust cloths are likely to scratch the fine surfaces.

To remove the foggy appearance frequently found on highly-polished woods, rub with the grain of the wood, using a clean piece of cheesecloth which has been dampened with a solution made of one quart of clear water and one tablespoon of vinegar. To clean crevices in carved pieces, use a cotton-wrapped orangewood stick or wooden skewer. To wash painted furniture, dissolve one-half cup of neutral soap flakes in a quart of water and cool. Then stir in one-half cup of whiting.

For polishing, dampen a clean piece of cheesecloth in hot water, wring it out and let it cool. Shake or spray a good furniture polish on the cloth and clean the furniture which has already been dusted. Rub cleaned parts with a dry cloth, with grain of the wood, until fingerprints leave no marks. You should get satisfactory results from a wax or turpentine-linseed oil polish. It is the "patina," the dark, rich color and appearance of wood, acquired through years of rubbing, that is prized in antique furniture. However, if the finish has deteriorated, polishing will not take its place. Then it becomes necessary to do a job of refinishing, one that calls for expert attention.

Brushing Away Your Hair Ills

By HELEN FOLLETT

WHEN THE hair thins at the temples, there's a chance that this condition is caused by slapping the brush there, being too violent, the bristles dragging out the soft new downy hair that is forming. An idea prevails that the proper way to groom the topcrest is to brush from the crown, forward, at the sides and back, as the hair falls naturally. Hair shafts emerge from the scalp on a slant. Their hair of the new-born baby falls toward forehead and nape line that's the way the little fuzzers are planted by Mama Nature.

Brushing stimulates the blood streams in the scalp upon which the glorious crown lives and thrives and has its being, so dig in with the bristles. To give the shafts shine and shimmer, treat a tress at a time holding it away from the head using a rolling motion of the brush, so each hair is curried. After the brushing give yourself a three-minute scalp friction. The flesh will glow and be happy.

Some women fear that brushing will cause the finger wave to wilt; often it makes the pattern clearer and wider, more fluid.

Have a high-grade brush, one with bristles that don't bend. A narrow brush isn't likely to tangle the hair as will a wider one. Select one with bristles set in groups; it is easier to keep clean.

Sallow complexions are usually caused by a digestive machine that is not working properly. Women who suffer from constipation often have dingy faces.

The one who suffers from this beauty ailment will find her skin improving if she will drink unsweetened lemonade and buttermilk. Pastries should be cut down to the limit, also fats, which may make her liverish.

Local treatment consists of the free use of a massage cream with plenty of friction, followed by applications of a bleach made by combining equal parts of peroxide and strained lemon juice.

Centenary

Centenary, Jan. 17.—One of the most successful and largely attended dinners for the W.A. and W.M.S. was held on Thursday, Jan. 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aikens. About fifty including many of the men, members and visitors enjoyed a delicious dinner and did full justice to all the good things provided.

Mrs. Holton, the president of the W.A., called the meeting to order with all singing the theme song. The devotional period followed and Mrs. Phillips offered prayer.

A few remarks by Mrs. Holton thanking the members for the honor of electing her as president and for their loyalty in the past, was followed by the minutes. In answering the roll call, each member was asked to give a suggestion for improving meetings during 1940.

Mrs. Mercer sang in fine form and Mrs. J. Ray read a short poem.

A letter was read from Miss Johnson thanking the ladies for kindness during her recent bereavement. Business followed. Arrangements were made for the entertainment in the different homes during the year. These are to be typed with a list of all officers and a copy given each member. After a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Aikens for their hospitality the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Collection was $7.75.

Mrs. Adams presided over the January meeting in the absence of the president, Miss Florence Johnson. The theme of the meeting was "thoughts of the new year and the desire to do better work during 1940" was emphasized. Mrs. Waite assisted in the opening devotions.

Miss Verna Keen's reading was a hint of what is needed spiritually as well as financially to help along the work.

A splendid reading given by Mrs. Mercer was amusing as well as very helpful, showing how easy it is to find excuses for not attending meetings when the weather is warm, or not just to our liking and how by having a leader with vision and imagination, meetings can be made interesting and full of inspiration. Mrs. May gave a New Year prayer and the peace secretary, Mrs. H. Garrison, a reading.

Mrs. J. Keene was appointed assistant to Mrs. J. Radford as recording secretary in place of Mrs. Aikens. Mrs. Herman read some resolutions for 1940 which were worth following, and thought for the New Year and the benediction by Mrs. Adams brought to a close a very successful January meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Garrison spent Saturday, Jan. 6, in Toronto attending the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Pearsall.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Townsend of Halloway took tea on Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. H. Garrison.

The congregational meeting was held at the church on Wednesday evening. Reports of the different organizations were received and officers elected. Improvement in all branches of the work was very encouraging.

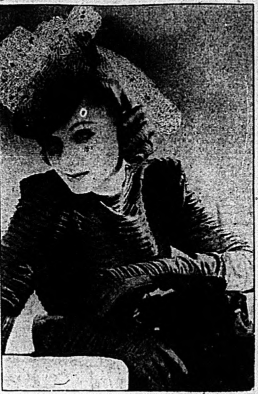
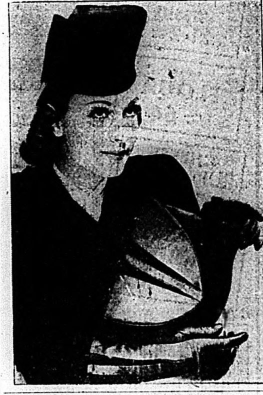
All For Chic's Sake



By ALICE ALDEN

IT MAY break your heart to give up an old bag or a slightly shabby pair of gloves, but it's the only way to live up to a reputation of being smartly dressed. Silk hose may not have a run in them and still look weary from wear; the zipper on a purse may perform its job as it always did, while the suede is slick and shiny. So it goes with gloves, which get more abuse than our shoes. Check up and replenish and do it inexpensively if you like. The budget will permit anyone's having the good-looking capeskin and fabric gloves shown, with handbag to harmonize, for general purpose wear. When it's tea time or cocktail hour, change to softer accents, such as the long sueded rayon gloves that are shirred far up the wrist, and the suede bag that is shirred through the center.



What Principal Expects of You

By Garry Cleveland Myers, M. D.

WHEN I was a boy in the country school, we used to read from a book, the name of which I have forgotten, "The Supposed Speech of John Adams." With apologies to the author of that speech, let me presume to write a supposed speech of a wise elementary school principal.

"Dear Parents: We at school are trying to do our best to help your children grow as they should, physically, mentally and morally. You are teachers, too, even though you may not think you are. We wish you teachers at home would train your children, as well as you are able, to depend upon themselves, and to take responsibility. Please let them wash their own dirty hands, necks and faces, and find their own things. Merely inspect and observe them. Let them know, without doubt, what the consequences will be if they are a minute late in leaving home, or are not clean enough to pass inspection.

Work Out Program

"We wish you would work out the program so that your children would leave home each morning in a hopeful, happy frame of mind; that they would return each evening to a home where they will be welcomed heartily and will look forward to a happy dinner hour with the family.

"We wish you would see to it that your children go to bed at a reasonably early hour, sending themselves to bed by a clock and not by a ticking tongue; that never before a school day will they be allowed to go away from home at night; that as soon as they receive home study assignments, you would see to it that each evening each child goes to his work at a regular place that is free from interruption. When you help your child with his lessons, walk away and go to bed the moment you find, because of irritation, you are breathing irregular or your voice is rising. You are not then fit to be in his presence.

"When the children bring home papers that are graded high, express appreciation, and when bad ones come, say nothing. Please behave in like manner when the report cards come home. Never, never compare the children in behavior or school achievement, or hold one child up as a model for another.

"When you come to school to see me, please talk only of the child's good things in his presence. If you must discuss his faults with me, please do so in his absence. Come to school more often when everything is going well. Please tell us of the things at school which you like, and tell the teacher when you are pleased with her. Also, compliment your children for the good things that they do; celebrate successes.

"Those of you who have children too young for school, begin now to teach them reasonable restraints and set yourself to learning how to annoy them less and to help them keep alive their zeal to learn and to express themselves."

Solving Parent Problems

Q. You often urged the father of the baby and young child to help the mother in this child's care. Don't some mothers make slaves out of the docile husband?

A. An occasional one does. But for one that does, a hundred mothers are themselves the slaves, perhaps.

Ladies Feted at Annual Gathering Of Welfare Club

Stirling— Beginning their year with the Annual Ladies' Night the Executive Committee of Stirling Welfare Club assisted by the newly appointed program committee under the leadership of Mr. H. L. Fair were responsible for one of the brightest and most enjoyable evenings ever sponsored by the organization. The night was one set aside entirely for fun and merriment and each of the members and guests joined heartily in the proceedings to make every event thoroughly enjoyable.

At seven o'clock the dinner gong sounded calling all members, wives, and friends to the dining hall in the Community Service Building, where an excellent meal was prepared and served by the members of the Stirling Branch of the Ontario Women's Institute.

The various tastes and desires of all in the large gathering were more than satisfied and the gratitude of the Stirling Community Welfare Club was extended to the ladies for their fine services by several speakers during the evening. Throughout the dinner hour fine dinner music was supplied by Messrs Colin Fox and Jack Ormiston with recorded orchestral numbers being amplified through the loudspeaking system installed for the evening.

President Ernest Sarles Installed

Past President T. W. Solmes acting as master of ceremonies called on Rev. W. H. V. Walker for Grace previous to the banquet. Harold Wells capably acted as sergeant-at-Arms, and Art Duncan led Community singing. Following the toast to the King, the ceremony of installation was conducted by Past President T. W. Solmes, who in his address outlined briefly the past achievements of the organization which has functioned successfully in Stirling for the past nine years.

On officially receiving the gavel and the order of office which automatically accompanies it, President Ernest Sarles briefly addressed the gathering and took over official duties of master of ceremonies for the remaining portion of the programme. Mr. Wm. Garden was called upon to propose the toast to the ladies and with mingled humour and wisdom made the visiting ladies feel much at home as he finally asked all gentlemen to rise and drink to the ladies. The response to the toast was ably presented by Mrs. W.H.V. Walker, who also displayed versatility with her wit and humour. Past President, Geo. Bailey, expressed his personal gratitude to the members of the executive committee for the fine co-operation given him during his term of office and expressed the wish that the same help and co-operation would be given the new officers during the coming year.

Varied Program Enjoyed

At this point the tables were cleared from the room and Mr. Don Williams assisted by Mr. J. L. Good directed a series of group games that were largely responsible for getting the crowd into a social mood infrequently attained at such gatherings. The games included word forming contests, which were won by the group headed by Mr. Lucas. "Nut-Race", won by the group headed by Clifford Hatton, and "Nursery Rhymes" won by the group headed by R. A. Patterson. Boxes of candy were awarded to the winners of the contests and each game provided plenty of real fun.

Play Presented by Members

The highlight of the evening's program was the presentation of a one act comedy by a group of club members which caused a riot of fun. The comedy entitled "Corn-fed Baby", was directed by Art Duncan, who also took part in the play and the cast carefully selected to give colour to hilarious comedy included the following:—

Lulu (the maid) ..Roy Woodbeck.
Wilma Baker (the wife)
....Alfred Strickland
Leslie Baker (the lying husband)
.. .. Art Duncan
John Bernard (Leslie's Boss)
.... H. E. Hulin
Mrs. Warner (Wilma's mother)
.... R. A. Patterson

With make-up and other accessories completed the cast gave the play an original touch of humour not exactly expected, much to the delight of a large audience. Sound effects for the play were provided by Messrs. Colin Fox and Jack Ormiston.

Quiz Contest Amusing

The final number on the very enjoyable programme was a radio quiz contest directed by Rev. A. S. McConnell and with ladies matched against men in what was termed an intelligence test the ladies were winners with a much higher total score. The ladies' team included: Mrs. Lucas, Mrs. Nora Wescott, Mrs. J. L. Good and Miss N. Montgomery. The Gentlemen's team included: W. L. Anderson, H. Moore, Clifford Hatton, and R. A. Patterson. Adding fun to the program were the questions of wit and humour added to the original script used before the microphone by Rev. McConnell.

With this interesting and entertaining event marking the climax of one of the best programmes ever presented at the club, the National Anthem was sung under the leadership of Art Duncan, with Fred Houchin presiding at the piano. After the evening's program, dancing was enjoyed with fine music provided by Jack Ormiston and Colin Fox. The program committee under the chairmanship of H. L. Fair is to be congratulated on the success of this the first programme of the new year. With such a beginning the year can't help but be one of the best in the history of the organization. The gratitude of the club is also extended to Mr. Wm. Gardener, who very kindly donated several lovely prizes awarded in the contests of the evening.

"I Save Money by Using OLD DUTCH It Goes So Far."

"I proved it by the dating test★"

★"I put the date on the package of Old Dutch when I opened it. It lasted and lasted, and did so much cleaning that I know I save money by using Old Dutch exclusively!"

Old Dutch goes so far because it is made with Seismotite, tiny flakes which lie flat and cover more surface. Old Dutch helps you economize in other ways, too. It doesn't scratch. It gives money saving protection to bathtubs, washbasins, sinks, pots and pans, etc. It does away too with the expense of buying "special cleaners," for Old Dutch does all kinds of cleansing and is the only cleanser you need.

And to the money saving Old Dutch brings, add the saving of time, steps and precious energy. Keep Old Dutch handy in kitchen, bathroom, laundry and garage.

HEATING HINTS
by James Stewart

ONE way to cut the cost of heating your home is to avoid "Ashpit Waste". By that I mean the amount of coal shaken through the grate before it has been completely burned. Here are a few precautions which will help you to cut down this waste:

1. Burn coal of the proper size. Every heater is designed to burn a particular size. Your dealer can help you decide this.

2. Shake the grates gently—and only when necessary to make room for fresh fuel.

3. Keep the ashpit clean and clear of ashes. This is most important . . . because the ashpit serves as a chamber from which air is supplied to the fire. Without an ample supply of air, complete combustion of the coal is impossible.

4. Use a high quality Pennsylvania hard coal. (19)

TEAM REFUSES REFEREE'S RULING

Tweed Squad Skates Off Ice When Referee Awards Penalty Shot to Bata Team

Foxboro, Jan. 18 (Special) — Refusing absolutely to abide by the referee's decision in awarding a penalty shot to the Bata team after their goalie had tripped an opposing forward, the Tweed hockey team allegedly showed very poor sportsmanship last night, when in playing a scheduled Trent Valley League game at the Frankford arena, they skated off the ice as one man thus conceding victory to the home team.

Trailing by six goals to four with about half the third period gone, the Tweed lads were pressing hard at the time of the flare-up and had just banged in two goals to reduce a long lead, when the homesters pushed the play into the other end of the rink and in a scramble around the Tweed nets, Harold Foster of the Bata team was tripped by the goalie as he was in the clear, with the resultant penalty shot being awarded. Disagreeing entirely with the referee on his decision the visiting team promptly gathered up their sticks and started for the dressing room amid the boos and cat-calls of the scattered crowd, who had braved the frigid weather to see the game.

Late in Starting

Although the game was nearly three quarters of an hour late in starting, due to the late arrival of the Tweed lads, the boys soon made up for the delay once they really got started and the dyed-in-the-wool hockey fans who had waited so long were treated to the fastest and most exciting game of the season. Both teams had their combination plays working perfectly and the rival goalies had to be more than good to avert a score. At about the three minute mark Reid broke the ice for the homesters when he rifled one from the blue line after a face-off to beat Sayers in the Tweed nets. The advantage was soon nullified however, as Elsbury broke through to get the equalizer about five minutes later, but from then to the end of the period, the Bata lads rather dominated the play and scored four times with Tweed getting their second counter just as the bell went.

Play Rough in Second Period

Play roughened up considerably as the second canto got under way and the referee seemed inclined to let the rough stuff go with the result, that sticks and elbows were soon flying. Reid and Stojan combined to beat Sayers and give the homesters a lengthy 6-2 lead and just as the bell went Orr and Mayette were chased for trying to mix it up in the corner. They were still in the hoose-gow as the final canto got under way and referee Finnegan soon had company for them as he made a belated start in handing out penalties. Playing every man up in the last period in an effort to reduce a long lead, the Tweed lads were finally rewarded as Elsbury slipped through to score twice before the flare-up at the other end of the rink suddenly ended the game.

The teams:

Tweed: Goal, Sayers; defence, Orr and Tummon; centre, J. Cournyea; wings, Elsbury and A. Cournyea; subs, Storms, Wagar, Leal, Woodcock and Long.

Frankford: Goal, Rogers; defence, Guay and Stojan; centre, Reid; wings, Foster and Mayette; subs, Harold Foster, Pollard, Spencer, McDonald, Dora.

Referee: Finnegan, Frankford

1st. period:

Penalties: Mayette and Orr.
3rd period:
Tweed, Elsbury	6.00
Tweed, Elsbury	9.00

Penalties: Foster, Orr (2), Elsbury, Cournyea and Guay.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Destry Rides Again"

While Marlene Dietrich's return to the screen as a belle of the old west features Universal's "Destry Rides Again," now at the Capitol Theatre, there are many other unusual elements in the spectacle-filled picture.

Parade of Talent

The two stars head an unusually strong supporting cast, including such well known players as Mischa Auer, Charles Winninger, Brian Donlevy, Irene Hervey, Una Merkel, Allen Jenkins, Warren Hymer, Samuel S. Hinds, Billy Gilbert and others.

In sharp contrast to her recent screen roles, Miss Dietrich is seen as a fighting, singing, loving entertainer in a frontier bar-room, where she sings cowboy songs to the rowdy westerners. She squares off with Una Merkel in an epic fist-fight that has been rated the feminine counterpart of the great battle in "The Spoilers."

Miss Dietrich's songs, like the rest of her role, are marked departures. They were written for her by Frank Loesser and Frederick Hollander and include "Little Joe," "You've Got That Look" and "The Boys in the Back Room."

Ideal for Stewart

Stewart is seen as the shy young deputy who brings law and order to the frontier without the use of guns.

Joe Pasternak, who has produced all the Deanna Durbin and Gloria Jean successes, exerted his production skill in assembling the notable cast and filling the picture with spectacular scenes. Among these are gun battles, hand-to-hand fights, riots by angered mobs and a climax in which hundreds of women demolish the big saloon.

Miss Dietrich, Stewart, Winninger, Auer, Donlevy and all the other players are seen in action that ranges from stark drama to bright comedy.

Daily matinees for this attraction.

AT THE BELLE

"NINOTCHKA"

A new Garbo who laughs, sings and dances to ultra-modern swing has reached the screen in "Ninotchka," her first picture in two years, now playing at the Belle Theatre. The metamorphosis of the Swedish Spinx is the result of her venture into gay, sophisticated romantic comedy, directed by the expert hand of Ernest Lubitsch.

"Ninotchka" shows Garbo as a Russian commissar raised in the stern Soviet code. She is sent to Paris by her government to negotiate the sale of the confiscated jewels of a Russian grand duchess who also happens to be in Paris and enlists the French courts and Melvyn Douglas to help her regain the gems. Douglas, playing a French count, promptly falls in love with Garbo who reciprocates it and blossoms out as a creature of Paris fashions and glamour.

The grand duchess (Ina Claire) by clever manipulation secures the jewels and uses them to get Garbo back to Russia, but the wily French count (Melvyn Douglas) has a trick up his sleeve too and eventually he and Garbo are reunited.

Brilliant lines, whimsical situations and some gripping dramatic moments, handled with deft Lubitsch touches, keep the play excitingly interesting. Garbo as an ultra-modern charmer in Adrian creations is intriguing, displays a great flair for comedy, and is powerfully dramatic where this is called for. Douglas plays his role with debonair suavity, and Miss Claire extracts laughs out of her every line situation. A new comedy trio is introduced in Felix Bressart, Sig Rumann and Alexander Granach as three philandering officials.

Spectacle is added in authentic scenes of the Moscow May Day celebration and locales specially filmed in Paris for the picture. Effective camera work by William Daniels, Garbo's cameraman in practically all her pictures, enhances the fast-moving story of Paris, Moscow and Constantinople.

Scenes in beautiful St. Augustine, Florida, in technicolor and a clever M.G.M. miniature will be exhibited on the same program.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Tower of London"

Having received high acclaim and praise as one of the greatest historical productions brought to life on the screen, the McCarthy Theatre management takes pleasure in announcing that "Tower of London" will continue playing to allow the school children and adults who have already heard of its excellent entertainment value to attend and see this fine motion picture, truly a picture which shall take its place among the best of this year and hard to surpass in the years to follow.

The traditions of England are brilliantly emphasized by Basil Rathbone as Richard III. His consummate villainy, achieved with the delicate artistry which makes him one of the screen's most accomplished stars, has never been presented with better effect.

Universal has chosen to create a new story from the historical facts. "Tower of London" was written by Robert N. Lee, brother of Rowland V. Lee, who produced and directed the picture. His narrative avoids the traditional Shakespearean version, but closely follows the actual historical records.

Grim Characterization

Impressive sets duplicate the grandeur of the 15th century London and the magnificence of court pageantry. Elaborate costumes of the period add to the spectacular effect and hundreds of extras appear in their crested armour for the battle scenes.

Daring Intrigue

The story follows the shrewd daring of Richard, who loves Anne Neville, wife of Wales, impersonated by Rose Hobart. He kills Wales in battle and wins a bride, with the crafty connivance of Mord, the relentless.

King Edward IV, portrayed by Hunter, dies and his son succeeds him, with Richard as his protector. But Elizabeth, fearful of Richard's treachery, robs the treasury to aid the exiled Tudor, played by Ralph Forbes. His army marches on England and in the desperate battle that follows, Richard is carried from the action on his shield.

The story reveals a curious beauty of chivalry and courage, mingled with the cruel greed of human nature which is equally ageless.

It is entertainment of a high order, as attested by the large audiences who have already seen it at the McCarthy Theatre and a film that although bringing to light a bygone age is as modern in enjoyment as any picture which you can recall.

ORDERS FOR LOAN

Subject to Allotment

Throughout Canada, investors still continue to order loan bonds in substantial numbers and all orders are subject to allotment, the statement continued.

Books of the loan will remain open for a further limited period to enable smaller subscribers in outlying communities to complete transactions. With the bulk of the larger subscriptions handled in the first two days and totalling more than $248,000,000, the average amount of yesterday's subscriptions was considerably lower, indicating the popular appeal of the loan, the bank said. No new total was announced last night.

"It is patriotic for you to subscribe money to your government in buying these war loan bonds," Mr. Dunning said. "I can add without fear of any contradiction that the dollars you subscribe will be a good investment.

"The money will be used to protect yours and every other investment in Canada, every job in the country, our right to live as free men and women and to hand on the heritage of our freedom to our children."

First Efforts Since Sickness

Mr. Dunning's speech was his first major public effort on behalf of the government since ill health forced him to resign as Finance Minister last summer.

Referring to the war, he said there was an admirable spirit of caution and deliberate planning to conserve the lives of men. "No greater mistake could be made by our enemies than to assume that this caution is in any sense reluctance. There is no reluctance and there is no fear in the great heart of Britain."

Senator Dandurand said he felt confident "this initial triumph of Canada on the economic front will prove to be a stepping stone to a greater victory against the powers of destruction which threaten the happiness of the world."

He urged persons of small means to take advantage of the additional time permitted them to make applications for the bond allotment. "By investing his savings in Canada's first war loan the working man creates a moral bond between himself and the state, a tie which will awake his active interest in public affairs and in the end will make him a more useful citizen."

ADAMS OF WINGS NOT INTERESTED ANYMORE IN CASE

Manager Says Robertson Can Play With Cornwall or Stay Out of Hockey for Winter

GOOD TO CLUB

Adams States His Chief Scout Assisted Flyers in Collecting Team

Toronto, Jan. 18 (CP)—High-scoring Stan Robertson can play with Cornwall Flyers of the Quebec Senior League or stay out of hockey for the winter, because Jack Adams doesn't intend to try again to recruit him for Detroit's National League club this season.

Adams threw up his hands last night when he arrived here with the Red Wings and said there was no use in promoting a squabble between the National League and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association if Cornwall refused to surrender its rights to the young centre-ice star.

At odds with the Flyers' management, Robertson seemed to have an uncertain playing future today. He fought with Coach George Redding in the Flyers' dressing room at Montreal last Sunday and the Cornwall club executive voted confidence in Redding afterward, offering him a contract for next season.

But Adams expressed dissatisfaction towards the Flyers' attitude in refusing to give Robertson his release to join the Red Wings.

"I think the Cornwall club is taking a dog-in-the-manger attitude," Adams said. "We've been pretty good to that club."

Helped Collect Team.

Adams said his chief scout, Carson Cooper, had aided Cornwall in rounding up a team for this season and Adams himself had sent Greg Haggerty, who played with Chatham Maroons in the Michigan-Ontario League last season, to act as sub goalie with the Flyers. When Cornwall gave goalie Lloyd Perras his release for siding with Robertson in the dispute, Haggerty took over the complete goal-tending duties.

"Well, the agreement between the N.H.L. and the C.A.H.A. is there," Adams said, "and I'm not going to raise a fight between the two bodies."

The N.H.L.-C.A.H.A. agreement says that no National League club may pick up an amateur player after Jan. 1 without sanction from the amateur club concerned and from the amateur association.

"Much as we'd like to have Robertson, who is leading his league in scoring, I'm not going to do another thing about his case," Adams declared. "He can play for Cornwall or not, according to what he wants to do."

Red Goupille Tells Mates About Farming

By ROBERT CLARKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, Jan. 18 (CP)—Laughs come neither easily nor often these days for the slumping Montreal Canadiens, which is one reason why it is both entertaining and diverting to hear the story of Clifford (Red) Goupille—a hockey player by winter and a country gentleman by summer.

Picture a six-footer, with broad shoulders, a slim waist and flaming red hair and one has a general idea of the appearance of this 200-pound French-Canadian defenceman.

Teammates get a kick out of joshing the red-head and one of their particular delights is to get Goupille to give utterance concerning the pleasures and the pains of farming. Red, it appears, purchased a 240-acre "plot" at a village a few miles from Three Rivers, Que., after the 1938-39 hockey season.

"It is from a far cousin that I buy the farm," Red grins. "It is one helluva big place with three barns. My cousin has too much trouble in paying taxes so he says 'Red, you want to buy my farm?' and I think maybe it is a good idea.

"Two summers ago, when I have nothing to do after playing hockey I spend too much money. Nearly $2,000. So I say 'Red, this is just the thing you need. Buy a farm and save some money.' All last summer I work on the farm and only spend $200. And by gosh, I have a chance to sell my farm for $1,500 more than I pay my cousin."

Good-natured Red doesn't mind getting up with the chickens and pitching in on the farm work, although he has three helpers, but as boss he'll often declare his own knocking-off time.

"I go out and work hard one day and it makes me tired. So I quit. My dad, he says, 'Red, we still have a lot of hay to put in the barns', but I say, 'Dad, I am tired.' So I let the hay go until the next day."

Carl Liscombe

As far as days of the month go, Carl Liscombe will never worry about the 13 jinx. For it was two years ago come March 13, that he set a National League record for quick scoring. Playing on his home ice he rapped three goals past Mike Karakas in Chicago Black Hawks' goal in one minute and 52 seconds, breaking the record set by Pete Lepine more than a decade before. And that season (1937-38) was Carl's first as a National leaguer. He made it an auspicious start, getting 14 goals over the course of the season adding 10 assists, his goal total being the highest for the Red Wings who that year slipped from the high pinnacle of two successive Stanley cup triumps to the bottom of the league. Cully Dahlstrom won the award for the outstanding rookie that season and fifth in the voting was Liscombe. Last season he improved on his point total, but got six less goals his N.H.L. statistical record for two seasons standing at 22 goals, 28 assists for 50 points, with 43 minutes served in penalties. Born at Galt 25 years ago this May and played amateur with Galt Juniors and Hamilton Seniors, before turning pro in 1935-36 with Detroit Olympics. Next year with Pittsburg Hornets and thence to the Red Wings. Patrols a left wing beat.

GOODYEARS TAKE STRANGLE-HOLD ON TOP POSITION

Defeat Niagara Falls at Toronto and Creep Two Points Further in Lead

SAILORS SECOND

Galt Moosemen Lose 20th Game in Senior O.H.A. to Hamilton 7-3

(By the Canadian Press)

After an early season nip-and-tuck battle with St. Catharines Saints for leadership in the Senior Ontario Hockey Association League, Toronto Goodyears today held a strangle-hold on top position in the standing.

The Goodyears crept two points further into the lead last night by defeating Niagara Falls 7-3 at Toronto. In another senior game at Galt Hamilton Dominions trounced the luckless Moosemen 7-3.

Port Colborne Sailors stand in second place, four points behind the Toronto pace setters. St. Catharines are two points further back and six in front of Hamilton.

Eddie King and Johnny O'Flaherty, Goodyears' persistent goal-getters, led the Toronto triumph. O'Flaherty scored four times and assisted once and King counted twice. Bert Turney netted the other goal.

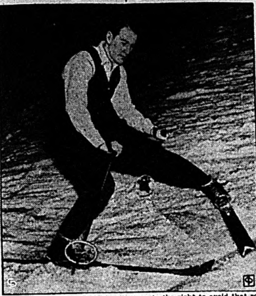
Murray Ezeard, Toronto winger, suffered a slight injury in the third period. He was cut on the chin by Desson and a stitch was needed to close the wound.

Hamilton piled up a lead of six goals before Galt was able to score. N. Walker and Miocinovich each snared a pair for the Dominions. Johnny Connick, John Barlow and Burnell got the others. Jack Hogan, Reilly and Cassidy punched home Galt's goals.

BASIC SKIING

Stem Turn is Made by Shifting Weight on Skis



By TOMM MURSTAD

PRACTICE makes perfect and the inclusion of new steps and positions varies the routine. Each movement in skiing is led up to and followed through to its ultimate conclusion just as is a perfect golf stroke. The result of a series of coordinated muscular patterns that have become automatic means efficiency in results coupled with economy of energy.

The first exercises in skiing, knee bending and leg thrusting, play their part in every motion of skiing for they are based on actual ski movements. Modified for individual situations, they are used over and over again. Consequently, too much concentration cannot be placed upon the correct practice of them before trying new steps.

The snow plow uses an equal thrust outward of both legs to form the V position of the skis which cuts down speed. The stembogen or stem turn makes use of a single leg thrust to effect a change in direction. Suppose you want to turn to the right to avoid that rock or bush in your path. The left ski is stemmed, that is, the left leg is thrust out with the toe pointing inwards. This serves to start the turn or the steering toward the right.

As the left ski swings around the body weight is shifted from right to left and during the shift the left shoulder and hip advance, as pictured. The turn is completed and the skis are brought together in a parallel position to resume the run. Actually, the left, or stemmed, ski acts as a rudder or steering agent.

The shifting of the weight and follow through of the shoulder and hip give the motive power that really makes the turn. But unless all these movements are co-ordinated and flowing, the results will lack the ease and effectiveness that is called as style.

What goes down must go up again in skiing and in tomorrow's article Tomm Murstad discusses climbing back up the hill you have just descended.

AIR FORCE 'BEES' IN TOUGH SPOT

Must Defeat Gananoque Tonight or Face Elimination in the Group

Facing practical elimination in defeat the R.C.A.F. "Bees" must defeat the group-leading Gananoque "Combines" at the Hume Arena tonight, when the Easterners make their only appearance of the current intermediate O.H.A. campaign in Belleville.

The Air Force seconds have been bolstered by the acquisition of two new players, including goalie Jack Christie, former Sudbury junior net-minder, who will replace Driscoll, the Flyers injured net custodian.

Gananoque boasts of a strong line-up headed by the leading scoring pair of the group, Bill Hastie and Tabby Gow. This pair has scored an even dozen goals between them in two games played thus far this season. Although the Air Force seconds lost 11 to 0 to Gananoque on Monday night, the Airmen feel they'll be better prepared to cope with the visitors' style of play on the larger ice surface.

QUEENS SWAMP BELLEVILLE "Y"

Presbyterians Accustomed to Large Count Run Up 43-23 Victory

Completely lost on the large Queen's University gymnasium floor the Belleville "Y" cagers lost their scheduled E.O.B.A. game to the "Presbyterians" by a 43 to 23 score in Kingston last night. It was the second game for the local "Y" cagers in successive nights, Joe Shortt's charges having disposed of the "Y" quintette the previous night.

The fast Queen's team, accustomed to the mammoth court in Kingston, led the locals by 20 to 11 at the halfway mark. The homesters broke faster and raced the Belleville squad into early exhaustion.

Burley, Cole and Wickerson led the locals in the scoring column, while Eastaugh and Harrington of Queen's scored more points between them than the entire Belleville team. The line ups:

Queen's:, Robertson, 2 points; Simpson 0; Harrington 9; Eastaugh 16; Lake 0; Polowin 2; Williams 4; Sutherland 0; Lewis 4; Buckmaster 6—Total 43.

Belleville: Burley, 6 points; Dickens 1; Cole 9; Schrieder 0; Atkins 0; Faulkner 2; Wickerson 5; Wright 0—Total 23.

Referee: M. Finlay of Kingston.

Beaming a proud paternal smile is Charley Keller, rookie sensation with New York Yankees last summer, who probably found more than a little inspiration for his great work, especially in the world series, by "batting for junior", who arrived at the Keller home in July. The whole family, papa, Mrs. Keller and Charley, Jr., will be going south in little more than a month, when spring training gets under way. It's agreed that Keller, Sr., has what it takes on the diamond in large quantities and his second year is expected to be better, if anything, than his excellent rookie season.

May Ask Court For Order to Sell Chicago White Sox

Chicago, Jan. 18 — (AP)—The Tribune said today the first National Bank of Chicago, executor of the estate of J. Louis Comiskey, will ask court approval of a proposal to sell the Chicago White Sox Baseball Club.

Comiskey, who died July 18, 1939, named the bank as trustee of his estate, left in trust for Mrs. Comiskey and their three children.

According to The Tribune, a petition to be filed in Probate Court by the bank will set forth that the sale of the club would be in the best interests of the estate.

The court will be asked to order sale of the stock in one block. Of the 7,500 shares of stock, Harry Grabiner, club secretary, owns 50 and the estate the balance.

QUINTES DEFEAT TRENTON SQUAD BY 13-2 COUNT

Junior Entry Leading Group by Two Games and Yet to be Defeated

SPLENDID ICE

Belleville Team Scored Ten Goals Without a reply in Last Two Periods

Belleville Quintes took a firm hold on the first place in the district O.H.A. junior series at Trenton on Wednesday night, when they defeated Trenton Rotarians 13 to 2. This is the fourth consecutive win by the Belleville squad who have yet to suffer a defeat. Trenton, their nearest rivals are now two games behind the league leaders.

During the first period the locals battled with Belleville on even terms, and managed to obtain the first goal. Reid took Watson's pass after thirteen minutes of play. Less than a minute later Goyer evened the score when he teamed with Clare on a smart combination play. Watson scored again for Trenton, four minutes later and Belleville again evened the score in thirty seconds when Gerow shoved in Kiniski's pass. From that time on, the Belleville squad had everything their own way and romped over the locals with ease.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz, Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Jan. 18—(AP)—Gertrude Ederle, the swim star, sails today for four months as guest instructress at the University of Puerto Rico....Red Dutton says there's nothing to reports he'll shift New York Americans' hockey franchise to Buffalo or St. Louis to escape the high Madison Square Garden rent. Rue De Sockerue: Ken Overlin, the Richmond middleweight, is vacationing on Broadway....An outdoor bout in Des Moines between Lee Savold and Johnny Paycheck is in the tap room stage....Jimmy Johnston is insisting the Pastor-Burman go at Detroit be billed for 10 heats instead of 12.

Today's guest star: H. G. Salsinger, Detroit News—"Henry Armstrong will go down in the ring books as a freak of the game, not only because he is the only man who ever held three world championships at one and the same time, but because of his astounding pace over an extended period."

Hot Stove League: Jake Pitler, Manager of Olean, N.Y., in the Pony League is a brother of Johnny Ray, Billy Conn's manager, who uses that name for professional purposes....If the Giants can outbid the other clubs for Benny McCoy, they'll play him on second and shift Mike Witek, ex-Newark star, to third....If McCoy is smart he probably can collect the highest bonus ever given a free agent for signing a contract....Tops was the $25,000 the Browns paid Rick Ferrell when Landis freed him from the Cardinals.

One minute interview: Miss Sonja Henie, often called the best-dressed woman in Hollywood, modestly disclaims the honor...."I have 100 suits," she is reported as saying, "but they are all in the Superior Court."

Tuesday night's Air Force-Peterboro game surely revived hockey interest along the shores of the Bay of Quinte. All day yesterday controversial discussions regarding the relative strength of the two squads waxed long and reached the sizzling point in some cases. "The Petes have too much speed for the Flyers," one fan argued. "The Flyers made the Petes carry the play to 'em and won by strategy and they'll do it again," argued another just as sternly. Actually there is much to be said regarding both sides of the argument, but we are satisfied the "birdmen" will have to polish up on their scoring if they expect to emerge group winners. In modern hockey one cannot expect to win too many games by scoring only two goals, despite the fact the Airmen are noted for their strong defensive tactics. One thing is certain, however, the fast wide open game played here Tuesday night did more to revive interest in hockey than all of the publicity ballyhoo that could be scribbled in months.

The Kingston scribe says: "No wonder the Belleville Redmen wanted Tabby Gow and Bill Hastie for their intermediate "A" team. This pair has accounted for 12 goals for Gananoque in two games. Yes, had the Redmen obtained Hastie and Gow the Petes and Flyers would still be worrying. However, this classy pair are performing for Gananoque now and will be seen in action at the Hume Arena tonight when the Easterners make their only appearance of the O.H.A. season here. Actually it's bargain night at the Arena tonight, two games for one admission. Prior to the Intermediate "B" O.H.A. game the Americans and Black Hawks of the City Juvenile League will play a regular league match, thus giving the fans an opportunity to see these kids perform for a period or two before the O.H.A. match.

Efforts to organize the old Owl League, that functions at the Hume Arena with games being played when all good people are slumbering in their beds, will be made over the week-end. It is expected that the Queens and Quinte Hotels will enter teams, as well as the Druggists and Bankers. Additional entries will be considered when the league meets.

Do you remember when any hope of reinstatement in organized baseball for "Shoeless Joe" Jackson, who joined Chicago Red Sox teammates in "throwing" the world series to Cincinnati, in 1919, was dismissed when Baseball Commissioner Judge Kenesaw Landis refused him permission to play in a Greenville, S.C., Class D league six years ago today? Shoeless Joe was one of the game's great hitters before the 1919 scandal.

At least four of the skaters to appear here in the annual V.O.N. charity ice carnival on Jan. 26th will compete in the Canadian skating championships at Ottawa this week. The four we know who will participate are Shirley Halstead, Margaret Wilson and Peter Killam of the Toronto Skating Club and Dennis Ross of the Minto Club in Ottawa. Actually this year's V.O.N. ice spectacle at the Hume Arena will include more high-class skating talent than ever appeared in Belleville before, with the lone exception of the carnival staged by the Rotary Club some years ago when the entire Toronto Skating Club appeared locally. At least eight and possibly more top-ranking skaters will perform here.

The folowling two paragraphs describe the Flyer-Peterboro game as seen by the former poetic Lifelock City scribe, whose ditties are absent in defeat. He says: "Tooling up the back highway at something after one this a.m., the Petes felt lower than the temperature, following their 2-1 O.H.A. intermediate "A" defeat in Belleville at the hands of the Fliers. And this ex-poet felt about as high as an ant's instep! It was a tough tilt to lose and one the Petes should have won, but the Fliers played fine hockey — with Goalie Gibson having one of his "on" nights—and now the two old-time puck rivals are tied atop the heap. Some 800 or so fans saw a swell struggle on good ice, both squads fairly flying, with 14 penalties passed out; so ya know it wasn't exactly a pink tea. The Petes outfooted the Fliers all the way and carried play some 75 per cent (well, at least 65) of the time. Yet they had the Soviet's scoring punch in this tussle."

"One of the officials of the Redmen asked us at the end of the second stanza: "Are the Petes really trying?" We said of course they were just busting their necks to cop the win—and right now were being combed plenty in the dressing-room for their lack of finish on Gibson's doorstep. "Well," he welled, "they're certainly skating faster than the R.C.A.F. gang and they're getting through regularly but they can't do a thing right when in front of the net." Which about describes it, but don't think the locals weren't trying. They're not good enough to stall when they want to, and then go on and win when they take the notion. The Fliers played fine steady hockey last eve and Gibson was about unbeatable. At that, one of the R.C.A.F.-ers' counters was a fluke, glancing in off Ellis' leg."

SPORT SPICE—The local juniors had to score goals to keep warm over at Trenton last night when Holway's kids trounced the Trenton lads 13 to 2....The initial period saw some good junior pucking with the score standing 3-2, but unfortunately the homesters could not penetrate the Belleville defence afterwards....About the only thing the Quintes are getting in their O.H.A. group this year is a little practice, and very little of that....Just a word to Coach Larry Goyer of the Picton juniors — "Tell that squad of yours to lay off the wood-chopping practices, that is if they entertain hopes of getting places in the Junior "C" series."....George Pipgrass says the 1927 Yankee team was tops, but then let's see—wasn't Pipgrass a member of that famous nine?

WALL STREET

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)— The stock market paid little attention to either good or bad news today and leading issues moved over slightly irregular routes. While a handful of favorites exhibited quiet strength trends were indefinite near the fourth hour.

Among resistant stocks were American Telephone, Great Northern, Montgomery Ward, U.S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Eastern Air Lines, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville and American Can.

Canadian issues were sluggish. Distillers Seagram crept back and Lake Shore Mines improved slightly while Canadian Pacific held unchanged. Canada 4s, in the bond market, was stationary.

Standard Brands again was a relatively lively performer, reaching a new 1939-40 top on blocks of as much as 10,000 shares.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Jan. 18 (CP)—Gold shares on Toronto exchange today held a margin of gains while the morning session brought minor declines in the industrial, base metal and western oil groups.

Selling of Powell Rouyn on reports of discouraging ore developments featured the trade. The price sagged to 1.45 and was showing a loss of about 40 cents at noon. East Malartic advanced 30 cents to a new high at 4.05. Other secondary golds were firm to strong and the base metals posted only minor changes.

Steel, food, bank and senior oil issues were mainly firm and the utilities and beverages were narrowly lower. Declines of 5 to 10 cents were recorded by Home Oil and Okalta and other western oils were firm.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Jan. 18 (CP)—Cattle trade was slow up till mid-session with prices steady at Wednesday's decline on the Toronto Livestock Market today. The calf, hog and lamb sections were steady. No sheep were offered. Cattle holdover from Wednesday was 100 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion livestock branch were: Cattle 90, calves 20, hogs 300, lambs 220.

A few butcher steers and heifers sold at $6.75-$7.50. Butcher cows ranged from $4-$5 and fed calves traded at $8-$9.

A few veal calves offered made $9-$12.50.

FIVE ARE KILLED

An idea of the force of the blast was given by Mrs. Harry Hale, who lives two miles from the plant.

"A terrific boom blew in the front door from its hinges," she said. "I thought a bomb had dropped in the front garden. Many of us raced to A.R.P. shelters."

One of the woman waiting outside the factory said: "We shall not know until the shift comes off about 3:30. It is a terrible thing to be kept in this suspense."

A former employee of the factory told inquirers that the normal procedure in the event of an explosion was to hold a roll call of every worker.

Dog Lifted Off His Feet

A man working in one of many greenhouses in the district said: "When the first bang occurred I thought it was an air raid. Glass began falling all over the place. I had to dive under a bench for safety."

Another nursery worker 1 1-2 miles away told of this experience: "There was a little dog with me and the explosion lifted him off his feet. A great sheet of flame shot into the air and the blast cut a path through trees and hedges like an express train."

Most witnesses agreed that two big explosions were heard "right on top of each other," followed by a third which was less violent.

Fire brigades were fighting the flames inside the plant.

One woman said the noise was "terrible — indescribable," adding: "We thought it was an air raid and made a bee-line for a dug-out. Five minutes later we thought it was safe to come out and saw a great column of smoke over the works."

WILL BE THE FINNS' WORRY

Washington, Jan. 18 — (CP)—A would-be ticket purchaser mailed a $20 Confederate bill to the Finnish Relief Fund sponsoring a benefit performance of "Gone With the Wind." Rev. Dr. Edmund Walsh, committee chairman, said he would accept the bill as payment for the tickets in compliment to the south. What the Finns will do with it is not clear.

Top-Grade Egg Prices Higher

Toronto, Jan. 18—New price increases were recorded on the Toronto open produce market by eggs yesterday, while butter prices again slid to lower levels.

Under brisker trading the egg market developed a strong tone, with top grades registering gains in all sections of trading. Receipts cleared easily, and it was expected that zero weather in many districts would substantially reduce new deliveries. A-large eggs advanced to a range of 22c to 22 1-2c in the graded section and sold to retailers at 25c.

Volume of butter sales was too small to permit quotation of representative prices. First-grade Ontario creamery solids eased to a nominal price range of 27c to 27 1-4c

Montreal Produce

VICTIM OF FIRE TRAGEDY FORMERLY LIVED IN BELLEVILLE

Friends in Belleville of Mrs. Earl Barr who was formerly Miss Dorothy Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Stewart, 17 Turnbull Street, were shocked to learn yesterday that her daughter, Irma, was burned to death at her home. Mr. Barr's mother, Mrs. Adeline Barr, also lost her life in the fire that destroyed the Barr residence at Mountain Grove, Frontenac County.

Mr. and Mrs. Barr have made their home in Mountain Grove since their marriage. They have a small son, Cyril.

The occupants of the house who suffered severely from exposure have been taken to the homes of neighbors and will be in bed a week or more.

a railroad at the head of the Gulf of Bothnia.

By doing this the Russians believe they could cut Finland's overland supply route from Sweden.

(The Russian communique of last night said 11 Finnish planes had been shot down in aerial combat, but did not disclose the location.)

Officially, the Finns reported that the Russians braved the bitterest cold in 25 years to drop 150 bombs yesterday in southern Finland striking at Hangoe (Hanko), Abo (Turko), Viborg (Viipuri), Rauma, Tammisari and Lappeenranta.

Damage Slight.

The damage was said to be relatively slight, with only two persons killed, two wounded and two missing.

Finland's great white ally—winter—was reported to have accounted for large numbers of Soviet dead among the land forces.

Finnish patrols said they had seen hundreds of Red soldiers frozen to death at their posts on the Karelian Isthmus front alone.

The invaders were said to be inadequately clad for the present record cold which ranged as low as 54 degrees below zero in parts of Finland.

An Easy Death.

"It is the easiest death they could die," he said, "easier than being machine-gunned and more pleasant than being bombed. They simply fall asleep and after that whatever happens is not their battle."

The Finns have welcomed the coldest weather in 25 years. They have reason to believe that their men at the front are better prepared for it than their foe.

The Finnish soldier has a superiority in his comparison by his heavy boots, multiple woollen socks, heavy uniform, sheepskin coat and, in many cases, the stamina of an athlete who is accustomed to spending a week-end in a blizzard for the fun of it.

In General Retreat

Copenhagen, Jan. 18 — (CP) — Forty thousand Soviet Russian legionnaires fell back from Finland's Arctic Salla sector today in a general retreat before the twin scourges of the worst winter in 25 years and the dogged pursuit of Finnish troops, according to dispatches reaching here.

The Finnish army communique reported merely that Finns were "fighting successfully in the direction of Salla," but other Finnish sources said the situation heightened hopes of a new victory.

The correspondent of the Copenhagen newspaper Berlingske Tidende on the northern front said 40,000 Russians were involved in a retreat and that they apparently had given up hope of holding that front for the winter.

Cut Supply Lines

Previous Scandinavian reports had portrayed the Russians as bringing up reinforcements for a determined drive in the Arctic, but reports from Salla two days ago said the Finns had cut Red army supply lines and left the invaders with insufficient food for a winter campaign. Planes were reported to have attempted to drop supplies to the Soviet forces. The cold, as low as 54 degrees below zero, contributed vastly to the distress.

Finnish reports said price quotations had been asked on captured Russian tanks by certain foreign governments interested in analyzing their construction. Five hundred Russian tanks have been captured or destroyed since the war began Nov. 30, military observers believe.

Fliers Carry Maps

Police Chief Ernst Fontell of Gothenburg, Sweden, in Helsingfors to study air raid precautions, reported that captured Soviet fliers had been found in possession of maps detailing routes from a Russian airdrome southwest of Leningrad to points in Sweden and Norway.

In Stockholm, Richard Sandler, former Foreign Minister of Sweden, was applauded yesterday when he criticized in the Riksdag (parliament) Sweden's neutrality policy.

Speaking during the budget debate, Sandler declared, "Nobody wants war with the Soviet union, but nobody knows if the victorious Bolshevik army would halt at the Swedish-Finnish border."

Russia Claims Air Victory

Moscow, Jan. 18 —(AP)— Soviet Russia today claimed a victory over the Finnish air force—destruction of 11 planes in combat.

The Leningrad military headquarters communique covering yesterday's operations noted scouting and minor artillery and rifle fire in some war sectors and added:—

"Soviet aviation made reconnoitering flights and bombed several railway junctions and military objectives. Eleven enemy airplanes downed in air combat."

The attention of foreigners also was drawn to Russian denials of published reports on the war with Finland and Russo-Rumanian relations. In connection with the war reports, the Leningrad command denied that Russian planes ever had bombed Helsingfors.

Apologized for Statement

The magazine Communist International, official publication of the executive of the Communist International, apologized in a new issue for its article of last month suggesting that Rumania sign a pact with Russia similar to those signed by Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

The Russian foreign office already had disavowed the article as not representative of Russian policy or of "the present state of Soviet-Rumanian relations." The new issue of the magazine carried this note:—

"The editors of Communist International consider it a mistake to have printed an article which contained a number of completely incorrect statements. The editors have adopted necessary measures to avoid such mistakes in the future."

SIR SAM HUGHES

selfish advantage," he said. "Our people will stand for no more Lindsay hierarchies with their trail of graft and waste of young life, their ham and Ross rifles."

Leslie Frost (Con. Victoria), interpreting the Lindsay reference as being to the late Sir Sam Hughes, who was Minister of Militia from 1911 to 1916, rose to Sir Sam's defence. He was assured that the reference was not to Hughes but to the late Sir Joseph Flavelle.

Put Youth Into the Skies

Canada's chief contribution to world sanity and peace will be to put her youth into the skies, said Col. Hunter. She must work her way out of the "bow-and-arrow" stage. Canada should get busy making tools and dies to produce the machines of victory.

"Canadians in every sphere still wonder how it is that little actual evidence in the way of equipment for our troops or serious expansion of the arms industry, which is to make us the arsenal of empire, exists with which to reassure our people", he said.

Why should Canada embarrass Britain by sending a disarmed and unequipped Division overseas, asked Col. Hunter. Canadians were beginning to fear a shortage of war's implements might yet imperil the cause.

"Sir Sam may have had defects in his character, but I'll say his courage, vision and vigor of his outlook stand out like mountain peaks compared to the temperament of those in authority today,' said Mr. Frost in coming to the defence of Sir Sam Hughes.

Refers to Reported Scarcity

Mr. Frost referred to the reported scarcity of uniforms for the Royal Canadian Air Force. "Sir Sam might make some mistakes in placing orders but he'd have the uniforms when required", he said.

Scorn met Sir Sam up and down the length of Canada when he warned the nation to prepare for war, continued Mr. Frost. At the same time as Minister of Militia he instituted the building of arsenals and these were ready when war broke in 1914.

"Thirty-three thousand men were sent completely equipped to England within two months in contrast to the Division sent there recently," he added.

Admitted Mistake about Rifle

When Sir Sam retired in 1916 Canada had four completely equipped divisions in the field.

Col. Hunter interposed that the Indian army had to use inferior rifles for years because Canadians had been sent overseas with Ross rifles and the only other rifles for them were those the Indian army had.

Sir Sam admitted in his day that the Ross rifle was a mistake and had the courage to withdraw it, said Mr. Frost. At least he did something. The present government had been working on the Lindsay Arsenal for two years with thirty men inside working and thirty outside to guard it. It would probably be July before the Arsenal was in working order.

"Until we get rid of the Asquiths at Ottawa we're pobably going to be short of munitions and arms," said Mr. Frost.

"Does the honorable member know that Britain and France have more munitions in Britain and France than they know what to do with," asked Morgan Baker (Lib. York North).

Drew Challenges Statement

"There is no authority for that statement," said Lt. Col. George Drew, Conservative leader. "The honorable member doesn't know what he is talking about when he says there is no British direction for munitions here. Not only do we need munitions for the men going to the front, but we're making no munitions for the six divisions of the peace-time establishment."

The Ross rifle was being used to train troops in Canada twenty years after it was supposed to have been condemned and discarded, charged Col. Drew.

John Newlands, (Lib. Hamilton centre) said Hamilton factories had been making munitions for two years.

Premier Absent

Confined to his hotel by a cold, Premier Hepburn was absent from the House today for the first time this session. The House was led by Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon.

Several bills were given third readings. As the House passed one for changes in the Companies Act, Leopold Macaulay (Con. York South) suggested the law might be changed to require those soliciting proxies from corporation stockholders to give more information as to why proxies were sought.

Attorney-General Gordon Conant indicated willingness to consider a measure to apply mortgage moratorium rules to mortgages owing by members of His Majesty's forces, no matter when contracted. This was on suggestion of Mr. Frost.

HOLLOWAY ST. CONGREGATION HAS FINE YEAR

Reports of Various Societies Are Presented to Annual Meeting

Holloway Street United congregation at their annual meeting on Wednesday evening in the church parlors heard reports of a very gratifying character from the various departments of the church during the past year. A large number of the members were present.

Rev. Royal E. Newman, pastor, expressed appreciation of the splendid co-operation in all the departments.

A moment's silence was observed in memory of those who had died during the year—Mrs. Jennie Hogle, Mrs. Mary Louise Spafford, George W. Bates, Mrs. Rachel A. Schryver, Mrs. Sam Sinfield, Daniel Charles Hyde, John Edward Ketcheson, George Wooton, Mrs. Amelia A. Frederick, William Oliphant, Mrs. Annie Beatrice Cunningham, Mrs. Maria Woodley, Harry Spafford.

The trustees reported on improvements to the church property. The equipment of Holloway Street United Church is of the best and most modern type. Mr. G. Dobbs reported on the renovations following the fire of last February.

Superintendent A. Campbell of the Sunday School spoke in praise of the staff of officers and teachers. The total membership is 219 scholars, teachers and officers. Last year the school set an objective of $100 for missions and raised slightly more than $101. The school raised for all purposes $363 which together with $48 from the Alert Bible Class of the school makes a total givings of $411.

Grand Total of Givings

The 36 members of C.G.I.T. raised $64.00 and are very active in the work. They have supported various schemes. At Christmas for instance they made dolls' clothes and raised some money in that manner. Those in charge of the work group were highly praised, Mrs. (Rev.) R. E. Newman, who is the head of the group and Miss Marjorie Hitchon who has done invaluable work for the C.G.I.T.

In boys' work, the C.S.E.T. under the direction of William Slavin have a fine record for the year. Arrangements have been made for one and a half hours a week in the Y.M.C.A. with use of all the Y. facilities and equipment, the use of tank and shower and also a place for regular meeting for the present year.

For the choir, Mr. Sam Anglin, leader, reported on the work of the year and stated that repairs had been put on the organ to the extent of $281.91, a number of new pipes having been put in. Under the direction of Mr. Anglin and with Mr. William Connor at the organ, the choir has had a fine year. The Rev. Mr. Newman praised the work of the choir in the church service and activities. Mrs. Ed. Hubbs has co-operated with the musical services of the church and was praised for her assistance. Mr. George T. Woodley added his words of commendation to the part the choir was playing in the successful work of the congregation.

Quarternion Club

Miss Jean Matthews reported on the progress of the Quaternion Club composed of members from four congregations. This Club has had an average of about seventy members at its meetings. During the year works on Christianity, Communism, Nazism and Fascism, were studied as well as the work of co-operatives. Prof. Shaw of Queen's University gave two addresses on doctrines relating to God and to Jesus and the Atonement. The group studied the first portion of book of Matthew. This Club which is the first venture of the kind in Ontario where city and rural members meet has proven an outstanding success. It has been praised by leaders in church work as one of the finest achievements in the province.

The Energetic Club, composed of 36 married couples raised $30. This club is organized with the main purpose of fellowship and efficient co-operation in the work of the church. Mr. Roy Spafford is president.

It was decided to send a letter from the congregation to Mr. James N. Hudgins, secretary of the session, and to Mrs. Hudgins expressing the congregation's prayer that their daugher, Miss Grace Hudgins, who is ill in Toronto, would soon be restored to good health.

Mr. George T. Woodley spoke on the urgency of attendance at the communion services.

Missionary and Maintenance

Incomplete returns for the Missionary and Maintenance Fund showed that $487 has been raised.

According to the will of the late David Henry Sprung, $500 was left to the official board of Holloway Street United Church to be used for missions in Ontario. The board of the United Church has invested this and the fund will be known as the Sprung Memorial Fund. The interest will be sent each year to Holloway Street United Church for its missionary and maintenance fund.

Mr. George T. Woodley moved, seconded by Mr. Arthur Sills, a hearty vote of appreciation to the following for their work of leadership during the year, Harry Sager, chapel steward; Mr. Elijah Beal, caretaker of the church and Mrs. Beal; Mr Tucker; Mr. Sam Anglin and Mr. Conner for the choir; Mrs. Arthur Sills, retiring president of the W.A.; Mrs. James Cordes, retiring president of the W.M.S.; Mr. Roy Spafford of the Energetic Club; Superintendent Campbell and staff of the Sunday School; Garnet Dobbs, treasurer of the church; Allan Lennox, chairman of the Board of Stewards; The C.G.I.T., Mrs. Newman, president of the C.G.I.T. and Miss Marjorie Hitchon for her work in connection with the C.G.I.T. and to Rev. R. E. Newman, pastor, and Mrs. Newman and to all others who assisted in the activities of the church for the year 1939.

The election of officers will be completed in two weeks.

The work of the church was handicapped for several months by reason of the fire last February 14th., but in spite of that it has been successfully carried on.

W. HUNTINGDON HOME DESTROYED

Mr. and Mrs. George Dafoe Away at Time but Son Noticed Blaze

West Huntingdon (Special)—Fire completely destroyed the large frame residence of Mr. George Dafoe, on the Moira Road about two miles east of West Huntingdon. Mr. and Mrs. Dafoe were in Belleville at the time and their son was working about the barns, when the flames were noticed. Help was summoned and although neighbours arrived quickly it was impossible to save the house, which with all its contents, was completely lost. A nearby drive shed was in danger but the flames melted the snow on the roof and this helped save the structure.

The house is the Dafoe homestead, a large well built structure. It was partially covered by insurance.

Lowenthal Solves A Problem

By SCOTT W. RYALL

Mr. Lowenthal entered the Ninth ward police station sadly. He looked old and weary as one might well be, who is an earnest merchant, waking occasionally from his financial duties to find his one great hope roosting in jail.

"Lowenthal," Captain Atkinson began without preliminary, "your kid got up another gang. You know he was president of the outfit called the Night Riders we broke up?"

"Sure, Sure. But listen—what can I do with him? I busted a brush. I gotta belt that don't make no impression except he howls."

"Well, that's your problem!" the captain said angrily. "We've had just about enough of him. Last night he broke into a cigar stand."

"I already paid Blumley for the damage," Lowenthal said hastily, "and it wasn't just Izzy."

"No, it wasn't just Izzy!" the officer snapped, "but those other boys wouldn't have been there if your son hadn't thought the scheme up. Their fathers will tell them where they get off but, Lowenthal, I'm getting sick of turning Izzy's case back to you. There's another way."

"You mean," the old man said painfully, "the reform school?"

"As sure as I'm running this station. Better that one goes up than the whole bunch. This time," he said gruffly to the woeful father, "he's going home with you but the next time—Lowenthal, the next time I won't even call you in! Come along."

Lowenthal followed meekly out to the cells and when his son, Izzy, popped up from the cot it needed no second glance to see that his capitivity had bred impatience but not repentance.

"Hi Pop!" he called through the bars. "Jeez! It's about time you got around."

The policeman had the keys in his hand but stood looking thoughtfully, coldly, at the thin arrogant face of the boy.

"Izzy," he said forcefully, "I'm not getting you out just because you want to go. You don't like it in there but have you thought how it would be if you were cooped up until you were twenty-one?"

"Aw, gee Cap, we were just horsing around."

"Izzy," Lowenthal said hoarsely, "you hear what Captain Atkinson says?"

"Sure, I heard it," the boy mumbled angrily. "I heard enough of what Cap says. Let's get out of here."

Suddenly Lowenthal's face set grimly.

"Captain," he said firmly, "will you get me a belt, please?"

Atkinson's eyes twinkled.

"Gladly," he said briefly and quickly detached one from his trousers.

The boy looked startled at the impending and semi-public indignity. He started to blubber and when his father made the threat more realistic by asking the officer to open the door, he howled in earnest.

Izzy tried to dodge but four walls penned him close and in a moment he was wriggling helplessly under his father's firm grasp.

When Lowenthal had finished, he tossed the belt to the policeman and forcibly sat the boy back on the iron cot.

"Izzy!" he called sharply, then repeated it as a sterner command while the boy ignored him.

"Yea?" he asked tearfully.

"That's from me. A good licking. You got it coming. You got a lot more coming. You're smart · boy, ain't you? A wise feller, too clever to be decent!"

He stepped briskly from the cell and slammed the door.

"Pop—"Izzy started.

"All right," the father persisted. "I give you your licking, you wise feller that thinks it's horsy to be a thief! Now, you think maybe I'm going to haul you home? Home with me? "Yah," he taunted, "think again, Izzy. The reform school for you and we'll have no more—"

The boy burst into a deafening howl of fear; of hasty repentance. Lowenthal took the captain's arm and quickly guided him back into the corridor.

"Lowenthal," Atkinson remonstrated, "don't you think he's had enough?"

"Listen," the merchant said excitedly, "I licked him and left him in prison. All alone, see? Well, he'll think now. He'll think about his sore bottom, anyway."

"Still," the other said hesitantly, "I kind of hate sending a kid to the school without giving him one last chance."

"The school doesn't come in. You keep him three days. Then bring him around and say you persuaded me to take him in again. You see, he'll believe I'll let him go to prison next time instead of trotting down here to haul him out."

Atkinson was grinning broadly.

"Then there won't be any next time," he said.

The father looked fondly back toward the cell and listened to muffled sobs.

"I guess, he said confidently, "you guessed it, Captain."

Little Benny's Note Book

In school today we finished the singing period and Miss Kitty said, Well, life is not all song, unfortunately, so we will now go on to arifmetic. However, everything has its compensations, even arifmetic. I am sure you all know the meaning of the word compensation. Suppose somebody defines it for me, are there any volunteers? she said.

Wich there was, being Sam Cross waving his hand and saying, Compensation means everything has its bad side.

On the contrary it means everything has a silver lining, or in other words its good side, Miss Kitty said. For instants when we are young there are many things we do not know, a fact plainly proved by Samuel's response, but as a compensation youth usually has perfect health and abounding vitality, while on the other hand as we grow older our health is not always as good as we would like it to be but we become much wiser, wich is a great compensation. Now who can give me a nexample of compensation from his own personel experience? she said.

Raymin Levy waving and saying, One morning I woke up and thought, Hurray it's Sattiday, no school today, and just then I realized it was only Friday, but the compensation was that the next day couldn't help being Sattiday if it tried.

I'm afraid that was a rather short sighted viewpoint, and now who elts? Miss Kitty said, and Leroy Shooster waved and said, I woke up one morning and it was Sunday and I knew I had to go to Sunday school and behave myself quietly the rest of the day, but the compensation was it wouldn't happen again for another whole week.

Now really, hasn't any boy a more wholesome illustration? Miss Kitty said, and I waved my hand saying, Once I woke up and it was Wensday.

Now stop right there, I wont listen to any more about waking up, we will proceed with arfmetic, Miss Kitty said.

Wich we did, making me feel partly lucky on account of not being sure how I was going to finish anyways.

3rd Thurlow

Third Thurlow, Jan. 18.—Many friends from this line attended the funeral on Saturday of the late Mr. Frank Garrison, fourth line. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

Mrs. Clement of Belleville is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ward Hall.

The executive of Cannifton Sunday school met at the parsonage on Thursday evening with a fair attendance. After 1939 business was discussed the following officers for 1940 were elected:

Superintendent, Mr. Douglas Brenton; assistant superintendent, Mr. Harry Pound; secretary, Mr. Roy Pound; treasurer, Mr. Charlie Mills; Missionary superintendent, Mrs. Clarence Bird; temperance superintendent, Mrs. Armstrong; pianist, Miss Vera Pound; assistant pianist, Miss Flora Fermidge.

Bonarlaw

Bonarlaw, Jan. 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Caldwell returned home on Wednesday of last week after a stay of three weeks visiting relatives and friends in Wyandotte, Mich., and Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. F. McKee of Toronto returned home on Friday last after visiting her sister, Mrs. M. R. Neal, who has been ill with pneumonia. Mrs. Neal is now convalescent.

Mrs. H. M. Caverley of Toronto returned home on Monday of this week after visiting relatives and friends in Bonarlaw and Marmora for several days.

Mrs. J. M. Barlow and daughter Margaret spent the week-end in Frankford.

Mrs. James Gay of Essex, Ont., is the guest of her sister, Miss Lulu Brown and her brothers, Messrs. J. and A. V. Brown for a few days. She also visited her sister, Mrs. B. O. Lott who has been seriously ill but is now much improved.

SOCIALIST URGES DEFENCE LEAGUE IN SCANDINAVIA

Movement Gains Ground for Closer Military Collaboration by Norway, Sweden and Finland

STORMY DEBATE

Stockholm, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sweden's outstanding Socialist leader, Frederik Shrom, today urged creation of a northern "Defence League" as a movement gained ground for closer Scandinavian military collaboration in the face of the Russian-Finnish war.

Discussion of such collaboration was aroused in Sweden by a speech in the Riksdag (parliament) pleading for adoption of such a policy by Richard Sandler, former Foreign Minister.

During stormy budget debate in parliament last night exponents of strict neutrality found themselves hard-pressed following Sandler's appeal. Especial importance was attached to a statement published by Strom declaring "Finland would have escaped war if the northern countries earlier had established a Northern Countries' Defence League."

"Such a league would have been the surest guarantee for our peace and neutrality," Strom said. "Perhaps it is not yet too late to fashion such a league. Every day is costly now."

Socialists Blunder

Strom said he believed the Socialists had blundered in previously opposing extensive military preparedness.

"The only thing we can do now is to utilise all our strength, as hurriedly as possible, in building up a strong army, navy and air force," he said, supporting the position taken by Sandler.

"Last week's events have convinced me that the collaboration of the northern countries should not be limited to the Aaland Islands (fortification) question, but should also embrace military co-operation" Sandler said.

Sandler's retirement from the Swedish cabinet Dec. 13 was reported partly due to difference over his stand that the then unfortified Aalands should be fortified. Finland is reported to have fortified them to help keep open communications with Sweden during the Russo-Finnish conflict.

Islands Guard Gulf

The islands guard the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia.

"When asked why, while I was in office, I did not propose a northern military alliance my answer is that conditions had not ripened," declared Sandler.

In reply, Premier Per Albin Hansson said, "the idea of northern collaboration is by no means shipwrecked."

In speaking during the budget debate yesterday, Sandler drew applause with his criticism of Sweden's neutrality policy saying that while "nobody wants war with the Soviet Union," there was no assurance that a victorious Russian army would halt at the Swedish-Finnish border.

Premier Hansson said the opinion that Sweden was obliged to "stand at Finland's side" could not become the deciding factor for the government, being based as it was on sentiment.

U. A. Hubbell Begins Timber Cut on Holdings Near Algonquin Park

First inroads of what is expected to be the largest timber cut in the northern districts in some years are now under way on one hundred square miles of virgin timberland that borders the west side of the Algonquin National Park.

The land which constitutes roughly one and one-half townships is the property of U. A. Hubbell, of Faraday Township who stated today that he expected to cut in the vicinity of two hundred million feet of timber from his holdings.

Sixty per cent of the timber is virgin birch with the balance made up of hemlock, elm, cedar, etc. A modern sawmill and camp that houses sixty lumbermen has been constructed, and actual cutting has been under way for some time. Mr. Hubbell expects to cut three million feet of timber this season if weather permits.

Snow conditions at present at the scene of operations are ideal, the northern lumberman said. "There are about twelve inches of snow in the woods which makes cutting and other conditions perfect. More snow than that, however, is liable to impede operations."

Mr. Hubbell's property at Paudash Lake has been exhausted of all timber and sawing and logging equipment has been transferred to the new scene of operations.

RATS MAKE GOOD SUBSTITUTE

Boston, Jan. 18 (AP).—The war is going to be troublesome for American rats and mice. Massachusetts scientists, pointing out that the war made "difficult" the importation of Indian monkeys, important laboratory animals in infantile paralysis research, have learned that their search for a combative vaccine can be carried on with native rodents.

Multiply War Power by Spring, Is Aim of Great Britain

Shipbuilding Will be Accelerated Under Long-Range Plans

THROTTLE NAZI TRADE

London, Jan. 18 (CP).—Acceleration of shipbuilding today topped long-range plans being shaped by Great Britain to multiply her war power by spring.

Other measures reliably reported to be claiming attention of the war cabinet include higher barriers against imports of non-essentials and rationing of supplies other than foods already on a quota basis.

The government is considering rebuilding shipyards out of use since the depression to supplement those already hammering away at full speed in a drive to build more vessels to carry supplies to the British Isles.

The importance of the battle of blockade, and strategic trading with neutrals, was emphasized by Ronald Cross, Minister of Economic Warfare, in the House of Commons yesterday.

In his first speech as a minister, Mr. Cross said Germany already was in "something like the same economic stress she was in after two years of the last war."

Pacts With Fourteen Neutrals.

And, he added, "we look forward to the day when we shall so have throttled Germany's economic life that it can no longer sustain her war effort."

Mr. Cross said trade agreements had been concluded, or were being concluded with fourteen neutrals.

Touching on the contention that Great Britain should buy at high prices and sell at low to drive Germany from foreign markets, he said that in peacetime some of the deals would "make sober business men shudder".

While the shipyards are turning out new ships, the old ones are being armed to defend themselves against attack. Unofficial reports said more than half of the country's 3,000 merchantmen had been armed and the others would have guns in a few weeks.

A British embargo on American tobacco for an indefinite period, and substitution of Balkan and Turkish tobaccos in blends, was indicated by a statement of Arthur Donn, director in several companies.

"The government has very wisely decreed that in order to conserve the country's supply of American dollars we should cease to import American tobacco and has hinted this embargo may remain for an indefinite period," he said.

Two members of parliament, Hugh Dalton, Labor, and Robert Boothby, Conservative, urged yesterday that Britain buy her tobacco from European and near eastern growers. Most of the tobacco imported by Britain hitherto has been Virginia-grown.

Meanwhile Paul Dautry, French Minister of Armaments, and Leslie Burgin, British Minister of Supply, reached agreement on details of pooling British-French manufacturing resources.

They discussed possibilities of production of the same types of arms in factories on either side of the English Channel with machine tools crossing and re-crossing the channel according to the needs.

The conferees, Dautry said, had "combined science, laboratories, technical resources, machines and labor."

PREDICTS NEW POST FOR AIR SECRETARY

London, Jan. 18 (CP Cable).—A. J. Cummings, in his "spotlight on politics" column in the News-Chronicle, today predicted a "change of scene" for Sir Kingsley Wood, the Air Secretary.

Discussing the House of Commons debate over the resignation of Leslie Hore-Belisha as war secretary, Mr. Cummings writes:

"After Hore-Belisha, Churchill? A whispering campaign has begun about the approaching destiny of the First Lord of the Admiralty (Winston Churchill). It would, of course, be an overstatement to suggest that Prime Minister Chamberlain is possessed of a devoted regard for the man who generally is looked on as his next of kin for the premiership.

Refugee on French Submarine Found Life Very Unpleasant

New York, Jan. 18 (AP).—Eight German refugees seized by a French submarine and held captive for ten days told today how they had watched their captors try to sink a fleeing German tanker.

The group, whose fate had been a war mystery for a month, were taken off the Italian liner Saturnia last Dec. 16, after the French submarine Pascal stopped the liner and examined 300 refugees aboard.

The men, who described submarine life in wartime as "hell under water", said they apparently had been seized for questioning in the hope of obtaining valuable information on internal conditions in Germany. All were released — with French apologies—at Casa Blanca, French Morocco, Dec. 26. They arrived here today on the Italian liner Vulcania.

One of the captives, Attilio Bowinkel, 35, an art dealer, said the submarine intercepted three ships—the Italian freighter Maria, an unnamed Greek freighter and a German tanker.

Bowinkel said the German ship escaped in the night after an hour's chase during which the submarine's deck gun spouted shells.

"When we first went aboard the submarine, we were all pretty nervous, fearing we might be interned for the duration of the war," he continued. "But we found the crew and officers very friendly."

Bowinkel said conditions aboard the submarine were "terrible". He said there was no fresh food, sleeping quarters were cramped, and the air so foul the submarine had to surface nightly to supply the men with enough fresh air to maintain their strength.

"The last four days there was no water," he said. "We drank wine, but had no water for shaving. We prisoners and the crew all had heavy beards when we reached Casa Blanca."

All eight captives were travelling on German passports. All except Bowinkel are Jewish.

One, Dr. Kurt Hortner, 31, of Vienna, was en route to Bethlehem, Pa., with his bride of ten months when the Saturnia was stopped by the submarine one day out from the Azores.

Who Owns Giraffes In Central Park?

New York, Jan. 18.—(CP)— New York City's Board of estimate meets today to dispose of a question that has troubled civic officials off and on for three years—who owns the giraffes in Central Park?

There are two of them, all that are left of eight captured in Kenya Colony, East Africa, by Benjamin and Raymond J. Lepow, big-game hunters. The brothers have filed claim for payment.

To obtain unconditional release from the claim, Comptroller Joseph D. McGoldrick will submit to the Board of Estimate a resolution to pay the hunters $5,000 as a settlement.

It appears the Lepow Brothers had eight giraffes when they left Africa, two of which were contracted for by some person who wished to give them to the city zoo as an anonymous gift. According to the Comptrollers' office, the donor paid $4,000 for the giraffes.

Meanwhile, six of the giraffes died, and the question remains whether the dead giraffes included those bought by the donor. If so, the live ones in the zoo would be the property of the Lepows. The Comptroller maintains the city's giraffes are those in Central Park Zoo but is willing to pay $5,000 to settle the matter.

FIRST QUESTIONS ON ORDER PAPER

T. A. Kidd Wishes to Know Particulars About St. Thomas Hospital

Toronto Jan. 18 (CP) — First questions by opposition members appeared today on the Ontario Legislature proceedings .

T. A. Kidd, (Cons., Kingston) asked seven questions concerning the mental hospital at St. Thomas, recently turned over to the National Defence department for use by the Royal Canadian Air Force. The questions are:

Have any lands been purchased in connection with the hospital since March 15, 1939, if so, from whom was it purchased, and how much was paid for each parcel; how much has been spent on the hospital to date; what is the total of tenders awarded; what is the amount spent without tenders since March 15, what is amount of extras granted on each tender?

G. H. Challies, (Cons., Grenville-Dundas) asks for information on expenditures since February 1, 1939, on the Long Lac and Ogoki water diversion projects in northwestern Ontario by the government and the Hydro Commission. Also asked for by Mr. Challies is information concerning revenue and expenses of the Hydro-Abitibi Canyon development in 1938-39.

PAIR DID NOT TRUST BANKS

Shoe-Shine Arrested Had $5,316 in Pockets and Other Man Had $4,448.69

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)— A New York bootblack and a Boston fruit merchant came to attention today with the same remark —"I don't trust banks".

Vincenzo de Martino, 64, arrested for shining shoes in a Manhattan subway, emptied the pockets of the two pairs of trousers he was wearing and produced $2,016 in cash and a $3,300 cheque. He said he had been carrying at least $2,000 in cash for more than 20 years. Included were four $100 gold certificates. Federal authorities asked that he be held for investigation.

In Boston, Henry Goldstein collapsed at a wrestling bout and at a hospital later his pockets gave up $4,448.69.

DIABETIC PATIENT DIES IN BUSH

Accidentally Broke Hypodermic Needle and Unable to Give Self Needed Insulin

Mattawa, Ont., Jan. 18 (CP) — The frozen body of Charles Loveridge was brought here last night by Game Warden Dave Gauthier and Thomas Montreuil, a guide, from Timber Lake, about 25 miles northwest of here, where Loveridge is believed to have succumbed from diabetes after he accidentally broke the hypodermic needle with which he took insulin treatments.

Loveridge went into the bush last Thursday with Hubert McLeod, Huntsville trapper. On the way in Loveridge broke the hypodermic and, unable to continue insulin treatments, he collapsed Saturday and was unable to move.

Hold Post Mortem

Dr. A. J. Bergeron, Coroner, said a post mortem would be held today to determine definitely cause of death but it was not known if an inquest will be conducted.

The rescuers told of a gruelling six-mile trip through broken country to reach the dead man's tent.

"We had to break trail all the way after we left the railway," said Game Warden Gauthier. "The trail had to be brushed out in several stretches, fallen trees had to be cleared away and when we reached the camp we were all in."

When the rescue party caught sight of the tent, they realized they were too late.

"We could see the snow on the tent and knew the fire had been out for some time," said Gauthier. "We found Loveridge dead, his body frozen stiff. There were no tracks on the snow outside, so it seems certain he had not been out since Sunday."

Loveridge came to North Bay several years ago from the Orillia district. He is reported to have relatives living near Coldwater but their names are not known here.

WAR BRIEFS

Melbourne, Jan. 18—(CP-Reuters)—The Australian War Cabinet today approved delivery to Great Britain of arms and munitions to the value of 2,750,000 pounds, ($12,237,000).

It also approved a supplementary expenditure of 500,000 pounds for the manufacture of new guns.

Negotiations are going forward with a view to the delivery of other models of arms and new munitions to Great Britain.

London, Jan, 18—(CP-Cable)—The Air Ministry today announced the death of Pilot Officer John Archibald Littlewood of Calgary in an aircraft accident in the United Kingdom, Jan. 16.

Berlin, Jan. 18—(AP)—The German high command's morning communique today said:

"In the west no special events.

London, Jan. 18—(CP)—Reuters News Agency reported today that the 803-ton Danish steamship Olga was wrecked on the rocks of southern Norway near the Orungen lighthouse. The crew of 18 reached Arendal four hours after the ship went aground.

Oslo, Norway, Jan. 18—(AP)—Official military training of volunteers will begin shortly under Crown Prince Olav, it was announced today. The training will be supplementary to Norway's system of compulsory military service.

One thousand Poles in a camp on the outskirts of the capital have been put to work to relieve the coal shortage which has accompanied zero weather. Officials said lack of transportation facilities caused a shortage.

London, Jan. 18—(CP)—The crew of the. 5,494-ton. British. vessel Cairnross, landed at a southwest port today, reported their ship sank within an hour after striking a mine last night off the English west coast. There were 48 in the crew, all were saved.

Berlin, Jan. 18—(AP)—Zamek Castle, once a local point of life in Warsaw, formerly the royal and later the presidential residence, has fallen victim to a combination of bombardments and frost, the German News Agency reported today.

It said the castle had been damaged by shells during the Polish campaign and the frost in the present severe winter has resulted in progressive disintegration of the walls.

Zamek, built in the 14th century by the Dukes of Mazovia, contained a famous throne room, a marble ballroom, halls in which the Polish parliament once met, and formerly contained many art treasures.

TWO NORWEGIAN SHIPS TORPEDOED

Fourteen of One Crew Missing but Crew on Other Vessel Rescued

Oslo, Jan. 18 (AP)—Two Norwegian ships were reported today to have been torpedoed and sunk within the past 24 hours.

Fourteen of the crew of one vessel were missing, while all aboard the second were rescued.

Owners of the 1,590-ton Norwegian steamship Fagerheim reported she had been torpedoed in the Bay of Biscay while on a voyage from South Africa to the United Kingdom. Fourteen members of her crew were missing.

A group of survivors from a torpedoed Norwegian vessel, presumably the Fagerheim, reached Vigo, Spain, last night aboard the Greek merchantman Iris. Five persons were injured, including the captain who had two legs broken.

Reports were received that a second Norwegian ship, the 1,140-ton Enid, had been torpedoed and sunk within the last 24 hours. She was said to have gone down last night off the Shetland Islands, north of Scotland. All her crew were reported saved.

ROSCOE ROBSON ACTS FOR WARDEN

Reeve of Thurlow Appointed County Representative to Hospital Board

Warden John L. Churcher of Hastings County, established a precedent in county council circles today, when he requested permission, especially that of the southern municipality representatives, to appoint a member of council to act for him as one of the county representatives on the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital.

With the assent of council, Warden Churcher appointed Reeve Roscoe Robson, Thurlow Township to act in his capacity with County Clerk Erle Denyes, as county representative to the Board.

The fact that he lives in Dungannon Township, a considerable distance from the city, and desirous that the county be fully represented at meetings of the Hospital Board, prompted him to ask the unusual request, the Warden told council.

3-HOUR ARTILLERY DUEL ON W. FRONT

German Guns Lengthen Range to Aim at French Artillery Positions

Paris, Jan. 18. — (CP-Havas)—A three-hour artillery duel west of the Saar River between French and German guns, one of the heaviest since the war began, was reported by military authorities today.

Despite the intense cold along the entire front, French patrol and scouting activity was resumed at its normal tempo yesterday. The Germans remained behind their lines.

The only German reaction to the forays of the French patrols was a fairly heavy bombardment of French positions, especially west of the Saar River, late in the afternoon. French batteries immediately replied.

The Germans guns lengthened their range to aim at the French artillery positions and one of the most intensive artillery duels yet recorded took place over a period of more than three hours.

Aerial activity was virtually nil because of the weather. One German reconnaissance plane made a flight over Eastern France.

SENATOR BORAH CRITICALLY ILL

Noted Isolationist Lies in State of Coma as Result of Cerebral Hemorrhage

Washington, Jan. 18 —(AP)—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage, was reported today to be near death.

The 74-year-old dean of the Senate has been in a seldom-broken state of coma since Tuesday morning when he was found unconscious in his bathroom.

Mrs. Borah said that the Senator's physician would give her no encouragement to expect that her husband might recover.

At their apartment where Borah was under the care of Dr. Worth Daniels, Mrs. Borah said that contrary to first assumptions, it was now considered possible that the Senator first was stricken with the hemorrhage and that his attack had caused the fall Tuesday. First reports were that he had slipped on a rug, struck his head, and that the hemorrhage resulted.

Cost of Maintenance of Wards of C.A.S. Lowest in Province

COST 65 Cts. PER DAY

Cost of maintenance of wards of the Children's Aid Society in Hastings County is the cheapest of any county in the Province of Ontario, Inspector Thomas Ruston told the Hastings County Council today when he presented his annual report. The cost to the county was sixty-five cents per day per child, the report said, the lowest rate of any in the province.

Other municipality costs ranged between seventy-five cents and $1.31 per day per child, Inspector Ruston pointed out, adding that at present 224 children were wards of the county, fifteen permanent and 35 temporary of which had been placed during the year just passed.

"Are you guaranteeing 65 cents per day for 1940?" he was asked. "Yes, absolutely" the inspector replied.

It was a needless expense to the county when children were placed out at 65 cents per day, when they could be boarded at private homes for $10.00 or $12.00 per month Reeve Charles Kerr, Tweed stated. He suggested that a committee be appointed to investigate the matter." There is a big difference between 75 cents per day and ten dollars per month, he said.

Minimum Rate Fixed

The Children's Aid Act states specifically that the minimum rate charged is seventy-five cents, Inspector Ruston countered. "I can go as high as I like above that figure, but I and the board have worked until we have reduced it to 65 cents per day.

"Reeve Kerr's suggestion is not even legal," he added. "If the truth were known, it does cost more than the rate charged the county but the Children's Aid Society shoulders the burden."

"If a child is placed in a home at twelve dollars per month," the inspector explained," that amount covers board only. The 65 cents paid by the county includes, education, board, medical service, hospitalization, in fact everything."

Outlining several cases and the environment in which children are placed in at home, it is preferable in a number of these cases, that children be taken away and placed in other and better homes. Inspector Ruston said the case of the child abandoned and left on the steps of the admitting office of the Belleville General Hospital would be cleared up shortly. Thus far the identity of the parents is unknown but the child, a healthy, intelligent type, at present is in the safekeeping of a good family.

The Society, he said, is very particular about the type of home in which children are placed. Every home is inspected, and references demanded from potential "parents" before the children are given into their keeping. Distribution of children, however, in widely separated areas of the county, but adds to travelling and other expenses and that is the reason why the wards of the county are placed in homes within reasonable distance of the city.

There was no possibility or inclination on the part of the society to increase the rate this year. Inspector Ruston replied to a query. "The reserve fund of the society is just what its title implies, and will be held for an emergency. We must use tact," he said. "Some people who if they know that money is available, want to spend it as quickly as they can get their hands on it. Our reserve fund is something that we are holding in case we have to fall back on it."

Conditions during the coming year, the inspector told council, would be much better than during the first years of the last war. Financial conditions are different and he looked forward to a year that would not be identified with much extra activity or calls for the services of the society, than the average year.

DIED TOO SOON

Camden, N.J., Jan. 18. (AP)—Thorwald Anderson's dream of building his own boat and sailing to the South Seas will never be fulfilled. For two years he worked on the boat, completed last week save for a few finishing touches. Yesterday, a friend found the 54-year-old toolmaker dead in a half finished bunk in the hold.

Three Teen-Aged Local Boys Admit Series of Break-ins

Belleville police today cleared up the mystery of the continued number of break-ins and thefts, which have been committed here during the past fortnight, when three teen-aged Belleville boys, ranging from 12 to 14 years of age, were taken into custody by Detective Fred Isard.

When questioned at the police station, however, the boys at first denied knowledge of purloins, but subsequently confessed to the break-in and entering of Clarke's service station, Dundas St., the Supertest and Cities Service warehouses in Foster ward and also of having broken into three Belleville public schools.

Later the lads admitted journeying across the Bay on or about January 7th and entering the Massassaga school-house, where they ransacked the school property and generally wrecked the interior of the building. At local schools the boys said they only stole pencils and other small articles.

This afternoon Detective Isard recovered a carton and a half of quart cans of motor oil, which the juveniles stole and hid behind the old skating rink on Turnbull St. Cigarettes taken from Clarke's service station were also recovered at this point, where much of the loot stolen had been cached by these youthful robbers.

Chief Kidd detained the lads all day at the police station, but intimated he would place them in the custody of their parents to appear in Juvenile Court here on Friday, when they will face multiple charges of breaking, entering and theft. The Massassaga school-house incident is being further investigated by Provincial Constable W. E. Smith and may result in subsequent charges preferred in Prince Edward County.

German Army 'Eager' To March Says Report

London, Jan. 18.—(CP)—Reuters News Agency military correspondent said tonight that the German Army is ready and "almost eager" to march against the Allies.

"The German public is reported to be wondering what their Generals are doing", the correspondent said. "This speculation is shared by the people of many other countries, who are bewildered by the succession of crises and lulls on the Western Front. Of one thing we may be certain—the German Army is ready to march and is so disposed that it can do so in a minimum time.

"War is not unpopular among the German officers, nor among the rank and file of the army. They are convinced that the stories regarding the decadence of the democracies are true. They openly boast of smashing the British Empire in six weeks. They dream of revenge for their defeat in the first Great War. In this 'hate' they are continually stirred by the Nazi Generals, the principal of whom are Keitel, Reichenau and Blaskowitz, all of whom cherish pronounced and sinister feelings about Great Britain.

"Together they are in a position to overrule the more cautious military views of the Commander-in-Chief, General von Brauchitsch.

"This new Germany is a completely different proposition from the old Imperial Army of 1914. Today the German infantryman is more intelligent. Though his uniform may be shoddy material and his general appearance unmilitary, he is more mobile and his equipment is lighter. His food is good and its issue is supervised by officers who pride themselves on their relations with their men.

"We must not underestimate the present German Army. In it von Ribbentrop's alliance with Russia finds more supporters than among the German people. The army feels that it has been relieved of the danger of war on two fronts and that from a purely professional viewpoint nothing else matters. The ruler sergeant-major has also been abolished. Young officers have considerably more influence in leading their men.

"The question: 'What are the generals doing?' is therefore one of primary importance. The machine is ready, almost eager to put into motion".

512 NAZI SAILORS CANCEL PLANS

Change in Sailing Arrangements Attributed to Reports Warships Off Coast

San Francisco, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Reports that two Australian and one Canadian warships were patrolling the coast apparently caused cancellation of plans for 512 Nazi sailors to sail from San Francisco today for Germany via the Orient.

The Germans, greater portion of the crew of the Nazi liner Columbus scuttled in the Atlantic last month to avoid capture by a British destroyer, seemingly were headed for government detention quarters on Angel Island in San Francisco Bay.

It was arranged originally that the Nazis should leave at noon today on the N.Y.K. liner Tatuta Maru for Japan, from where they would go to Siberia and eventually to Germany. N.Y.K. officials, however said the ship would sail without the Germans.

The change in plan was attributed to waterfront reports that two Australian cruisers and a Canadian destroyer were cruising 100 miles outside San Francisco, ready to remove the Nazis from any ship on which they might sail.

A REAL ACCOMPLISHMENT

Pittsburgh, Jan. 18 (AP). — Two months ago, 42-year-old Thomas Zikis weigher 385 pounds. "It took two men to help me on my feet." Convinced "there was only one thing to do," he decided to abstain from candy and other fattening foods. Now he weighs 285 and is working toyard an even 200. "I'm never hungry any more."

CROWN CONCLUDES CASE AGAINST PERRI SUDDENLY

Thoroughness of R.C.M.P. in Collecting Evidence Noted in Testimony

DEFENCE SURPRISED

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 18 (CP). — Thoroughness of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was amply demonstrated here today as the trial continued in Supreme Court of Ontario of Sam Miller, Windsor restaurant owner, and four Windsor customs officers.

The five men are facing charges of conspiracy, one of a group of trials to be held in connection with the arrest of Rocco Perri of Hamilton, Ont., his housekeeper, Anne Newman, Miller, Sam Motruk and six customs officers last summer.

The R.C.M.P. claim that a huge alcohol smuggling ring operating between Detroit and Windsor was smashed by the arrests. Perri, who styled himself Canada's "bootleg king" years ago, will be defendant in later cases.

Witness After Witness Called.

The Mounties called witness after witness today, piling up evidence as Crown Prosecutor Thomas Phelan examined them for corroboration of testimony by David Armaly, 32, dismissed Windsor customs officer and the Crown's key witness.

The Crown concluded its case suddenly during the morning session today and the defence, taken by surprise, asked for an adjournment until 2 p.m. so they could arrange their stand. Mr. Justice George McFarland granted the request.

Armaly testified as a Crown witness that he had permitted cars containing thousands of gallons of alcohol to pass from Detroit to Windsor and had been paid by Miller for this. He also said he arranged for Miller to have the four fellow customs officers — who are charged with Miller—pass cars containing alcohol at the Ambassador bridge, the tunnel and ferry also.

Substantiate Statements.

Substantiation of Armaly's testimony was the main point of the Crown's case today. They called in witnesses from points as far distant as Chicago and also a member of the Indiana State Police to corroborate Crown evidence. Some of the witnesses merely answered two or three questions.

In cross-examination yesterday, Armaly declared that the authorities had told him that he would not be charged with the offences with which the defendants are faced.

First witness called by Crown Prosecutor T. N. Phelan today was Paul Hinkle, Indiana State trooper, recalled what Phelan called a "certain event" on December 31, 1938, when a car was seized near the Michigan-Indiana Line. L

He noticed the car was heavy in the rear and the occupant fled when he stopped it. Tins of alcohol were found in the car and the driver refused to stop despite two shots he fired, Hinkle said.

The State trooper said he found a document in the car with the name Albert Zellor on it. Gerald Parent, a previous Crown witness, said he had purchased a car from Zellor and also related how he was stopped by State police in December of 1938 while driving for Sam Miller between Chicago and Detroit.

Mr. Luffman, Napanee hotel keeper, was called or corroborative evidence on Armaly's evidence regarding a crash at Napanee during a trip for Miller between Windsor and Montreal.

Mrs. Martha Snyder, from a Chicago hotel, also was called. Both testified regarding registrations, producing signature of aliases used by Armaly and acted by him as a crown witness.

Roy Klowden, Chicago hotel auditor, also corroborated evidence of Armaly, regarding hotel registrations under aliases used by the dismissed Customs officer.

The briefness of the evidence of these witnesses and in some cases the long distances they were required to travel to testify revealed the thoroughness with which the Crown has proceeded with its case.

The next witness Miss Shamwell, Chicago housekeeper, gave evidence in rapid-fire fashion, answering questions from the Crown Prosecutor without hesitation. She also gave evidence regarding hotel registrations.

Angus A. McKennon, local registrar of the Supreme Court of Ontario, took off his gown to enter the witness box as a Crown witness. He also gave evidence regarding a court case, supporting Armaly's evidence again.

Connected With Liquor

Victor Burnett, brother of a man convicted of armed robbery, was called to support Armaly's evidence. Cross-examined, he said he was not connected with smuggling aliens into Canada—"only liquor."

Detective Sergeant F. W. Davis of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police said that he met Armaly in 1939 and the former customs officer told him he wanted to turn over a new leaf and "go straight." The officer said that Armaly made all the advances and Davis made no offer to him, communicating the information to his superiors. There his responsibility ceased, he said.

Davis said that he arrested Miller July 19, 1939, finding Armaly's phone number and a bus ticket between Chicago and Detroit on him at the time.

Lawrence Reaume of Windsor, a surveyor of customs and excise, said that the four customs officers charged were employed for the prevention of smuggling across the border from 1933-38.

Anti-Aircraft Fire Heard in Denmark Remains Mystery

Air Ministry, However, Insists No British Bombers Were Over Sylt on Thursday—25 Years Ago Zeppelins Bombed England for First Time

MANY CONJECTURES

One View is That Sounds Were Those of Artillery Practice by Germans Such as They Carried Out Before Outbreak of War

(By Fred Backhouse, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Jan. 19—(CP-Cable)—Sylt, Germany's base for mine-laying seaplanes, provided a new mystery of war today as Danish reports of violent anti-aircraft fire and explosions, and even of heavy fire of warships, brought authoritative denials in London that British aircraft or naval forces had been engaged in the area.

It was officially denied that R.A.F. planes had been over Sylt and it was also stated in London that the French air force had not been raiding there either.

Naval circles said they had no knowledge of any bombardment by British warships in the Sylt zone. A spokesman also ruled out a suggestion that the fleet air arm may have been in action.

May Be German Practice

It was pointed out here that the heavy gunfire heard may have been due to intense practice shelling by German artillery and anti-aircraft units. The Germans held many such exercises near the Friesian Islands before the war and may be continuing them now.

The latest report of a "raid" is the second from Denmark within eight days. Each time official denials that R.A.F. warplanes were involved have been issued by the Air Ministry.

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Skating! This ancient sport is mentioned in the sagas of the Norsemen, who used bones for runners, as did some of the American Eskimos. It is said that the ice is so hard in northeastern Siberia that skates can not be made to take hold. European countries noted for skating are Scandinavia, Finland, the Netherlands, England, Austria, Germany and Switzerland. In the northern United States and Canada, due to the long cold winters, skating is a major winter sport. An ancient writer records that a skater made two miles in two minutes, which may be questioned in view of the lower records made at the present time with much better equipment.

Atlantic Clipper Mails Checked by Censor at Bermuda

Washington, Jan. 19 —(AP)—Examination of airmail arriving at Bermuda en route to and from Europe was inaugurated last night, while the State Department still was studying the British Government's reply to a protest against interference with United States postal service on the High Seas.

Europe-bound mails from the United States on a transatlantic clipper arriving in Hamilton, Bermuda, were checked by the censor last night, in search for currency contraband which might find its way to Germany.

Officials here were said authoritatively to regard the British reply to the previous protest as a rejection based on an interpretation of international law although the text of the note has not been made public.

SOVIET APOLOGIES RECEIVED BY NORWAY, SWEDEN

Countries Assured Red Fliers Had Erred in Violating Territory

DENMARK ALOOF

Stockholm, Jan. 19—(AP)—Soviet apologies for territorial violations of Sweden and Norway by Russian warplanes gave those countries assurance today that Red fliers had erred.

The apologies from Moscow, pleading accidental trespassing in answer to formal Swedish and Norwegian protests, came while divided counsel left in doubt how Scandinavia would respond to proposals for greater aid to Finland and military cooperation by the northern nations.

Although some Swedish opinion leaned toward increased support for Finland and was attentive to a socialist-proposed northern "defence league," reaction to any deviation from strict neutrality was cold in other quarters here and in Norway. Denmark held aloof from the issue, although there were indications of her concern.

Bomb Kallaks Island

The Soviet note to Sweden was in response to representations against the bombing of Kallaks Island, on the far side of the Gulf of Bothnia from Finland, last Sunday.

Although Sweden had charged nine Russian planes bombed the little island near the Bothnian port of Lulea, the Russians made no mention of bombs having been dropped and acknowledged that

Nazis Slaughter 20,000 Poles Since They Conquered the Country

Paris, Jan. 19—(CP-Havas)—Authoritative Polish quarters last night estimated that the Nazis had executed a minimum of from 15,000 to 20,000 Poles since they swept across Poland last autumn.

In addition, tens of thousands of Poles and Jews have been shuttled into ghettos, placed in concentration camps or sent to Germany for obligatory labor service, these sources charged.

They said that the Germans had forbidden authorities to post up death notices on city buildings—an old Polish custom—on the ground that such action defaces the structures. Polish quarters in Paris are convinced that this move was designed to prevent the population from learning how many have died.

On Jan. 11, the Polish information centre here charged that 6,000 Polish men and women had been shot by German Storm Troopers at the town of Bydgoszcz alone since fighting ended in Poland. All the surviving men of the town were shipped off to join labor gangs in the Reich or other parts of Poland, the centre claimed.

It was reported here last Dec. 11 that 5,000 Poles were executed in Poznan Province up to that date. Despatches reaching here yesterday, said that 500 Poles had been executed in the city of Poznan since the start of the new year.

Thousands also have been reported killed in Warsaw, Krakow, and other Polish cities now under the ironclad censorship regulations imposed by the Nazi invaders.

Wholesale eviction of the Polish population from many cities, especially those of Poznania, Pomerania, and Silesia, is being carried out with unheard of brutality, Polish sources charged, and all big properties owned by Polish landlords are being confiscated .

More than 20,000 families—over 100,000 persons—were estimated to have been evicted from the City of Poznan. Most of these families had lived in the region for generations.

The method followed by the Germans, these sources said, is to expel all judges and lawyers one day, all railway workers and postmen the next, and so on. Finally all Poles are ordered out of certain streets, and finally out of whole quarters of the city.

Poles evicted are given no warning, it was said. Gestapo agents arrive in the middle of the night and give families fifteen minutes to dress and pack suitcases,

RUSSIA FIGHTING FIERCE BATTLE TO PROTECT 40,000

Part of Army in Full Retreat to Russian Border Still 50 Miles Distant

MAJOR DEVELOPMENT

Sudden Retreat Apparently Caught the Finns Flat-Footed; Sub-Zero Weather Continues

By WADE WERNER
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Helsingfors, Jan. 19 (AP)—Stalked by knife-like cold, hunger and Finnish skiers, Soviet Russia's Salla army—heretofore the most successful of the war—was reported fighting a fierce battle today at Markajaervi to protect the retreat of 40,000 men toward the Russian border, still fifty miles distant.

The terse Finnish communique said, "Our troops have advanced 45 kilometres (about 28 miles) in the Salla sector during the past few days. The enemy has been pushed back from Joutsijaervi to Markajaervi, for possession of which fighting is proceeding."

Foreign military observers read into this statement a suggestion of major developments in the early future.

It was in this sector that the Russians drove deepest into Finland, reaching a point only 18 miles from the railhead of Kemijaervi, strategic northern centre that was their immediate objective.

Finns Caught Flat-footed.

Finnish ski patrols, repeatedly cutting off Russian supplies, were credited with forcing the Russians into a retreat complicated by the severest winter in more than half a century. A temperature of 56 below was recorded at Nickby, northeast of Helsingfors.

A Finnish detachment which reported occupation of a Russian camp in the Salla area shortly after the Red army's departure said flesh had been sliced from dead horses, apparently for food.

They said the Russian dugouts were skillfully built of logs, earth and stones, and camouflaged with Pine boughs.

To the south, the Finnish communique said, "several strong enemy patrols" were wiped out in the Aittojoki and Kuhmo areas.

HOPES 101ST BIRTHDAY WILL BE THE LAST

Newark, N.J., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Lina Wilkinson observes her 101st birthday today. She hopes it will be her last. "I don't believe I care for any more birthdays," she said.

"The world isn't as happy a place to live in as when I was younger. There's too much sin and sorrow".

BOILER EXPLOSION KILLS FAMILY OF SIX

Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, Jan. 19—(CP Cable) —A whole family of six sitting around the fire in their home at Walkerville near here was wiped out today when a boiler exploded.

Those killed were Charles Sharpe and his wife, children aged five, two and one, and a 10-year-old niece.

ALL SERVICES CANTEEN CLUB OPENED

The first all services canteen club was recently opened in London. Lord Milne and Mr. Anthony Eden were among the notables who attended the housewarming for the new club and Mr. Eden is pictured here lighting the cigaret of a Canadian soldier. No Reason to Suspect Sabotage in Explosions Says Government

London, Jan. 19—(CP)—Although Scotland Yard's sabotage squad worked on the case the Government denied today that there was reason to suspect that sabotage caused yesterday's explosions which killed five persons and injured 30 at the Waltham Abbey Munitions Plant.

The Home Office and Ministry of Supply issued a communique which said: "On information at present available there is no reason to suspect that these explosions were caused by sabotage. The whole matter is being investigated by an official committee of inquiry."

Cold Spell May Last Until Over Weekend, Continent Shivers

Arctic Blasts Make Weather Bitterest of This Winter—Sub-Zero Temperatures Registered in Many Parts of North America—San Francisco Minimum Lowest in 18 Years

Ontario shivered in the most bitter weather of winter today with predictions the cold snap would continue at least until this week-end. A bitter west wind added to the discomfort.

A blizzard blew into Southern Ontario from Lake Huron last night and workers shovelled away snow today in sub-zero and zero temperatures. Goderich reported the storm was the worst of the season in that district.

A bitter southwest wind assailed thousands of work-bound Toronto citizens with the temperature hovering at zero. Weather officials said the wind had a velocity of 29 miles an hour.

Eight Below in Essex "Sun Parlor".

Essex County, sometimes referred to as the "sun parlor of Canada", felt the cold keenly as the temperature dropped to eight below zero today with possibility of continued cold—if not colder—weather. A sharp wind accompanied the cold.

Ferry service continued unhampered on the Detroit River but officials said that heavy ice will make for difficulties if the Arctic temperatures continue.

Sarnia district reported the coldest night of winter last night when the mercury dropped to four below. Freezeups in plumbing systems were numerous. Although the sun shone at Chatham, the thermometer showed eight below at 8 a.m.

At London, many cases of frozen ears and noses were reported and frozen water pipes gave the Public Utilities Commission its busiest period in years. The temperature was six below early today in a January cold wave that hasn't been equalled in the district for several years.

Taximen and Plumbers Busy.

Taximen and plumbers were the busiest persons at Stratford as motorists vainly tried to start long-standing automobiles in the 8-below temperatures and householders found water pipes frozen.

The thermometer dipped to three below at Fort Erie, lowest of the winter in that district. A driving southwest wind accompanied by snow is blanketing the area and traffic moved with difficulty. At Galt the mercury dropped 17 degrees overnight to five below.

Outlying districts of Hamilton reported 10-below zero readings with a howling wind making the cold insufferable. The gale whipped across the district throughout the night.

Clear, cold weather was reported throughout Northern Ontario with bright sunshine causing sub-zero temperatures to moderate.

Little Relief Expected.

New York, Jan. 19 (AP).—Unrelenting Arctic blasts decreed another day of sub-zero chill for the United States middlewest today and beat down the mercury below the freezing level virtually everywhere except the Gulf States. Little relief was expected until next week.

Grain dealers feared damage to winter wheat and rye. Livestock, and fruit and vegetable crops in Texas were periled by snow, ice, and below-freezing temperatures that extended to the coast. Many midwestern schools were closed. The intense cold was blamed for many fires as householders added fuel to overtaxed stoves.

Nine persons were injured in Chicago last night when two elevated trains collided.

MANY OFFICERS AND OTHER RANKS TO TAKE COURSES

Individual and Collective Training Periods for First Division C.A.S.F. Announced

ANTI-GAS TRAINING

Lieut.-Col. G. R. Turner, General Staff Officer, Outlines Preparations

By GILLIS PURCELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Aldershot, Eng., Jan. 19 (CP).—Individual training for Canada's 1st Division will extend over a period of some weeks, it was announced yesterday by Lt.-Col. G. R. Turner, General Staff Officer (1st Grade).

The decision is the first step in Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton's 'build-from-the-ground-up' policy.

In the special order of the day of Dec. 17 the general officer commanding said: "We must devote ourselves to becoming proficient with our weapons, instruments and vehicles, and to the practice of co-operation, individual with individual, unit with unit, arm with arm, formation with formation."

Level Standard Ideal.

The stress on individual training following the Division's extended exercises in Canada indicates General McNaughton's insistence on a level standard throughout the Division, an achievement virtually impossible

HEPBURN SCORES PRIME MINISTER ON WAR EFFORT

Hastily Drawn Motion Endorsing Critical Attack Passes in Legislature

COL. DREW CONCURS

The Ontario Premier blew sky-high an apparent wartime reconciliation with Prime Minister Mackenzie King in a blistering broadside yesterday against the Federal government's leadership in the National war effort and a violent attack on the Prime Minister personally.

When continued condemnation of the Federal government drew objection from some Liberal members, Premier Hepburn brought the issue to a head with a hastily drafted motion endorsing the critical stand he and opposition leader Drew had taken.

Motion is Carried

The motion carried 44-10, with the Premier threatening to resign if it failed. The 18 Conservatives present and 26 Liberals supported the motion and 10 Liberals voted against their leader. When the vote was taken there were 35 absentees, a number having withdrawn before the voting.

The motion, providing the rare spectacle of a provincial legislature censuring the Federal government, climaxed discussion which opened Tuesday when the Premier and Col. Drew vigorously denounced the Federal government's war efforts. Debate yesterday was marked by heated exchanges, questioning of motives and of the propriety of a provincial legislature passing opinion on a matter like defence for which parliament alone was responsible.

Supreme Court Rules Parliament Has Jurisdiction

Justice Crocket Dissents Holding Bill Introduced by Hon. C. H. Cahan at Last Session of Parliament is Ultra Vires

REFERENCE CASE

Justice Davis Dissents in Part Saying Bill Would be Valid if it Provided That Right of Any Province in Any Action Concerning Any Entirely Provincial Matter Was Not Affected

Ottawa, Jan. 19 (CP)—The parliament of Canada may abolish appeals to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, the Supreme Court of Canada ruled today.

The majority of the court found parliament was competent to enact the bill to abolish appeals introduced at the last session of parliament by Hon. C. H. Cahan (Cons., St. Lawrence-St. George.)

Mr. Justice O. F. Crockett dissented and held the bill was wholly ultra vires of parliament.

Mr. Justice H. H. Davis dissented in part. He found the bill would be valid if it provided that the right of any province in any action concerning a subject matter wholly within the jurisdiction of a provincial legislature was not affected.

The court's decision was given on a reference from the Dominion Government upon which arguments were heard last June. The government sought the court's ruling before proceeding with the passage of a bill which would make the Supreme Court of Canada the court of last resort for all Canadian cases.

For the past two sessions of parliament Mr. Cahan has sponsored such a bill in the House of Commons. Last session it drew the support of Justice Minister Lapointe who suggested it be withdrawn pending an opinion from the court.

At present appeals may be taken to the judicial committee from the judgments of Canadian courts in civil but not in criminal cases.

SMUGGLERS DARE BARBED WIRES

Persons, Money and Goods Smuggled Over German-Soviet Border

Warsaw, Jan. 19—(AP)—Smuggling along the new German-Soviet-Russian frontier has assumed proportions causing alarm to the Reich and Soviet authorities. Even barbed wire and the guns of numerous frontier guards have not stopped it.

American dollars change hands under most hazardous conditions. They are wanted by Polish Jews on the German side to pay for tickets to their countries. They will pay as high as 7,000 zlotys for a one hundred dollar bill or 4,000 for $100 in gold. At the official rate 540 zlotys is the equivalent of $100.

Smuggling of persons is as extensive as that of money and goods. Some 100,000 Poles are said still to be on the Russian side of the frontier where they fled before the German advance of last September. They would like to return to their homes.

The counterpart of Poles trying to return to the section now under German domination is to be found among Polish Jews wanting to escape to Soviet Russia because of the anti-semitic policies of Nazism.

Models Seek Professional Status, Would Rule Out Debutantes

Boston, Jan. 19—(AP)—Determined to eliminate debutante competition, Boston professional models issued a challenge for a "battle of glamor" today in their fight against society models.

Led by Miss Ruth Allen, who holds more titles for beauty and "oomph" than can be counted on the fingers, the models hope to win their fight by legislative action which would give them professional status akin to nurses, hairdressers and similar groups.

"Bring on the debutantes," said Miss Allen. "They do our work for fun and amusement. We do it to earn a living. All we want is a chance to earn that living without unfair amateur competition.

"We can prove that a professional model has it all over a debutante. We challenge any and all of them to a battle of glamor — a tournament of beauty" and let the public judge.

"We'll even let the debs choose the weapons. They can make it evening gowns, bathing suits or sarongs—we can beat them at any of them."

The models have drawn up petitions, which they are circulating throughout the state, asking Governor Leverett Saltonstall and the State Legislature to take action on their problem.

$500,000 Paid Producers for High Grade Cheese

Cornwall, Ont., Jan. 19—(CP)—Canadian cheese producers received $500,000 in 1939 through premiums paid by the Dominion Government for high grade cheese, S. L. Joss, Secretary of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association, told the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Counties Council yesterday.

In addition to the quality premiums, the Cheese Factory Improvement Act, which provided for payment of 50 per cent of the cost of equipment for cool curing rooms, greatly benefitted the industry, he said.

Mr. Joss stated that the return to selling cheese on a competitive basis was one of the major factors in the price improvement.

PREMIER KING TO MAKE STATEMENT AT HOUSE OPENING

Will Discuss Motion Passed by Ontario Gov't. Censuring Federal Cabinet for War Effort

NOT PREJUDICED

Ottawa, Jan. 19 —(CP)— The early days of the coming session of Parliament probably will be featured by a statement from Prime Minister Mackenzie King concerning the motion of the Ontario Legislature criticizing the Dominion Government's war effort .

The capital learned of Premier Hepburn's renewal of his attacks on the Federal administration with considerable interest but it was viewed comparatively mildly on Parliament Hill and scarcely ranked as a political sensation.

Shortly after Parliament opens next Thursday the matter likely will be aired again. The Prime Minister told newsmen last night that he believed Parliament was the proper place to discuss the Government's war policy and "I shall reserve until Parliament is in session what I may have to say on that subject."

Until Parliament convenes, Mr. Mackenzie King continued, "the Government does not intend to permit Canada's war effort in the present war to be prejudiced by fostering any controversy which does not permit of the most complete presentation and consideration of all relevant facts."

Mrs. Faulkner is a member of the Baptist Church and has been a faithful attendant when health permitted. She resides at the home of her son, Mr. Hubbard Faulkner. She has two other children, a son, Mr. Almon Hamilton, of Edmonton, Alta., and a daughter, Mrs. Jennie Osterhout, Stockdale.

Robt. Gannon Pleads Guilty to Breaking And Entering B. C. I.

Was on Parole From a Previous Sentence for Theft

Robert Gannon, charged with attempted breaking and entering the Belleville Collegiate Institute and Vocational School on January 4th., last elected summary trial before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., in police court today and pleaded guilty to the charge. A charge of vagrancy on which he was held until the more serious charge was laid was withdrawn on the advice of Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C. Magistrate Butler sentenced Gannon to serve three months determinate in the Reformatory and an indeterminate sentence of not more than three months. Gannon is on parole at the present time and his parole expires on May 21st of this year and His Worship ordered that the accused serve this unexpired term at the conclusion of the sentence passed today.

After Gannon had been parolled, he joined the Hastings and Prince Edward County Regiment but after serving for a short time was discharged as an "undesirable" according to the authorities. The young man was sentenced some months ago on a charge of breaking, entering and theft from Albert College and the theft of two bicycles. Mr. Donnan explained to the court before sentence was passed that petty thefts were a usual occurrence at the Belleville Collegiate and on the day in question the caretaker had heard a man trying to enter one of the classrooms. He ran to the scene but the intruder rushed through the corridor and disappeared. Another member of the Collegiate staff also saw a man running through the hall and identified him as the accused. "The school has had a lot of trouble with this youth", said Mr. Donnan. Plainclothesman Fred Isard conducted the investigation.

Given Six Months

Frank High pleaded guilty to a second offence of "keeping liquor for sale" and was sentenced to serve six months in the County jail.

Biggest Exhibit in History Of Fair Annual Meeting Told

Extra Accommodation for Livestock Will Have to be Provided for This Year's Fair

DIRECTORS NAMED

Following Governmental regulations regarding the procedure of annual meetings and elections of officers of Provincial Fair Boards, the Belleville Agricultural Society elected a directorate of 16 members at their annual meeting held in the City Hall yesterday. From the elected directorate and at a subsequent date, the Fair Board officers will be elected and a secretary and treasurer appointed by the elected directorate.

President Earl Bonter occupied the chair yesterday and reviewed the activities of the 1939 Belleville Fair. "We had the biggest exhibit in the history of our Fair and the only regret is the fact we are outgrowing our present site, where we can't seemingly accommodate the increasing number of livestock exhibits, if they continue to increase," stated President Bonter.

His Worship, Mayor Glencoe Thompson, spoke and welcomed the Board to Belleville. "I always felt that our Fair was a direct asset to the city, as the merchants share its benefits," stated His Worship as he assured the Fair Board of his co-operation as the chief executive of the community. "I would venture to say that over 75 percent of the prize money given the exhibitors at the Belleville Fair comes back into this city," added President Bonter in thanking the Mayor for his attendance. Secretary R. H. Ketcheson read the correspondence and minutes.

Lengthy Discussion Held

Considerable discussion was heard relative to the advisability of holding a three or four day fair. The general consensus leaned towards a three-day fair, but the matter was left in the hands of the newly elected directorate. However, the various chairmen present were of the opinion that money could be saved by holding the Belleville Fair either the first three or last three days of the working week, with the latter suggestion being more preferable, it was suggested by C. J. Symons and Jack Holley, whose chairmenships were around the fair entertainments. The Belleville Fair affiliated with both the Ontario Fairs' Association and the Central Ontario Agricultural Society.

Under the new Provincial directorate system the following members of the Belleville Agricultural Society were elected to the Fair Board: Messrs. E. Bonter, C. Babcock, F. Denyes, J. Garbutt, J. Barber, B. Bleecker, G. Jarrell, J. Walker, A. Kennedy, C. J. Symons, John Watson, Harry Ketcheson, T. W. Bamford, Wes Grey and H. L. Fair. From this directorate the Board will elect its officers. Those elected as junior directors, whose age must be under 30 years, were: K. Onderdonk, H. Bonter, Don Walker and Ralph Campbell.

President Bonter called upon all chairmen of last year's Fair Board to give an account of their stewardship, the only regrets being that the exhibits were increasing at such an alarming rate that accommodation for livestock cannot hope to meet the demand. Efforts to enlarge the present livestock quarters may be attempted.

Financial Report Given

Treasurer Fred Chamberlain presented a detailed complete account of the receipts and expenditures in his annual financial report, which follows. Mr. Chamberlain revealed some startling figures, however, when he told the meeting that although the 1939 prize list was $778.00 in excess to that of the previous year with one day less of operation, last year's fair actually proved more successful.

"The attendance in 1938, for a four-day fair, was 20,330, which is an average of 5,082 per day. However, in 1939 when we had a three-day fair only 16,397 passed through the gates, but here we find a daily average of 5,466, or nearly 400 more on the average day," stated Mr. Chamberlain as he added there was a daily average increase on the grandstand last year also.

The financial report as submitted by Mr. Chamberlain and accredited by the re-elected Auditors, Sidtailed Statement of Receipts and Belleville Agricultural Society Detailed Statement of Receipts and Expenditures for Year Ending December 31st., 1939

MRS. J. P. B. CASGRAIN, WIDOW OF SENATOR, DIES IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Jan. 19—(CP)—Mrs. J. P. B. Casgrain, 77, widow of Senator J. P. B. Casgrain, died here last night.

Mrs. Casgrain had been in excellent health until three weeks ago, when she suffered a stroke. Her husband, who represented the Quebec constituency of De Lanaudiere, as a Liberal, died little more than a year ago, on Jan. 6, 1939.

She is survived by two daughters and four sons, all living in Montreal.

Mrs. Casgrain will be buried near the body of her husband in the village cemetery at Val Morin, in the Laurentians.

Roads and Bridges Committee Estimates $91,000 for 1940

One and One-Half Miles of Pavement on Belleville-Madoc Road Will be Constructed

REPLACE BRIDGES

Costs of construction and maintenance work on the Hastings County roads and bridges system during 1940 will amount to $91,000, estimates of the Roads Committee presented to County Council yesterday, revealed.

New construction work which features extension for one and a half miles of the pavement on the Belleville-Madoc highway; the extending of the double surface treatment on the Stirling-Campbellford road; replacement of two old small bridges or culverts by metal arches, as well as grading work, cutting steep hills and dangerous corners, was estimated at $20,500.

Must Protect Investment

The large investment in county roads must be protected, the committee felt, in estimating maintenance costs at $53,200. This includes snow removal and fencing, $7,000; dust prevention on 65 to 70 miles of road, $12,500; crushing rock and gravel, $17,000; seal-coating three and one half miles of old pavement, $2,500; power dragging, weeds and general patrol, $12,100 and county bridge repairs, $2,100.

Machinery at $8,900 and general accounts at $8,400 bring the total cost to $91,000.

Machinery Costs Given

Machinery costs include purchase of one new power grader to replace one that has been in continuous service for ten years and is worn out also one new snow plough and wing, already bought and in service. General accounts include superintendent's office and clerical expenses, Workmen's Compensation Board, rebates to towns and villages and contingencies.

The report recommended that a levy of two and one half mills, a slight increase over last year, be made on county assessment for this purpose. This, with the usual provincial subsidy will provide the amount estimated for costs of construction and maintenance of the roads and bridges system.

Rigid Economy Followed

The Roads Committee realize the report stated, the necessity for rigid economy especially on account of the war. It pointed out, even if the amount estimated was raised, if for any reason more rigid economy has to be exercised, the county is not obliged to spend the full amount as provided by bylaw.

Light Discussion

Light discussion followed the presentation of the report. Reeve Geo. West, Madoc, urged that the committee do something about the Madoc-Foxboro road. While he felt that rigid economy was necessary, he thought the road should have attention and action of the committee. The cost of upkeep of unpaved road was ten times amount of paved, he said.

Reeve Linn, Marmora, told council that it was not a road anyway, and six months before the next provincial election, the government will tear it to pieces.

"If you are going to make a road out of it, do a good job and not one that will not stand government inspection."

Reeve Geo. N. Spencer, Frankford, asked the committee to consider paving the north end of Trenton Street in Frankford.

The report was adopted as read, with clauses regarding expenditures referred to the council in committee as a whole on bylaws.

OBITUARY

THOMAS SIMPSON,
(Mount Carmel)

Thomas Simpson, late residence Mount Carmel, Murray Township, Northumberland County, passed away at the residence of Miss Beatrice Jones, 260 Dundas Street, Belleville, this Friday morning. Early in December the deceased was found in his cabin at Mount Carmel in an unconscious condition due to gas poisoning. His brother Charles who was also sleeping in the cabin, was found to be dead from the same cause. Mr. Simpson was conveyed to the Belleville General Hospital and after being there some time he was removed to the residence of Miss Jones.

The late Thomas Simpson, who was in his 78th year, was born in Brighton, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Darius Simpson; his mother's maiden name was Elizabeth Sherwood. For some time he was living retired. In religion he was an active member of Mount Carmel United Church and highly esteemed in the community.

LATE MRS. MARIA BRENNAN

The funeral of Mrs. Maria Brennan, widow of Patrick Brennan, took place from the Thomas C. Thompson Funeral Home, 38 Everett Street, this Friday morning to St. Michael's Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father J. R. Rowell. At the close of Mass the funeral cortege proceeded to St. Mary's cemetery at Marysville, where entombment was made in the vault until Spring. Prayers were said at the cemetery by the Rev. Father O'Gorman.

The bearers were Messrs. John Alexander, Carl O'Neil, Frank O'Connor, James Alexander, Reginald Scriven and Michael Callaghan.

MRS. JOANNA BRINTNELL
(Fort Lauderdale, Florida)

Old friends of Mrs. Joanna Brintnell, widow of John Brintnell, will regret to learn of her death which occurred on Sunday, January 14th., at her late residece, 635 E. Las Olas Boulevard, Fort Lauderville, Fla.

The late Mrs. Brintnell had reached the advanced age of 92 years. She was born at Latta in Thurlow Township, the Latta community having received its name from that of her family. The greater part of her life was passed at Latta and in Belleville and she enjoyed the high esteem of many friends.

"Mrs. Brintnell came here from Canada 22 years ago. She was a life member of the Order of Eastern Star and also a member of Park Temple Methodist Church.

Mrs. Brintnell had been active in social and church activities here up until a few years ago. A party, attended by a large number of friends from this area and by Canadian visitors, was given recently in honor of her 92nd birthday.

Surviving are two sons, H. E. and S. L. Brintnell, both of Lauderdale; two daughters, Mrs. C. Tree of Fargo, N.D.; and Mrs. Anna Wilson of Miami, and a sister, Mrs. W. R. Mitchell of Oaks, N.D.

Funeral services will be held at 2.30 p.m. Tuesday at Fairchild Funeral Home, the Rev. James Marlin officiating. Burial will be in Belleville in June".

Sale-of-Apples Campaign Urged By Premier Godbout

Montreal, Jan. 19—(CP)—Quebec's apple growers were advised last night by Premier Godbout that the Provincial Government would be "right behind" them with "all possible o-operation" in any campaign to promote apple sales.

The Premier spoke before the 46th annual banquet of the Quebec Pomological and Fruit Growing Society here. He suggested a newspaper advertising campaign to stimulate apple sales, lagging since the outbreak of war.

To make up for export markets lost by the war, Premier Godbout urged a vigorous campaign throughout Canada.

The Premier discussed agricultural associations and expressed belief they should be headed by practical farmers, not by any government official, no matter how competent.

"But don't think that this is a hint that I might refuse co-operation," he added.. "Rather the contrary. The government is anxious to help you as much as it can—in a financial way, if that be needed, though we haven't much money to spare."

ENERGETIC CLUB RAISED $301

In yesterday's report of the Holloway Street United Church annual congregational meeting, the amount raised during the year was given as $30. It should have read $301.

St. Andrew's Church, Marmora, Reviews Progress of Past Year

Marmora—The annual congregational meeting of St. Andrew's United Church was held in St. Andrew's Hall on Tuesday evening with a gratifying attendance. The meeting was preceded by a bounteous repast which was served by St. Andrew's Women's Association and helpers. The meeting was duly opened with prayer by the pastor, Rev. Dr. W. P. Fletcher, after which minutes of the last year's meeting were read by the secretary, A. Sweet, were confirmed. E. C. Prentice, Acting Superintendent of the Sunday School presented the initial report. Figures given by Mr. Prentice included the following:

Teachers and officers—12.
Pupils enrolled—92.
Average attendance—58.

The amount raised by the Sunday School for its maintenance and other objects in the year was 125 dollars. During the year an adult Bible Class was started with the former Superintendent W. H. Sabine as teacher. Other organizations commenced within the field of Sunday School activities were: The Explorer Group of Girls and a C.G.I.T. Group, the latter being organized by Mrs. W. P. Fletcher.

Interesting reports of the activities of the Women's Association, which raised $670.86 during the past year were forthcoming from Mesdames F. Sweet, H. W. Sabine and F. B. Wells. At their conclusion Rev. Dr. Fletcher expressed the joy of Mrs. Fletcher and himself that such good care was taken by the Association of the pastor's home, besides the support given to the work of the church by the ladies. W. A. Sanderson, speaking for the choir spoke of the good harmony existing and made a few suggestions of a general nature.

As Treasurer for the Missionary and Maintenance Funds, Mrs. H. R. Haache mentioned in her report that approximately $93.00 had been raised. The financial statement prepared by the church treasurer, W. A. Sanderson was then distributed among the members of the congregation. Including a balance on hand from the previous year of $166.43 the total of $2818.84 constituted receipts for the year. Dr. Fletcher in the pastor's report, reported 103 families in connection with St. Andrew's and 27 at Zion. 30 baptisms, 19 weddings and 8 burials were performed in the course of the past year.

Dr. Fletcher expressed his pleasure at the happy relations between himself and the congregation and brought to his hearers an optimistic outlook for the ensuing year. The Board of Stewards consisting of twelve members with four retiring each year were elected as follows:

Retiring Dec. 31st, 1942: F. R. Wells, R. E. Neal, S. Jarvis and W. J. Pack.

All members are eligible for re-election.

The Session to consist of eight members in addition to the pastor with two members retiring each year but eligible for re-election was elected as follows:

Retiring Dec. 31st 1940, H. A. Burwash, W. J. Pack.

A. Sweet was re-elected recording steward of the church and H. W. Sabine was appointed representative to Presbytery. Ushers for services were appointed as follows:

Morning—R. E. Neal, S. Jarvis and H. Bonter.

Evening—D. Prentice, C. Wallbridge and J. Marett.

JANUARY AND THE RECORD

January has given the season of 1939-40 sufficient to live up to its claim of being a cold month, a month of thaw or rain, a month of bitter winds and a month of snow.

There have been half a dozen nights or more when the mercury has been below zero, one when it was at zero and quite a number when the mercury was just above zero. In addition there have been several mild days.

But January of 1940, while there have been occasions on which the temperature dipped down sharply, cannot approach the winter of some years ago when there were some days when the mercury did not appear above the zero mark and when temperatures in the thirties below were recorded. Those latter were unusual, and were a record for severity, probably without equal.

January has given a number of bright days without a cloud in the sky. These are welcome but a cold day with a bright sun seems to be quite indicative of continuance of cold.

DON'T LEAVE KEYS IN IGNITION LOCKS OF CARS

Motorists are advised to remove the keys from the ignition locks of their automobiles and so foil any attempt at theft. A car with a tank of gasoline and with a key in the lock must be a great temptation to any person lacking a sense of the right of others and many fall before such a temptation.

In this age with so many cars on streets and roads and people so car-minded, a driver is taking a real chance in leaving the car unprotected. He may easily forget to remove the key and so regret his failure to do so.

An ounce of precaution is still worth the pound of repentance and regret at failure to protect one's property by the easy means of removing the key.

HOLDING OUT AGAINST COLD

During the World War it was said that one of the grave dangers of demoralization of a civilian population was the winter.

In the present war one can understand the suffering which is entailed by the Russian invasion of Finland and the loss of morale by the Russian troops which, with the inefficiency of the Soviet organization, the unreliability of the equipment, the poor transport and the lack of adequate clothing for the troops and the clever strategy and defence of the Finns, accounted for several Russian defeats.

The intense cold of Finland this winter has aided the defence naturally but it must have imposed on the Finns intense hardships.

Yet the Finns have their courage and the knowledge that they are fighting for all they have and are, to counteract the deteriorating influence of intense cold on a suffering population.

SUBMARINE WARFARE

The Germans the other day claimed that two British submarines had been lost but the British Admiralty came forward with the fuller statement that it was believed three were lost, as they had failed to return to their bases for reports. There is a proof of the sincerity of the British authorities, they speak openly so that the people may know.

It is safe to say that many disasters to German submarines and planes are not told to the German people, because Nazism is such a repressive influence and a nazified nation is such a state that the people dare not be told all the losses they have suffered.

But the British people are different. They want to know the facts. They have hearts of great sympathy, hearts that feel for the men who can go down to the sea in submarines and in other vessels and for their families, but these hearts are also hearts of oak. It is natural that news of losses should have come as a shock to the people but they know the course of war. Fortunately British submarine losses have been small.

These people bear these losses like men because they feel them like men. An English poet put this thought into words over three centuries ago:

"No man bears sorrow better. But I must also feel it like a man."

The German story said that a portion of the members of the crews of the two British submarines they reported sunk in Heligoland Bight had been saved.

Submarine warfare is particularly hazardous. The operations on which the three British submersibles were engaged was of that character. It must be remembered that British submarines have to run great danger in their attacks on German objectives because German operations are so much narrowed down by the sea-blockade and the activity of the patrols on the oceans, so that to reach the mark the British boats have often no doubt to undertake peculiarly dangerous missions.

Germany has to depend in large measure on the submarine to accomplish anything. But both her mine and her sub campaigns have not been very effective. Now it is said Germany may build larger submarines.

At the time of the announcement of the non-return of the three British submarines, word came that the score had been about evened as far as boats were concerned as British and French craft reported the sinking of German submarines, one by the British and one by the French. Possibly another enemy underseas boat was sunk when it tried to attack a merchantman.

WERE THEY REALLY 'DARK AGES'?

There have been countless references in these days to the "dark ages" to which it has been said man would have to go to find counterpart of some of the events of this day and to match the grim policy of the German Nazis. There have been dark periods in history, such periods as when Attila and his Huns overran a large part of Europe. Another bitter period was during the Moslemic sweep across Asia Minor, along the North Africa coast, and then into Spain, where it was finally halted.

Attila extended his dominion over Germany and exacted tribute from the Eastern and Western emperors of Rome. He was marching on Rome when Pope Leo the First went with the Roman ambassadors to the camp of the Huns, succeeded in staying his march on the capital, and obtained peace.

But it must be remembered in mentioning these that Attila and the Huns and the Arabs had not the advantages of modern education and knowledge and science, though the Arabs were among the greatest of mathematicians of their day. Germany however has enjoyed all the advantages of modern civilization and was given credit up to a generation ago for having furthered civilization by her progress in science and learning. But with the Great War the world saw that along with the education in Germany there was ambition for expansion of territory and influence. Since the last war the Nazis have developed a revolutionary ideal combined with ambition to rule mankind and be subject to no law. Attila and his Huns coming out of obscurity might be expected to do what they did, but the Nazi Germans have thrown away all the fine developments of science and civilization in order to seize the grenade, the bomb and the explosive with purpose to destroy. Much used to be said about nihilism in Russia but the Nazis have the same spirit — destruction. Hitler and his crowd want none of the sanctities and blessings of life, they want an empire of selfish men, who it is said, hate one another. They blush not when they lie, they destroy Poland, their soldiers shot down women in the fields of Poland for the mere love of killing, eye-witnesses have charged.

These nations, Germany and Russia, are the cause of most of the references to "dark ages." But those 'dark ages" though there were many wars and calamities such as the invasions by the Huns and other races, were ages of faith. The racial upheavals settled, and Europe kept alight the lamp of progress which reached an amazing development in the Renaissance. Christianity was the light which developed the world.

Today the German and the Russian states are not typical of humanity in the twentieth century. There is in the world at large a great faith and confidence today in better things. It was even apparent before and after the Great War and before this present war, as it is apparent during the hostilities in which the nations are engaged. Nazis and Russia may fight religion, because their political faith is evil, while the Allied war with the Nazis and Finnish resistance against Russia are crusades for truth and justice and all that the democracies treasure.

Daily War Survey

By The Canadian Press

German war activity up to the present reflects a certain hesitation on the part of the Nazi regime which is emphasized by the declaration of Ronald Cross, British Minister of Economic Warfare, that the Allies would so strangle German economy that Germany could no longer maintain a war effort.

The present disposition of German air, naval and military forces in the west indicates an intention to launch a great attack on Great Britain and France, perhaps by way of Holland and Belgium or Switzerland.

On the other hand all the diplomatic endeavors of the Nazis Government and the internal economic organization of Germany point to a desire to prepare for a long war of attrition, a defensive war against the economic offensive described by Mr. Cross.

The desire to bolster German economy is evidenced by co-operation with Moscow and the somewhat humiliating spectacle of Nazi approval of the Red armies smashing into friendly Finland, hitherto regarded as within the German sphere of influence. It is also evidenced by efforts to maintain favorable trade relations with the states of southeastern Europe and the relatively restrained use of aircraft in the west. No more gasoilne is being used than is necessary.

Should Germany decide to fight the long war on the economic front it is possible German military operations in the next few months may be such as will pay immediate if temporary dividends in economic resources. This carries a menace for neutral countries rich in oil and other materials needed for Germany's war machine and internal economy.

Some such countries in both northwestern and southeastern Europe may be given the option of merging their economic life with that of the Reich by selling their goods on credit or be invaded.

Searching for Cause of Allergic Symptoms

Allergy—sensitiveness to various substances—has become a common word in our language but frankly, when we think of allergy, most of us have in mind hay fever due to pollen of ragweed, or perhaps hives—urticaria—due to eating strawberries or other food.

"But what about the other cases of allergy with obscure headaches, with peculiar abdominal symptoms evidently of considerable severity but unexplained by usual examination? What about peculiar skin rashes, dark spots, inflamed spots, and the eczemas for which there is no apparent explanation?"

I am quoting from the Boston number of the Medical Clinics of North America, Clinic of Dr. Francis K. Rackemann, Massachusetts General Hospital.

While there is, perhaps, no direct method by which the question of whether allergy is or is not causing the symptoms, a good deal can be done by getting a complete history of the case. Among the points to be considered are:

First, the symptoms must be explained by a pathology, or damage, due to muscular contraction, stimulation of glands, or by the tiny blood vessels allowing too much liquid to pass through their walls and form the hives or the swelling of eyes, lips, or other parts which is an outstanding symptom of allergy.

Second, the evidence of allergy is not unusually just one symptom because patient has usually more than one. "An abdominal pain becomes easier to understand when a few hives appear."

Third, members of the family, either the parents or the children may have allergy; and then finally with allergy goes the finding of positive skin tests and the finding of an increase in the number of certain cells in the blood".

History of the case may show that the abdominal symptoms and hives occur after eating strawberries or lobster, that the head cold is due to the fur of the family cat. But to be true allergy, the symptoms must disappear when patient is not exposed to the allergic substance.

The use of a dairy in which is written each day the places visited, food eaten, and other circumstances, may give the clue as to the cause of the allergic symptoms.

FINNISH MARKSMEN EXAMINE THEIR TARGET

Men of Finnish anti-aircraft battery defending the Finnish capital of Helsingfors swarm over a downed Russian bomber to examine results of their shots. This was one of several Red raiders shot down by the anti-aircraft marksmen.

FINNISH PRESIDENT VISITS BOMBED CAPITAL

Major Ake Sloor, young aide-de-camp of President Kallio, of Finland, shows the president the golosh of a Soviet airman, shot down by anti-aircraft guns during a raid on Helsingfors. The president is constantly in touch with the men fighting in the front lines and frequently pays them surprise visits. Even the Soviet airmen appear to be insufficiently clad. Near Helsingfors a plane was shot down, the crew of which had no other shoes but rubbers.

Splendid Reports Received at Aiken's Church Annual Meeting

3rd Sidney—Gratifying reports from all departments were in evidence at congregational supper and business meeting held at Aiken's Church Tuesday evening.

A large representation of the members gathered for the supper which was served at seven o'clock.

The minister, Rev. L. W Scott, presided at the business meeting which was opened with the hymn "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," followed by prayer and the reading of the Scripture lesson. "You Can Smile" a solo by Mrs. Percy Hamilton with Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton as accompanist was enjoyed and appreciated by all present.

The minutes of last year's meeting were read by the Secretary: Mr. Wm. Wheeler.

In the absence of the Treasurer, Mr. Selburne Westover, the treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Westover. Rev. Scott commended the congregation on the financial standing of the church, the treasurer reporting all expenses paid, and a small balance on hand. One hundred and thirty dollars had been paid to the missionary and maintenance fund.

The Board of Session report quoted 45 families in the congregation with 102 on the membership roll.

The total receipts of the Woman's Association were $214.85 for the past year, with a balance of $138.29 on hand. The Past President, Mrs. Fred Westover, expressed her appreciation to the members for assistance during the year. Mrs. Fred Moon, Treasurer of the Woman's Missionary Society reported having sent in $166.58 to the Presbyterial Treasurer. Miss Clara Wilson, as Mission Band Superintendent reported ten paid members and $11.16 sent in to Treasurer.

The Baby Band report was given by Mrs. Perry Hamilton with a membership of four and having 75 cents.

Mr. Harry Seeley, as Secretary, and Mr. Gordon Spafford as Treasurer reported for the Young People's Union. This society has contributed over twenty-five dollars to the M. and M. Fund. Owing to a lack of Young People in the neighborhood, the congregation has been asked to meet with them at the mid-week services and many have availed themslves of the opportunity.

As Treasurer of the Sunday School, Mr. Ronald Jones reported expenses paid with a balance on hand and all supplies paid for 1940.

Rev. Scott paid tribute to the choir and to the pianists, Mrs. Perry Hamilton, Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton and Mrs. Lee Grills.

The Presidents of all organizations were urged by the minister to attend the Board meetings. The Board officials and their wives were invited to attend a circuit gathering to be held at Wallbridge.

As Chairman of the Board of Stewards, Mr. Will Bush expressed appreciation for co-operation, and the good spirit of fellowship throughout the congregation. This he felt, was due to the minister, Rev. Scott, and his good sermons, and to his predecessor, Rev. H. B. Johnson, who served the congregation the first half of the year.

Pastor—Rev. L. W. Scott.

Members—Stanley Spafford, Arthur Bunnett, Fred Westover, Carmen Grills.

Board of Stewards—Wm. Bush, Chairman, Frank Hamilton, Arthur Saylor, Selburn Westover, with the President and Treasurer of the W. A., Mrs. Selburn Westover and Mrs. Kenneth Bush names to be added and changes made at a committee meeting of Stewards.

Church Pianists—Mrs. Lee Grills, Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton, Mrs. Perry Hamilton.

S. S. Superintendent — Stanley Spafford.

President of Young People's Union—Ronald Jones.

President of Woman's Association—Mrs. Selburn Westover.

Blocked Roads Prevent Teacher Reaching School

West Huntingdon—January 1940 has already made a name for itself in that it has given us two thaws and a couple of extra cold days. The county road officials have been kept busy clearing the snow and all of the main roads have been kept free of deep snow.

There was no school at the Ridge Road Public School on Monday. The teacher Miss B. Keene was not present on account of the northern roads being blocked.

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Church was held in the church on Friday evening, Jan. 12. The ladies served supper at 6.30, after which the chairman of the Board called the meeting to order. Rev. W. H. Walker read a portion of Scripture followed by prayer.

The reports were given showing a substantial balance on hand from 1939. The members were pleased to have Mr. Henry Wallace present. Mr. Wallace has been ill for the past few months.

The officers for 1940 are: Treasurer: Mr. Harold Ashley; Secretary: Mr. Sam Donnan. On the Board of Management newly elected officers were: Mrs. J .C. Sills, Mr. John Hassall and Mr. Don Haggerty. Organist: Miss Bessie Fleming; assistant organist: Mrs. William Shaw.

Mr. Geo. A. Kingston of Toronto, a native of West Huntingdon and one who is always interested in the community of his boyhood days has composed these verses on the Royal Oak."

The Loss of the "Royal Oak"

Twas on a bright October day
In A.D. Nineteen Thirty-Nine
The "Royal Oak" at anchor lay
In Scapa Flow by Orkney Isle,—
A sheltered bay by all thought well
Beyond the reach of mine or shell.

While there she lay with anchor down,
And gently tugging at her chain,
The crew were busy on the ship
Working away with might and main,
Unmindful of a lurking foe
Ent'ring the pass to Scapa Flow.

With periscope just bare awash
And unobserved upon the "Oak"
A submarine crept up the Bay,
Preparing for the fateful stroke;
Small chance she seemed to have to aim,
But luck was with her in the game.

The "Oak" received a crushing blow
Which opened up a gaping wound
Through which the waters of the Flow,
Rushed in—twas seen the ship was doomed.
She quickly filled and sank below
The hungry wash of Scapa Flow.

Of all the crew but few were saved—
Some twice four hundred men went down—
All first line men—the Empire's best,—
These share the glory and renown
Of Britain's valiant sons at Sea
Who die that Britain might be free.

In months to come when War is past
And we're counting cost in ships and men
The "Royal Oak" will have history made
And her crew in kindly remembrance held,
This prayer may we say in hushed refrain—
"God grant these men did not die in vain."

CHAPTER XXVI

Coates was grimly considering the situation. Star might lie to him about her finances, but she would not lie to Gloria. And that smart young woman had been altogether too ready to help him with his plan. No wonder she had been willing to pack Star's suitcase! It was Gloria's idea of a good joke.

Star was staring now, as he was, at the white lane on each side of the boat. She did not know that Coates had been at all impressed by her revelation. There was nothing beyond this dismal moment when she stood beside a man she hated. There was no time even in the past, it seemed, that she had been free of this stuffy wheelhouse or the surge of the floor beneath her feet.

She watched a log bobbing up and down far behind them. It would top the crest of a wave and then disappear for a second. She saw it once—twice. Then she leaned forward and looked more closely. This was an odd bit of driftwood. Instead of getting smaller it appeared to grow larger, although it was hard to tell, really.

Star ganced at Coates. He too seemed to be watching, his eyes narrowed. When she ganced back again her heart gave an exultant throb. It was not a log, after all. There was only the faint suggestion of an outline, but she was sure it was a small boat—a boat that was shooting through the water toward them as if driven by superhuman force.

Suddenly Baldy appeared at the door. Whether Coates had some way of summoning him or not, Star did not know. He stood on the threshold looking questioningly at his Captain. When Coates spoke Star was surprised to find that his tone had not changed.

"Pull her about." Baldy looked for an instant as if he were going to question the order. "Miss Sandringham wishes to return to the cruise ship for the Christmas party." Was there a faint note of amusement in Coates' voice? "And I rather think she'll make the rest of the trip in the Cartagena's launch."

x x x

Stuart lay in his bunk and watched the waves lap against the porthole. They would slap at the glass like a friendly hand and then disappear. It was fun for a few minutes, but then he tired of the game. He wasn't a bit sleepy. Grown-ups had funny ideas, especially Dad. He thought Stuart ought to have a nap this afternoon because he was going to stay up a little later tonight.

But tonight was different, and sleeping was out of the question. It was Christmas Eve. Santa Claus was on his way. A strange Santa Claus dressed in a red bathing suit and a red cap with a white cotton ball.

He sat up and listened. He had never before actually disobeyed Dad, but this wasn't real disobedience. If Dad were here so he could ask him, he might concede that Stuart didn't have to stay in bed. But since Dad wasn't here, it had to be settled at once.

He was sure the ship had never been so quiet before. Occasionally, even at night, he heard footsteps along the corridor outside, the slam of a door or a voice calling to someone. But today there was nothing. Only silence.

Stuart had no way of knowing that in the dining salon all the passengers were laughing and talking as they decorated the huge tree that had just been put into place. Mr. Jenkins felt that he had supervised its erection. True, he had contributed many suggestions which the seamen had consistently ignored.

"At home back in Ohio we always use a bucket of coal to prop the tree," he pointed out. "Then the coal can be covered with cotton and that shiny stuff that looks like snow."

"We had a beautiful tree the year Edna was born," Mrs. Jenkins confided to Elise Cattrell. "Not as big as this, of course, but it was real pretty."

Elise smiled at her and continued to thread wires through the bright-colored ornaments. Her heart was too full for words. Once in a while Barton Underwood would turn around and glance at her and she would blush as his eyes said he was happy just to be near her. "Peace on earth!" She thought she had never before understood the true meaning of those beautiful words.

But Stuart, listening now at the crack of the cabin door, heard no sound. He looked up and down the narrow shining hall, enclosed on both sides by tightly shut doors. There was no one about. Stuart's eyes shone at this adventure. Resolutely he tugged the door open and stepped outside.

Star had been convincing—while she was there. Somehow, watching her, it was easy to believe. She was so sure of what she told him. Stuart was positive that she believed Santa Claus had a brother. But perhaps Star had been fooled.

But Star had added that Santa Claus must have already brought some of the gifts to the ship. He needed help, she had mentioned, in distributing them. If that was so, then those presents would be somewhere about the ship right now! If Stuart could find some of them, then he could bring them to the salon tonight. He could help Santa Claus even more than the sailors.

His heart was beating loudly as his slippered feet swished along the floor. He tried the first door next to his. It opened readily and he glanced inside. He didn't know whose cabin it was, but a delicate fragrance suddenly identified the owner. This must be Miss Cattrell's cabin. A corner of tissue paper caught his eye. He reached down and pulled. A small package came out. It was wrapped up just like a Christmas present with shiny silver ribbon and a big bow. It was only a matter of seconds before the package was unwrapped and a long silver case lay revealed in its box. There was a little oval in the centre of the case with letters on it just like the letters on Dad's big trunk.

It was a Christmas present all right! Stuart clutched the box tightly and picked up the tissue paper and ribbon. Star had been right. Santa Claus' brother had already been there and hidden the gifts in unexpected places.

His eyes fell on Elise's knitting bag hung on a hook at the foot of her bunk. Of course—Santa Claus always carried a pack! It was the only way to get a large number of gifts to one particular spot. By standing on a chair Stuart managed to unhook the bag and get down on the floor again.

It was a simple matter to pull the knitting out of the bag and throw it with the needles in a dark corner under the bunk. Then the present was dumped unceremoniously into the bottom. Stuart noted it was a fairly large bag. He could collect at least one gift from each cabin and take them all back with him. And wouldn't Santa Claus' brother be surprised!

In the dining salon the tree stood in regal splendor, almost reaching to the ceiling. On every bough tinsel and colored balls caught the light and winked back at the shining sea outside. Elise Cattrell gazed at it with something approaching awe. She had not thought she would see this lovely symbol of the season. She had not wanted to imagine what a Christmas tree would look like with sunshine and flowers outside, instead of cold and snow.

She was surprised to find that there was nothing strange about it. Although she was wearing a white summer dress and the men had on thin sweaters or sports shirts and the salon portholes were ablaze as the sun started to dip into the ocean, it was Christmas. The tree stood proudly glittering, holding them all together in a spirit of giving and good will.

Mrs. Jenkins coughed significantly. "Of course it's a little early," she said with the first hesitation Elise had ever known her to show. "But we could do just one carol before we dress for dinner, don't you think? I used to sing in the choir at home," she went on with a return of her old manner, "and we always rehearsed before the services."

The other passengers murmured their approval. They seemed glad to linger together a few minutes more. Elise said timidly: "I used to play the piano a little, I could give you the key."

There was a pattering of applause, and as Elise rose shaking bits of tinsel from her lap, Barton Underwood came over to her. Together they ran up the steps to the platform where the orchestra sat during dinner. The others grouped themselves around the tree, Mrs. Jenkins facing them like a captain facing his crew. She nodded imperiously to Elise whose long fingers ran experimentally over the opening bars of a carol. Barton sat in a chair next to the piano, causing her heart to flutter uncontrollably. The chorus of voices swelled up to them, Mrs. Jenkins' dominant soprano leading in a martial tone.

When they had finished Elise began tentatively, "God rest ye, merry gentlemen," and saw Mrs. Jenkins nod in agreement. All the rest picked up the tune and sent it ringing gayly through the warm summer evening.

Tuesday, January 16—

A very enjoyable evening was spent by the members of the Glee Club and a few of their friends from various other forms of the school. Although it was the coldest day this winter, we enjoyed an hour of sleigh-riding throughout the city. We returned to the school where refreshments were served, after which dancing took place in the gym.—M. W.

HOLLOWAY STREET WOMAN'S ASSOCIATION

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Association was held in the church parlours on Thursday afternoon, January 18th.

The meeting was opened with the retiring president, Mrs. A. Sills in the chair, by all singing the "Theme Song", followed by prayer by Mrs. Sills, after which she thanked the ladies for their co-operation and help during her term of office.

Rev. Mr. Newman then took charge of the installation of the officers for the coming year. The meeting was then turned over to the new president, Mrs. S. J. Sweetnam, who thanked the ladies for the honor they had bestowed upon her.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A very gratifying report was given by the Treasurer of the year's work. The reports of the various secretaries were given.

The roll call was taken with thirty-six present.

Rev. R. E. Newman closed the meeting with the benediction.

Dainty refreshments were served by the executive and a social half hour spent by all.

Tweed

Tweed — Ice-cutting operations will soon be under way at Stoco Lake. The ice is about fifteen inches in thickness and a few additional days and nights of sub-zero weather will assure a bumper ice harvest.

The temperature on Tuesday night dropped to 21 degrees below zero, four degrees higher than Sunday's record of 25 degrees F.

The Young People's Union held a supper meeting at the United Church on Monday evening. Miss Marjorie McTaggart gave an interesting reading.

Tweed Council had a fleet of trucks and a gang of men busy on Monday and Tuesday removing the snow from the main business thoroughfare. The heavy fall of wet snow pushed aside by the snow-plough, was frozen into a solid mass which required the use of picks and crow-bars to break it up into pieces small enough to handle.

Skating to Beauty

By HELEN FOLLETT

THOSE members of this beauty class who belong to the sit-by-the-fire contingent don't know what they're missing if they don't go in for winter sports. If they're afraid of getting red noses and cold toeses, they should remember that the hot house variety of complexion is anything but pretty. Before the tulips bloom again they'll look like stalks of celery that have been blanched in the cellar. No fresh air, no rosy cheeks. No exercise and in course of time the meal bag figure will develop. Out now, all of you! Pump vitalizing ozone into your lungs.

Skating is a perfect exercise. Good skaters are graceful. Gliding over the ice acts favorably upon the muscles of the arms, legs and torso, the entire musculature of the body being called into action. The lazy girls should reform and take it up. Then they won't be lazy anymore, which will make them more interesting members of the family circle.

The young fry is keen about skating; there's no reason why papa and mama shouldn't join up. Outdoor life will keep them younger and in better spirits; it will so improve mama's complexion that she can cut down the beauty overhead.

Sties are small boils, must be treated gently. To open one before it has come to a head is to have another one appear shortly.

Dip a good-sized piece of gauze in a hot boric acid solution, apply three or four times a day. Moist heat hurries along the day when the lid will be free of its unbecoming guest. It is not safe to lance a stye; only a medical man should do that. Hot applications will cause the pus sac to break; the yellow substance can be pressed out gently.

Invading germs dig into the channel in which the eyelash has its residence and the trouble begins. Drat 'em!

GO SKATING. .with your daughter for sake of health and beauty.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Good Food Service

We housekeepers may buy foods of the very best quality, but if we don't pay attention to certain fundamental "musts" in the preparation and serving, the quality doesn't count for as much as it should.

If we're novices in housekeeping, we may never have thought about these important service-details. If were veterans in housekeeping, we may have let ourselves lapse into bad serving habits. Or it may be that we never have thought about how important these details are.

However, these details cost nothing in money, take only a few minutes to accomplish, and make all the difference in the world between poorly-served food and well-served food.

Now is an excellent time for us to make these resolutions:

Resolved—I shall always heat the plates on which hot food is to be served.

Resolved—I shall never serve salads and aspics and chilled desserts on warm plates.

Resolved—I shall never serve lukewarm fruit juices.

Resolved —I shall always crisp the crackers that I serve with soup and salad, and so forth.

Resolved—I shall always thoroughly heat the rolls that I serve at any meal.

Resolved—I shall prepare salad greens with the respect and care that they deserve: clean them as soon as they are delivered dry them thoroughly (very important); chill them thoroughly in a close-covered container in the refrigerator. I shall also chill the salad bowl and the salad plates.

Resolved—I shall learn how to make an excellent French dressing.

Too Late For Christmas Gift

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

1—I am sixteen, and I have been going about with a boy for about a year. He gave me a gift at Christmas-time. This is the first gift I have ever received from a boy, and I am wondering if it is proper for me to give him a gift too, even though it would be so late. What do you advise?

2—Is it proper for me to go riding with him and his family in their car?

Undecided

1—There wouldn't be very much point for you to give a Christmas gift to this boy at this late date. You'd better wait now until he has a birthday and then give him something that will show your good taste and thoughtfulness. It shouldn't be too personal or expensive.

2—You should first ask your mother's and father's permission about this. But if they approve of your friendship with this boy, I am sure that they will give you their permission to accept these kind and hospitable invitations.

Announcing an Elopement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

I was married several months ago by a justice of the peace, without anyone's knowledge. Now I have told my parents, and they wish us to be married again by the minister of our church.

We would like to send announcements to our friends, but we do not know which date to use, the first or the second. Will you tell me?

Ann

The first part of your question is the answer. . . .you were "married several months ago by the justice of the peace." So if you send out marriage announcements, the first date is the date that should be used.

COURTESY TIP

All invitations that "request the pleasure of your company" should be answered, whether or not an answer is requested on the invitation.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Here's Your Chance Girls; It's Leap Year

Perhaps you hadn't noticed that this is Leap Year.

Leap Year, you know, has always offered a twelve-month period of upside-down-ness in the world of romance, when the shy girl could have her innings, and the girl not so shy could simply act naturally. At the same time, the most masterful of youths would have to allow himself to be wooed or overlooked as the case might be.

So, in the days when it was the custom for men to do all the inviting, and when girls sat sweetly at home by the fireside, waiting and hoping for the bids that they mustn't move a muscle to secure, because it wouldn't be ladylike,—Leap Year was a dazzling opportunity.

In Leap Year, a girl could actually invite a man to a party. She could even provide a taxi and see the whole thing through from beginning to end. If her guest happened also to be the men she was secretly and madly in love with—she could even breathlessly propose to him. Tradition sanctioned this.

It was supposed not to be easy to do, in days when men took all the initiative and girls were limited to a passive role— but some love-stricken lasses did take this desperately romantic plunge and get away with it.

Girls used to idealize men in those days. Do they, still? And if the boy friend was irresistibly sympathetic, indeed, utterly divine, yet had failed to speak the magic word of love, —and if there seemed every chance that some competing girl would grab him the next week if you did not, —why, a girl could and did summon courage to fling herself at the fascinating creature's head.

And what about him? Why, very likely he was just a nice phlegmatic boy who had been in love all the time but just hadn't gotten to the point of saying so.

But now we have a different kind of Leap Year. Or rather a different race of boys and girls whose customs are, I am sure, more wholesome, as they are certainly more natural. And to a girl who doesn't have much difficulty in making her preferences plain, who is skillful at easing a man out of the picture if he bores her, or at enticing him delicately within her web if he has caused her serious heart-throbs,—Leap Year can't, of course, be the great carnival it used to be.

At this point, I'll confess that my own observation has been that the really enterprising girl with a capacity both for love and for leadership, has her own individual way of turning every year into a Leap Year.

And why shouldn't she? Girls have certainly as good judgment in choosing their life-mates as men have. And if a girl has a handsome beau who meets all her specifications and whom she'd like to tag as a permanent partner,—I'm all for her doing it.

For such a girl, Leap Year, would simply give her the chance to make her proposal in plain language. At any other time, she'd use methods more indirect but probably just as sure in the end.

It is true that some people will tell you that a woman always engineers a proposal, even if the man who makes it believes the idea is entirely his own. But, of course, we know that isn't strictly true.

Which is new? Which Luxed 5 times?

Both pictures show the same sweater—both look new—yet the one at the left has been Luxed 5 times!

Here's the way the Lux Laboratories did it: First, an outline of the sweater was drawn on heavy paper. Then the sweater was swished in extra-rich, lukewarm Lux suds; rinsed in 3 clear, lukewarm waters. Excess moisture was removed by rolling in a Turkish towel. The sweater was unrolled at once. Then it was placed on the outline, eased to shape and pinned around the edges with rustproof pins—dried flat.

Beware of hot water, soaps with harmful alkali, and rubbing with cake soap. Lux has no harmful alkali ; ; ; eliminates rubbing. Lux won't fade colours, won't roughen or mat delicate wool fibres. Safe in water, safe in Lux.

Jealousy in Children

I have received a number of letters concerning the column devoted a few weeks ago to the jealousy that a new baby may arouse in older children in the home, indicating that this is a problem very close to many parents. Some of the letters relate very sad stories about this jealousy. Some tell how the problem was met with and overcome.

One woman hadn't thought of her older child feeling anything except loving interest in the new arrival, until two things happened. The baby began to have a succession of small bruise marks of mystifying origin. Its older brother began to act very peculiarly, he was glum and very irritable, in the presence of the baby. At first the mother had no idea that there was any connection between the two things, and she was worried about the older boy. She was afraid he was ill, that he had become "run down" while she was confined. Then one day she happened to discover the boy pinching the baby.

The boy had been the centre of his parents attention before the new baby came. Then he found himself relatively neglected. The whole household seemed to revolve around the newcomer, its mealtimes and sleeping hours seemed to be more important than anything that pertained to him. He seemed not to count any more. And the parents had taken it for granted that he would love the baby as they did.

Other letters indicate that this woman's experience, happening when it did, was a fortunate one. Many parents never are given such a timely jolt and remain blissfully unaware that strong psychological forces are at work warping an older child's whole outlook on life.

Another letter criticizes me for not making it plainer in the earlier column that preparation of an older child for an addition to the family should begin long before the event. First of all; his training should be directed toward making him self-reliant. He should have the habit of doing things for himself by the time another child becomes the centre of attention in the home. The more he is used to doing things for himself, the less he will notice and be affected by deviation of attention from himself to a newcomer.

It helps if the older child has reached an age that permits him to be included in the family anticipation of and plans for the great event. A natural interest in a forthcoming brother or sister is intensified if the child is made aware of the drama of birth, and he will look forward to the event with almost as much anticipation as you do yourself.

Let your children feel about the coming of a baby brother or sister as they do about a visit of Santa Claus. Tell them that when the baby arrives everyone in the house must get busy and make the newcomer welcome and comfortable. Encourage the idea that the new brother and sister, so small and helpless, will need their help in many ways. Make it clear that the expected baby will belong, not merely to the mother and father, but to them also.

All this will inculcate a pleasant feeling of "grownupness" and give the other children a sense of responsibility toward the newcomer. After the baby has come, it's a good idea to give each brother and sister some simple chore in connection with its daily routine. This chore, however, shouldn't be a tiresome or unpleasant task that will arouse resentment. Let him help you bathe the baby, and ask his advice. My, how important he'll feel when you do that!

It is important, too, that parents remember not to neglect an older child too much because of a baby. Find some time each day, if only five minutes in which you give your attention to him exclusively. "Baby" the older child some, too.

Fashion Flashes

LIFE AT HOME is much pleasanter with a pretty housecoat. A beauty is of blue slipper satin with a front of taffeta in vari-colored harlequin patches. Snug bodice, slim waist, full skirt.

The Humble Mole goes around everywhere, for some of the smartest women in town are wearing coats of moleskin dyed in lovely hues. One wrap is in lipstick red moleskin, another wine red, and a third a deep violet.

The Beach scene shows that the slacks and shirt costume is still first favorite. A smart outfit has slacks of brown gaberdine with beige stitching and a beige silk surah shirt.

Come to dinner is an invitation with a chance to show off a lovely dinner dress. A charming model is of beige taffeta with puffed, short sleeves, and square neckline. On the skirt are pockets of mink.

PASSPORT FRAUD TRIAL PROCEEDS

Leader of Communist Movement in United States May Go on Stand Today

New Rork, Jan. 19—(AP)—The government may bring to a close today its array of evidence in the passport fraud trial of Earl Browder, leader of the Communist movement in the United States.

Government counsel John Cahill said the prosecution would rest before nightfall, after three days of trial, and defence counsel George Battle indicated Browder might testify.

Examining two witnesses with faulty memories yesterday the prosecution evoked this testimony.

That a 1921 passport bearing the name of Nicholas Dozenberg, onetime Soviet secret agent, actually bore the photograph of Browder "unless he has a double or a twin brother."

That a passport issued to one "George Morris" bore a photograph that "resembles" Browder and "might be him.'

That Browder in 1937 was given a passport validation permitting him to go to Spain during its civil war as correspondent for the Communist newspaper, the Daily Worker.

PAIR ARRESTED AT GUNPOINT

Alleged Couple Were Trying to Escape Through Window of Pool Hall

Collingwood, Ont., Jan. 19—(CP)—Earl Nobes, 22, and George Gill, 24, were arrested at gunpoint early today by three Collingwood police officers who charged they were seeking to escape through a basement window of a pool hall.

Later, police arrested James Morrison, 19, and William Emerson, 29, at their homes. The four were charged with breaking and entering.

"The plans were well made and we have been expecting this burglary for the past three nights," Police Chief Lorne Davidson said.

REENTERS HOME 4 TIMES TO SAVE FOUR CHILDREN

Howard Noyle Suffers Severe Burns to Hands and Face in Rescue

9 HOUSES THREATENED

Widow's House Next Door is Badly Damaged as Sparks Spread

Corunna, Ont., Jan. 19 —(CP)—Four children of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Noyle were rescued by their father when fire destroyed their home in this village near Sarnia early today in sub-zero temperature. After he aided his wife to escape Noyle entered the burning house four times to carry out his children aged four to 10.

He suffered burns about the hands and face. A neighboring house occupied by Mrs. C. Cochrane a widow, caught fire but the flames were extinguished by a volunteer brigade before any serious damage resulted. Eight other homes were threatened by sparks.

Former Model, Crippled in Accident, To Be Married

Hackensack, N.J., Jan 19 (AP).—Jessie Simpson, 21-year-old beauty whose courage and smile could not be dimmed by the loss of her legs in a railroad accident, will be married tonight to the man who was constantly at her side during the long, trying months in hospital and convalescence.

The former photographers' model fell under the wheels of a Commuters' train in April, 1937 and one leg had to be amputated above the knee and the other at the ankle but she stood supple and straight last night as she spoke of her impending marriage to James Steward, young advertising executive.

Miss Simpson plays golf, dances and drives her car and intends to keep house and cook after returning from a southern honeymoon.

She wears artificial legs.

CHINESE ARMIES SURROUND CANTON

Authorities Assert Japanese Outer Lines Defending City Were "Crumbling"

Hong Kong, Jan. 19. —(AP) —Chinese officials declared today that a series of Japanese defeats in Kwangtung province had resulted in virtual encirclement of Canton, chief city of South China, by advancing Chinese armies.

The Chinese asserted that Japanese outer lines defending Canton were "crumbling" and that the Japanese had met in Kwangtung one of their most serious reverses of the war.

They declared that since the Japanese began a retreat from Yingtak, important station on the Canton-Hankow railway 80 miles north of Canton, the invaders had been pushed back more than 50 miles. The Chinese lines, they said, now form an arc with its right, or Western extremity, only 18 miles from Canton and the centre and left only 25 miles from the city.

Canton, normally with a population of 1,500,000, was seized by the Japanese in October, 1938, and since then has been the base for operations in South China.

Yesterday the Chinese reported the killing of 500 Japanese in a battle 33 miles north of Canton.

Man's Sight Restored After Twenty-Two Years of Blindness

Vancouver, Jan. 19 (CP)—Green grass and trees— the every day things that most people hardly see—are "miracles" to William Hunter, 68-year-old Vancouver station news agent whose sight was restored after twenty-two years of blindness.

"I walked to the window of the hospital, not daring too much to hope," he said in describing his first glimpse of a new world. "But I looked out for the first time in over twenty years and saw green grass. It was wonderful. I think I cried."

Hunter said that he lost the sight of his right eye after a blow received in a boxing contest. In 1918, after an attack of pneumonia, the sight of his left eye began to go until he had to be led around.

Even after his operation in November he had little hope of seeing again. "On the fifth night after the operation I had a hemorrhage of the eye," he said. "I thought I had lost my sight forever. To be quite honest with you, I cried. But then the doctor examined me and told me I was going to be all right."

Hunter, a Scotsman who came to Canada was a young man and once managed weekly newspapers at Cayuga and Caledonia, Ontario, can't get over modern movies.

"The last motion picture I saw was Charlie Chaplin throwing custard pies," he said. "Why— they even talk in pictures now!"

Denmark Votes to Maintain, Defend Its Neutrality

Vote on Declaration Framed by Kingdom's Six Largest Parties is Carried by 135 to 0—One Member of Parliament Abstains From Voting

Copenhagen, Jan. 19 (AP).—The Lower House of Denmark's parliament voted overwhelmingly today its approval of a declaration that the country intends to maintain and defend its neutrality.

The declaration was framed by the country's six largest political parties partly to offset an impression abroad that Denmark would not resist an attack on its territorial integrity.

The vote was 135 to 0. There was one abstention. Jens Moeller, elected by the German minority in Schleswig, refrained as he customarily does in matters involving Danish foreign policy on the grounds that he is not Danish. He is the lone German minority member in Denmark's Lower House.

The three Communist members in the Lower House joined in the vote of approval.

Premier Thovald Stauning presented the declaration to the House for approval with a statement the cabinet "wholly agreed" with it.

The declaration said: "The Lower House decides to declare that all parts of the Danish people agree that the country's neutrality must be maintained and that all disposable means if necessary shall be used to keep order, preserve and protect the realm's peace and independence and promise the cabinet support in its work in this direction."

Committee Asks Investigation Of Coughlin With 'Christian Front'

Members Say Radio Priest Publicly Praised Heroism of Organization Whose Members Were Recently Arrested on Charges of Plotting

New York, Jan. 19—(AP)— A committee of 16, headed by Prof. Harold C. Urey of Columbia University, Nobel prize winner in chemistry, has asked the United States Government to investigate any connection Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, Detroit radio priest, might have had with the "Christian Front."

Father Coughlin, who last summer praised the work of John F. Cassidy, a leader of the front, disclaimed any relationship with the organization after Cassidy and 16 of his followers were arrested on charges of plotting to overthrow the government.

The request for an investigation was sent yesterday to Attorney General Robert Jackson and to J. Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Members of the committee included Robert W. Searle, General Secretary of the Greater New York Federation of Churches; Dean Christian Gauss, of Princeton University; Dr. Guy Emery Shipler, editor of "The Churchman," and Prof. Franz Boaz, the noted anthropologist.

"It appears to have been in response to Father Coughlin's urgent call for formation of 'platoons' that the Christian Front was formed," they said in telegrams to the officials. "He publicly praised the heroism and zeal of the Christian Front. On several occasions he has given open encouragement to Cassidy."

Hotels Will Display Favorite Dishes

Toronto, Jan. 19—(CP)—With more than 20 hotels throughout Ontario contributing exhibits, the culinary arts display at the fourth annual hotel show here Jan. 22-24, will be a cross-section of the culinary arts. Chefs from both the leading city hotels and the provincial hostelries will display their favorite dishes.

Under chairmanship of Rene Schubert, Old Mill Hotel, Toronto, assisted by a committee comprised of Joseph Zuber, Walper House, Kitchener; Chef Henri Odiau, Royal York Hotel, Toronto, and Chef Steward Claude Beaujard of the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, an array of typical Ontario dishes is being arranged. Among hotels contributing displays are Hotel London, London, Walper House, Kitchener; Royal Connaught Hotel, Hamilton; Royal York Hotel, Toronto; Benson House, Lindsay; Fox Head Inn, Niagara Falls and others.

Truck Damages Car On Victoria Avenue

Constables Taylor and Ellis investigated an accident on Victoria Avenue in which a car owned by Robert Hayward and parked in front of his home at 90 Victoria Avenue was considerably damaged, when a truck driven by David Hill, 257 Ann Street struck the parked car driving it onto the Hayward lawn. Hill was apprehended by the constables in charge of the investigation and it is stated by the police that a charge of reckless driving will be laid against Hill.

The accident occurred shortly after 10.30 p.m., Thursday evening. Mr. Hayward had his car parked in front of his home facing west on Victoria Avenue, when the Hill truck was proceeding east on the same thoroughfare and struck the Hayward vehicle driving it across the sidewalk and onto the lawn. Both vehicles were damaged in the accident, the left front fender and wheel of the Hayward car being damaged while the truck was also damaged around the axles. The truck was towed to a garage for repairs. It was stated, by the police, that the Hill truck was being driven in a zig-zag manner east on Victoria Avenue previous to striking the parked car.

WAR BRIEFS

Helsingfors, Jan. 19 (AP) — Trained men exempt from military service because of age or physical handicaps were being recruited today to take the place of military police who have gone to the war fronts.

Chungking, China, Jan. 19 (AP)—A broadcast this morning for relay in the United States was drowned out by Japanese interference, engineers of station XGOX declared today.

They said atmospheric conditions were good during the introduction of Chang Po-Ling, President of Nankai University at Tientsin, but that when he began to speak on the effect of Japanese-American trade relations on the struggle in China his words suddenly were "blanketed" by interference.

(Reception of the program in New York became so poor that the National Broadcasting Company cancelled it.)

Shanghai, Jan. 19 (AP)—C. D. Alcott of Chamberlain, S.D., a newspaper reporter and radio commentator here, told police today a group of unidentified men whom he said were Japanese had tried to kidnap him.

Alcott said the men attempted to seize him while he was riding in a jinrikisha last night in the American defence zone of the International Settlement. Police gave Alcott a bodyguard.

Helsingfors, Jan. 19 (AP)—Helsingfors' population spent an hour in air raid shelters today while anti-aircraft batteries fought off Soviet raiding planes

Available information indicated the attackers failed to reach the city but dropped bombs a short distance outside. Fires were visible in the distance.

Detonations were heard at the legations at Grankulla, a town 12 miles west of Helsingfors, and the electric lights went out there.

Repeated air raids are not frightening Finnish workers away from their jobs, Labor Minister Fagerholm said. The workers generally volunteer to stay at their posts regardless of the raids.

Nevertheless the workers are ordered into shelters except for key men working in plants where an interruption of operation for several hours might do serious damage, such as sugar refineries and glass works,

SENATOR BORAH LIES NEAR DEATH

Wife Clings to Hope Miracle Will Save Her 74-Year-Old Husband

Washington, Jan. 19 — (CP)—William E. Borah, veteran United States Senator from Idaho, was reported "growing weaker" today.

The word came from his secretary as sorrowing friends waited in his apartment across town from the Senate chamber, where the Republican leader made his successful stand against American entry into the League of Nations.

Mrs. Borah clung to the hope that some miracle would save her 74-year-old husband, who was stricken by a cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday. But the Senator's physician, Dr. Worth Daniels, gave little encouragement. Borah lay in a deep coma.

SENATOR BORAH

Senator Borah had been feeling unusually well when he arose Tuesday morning. As he passed Mrs. Borah's room on his way to the bath he stopped and told her jubilantly that he had been to his physician for a general checkup and had been told he was in fine shape.

Whether he slipped and fell as he stepped out of the shower and suffered the cerebral hemorrhage in the fall, or whether the hemorrhage struck him down first, was not apparent.

GOVT. GIVEN WIDE POWERS

Ankara, Jan. 19—(CP-Havas)—The National Assembly passed a law today giving the Government of Turkey power in time of war to decree mobilization, take over control of industries, fix prices and control trade.

TOO MUCH NEWS IS SUPPRESSED SAYS JOURNALIST

President of British National "Union of Journalists Makes Complaint

VIGIL IS URGED

Leicester, England, Jan. 19 (CP)—J. W. T. Ley, president of the National Union of Journalists, criticized the government today for what he termed "too much suppression of news since the war began."

He told the annual meeting of the Union: "It is not enough to say that a newspaper is free in this country to criticize the government. It is not free to do anything of the kind if the government withholds from it news of national interest."

Mr. Ley urged delegates to share with all other sections of the newspaper world an unceasing vigil upon the ministry of information and to resist the tendencies to bureaucratic control "until perhaps the day will come when there shall be in charge a man who understands something about the collecting, selection and disseminating of news."

(Sir John Reith, formerly head of Imperial Airways and the British Broadcasting Corporation, was appointed Minister of Information on January 5th. in the place of Lord MacMillan.)

BODIES OF COUPLE FOUND

Lundar, Man., Jan. 19 (CP) — The bodies of Gilbert Forbister and Miss Gudrun Erickson, missing since Monday were found near here yesterday in an automobile parked on a side road. Lundar is 75 miles north of Winnipeg. Police said death apparently was caused by carbon monoxide fumes and an inquest was ordered.

12-YEAR-OLD CHILD WIFE CELEBRATES 3rd. ANNIVERSARY

Sneedville, Tenn., Jan. 19 (AP) — Eunice Win Tead Johns, once publicized child bride, and her 25-year-old husband, Charlie Johns, marked their third wedding anniversary today. They were married on a mountain pathway three years ago when Eunice was nine years old. They live with Charlie's father on a small farm.

GERMAN PATROL IS FORCED BACK

Allied Activity on West Front is Practically at Standstill

Paris, Jan. 19.— (CP Havas) — German troops have resumed the patrol activity suspended because of the extreme cold of the past few days, military authorities said today.

A German detachment of about 20 men attacked a French outpost in a wooded sector of the Vosges Mountains yesterday. After a sharp skirmish conducted mainly with grenades, the Germans were forced to retreat, leaving several prisoners behind in the hands of the French.

In the air, activity was practically at a standstill. French pursuit ships went up only 15 times during the day. Two German planes made reconnaissance flights deep into Eastern and Northern France.

This morning's official communique said—"Nothing to report".

BODY OF WIDOW TO BE EXHUMED

Death of Woman Nearly Three Months Ago Ascribed to Self-Inflicted Wounds

Elk Lake, Ont., Jan. 19 (CP)—The death of Mrs. Annie Zuk, 38, ascribed to self-inflicted wounds by a coroner's jury at Gowganda nearly 3 months ago, is to be investigated further, it was learned here today.

The body of the widow has been exhumed and sent to New Liskeard for a post-mortem by Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal expert for the Ontario Government. New information is believed to be in the hands of the Provincial Police.

Mrs. Zuk, mother of three children, died in her home in Gowganda on Oct. 22, shortly after she returned from a dance held at a mining camp, 28 miles west of here.

At the inquest the jury was told that two shots had entered the woman's body, one piercing her heart.

Fire Committee Recommends Consolidation of Fire Halls

No. 2 Hall Said Large Enough to Accommodate Men and Equipment of City Fire Department

WOULD MEAN SAVING

Providing the Underwriter's approval can be obtained the Fire Committee of Mayor Thompson, Aldermen Kennedy and Jeffery and City Comptroller, recommended at the committee meeting of the council on Thursday night "That in our opinion No. 2 Fire Hall is sufficiently large, and with a few minor changes, has plenty of accommodation to take care of all the requirements of the Belleville Fire Department and that immediate steps be taken to consolidate the Belleville Fire Department at No. 2 Fire Hall and that number 1 Fire Hall be closed." This action would mean a distinct saving to the taxpayer in the opinion of the Fire Committee and City Comptroller.

Saturday Half-Holiday at City Hall

After a report had been received from the City Comptroller regarding office hours at the city hall the chairman of Market and City Property, Ald. E. O. Butler, recommended "That in view of the fact that the present system of allowing the employees of the city hall a half holiday a week on different days is antiquated and tends to disorganize the routine of the different departments, I beg to submit for approval the following hours excluding engineers office be officially instituted, ie Monday, Friday 9.00 a.m. to 5 p.m., Saturday 9.00 a.m till noon, and that the recommendation come in effect on Monday January 29th." The recommendation was carried.

Tax-Sale Warrant Authorized

The Mayor was requested to issue the usual Tax-Sale Warrant to the City Treasurer, authorizing the holding of Tax Sale of Property in Arrears of Taxes.

"Stop Signs" will be erected at the intersection of Victoria Avenue and Bleecker Avenue, designating Victoria as a "Through Street" in accordance with By-law No. 2763.

Recommend Filling of Raceway With Refuse

Having obtained permission of the Local Board of Health relative to filling in the old raceway along the river as outlined in the City Engineer's letter of January 16th addressed to the Board, Ald. Harold J. Armstrong, chairman of Regional Planning recommended "That the City Engineer proceed at once to have Bert Zebedee arrange to dump the ashes and etc., in this location, so when completed this space may be utilized for additional parking and complete access to the rear of all property from Belleville Fruit Machinery location to Foot Bridge on South." This recommendation passed approval of Council until March 1st., 1940.

SEVEN C.N. CARS ARE DERAILED

Chambord, Que., Jan. 19 —(CP)—The seven cars of a Canadian National Railways doubleheader train from Montreal and Quebec were derailed today at Lac Bouchette, near this Lake St. John centre, but the train was able to continue within three hours to its destination at Chicoutimi.

The train, hauled by two engines because of the grades and storms in the area, was travelling at a slow speed and none of the cars left the roadbed, all remaining upright. None of the passengers or crew was injured

250-Year-Old Army Handbook Shows Discipline Was Pretty Strict

By GILLIS PURCELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Aldershot, Eng., Jan. 19 (CP) — A small red-leather volume in the streamlined travelling library of Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, general officer commanding the 1st. Canadian Division, tells a striking story of rising stress on leadership and unforced loyalty in the volunteer armies of today.

The book is a 250-year-old army orders handbook printed in London in 1688—"Rules and Articles for the Better Government of His Majesties Land-forces in Pay." The 64 articles in its 36 pages are set out in masterly typographic fashion, the body type in Gothic lettering (commonly known as Old English.)

"The volunteer army of today is composed of men who realize the forces of aggression and oppression threaten our whole mode of living," said General McNaughton. "In the Canadian active service force, they are a cross-section of Canada's young men. But 2½ centuries ago armies were drawn from the lowest types of citizen, rough and dishonest, often definitely vicious in character. It was necessary to set up the most rigid regulations for the protection of officers and in order to maintain discipline.

"The situation today is in striking contract when, with the high quality of our soldier we depend very largely on a discipline of desire to do a duty because it is right."

The 17th. Century army orders was a gift from a friend to the General when he sailed from Canada in mid-December.

In its opening article, all officers and soldiers are directed to frequent divine service and sermon "diligently." Officers wilfully absenting themselves were subject to severe reprimand by court martial. Privates forfeited a shilling from next pay for first offence; for second offence, a shilling "and be laid in irons for 12 hours."

Mockery of Trinity Severely Punished

Says serious Article IV: "If any officer or soldier shall presume to blaspheme the holy and undivided Trinity, or the persons of God the Father, God the Son or God the Holy Ghost; or shall presume to speak against any known article of the Christian faith, he shall have his tongue bored through with a red-hot iron."

Silence on the march was mandatory "to the end that officers may be heard and their orders executed"—penalty for infraction being imprisonment or court martial.

From Article XVI: "But if any officer or soldier shall exact money, or wilfully burn any house, barn, stack of corn, hay or straw, or any ship, boat or carriage, or anything which may serve for the provision of the army, without order from the commander in chief, he shall suffer death for it."

And Article XXX: "When warning is given for setting the watch, by beat of drum or sound of trumpet, if any soldier shall absent himself without reasonable cause, he shall be punished by riding the wooden horse." This was an equivalent to "riding the rail."

The "wooden horse" was the penalty for soldiers duelling "though neither of them fall upon the spot nor die afterwards." Officers in a similar case were cashiered — as is the penalty today.

Fatigue duty was the penalty for a cavalryman losing his horse or an infantryman "spoiling" his weapons; "if any trooper or dragoon shall lose or spoil his horse, or any footsoldier his arms, or any part thereof by negligence or gaming, he shall remain in the quality of a pioneer or scavenger till he be punished at his own charge with as good as were lost.

Family, Thought Lost, Was Marooned In Desolate Cabin for Over 4 Days

Sudbury, Jan. 19—Marooned in a lonely cabin for four and a half days while the temperature hovered around thirty below and deep snow prevented their walking, four Sudbury residents and one Indian girl were flown to civilization this afternoon states a dispatch to the Globe and Mail.

Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Goldsmith and their two children, Margaret, 6, and Jackie, 5, went by car to Skead, and from there crossed Wahnapitae Lake by car to visit friends at Crystal Mine. They started back toward Sudbury about 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon and were only a short distance across the twenty-mile lake when a blizzard started, cutting Mr. Goldsmith's visibility to nothing. After he drove the car aimlessly for some fifteen miles he found a small cabin, where he and his little family and an Indian girl who had accepted a lift with them found shelter.

Like Nightmare.

From then on the experience was like a nightmare. There was little food in the cabin. There was a stove, a few heavy logs, but no axe. There were cracks in the walls and the forty-below-zero frost streaked in through them despite the stove. The children's faces were frozen. Mr. Goldsmith finally decided to brave the weather to look for help, although he had no idea where he was.

"The first thing I did after we got into that shelter was to explore the cupboard," Mrs. Goldsmith related. "I found half a cup of oatmeal, two or three cups of rice, two cups of macaroni and a piece of salt pork about an inch square. My husband found some logs, but no axe. There was also one bed, plenty of blankets and a good stove in the shack. I went outside and gathered snow and melted it. We realized we were lost and might never be found. The first night I boiled the macaroni in the snow water and we ate that.

Five in One Bed.

"At night I told the children stories to keep them cheerful, then all five of us got into the one bed, and while we kept the stove going as long as possible, it soon died, and by morning it was so cold in the shack a pan of water on the stove was frozen solid.

"I made porridge for the children. My husband went outside to see if he could find help, but returned after wandering for hours. We hoped a plane would come. For lunch I boiled the rice, and for dinner we had the last of the macaroni. That night I sang songs to the children and told them stories so that they would think it was a great joke. They did consider it a lark and were cheerful.

"We spent another endless night. For breakfast we ate the last of the porridge, and for lunch, finished the pork. There was nothing, absolutely nothing left when my husband decided that this time he had to find someone. He set out walking, minus snowshoes, plodding in the snow. He left about 11 in the morning.

Help Arrives.

"We waited endless hours, and then suddenly a tourist camp owner came along on snowshoes, my husband following. They had a good supply of food, and I'll tell you we enjoyed supper that night. I'll never forget that meal. My husband had walked six miles before he found this tourist camp owner, Casper Hansom. There and back it was a twelve-mile hike. My husband's feet were partly frozen, and his face was also frost-nipped.

"Mr. Hansom went away, and returned with a dog team for the children, but there was a crust on the snow, and that made it impossible for the dogs to run, and therefore we had to carry the children. Enroute to Hansom's the children's faces were frozen. There we were comfortable Thursday and were preparing to eat dinner, when we heard a plane. It was a joyous sound. Mr. Hansom's caretaker rushed out and waved to the plane, and when we saw it we rushed out too. We were so excited we never even bothered to eat dinner," Mrs. Goldsmith continued.

OUTLOOK IN HASTINGS

The annual election of officers of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce took place at the noon-day luncheon yesterday and resulted as follows:

President—I. G. Hefkey.
Vice-Pres.—C. L. Jewell.
Vice-Pres.—J. H. Legate.
Treasurer—J. A. McIntosh.
Secretary & Manager — J. O. Herity.

The directors entertained at luncheon Mr. J. L. Churcher, the newly-elected Warden of the County of Hastings, also Mr. R. J. S. Dewar, County Registrar.

Mr. Churcher, in a brief address after luncheon gave an optimistic report of conditions and prospects throughout the County. The Auditor's report showed a credit balance of $19,000 for the year 1939. He hoped the coming year would be one of the best the County has ever enjoyed for tourist patronage. It was his opinion that the war would prevent transoceanic travel upon the part of the Americans who customarily spent their vacations in Europe. It was reasonable to suppose that a large part of this tourist patronage would come to Canada. There was also the favorable exchange rate for Americans which would also be another important inducement. The new Thousand Island bridge would make it more convenient to reach the Belleville district from the most populous part of the United States.

The Warden also urged the importance of the early completion of the Belleville-Whitney highway. This last year the county had graded the two gaps in that section of the Belleville-Madoc road south of West Huntingdon. The Ontario Department of Highways should, in his opinion, be earnestly requested to complete the rebuilding and grading of that section of No. 62 Highway between Madoc Village and Millbridge, and the Department should also be strongly urged to assume as part of the Provincial highway system those portions of the Belleville-Whitney highway lying between Foxboro and Madoc Villages and between the Villages of Maynooth and Whitney.

The County of Hastings had most beautiful scenic attractions. Scenery was something the tourists could enjoy but did not carry away with them. The more it was used the better it was appreciated and the more valuable it became.

Mr. Churcher also pointed out that the lakes and streams of Hastings County had been abundantly stocked with fingerlings and game fish fry and would, he believed, make these places the most attractive fishing grounds anywhere in Ontario.

Rangers Start Another String Of Wins Defeating Canadiens While Leafs Tie Red Wings

Dave Kerr in Goal for Rangers Invincible as His Team Wins 1-0

STEIN PLAYS WELL

Kampman and Marker Score After Detroit Gets Two in Second Frame

By JACK CALDER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Having set an amazing National Hockey League record for consecutive games without defeat, New York Rangers aren't likely to achieve anything like so long an unbroken string again this season.

The Rangers defeated the Canadiens 1-0 at Montreal last night and a natural conjecture might be that they're off on another great rampage. They may be, but the difficulty they had in stopping the lowly Habitants can be taken as an indication of how rough the riding will be for Lester Patrick's marvels.

The Canadiens, though only 4,200 fans turned out to back them, had a weighty share in the play and set the Rangers back on their heels much of the way. Mac Colville scored the single goal from a scramble two minutes from the end, after the Habitants had pressed all through the third period.

Kerr Too Brilliant.

The only mystery the Canadiens couldn't solve was goalie Dave Kerr, who earned another classical shutout. Evidence of the home team's determination lay in a third-period fight that brought major penalties to Bill Summerhill of the Canadiens and Bryan Hextall of the visitors.

The victory pulled the Rangers back into a first-place tie with Boston, while the Maple Leafs were left five points off the pace through their 2-2 tie with Detroit Red Wings at Toronto.

Dillon Missed Two Chances.

The Leafs had all they could do to turn back the stern Detroit challenge and Cecil Dillon might have produced a Red Wing win if he had made good on two first-rate chances. As it was, he fired the puck right over the back screen both times and the Wings pulled only one point out of last place, tying the Canadiens in fifth position and leaving New York Americans alone in the cellar.

Gus Giesebrecht and Syd Howe scored in the second period on Phil Stein, who played his first major-league game in place of the Leafs' regular goalie, Turk Broda. The Toronto defensive system tightened in the third period and Gus Marker and Bingo Kampman tied the score. Dillon became the goat of the game when his penalty, the only one of the entire 70 minutes, opened the way for Kampman's goal.

3 MORE FIGHTS FOR ARMSTRONG BEFORE QUITTING

Despite 'Bites' on His Bankroll Armstrong Has Plenty to Keep Him for Life

TIRED OF GAME

Wants to Settle Down to Write and Enjoy Music Which He Likes

New York, Jan. 19—(AP)— Despite the innumerable "touches" and "bites" put on Henry Armstrong's bankroll by the less fortunate members of the fistic fraternity, the steaks and French fries are "insured" for the belting buzz-saw and his family as long as he lives.

So, his financial house in order, Henry is looking ahead to just three more fights before he turns for keeps from the gentle art of scrambling ears to writing poetry.

His campaign is (1) to whip Pedro Montanez in defence of his welterweight championship in Madison Square Garden next Wednesday night, (2) follow that up with another successful defence of the 147-pound laurels against Al Davis in an outdoor show, and (3) then abdicate his throne to try for a crack at the half of the middleweight title owned by Ceferino Garcia.

"It's not that I'm fed up with fighting," the little negro said today as he went through a four-round boxing drill in preparation for Montanez. "But I get awful tired bouncing around the country to make matches. There's no time to just sit some place and relax. I like to write and I like music, but right now there's not time for either."

Now that he has the "cocoanuts" in annuities and some paying property in Los Angeles, Hennery the Hammer figures he can do the things he wants. He has spent his spare time in the last 2 1-2 years writing his biography, "The Glory Road", but he's going to hold up its publication until he has hung up the gloves.

REDMEN READY FOR THE PETES

Coach Thomas Will Send Newcomer from Quebec Into Pastime

Smarting under a 2-1 defeat at the hands of the R.C.A.F. "Flyers", Frank Buckland's Peterborough intermediate "A" O.H.A. sextette returns to the Hume Arena here for a second engagement before a Belleville crowd this week when the Petes cross sticks with Eddie Thomas' Belleville Redmen.

Like the Air Force, the Redmen were soundly trounced by the Petes in the small Peterborough rink, but in the larger Belleville ice surface the scarlet-clad Belleville pucksters feel they can duplicate the dose administered the Petes by the Flyers earlier in the week.

Rene Latour, a French-Canadian lad from Montreal, who is attending the Ontario Business College, joined the ranks of the Redmen this week and worked out with surprising success on Wednesday night. Skipper Thomas may start the Frenchman on a line composed of Latour, Yates, and Windsor, all new faces to Belleville's hockey-going public. The teams will likely line-up as follows—

Belleville—goal, Watt or Hinton; defence, St. Louis and McCreary; centre, C. Jackson; Wings, Robinson and W. Jackson; subs—Latour, Yates, Windsor, Cy Barriage, Johnny Ronsky, and Storms.

Peterborough — goal, Harding; defence, Gardner and Ellis; centre, Kingdon; wings, Blewett and Tompkins; alternates, Crowe, F. Jopling, Starr, Coughlin, Heal and Burton.

Babe Ruth Gives up Hope Of Returning to Ball Game

Principal Job in Life at Present is Trying to Keep Down Weight

SECURE FINANCIALLY

(By Judson Bailey Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, Jan. 19 (AP)—The greatest figure of baseball's modern age, Babe Ruth, has given up hope of ever returning to the game he glorified for two decades.

A mellow, bulging fellow living decorously on the annuities he had the good sense to lay away with part of the $1,000,000 he earned in baseball, the Babe doesn't seem sorry.

"Yeh, I guess I'm out of it," Ruth said today. "I've got a comfortable home here and no worries. I get a few odd jobs to do, but mostly I keep busy trying to hold down my weight. I play a lot of table tennis and golf, go hunting and I've got one of those electric horses, too.

"I was out hunting all last week—got a bunch of birds and a bad cold."

He's a different Bambino now from the rollicking, carefree character who caused the record books to be rewritten, received up to $80,000 a year from New York Yankees, squandered possibly $250,000 in luxurious living and paid $20,000 in baseball fines.

Weighs 243 Pounds

He weighs 243 pounds, 15 or 20 above playing weight, and will be 46 years old Feb. 7. Tattle-tale grey is beginning to show on his temples. Somehow it was a melancholy scene as the Babe lounged in a smoking jacket amidst countless trophies and remarked:

"I don't go to the games much anymore. Every time I go I ruin a suit of clothes getting through the crowd. Somebody spilled ink all down the back of my coat the last time."

Finally we asked the Babe a question he must have heard hundreds of times—is anybody going to break his record of 60 home runs in a season? Looking up at a big diagram on a wall showing the date, the team, the pitcher, the score for everyone of those homers, he mused:

"I hope not...I hope not; not while I'm alive."

OTT HELLER

Rangers.

Ott Heller

A fast-skating, fine play-making defence player, Ott Heller is what might be called the dean of the Rangers, this being his ninth season with the team — his entire major league career. Only Art Coulter of the high-flying Blue-shirts has been in the National League that long, but he spent his first four and a half seasons with Chicago. Last year was the first in which Ott failed to get a goal, and yet he posted his highest scoring total, being credited with 23 assists. His total output in figures until the beginning of this season stands at 21 goals, 85 assists for 106 points. Averages around 40 minutes per season with the penalty timers, and has spent 292 minutes there in his eight seasons. Born at Kitchener 30 years ago and christened Ehrhardt, so when you see "E. Heller" in the records, that's Ott. Played with Kitchener juniors for a couple of seasons and then moved to Springfield for a couple more in the Canadian-American League before moving up to Rangers. Ott was a forward until he made the Rangers, when a shortage of blue line players caused him to be moved back. Pairs with Babe Pratt and like all Ranger defencemen is an expert at the clutch and grab art. Stands six feet and weighs close to 200 pounds.

DAMORE BLANKS CAPITALS 1 TO 0

Goalie for Hershey Bears Looks to be in Big Time for Long Stretch

Little Nick Damore, playing only his second season in the monied ranks, looks as though he will stay in professional hockey for a long time.

Nick got his chance to play pro hocked when Boston Bruins took Frankie Brimsek of Providence for their goaler early last season. Damore, who had been tending the cage for Hershey Cubs of the Eastern United States Amateur Circuit, was called up to the International-American League to take Brimsek's place.

At the finish of the regular schedule he replaced Alfie Moore in Hershey Bears' nets for the playoffs and has been there ever since.

Damore gave another demonstration last night of why he has kept his job by blanking Indianapolis Capitals, western division leaders and the highest scoring team in the circuit, 1-0. The night before last he kicked out 48 shots in a game against Pittsburgh but lost that one 2-1.

In a second game last night Providence and Syracuse Stars played a 4-4 draw.

For two periods Hershey and the Capitals played on even terms but after the half-way mark of the third Bobby Kirk fired in the winning goal for the Bears on passes from Terry Reardon and Gordon Pettinger.

Hub Wilson, Johnny Chad, Crossley Sherwood and Art Giroux scored for the Reds with Jackie Keating, Norm Locking, Coulsen and Eddie Convey tallying for the stars.

AIR FORCE 'BEES' HANDED SECOND DEFEAT IN WEEK

Gananoque Combines Score 6-2 Victory to Give Team Third Win in Loop Race

HASTIE STARS

Centre Player Scores Three Goals and Added an Assist

Carrying too much speed all along the line, the Gananoque "Combines" handed the Air Force "Bees" their second intermediate O.H.A. set back of the week, when the Easterners trounced the Flyer seconds 6-2 at the Hume Arena last night. Gananoque had previously beaten the flying "Bees" 11-0 at home last Monday.

Paced by their fleet-footed centre player, Bill Hastie, who scored three goals and added an assist for good measure, the Gananoque sextette led 2-0, 6-1 and finally 6-2. Cook, in the visitors' bets, made many sensational saves to assure his team of their third consecutive O.H.A. group victory.

The Air Force rallied in the third period, however, to not only keep the speedy "Gan." team from the score sheet, but notch the only counter of the period. The Flyers laid down a sturdy defence in the last 20 minutes and thus frustrated the visitors attack completely. Sigurdson and Barsalou scored the Air Force counters on combination plays. A fistic outbreak between Harrison and Hastie livened matters in the middle frame.

Referee—H. P. Holway, Belleville.

Summary:

1st Period

Gananoque, Hastie (Gow) .. 5.11
Gananoque, Stoness (Hastie) 14.55
Penalty—Pickard.

2nd Period

Gananoque, Hastie (Gow) ... 2.20

BLACK HAWKS DEFEAT AMERKS

Kiwanis Juvenile Entry Now Tied for Group Leadership With Maple Leafs

With a clean-cut 4 to 2 win over the Americans, the Black Hawks advanced into a tie for first place in the Belleville Junior Hockey League at the Hume Arena last night. A single game was played in the league prior to the scheduled intermediate O.H.A. fixture between Gananoque and the Air Force "Bees."

There was no scoring in evidence in the initial frame as both teams were seen to check remarkably close. Early in the middle session, however, Maracle raced in with McCabe's pass to open the scoring for the Black Hawks. Kellar evened the count a moment later as he scored for the Americans. On a solo effort Billie Holway split the American defence and put the Black Hawks one up at the end of the second frame.

Maracle scored two, one on a pass from Gene Rosebush in the third period to give the Hawks a decided edge before McGuire scored for the Americans. The Americans were trying in vain to haul down the Hawks' advantage at the final bell.

The Black Hawks and Maple Leafs are now tied for the league leadership.

Referees—Homer Townsend and Don Lee.

Summary:

1st Period

No score.
Penalties—Davis.

2nd Period

Black Hawks, Maracle (McCabe) 6.55
Americans, Kellar (McGuire) 8.00
Black Hawks, Holway 17.10

3rd Period

Black Hawks, Maracle 12.35
Black Hawks, Maracle (Rosebush) 15.15
Americans, McQuire 18.25

Red Raiders Blank Lachine and Shawinigan Falls Edges Valleyfield Braves

Montreal, Jan. 19—(CP)—Give a word of praise to young Stan Robertson, Cornwall Flyers' high-scoring wingman, who didn't let the loss of a professional hockey contract effect his play as an amateur.

The Quebec senior hockey league's leading scorer, Robertson had an altercation with his coach, George Redding, last Sunday and decided to join Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League. Jack Adams, the Red Wings' manager was ready to give him a contract but the Flyers refused to release their ace so his jump to the pro ranks fell through.

Robertson returned to the Flyers last night for their game in Cornwall against the Ottawa Senators and turned in one of his finest games of the season to lead his team to a 3-2 victory. He didn't score any goals but set up the plays for all three that the Flyers counted.

The Ottawa-Cornwall game was the only one in the Q.S.H.L. but in the Quebec Provincial Senior League Sherbrooke Red Raiders, playing at home, blanked Lachine Rapides 3-0 while Shawinigan Falls Cataracts edged out Valleyfield Braves 2-1, in a game at Shawinigan.

Goals by George Shaw and Mike McMahon in the first and second periods respectively built up a 2-0 lead for the Flyers but Ottawa fought back stubbornly and Jack Carthy counted twice in the third session to even the score.

Carthy's second goal came at 16.20 and just two minutes later Robertson fed Fred Gardner a perfect pass for the winning Cornwall counter. By their victory the Flyers stepped over Verdun Maple Leafs into fourth place, one point behind Ottawa.

Fed Perfect Pass

Sherbrooke, scoring all its goals in the final period, gained first place by its victory, a point ahead of the idle Boston Olympics. Howie Peterson, Red Ryan and Hank Harris got the counters that built up the Raiders' total while little Conny Dion performed brilliantly in the nets to earn his third shutout of the season.

Final goal-tending featured the Shawinigan game too. Maurice stopped the Braves time and again when they coasted through on him and but for his great work the Cataracts would have been beaten.

The scoring was confined to the first period with Roger (Puce) Archambeault and Fernand Gauthier counting for the Cataracts and Johnny Huguet for the Braves.

GRAND NATIONAL IS OPENED WIDE WITH NEW RULES

Experts Comment on Reduction of Topweight and Other Changes in Aintree Fixture

RUN APRIL 5th

(By Jack Brayley, Canadian Press Staff Writer).

London, Jan. 19 (CP)—Weight, taken from the saddles of the super-horses who bound over the tough Grand National obstacles, has settled on the brows of paddock pundits studying the wartime cut-price Aintree steeplechase.

The most unpredictable contest of the National Hunt season, which seemed destined to join the Derby on the "cancelled for the duration" list has, after all, been rescued and slated for April 5.

New factors confront the experts poring over form and chart to guide their investments. For they claim the race has been opened high, wide and handsome by cutting seven pounds off the topweight, making it 168 and relaxing the qualifying rule. Now a horse need be placed only in races of three miles or more, worth £80 ($356) to the winner, instead of £200 ($890) as in the past.

The wartime National will be worth only £5,000 ($22,250) including £3,950 ($17,517) stake money and a £200 ($800) trophy for the winner. The stake is about £3,000 ($13,350) less than that won by Workman at the last National.

Topweight Comment

The new topweight, still pretty heavy compared to the light load flat racers have to carry, was received with mixed feelings in the sports pages. A Daily Express racing expert welcomed the new weight with "....any pound over 12 stone (168 pounds) means so very much more than any weight below that."

On the other hand the Daily Sketch racing man wrote: "Why assume the war can't provide horses capable of winning with 12 st. 7 lb.? This mitigation, in my opinion, detracts from the prestige of the race."

HEATING HINTS
by James Stewart

I WANT to caution you against poking at the fire from above. Agitating the fire bed in this manner mixes the ashes with the live coals and causes the formation of clinkers. And clinkers, you know, choke the fire and prevent the free and complete burning of the coal. They also clog up the grates, making it impossible to properly shake the fire.

Clinkers may also form when some portion of the fuel bed becomes packed, due to the odd size and shape of the lumps of coal at that point. This packing prevents the free passage of air through that part of the fuel bed and clinkers form there. Fortunately, however, clinkers thus formed can be easily disposed of, by gently shaking the grates until the solid masses break up and fall into the ashpit. (20)

How to Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from J. S. McKeown or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is highly recommended, is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost. AT THE BELLE

"JUDGE HARDY AND SON"

The screen family of Hardys who usually travel somewhere in their adventures, turn stay-at-homes for the eighth all-new adventures of the family in "Judge Hardy and Son," latest of the series, coming next to the Belle Theatre. The entire action of the plot is laid in the quaint home town of Carvel, a town built at the M-G-M studios especially for the doings of Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney, Cecilia Parker, Fay Holden, Sara Haden, Ann Rutherford and the rest of the interesting people of the country hamlet.

Becomes a Hero

"Judge Hardy and Son", deals with Mickey's efforts at amateur detection which involves him with three pretty girls, financial trouble and comical trials and tribulations galore. In a man-to-man talk with his father the Andy Hardy of the screen turns the tables and lectures the Judge to instill new courage when it is feared that the illness of the mother of the family may prove fatal. Mickey also turns hero to ferry his sister, Cecilia Parker, across a raging torrent to reach her mother's bedside.

George Seitz Directed

George B. Seitz, who piloted all the Hardy pictures save one, directed. "Judge Hardy and Son" introduces three new charmers into Andy Hardy's life in June Preisser, Martha O'Driscoll and Margaret Early. A notable addition to the cast is Mme. Marie Ouspenskaya ,formerly of the Moscow Art Theatre and a noted New York stage actress and teacher who recently scored in "The Rains Came" and who with Egon Brecher plays in an episode in which the Judge rescues them from a foreclosure. Henry Hull, Leona Maricle, George Breakston, Edna Holland and Marie Blake are others in the cast. Joe Yule, Mickey's real father, met Lewis Stone, Mickey's screen father, when he joined the cast to play scenes with his famous son for the first time on the screen.

Added pleasure on the program includes The Belle overseas News, a funny Comicolor Cartoon, "The Bear That Couldn't Sleep", and a clever Passing Parade film "Forgotten Victory." On Saturday matinee the opening chapter of "The Daredevils of Red Circle", will be exhibited.

"Ninotchka" Leaving

A new and gayer Garbo appears in "Ninotchka", feautring Melvyn Douglas and Ina Claire. This racy romantic comedy, Ernst Lubitsch directed is now being presented at the Belle. Scenes in St. Augustine. Florida, and an interesting M-G-M miniature will also be exhibited.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Destry Rides Again"

A new Marlene Dietrich, vastly improved and bearing little resemblance to her previous appearances except in glamorous beauty, returned to the screen yesterday when Universal's 'Destry Rides Again' opened at the Capitol Theatre.

Together they head what is probably the greatest supporting cast ever assembled for a western epic type of picture. Such prominent favorites as Mischa Auer, Charles Winninger, Brian Donlevy, Irene Hervey, Una Merkel, Warren Hymer, Allen Jenkins, Samuel S. Hinds, Billy Gilbert and many others are included in the list of players.

Tribute to Producer

The task of combining this important talent into a comedy-drama filled with action and spectacle has been expertly done by producer Joe Pasternak, the man responsible for all the Deanna Durbin and Gloria Jean successes. "Destry" was directed by George Marshall, a veteran of many great western pictures of the past.

As the star entertainer in the Last Chance Saloon, Miss Dietrich has a role that marks a drastic change from her recent performances, but is in many respects similar to the memorable character she portrayed in "The Blue Angel", the picture that made her a star.

Marlene sings to the cowboys and miners such tunes as "Little Joe", "You've Got That Look" and "The Boys in the Back Room." She cheerfully connives at crooked card games, dances the Virginia reel and makes violent love to Stewart, and climaxes it all by a fist-fight with Una Merkel.

The rough-and-tumble conflict is undoubtedly the greatest feminine fist-fight ever put on the screen, and is destined to rank as the be-skirted counterpart of the great fight in "The Spoilers".

The scene near the end of the picture in which hundreds of the women in the town, armed with rolling-pins, wreck the Last Chance saloon is another highlight scene in a story that has excitement from start to finish.

Outstanding Performances

Stewart's work in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" is equalled if not surpassed by his performance in "Destry Rides Again".

Mischa Auer, as a Russian cowboy, Charles Winninger, as the town drunk, Brian Donlevy as the domineering gambler, Una Merkel as the henpecking wife of Auer, and Irene Hervey as the winsome girl, are worthy of special mention. The picture itself is assuredly one of the most remarkable that has come from Hollywood this season.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Tower of London"

Featuring one of the most outstanding casts ever assembled for one motion picture production which includes Basil Rathbone in the role of Richard III, Boris Karloff as Mord, Barbara O'Neil as Queen Elizabeth, Ian Hunter as King Edward IV, Vincent Price as Duke of Clarence, in addition to many more well known screen and stage personalities, the current feature presentation "Tower of London" which is now playing an extended held over engagement at the McCarthy Theatre, is truly an entertainment treat of this or any other year and should be put on everyone's "must see" list. The McCarthy Theatre attendance records have been smashed by many hundreds of City and vicinity adults taking previous advantage of attending during the forepart of the week and the object of extending the engagement of "Tower of London" was largely on account of letting the pupils in the schools of Belleville attend during the week-end The story is one of the greatest historical facts on record and the screen adaptation and setting of the 15th century period has been redone marvellously. You will not be disappointed either in entertainment enjoyment or in the realistic manner the cast present the production and again we recommend to all the readers of this column. See "Tower of London" now at the McCarthy Theatre.

Now they're really "Man-to-Man," as Andy Hardy, Mickey Rooney, gets the dope on marriage from Dad, Lewis Stone, in another new heart-warming adventure, "Judge Hardy and Son," next at the Belle.

ONTARIO

Pursuant to the provisions of the Mining Tax Act (Chap. 28, R.S.O. 1937), the following list is published of mining locations, mining claims, and mining rights, in respect of which taxes imposed by the said Act are more than two years in default, and notice is hereby given that unless the amount due as shown on the said list shall have been paid on or before June 30th, 1940, the property in respect of which the taxes so remain unpaid shall on the day following the above date become forfeited to and revested in the Crown.

In the arrangement of the list, lands are given in the judicial district in which they are situated, commencing from the west, and in each district the lots in townships are placed first and in alphabetical order, according to the townships; then follow the locations or claims not originally in surveyed territory, also alphabetically arranged and in sequence. Owners of property thus advertised are advised that extra costs are incurred if payment is delayed beyond February 29th, 1940, as the Act requires an additional notice to owners of claims on which the taxes have not been paid by this time for which there is a statutory charge.

Communications regarding this matter should be addressed to A. C. Young, Mine Assessor, Department of Mines, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

H. C. Rickaby,
Deputy Minister of Mines,

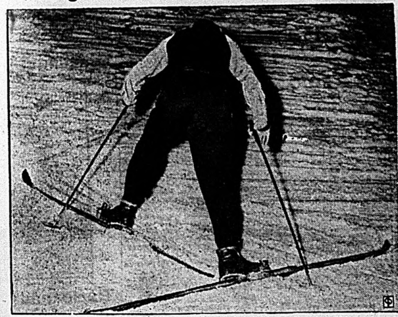
BASIC SKIING
Getting Back to the Top of the Hill



Tomm Murstad demonstrates the herring-bone method of climbing a hill.

This is the fifth of six articles on skiing written for Central Press Canadian and this paper by Tomm Murstad, young Norwegian teacher and star who has won all the major amateur titles in Europe.

By TOMM MURSTAD

Stem turns may, as one advances in technique, be used in place of the snow plow for cutting down speed. The rhythmic shifting of weight, together with the degree of out-thrust of the stemming ski, controls both the direction and force of the curves or turns.

To stop completely the stemturn is carried through to the point wherein the skier is practically in reverse position to the direction from which he has just come. Stem-turns should be practised both ways; that is, to the left as well as to the right. After all, you can't expect to find rocks or trees always on the same side!

Ski tows are a wonderful invention but most of the time you'll be skiing at places wherein such a refinement is lamentably lacking. There are various ways of making the grade and you might as well become proficient in each way. The simplest method is to side-step up the slope or hill. With the skis parallel and across the slope, take small steps sideways.

The uphill ski is always edged in sharply so you won't start slipping while bringing the other or downhill ski up to it. Make full use of the ski poles by leaning and thrusting on them to assist the progress.

Then, there is traversing the slope which is actually walking across it in long diagonals. To change direction use the kick-turn. The progress in traversing is, like side-stepping, rather slow and forms a zigzag pattern.

The fastest, and most fatiguing method of going up hill is the herringbone. You face directly uphill with the tips of the skis pointed as widely apart as is possible. Using the ski poles both as balancers and thrusters, each ski is alternately lifted up and carried over the lower ski and edged into the snow in the position illustrated above. The resulting snow pattern makes the herringbone.

In the last article of this series tomorrow Tomm Murstad will describe the most useful of skiing manoeuvres, the Christiania turn.

Compensation

MAURICE GLEYRE

Twenty thousand dollars' compensation for slipping on the ice in front of his own grocery store!

Mr. Pagnetta dropped his bold black eyes to veil their exultant gleam.

"My client," Attorney Rubinsky stated, "only desires compensation for the wrong that was done to him."

Mr. Pagnetta darted a sly look at the defendant and took pleasure in Mr. Schwabacher's increasing discomfiture.

Mr. Pagnetta's resentment had been accumulating ever since Mr. Schwabacher had opened a delicatessen next to his grocery store, with a window display of canned goods. When day after day he saw one or the other of his erstwhile customers come out of the store next door with an armful of bundles and a smile that reflected Mr. Schwabacher's expansive good humor, he could no longer be civil.

"There's not room for two grocers on this block," he told his competitor one morning when he saw him out on the sidewalk awkwardly wielding a broom.

"Mine iss delicatessen," Mr. Schwabacher corrected with a friendly smile.

"You're stealing my canned goods trade. There oughta be a law—"

"Togedder we bring more trade into the block," the other interrupted placidly. "We both benefit."

One winter morning he stepped out to survey his icy sidewalk and found Mr. Schwabacher from the vantage of his own already ash-strewn premises doing the same thing.

"You better the ashes lay before the customers commence," Mr. Schwabacher advised after a hearty "goot day."

"And you better mind your own business," retorted Mr. Pagnetta.

Mr. Pagnetta turned about with a violence that sent his feet from under him. The result was a broken leg.

During subsequent days in the hospital his chief diversion was planning how to get the better of his rival.

"Can I collect damages," he asked the lawyer Rubinsky, "for my hospital and doctor bills, and the loss of time from business?"

Rubinsky shrugged his thin shoulders up to his large ears. "You can sue, and maybe you collect. How did it happen?"

Mr. Pagnetta described how his competitor, Mr. Schwabacher had come out of his store, picked a quarrel, and finally struck him, knocking him down and breaking his leg.

"Have you witnesses?" Rubinsky wanted to know.

"Yes. Several people heard him call me a lousy wop and other names."

"Witness to the blow?"

"Well—" Mr. Pagnetta thought of Bagnoni who would witness anything for a consideration, and of Pappas who would welcome the chance to cancel a long-standing debt. "Yes, I know of two." . . .

Mr. O'Ryan, counsel for the defense, now wanted to know just how the blow had been delivered, exactly where it had landed.

"Just indicate it," he suggested. "How? With the right hand—"

"Right fist!" Mr. Pagnetta corrected emphatically.

"With his right fist he delivered a blow on your left jaw behind the ear. You are sure it was his right fist?"

When the plaintiff's testimony had been fully corroborated by his two witnesses, Mr. O'Ryan faced the jurors. "Gentlemen of the jury" he said, "you have seen the blow which could have been delivered only by a good right from the shoulder—the blow for which the plaintiff asks twenty thousand dollars' compensation."

At the mention of compensation Mr. Pagnetta moistened his lips while his thoughts strayed into green pastures of anticipation. But when Mr. Schwabacher, red faced and visibly nervous, took the stand he was all attention again.

"Gentlemen," Mr. O'Ryan addressed the jury in hushed voice. "I want to call your attention to the fact that the defendant is one of our war heroes." He reached over and touched a little cross pinned on the lapel of Mr. Schwabacher's coat. "And I am going to prove that this war hero not only would not, but could not strike a blow with his right fist. Mr. Schwabacher, will you kindly remove your coat and roll up your short sleeve?"

While Mr. Schwabacher struggled out of his coat, Mr. Pagnetta sat forward uneasily.

"This cross—" Mr. O'Ryan held his client's coat up and turned slowly so that all could see the small medal—"was given in compensation for a wound won in combat." Flinging out his free hand he pointed dramatically to the arm which Mr. Schwabacher had just exposed to view.

Mr. Pagnetta in company with everyone in the room, looked—and his gaze remained transfixed. In his mind's eye he was seeing again those awkward movements of Mr. Schwabacher as he swept his sidewalk, while the voice of the counsel for the defense beat into his ears.

"Mr. Schwabacher suffered a serious wound in his upper right arm. So serious that the bone between the elbow and shoulder had to be removed. As you can see, the arm is practically useless . . . your honor, I demand the arrest of the plaintiff and his witnesses on charges of perjury."

Little Benny's Note Book

We were eating breakfist and ma said, What's new in the news, Willyum, I hope my name isn't in the paper.

Well, it usually isn't so proberly it's running true to form, pop said, and ma said, Maud Hews is giving a reception and bridge in honor of her niece this afternoon, and I saw her making out a list of the guests for the paper and I told her goodness sakes to leave me out because if there's one thing we dont crave it's newspaper notoriety, I told her. If there's anything at all in the paper about the affair you'll proberly find it in the Here and There collum on the siciety page, ma said.

I'll have a look, pop said.

Wich he started to, saying, Here it is, Here and There, an intristing and colorful affair was Miss Elmire Sheckles berthday party on the roof of the Hotel Etitz last evening.

That's not it, ma said, and pop said, Mrs. Yewstace Hews will give a reception and bridge at her home in honor of her niece Miss Rosemary Sparks this afternoon.

That's it, are there any names? ma said and pop said, Quite a rlusma said and pop said, Quite a clus-H. Ellwood Anders, Mrs. Claude D. Cloud and so on and so on, let me see, yes here you are, Mrs. Willyum P. Potts.

Why how awful, after all I said to her let me see how it looks in cold print, ma said. And she took the paper, saying, Why, my name's not even included, and pop said, I was just trying to scare you.

Well of all things, that's what I call a deliberate underhanded slight ma said. She put all those other names in and she knew very well what a lot of catty remarks would arise if she left mine out, she said, and pop said, It's too deep for me, I'm going down to the office and look into my mall to see if certain people have remembered to put my name on some checks, in which case I intend to endorse their action with a harty flouirsh.

And he folded up his paper and left for his office.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Jan. 19 —(CP)— Powell Rouyn sold down to 1.37 on Toronto Exchange today and later recovered about half the loss. Golds generally were firm and the group posted small gains. Trading slowed up to 274,000 shares.

Steep Rock advanced 11 cents to $2, providing the only sizeable adjustment in the Base Metal list. In the Western Oils Home and Okalta were up 3 cents and Calgary-Edmonton was down slightly.

Soft spots in the Industrial section included the Foods, Steels and Banks. Distillers-Seagrams Pfd. advanced 3 1-4 to 94 and Massey-Harris Pfd. firmed a point. The Loblaw stocks were weak.

WALL STREET

New York, Jan. 19. (AP)— Stocks reached for a rally in today's market and leaders grasped gains of fractions to a point or so. The comeback was accomplished after a hesitant start. Prices were a shade under the best near the fourth hour.

Stocks attracting support included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Montgomery Ward, Macy, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, General Tire, Great Northern, American Telephone, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak and Standard Oil of N.J.

International Nickel in the Canadian group, improved slightly and McIntyre dipped 1-2 point while Canadian Pacific and Lake Shore Mines held unchanged. Canada 4s, in the Bond Market, improved.

Three Juvenile Boys Appear in Court on Charges of Theft

Three juveniles all under the ages of sixteen years appeared before Magistrate Butler in Juvenile Court today, two of them being sent to the Boys' Training School on the recommendation of T. D. Ruston, Inspector of the C.A.S., while the third was placed on probation for a two-year term having to report to the Chief of Police every Saturday during the term of his probation.

One of the youngsters pleaded guilty to six charges of breaking, entering and theft, one charge including the ransacking and destruction of property at the Massassaga School on January 7th, last, while the others were break-ins at schools in the city, service station and oil company offices where a quantity of goods were taken from each. The other boy also pleaded guilty to the same number of charges which were identical with the charges of the former boy. The youngest of the trio was present, when the Massassaga School was entered.

Archie Cook, secretary of the School Board in which the Massassaga School is situated told the court that the destruction to property at the time of the break-in would amount to $100. "They left the building in a disgraceful condition", stated Mr. Cook. "Filthy language was written on the blackboards and the desks were ransacked and the equipment of the Domestic Science department was strewn about the rooms. Mr. Ruston told the court one of the boys had been in difficulty with the police on several occasions and had reached the point, where his parents had no control over him. "The other boy charged is reaching the same point", said the inspector.

Fire Losses in Canada Decrease 9.5% in 1939

Toronto, Jan. 19—(CP)— Fire losses in Canada decreased 9.5 per cent during 1939, according to the Monetary Times estimate which recorded the year's loss at $23,415,550, compared with $25,899,180 in 1938. The lower loss of the past year arrested the upward trend of 1937 with Ontario contributing substantially to the decline, the report said. Ontario's fire loss total for the year was close to its all-time low record established in 1936.

2 ROBINS AT FORT ERIE

Fort Erie, Ont., Jan. 19 (CP)— A pair of gamblers were fed today by Percy Hershey, custodian of recently-restored old Fort Erie. The hungry two, who apparently gambled on a mild winter, were robins, cold and hungry in the near-zero weather.

Butter Price Rises; Eggs Remain Firm

Toronto, Jan. 19—Ending a continuous price retreat of several days' duration, butter firmed fractionally yesterday on the Toronto open produce market, while eggs held steady.

Demand for butter improved somewhat, but the market was not unusually active. A few sales of first-grade Ontario creamery solids were made during the morning at 27c lb., but the price moved up 1-4c in the afternoon as receipts began to move at a faster pace.

The egg market maintained a steady tone, with receipts ample for buyers' requirements. There was a slightly better movement of eggs into retail channels and while undergrades sold to retailers at slightly lower prices than on Wednesday, A-large eggs in the graded section firmed to 22 1-2c.

Montreal Produce

Butter: First grade creamery prints, jobbing price, 29c; first grade solids, jobbing price, 28 1-2c.

Eggs: Grade-1 shipments in used free cases, selling price, A-large, 24c; A-medium 22c; A-pullets 21c; B-large and C, unquoted. Receipts: 453 cases.

SUPREME COURT

Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff was with the majority which also included Mr. Justice A. B. Hudson, Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin and Mr. Justice T. Rinfret.

Important Constitutional Issues

The case was one of the most important constitutional issues to come before the court in recent years.

If parliament, perhaps after a review of today's decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, enacts the Cahan bill the Supreme Court of Canada will be the court of last resort for all legal issues arising in Canada.

Texts of the reasons for judgment written by the different judges were not immediately available.

Mr. Justice Davis took the view the Cahan Bill would be within the powers of parliament if it were amended to provide that it should not affect the rights of any province in respect of any civil action started in a provincial court and concerned solely with matters over which the Provincial Legislature had exclusive jurisdiction

In effect the court upheld the position taken on the matter by the Dominion government, supported by the Manitoba government and as against the position taken by the governments of British Columbia, Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

The four opposing provincial governments appeared at the hearing of the reference last June to argue against the validity of the Cahan Bill.

Manitoba submitted a brief supporting the Dominion's claim and the other provinces, namely Alberta, Saskatchewan, Quebec and Prince Edward Island were not represented.

EXECUTORS HAVE PROBLEM

Dallas, Jan. 19. —(AP) — Mrs. Bertha F. Anderes created quite a problem for executors of her $4,000 estate. Two beneficiaries were identified only as:

"An unknown niece somewhere in Switzerland—$100.

"An unknown friend—$200."

HEPBURN

Wording of Motion

The motion read: "That this House has heard with interest the reports made by the Prime Minister and the Leader of the Opposition of the result of their visit to Ottawa, to discuss war measures with the National Government and this House hereby endorses the statements made by the two members in question and joins with them in regretting that the Federal Government at Ottawa has made so little effort to prosecute Canada's duty in the war in the vigorous manner the people of Canada desire to see."

(In Ottawa Prime Minister Mackenzie King declined to comment now on this new development in the spotty relationship between his government and that of Premier Hepburn.

("Believing that the proper time and place to discuss government policy with respect to Canada's war effort is when the representatives of the people from all parts of Canada are assembled in their Parliament, I shall reserve until Parliament is in session what I may have to say on that subject," the Prime Minister said .

Deplores Sale of Wheat

("Parliament, as all are aware, meets a week from today," he said. "Meanwhile the Government does not intend to permit Canada's war effort in the present war to be prejudiced by fostering any controversy which does not permit of the most complete presentation and consideration of all relevant facts.")

The spark which set off yesterday's conflagration was a protest by William Duckworth (Con. Toronto-Davenport) against sale of Canadian wheat to Soviet Russia. Premier Hepburn likewise deplored that transaction to a "potential enemy."

Repeats His Attack

From there, the Premier switched back to an attack on war efforts of the Ottawa Administration. Particularly he retorted to newspaper criticism of his Tuesday criticism of the Federal Government's activities.

He repeated statements of Tuesday as to lack of uniforms and equipment of Canada's forces. Because of conditions under which Air Force candidates were forced to live at the former Ontario Hospital at St. Thomas, there had been a "near riot," he claimed. He said he had seen men marching up and down in zero weather without proper clothing.

"All the propaganda possible will not put at rest the feeling of misgiving arising in the hearts of the Canadian people in regard to the conduct of this war," he said.

Harsh Words Spoken

He charged that the Prime Minister of Canada "has not done his duty by his country and he never will." He said he believed that the Prime Minister "harbors hatred in his heart for Ontario"—because he had been unable to find a parliamentary seat in this province.

Since Mr. Mackenzie King and Mr. Hepburn differed widely over labor policy in an automobile workers strike in April, 1937, periodic tension between the two administrations has been obvious. In November, 1937, Ottawa refused to allow Ontario to export electrical power. The following May Mr. Hepburn refused to take part in negotiations regarding the St. Lawrence waterway.

Not Personal Matter.

(In December 1938 two federal ministers accused Mr. Hepburn of conspiring to oust Mr. Mackenzie King as Liberal leader at Ottawa, which Mr. Hepburn denied. Then last May Mr. Hepburn termed 'cheap publicity' the prime minister accompanying the King and Queen across Canada.)

"It is not a personal matter as far as I am concerned with Mr. King," Mr. Hepburn told the legislature. "His insignificance protects him."

Both he and Col. Drew said they had based their Tuesday speeches on the fact they were both members of the Organization of Resources committee, which made conduct of the war a proper matter to discuss in the provincial House.

No Apology to Make.

Col. Drew declared this war involved every person in the country and he had no apology for bringing up the subject. He claimed dependents of many enlisted men were being forced on relief through failure of the Ottawa government to do its duty regarding allowances.

Morgan Baker (Lib., North York), Fraser Hunter (Lib. Toronto-St. Patrick), J. A. Habel (Cochrane North) and Arthur W. Roebuck (Lib. Toronto-Bellwood) all advised leaving administration of war matters to Ottawa, where the responsibility rested.

Mr. Baker said Ottawa had disposed of 90 per cent of 42,000 applications for separation allowances and pay assignments, which was as speedy as some Ontario departments. He suggested a committee study what was actually being done at Ottawa.

"All the speakers want to win the war and I think they in Ottawa also want to win the war," said Col. Hunter.

Mr. Habel felt from the way Col. Drew talked, Col. Drew should have been made commander-in-chief of the Allied forces instead of General Gamelin.

Mr. Roebuck questioned Col. Drew's motives in all his attacks on Ottawa, suggesting the Colonel was more interested in changing governments at Ottawa than in winning the war. On repeated protests from the Conservative leader, Mr. Roebuck withdrew the remark —but he insisted the trend of Col. Drew's work was in that direction.

Mr. Hepburn rose to interject that while Col. Drew was fighting for his country in the last war, Mr. Roebuck was "making anti-war speeches."

Denies Allegation

"I never made a pacifist speech and the Premier knows it," Mr. Roebuck replied. He was as eager to serve his country as any.

He felt Premier Hepburn had made "an unjust, inconsiderate — I won't say unpatriotic—but mistaken attack" on Mr. Mackenzie King.

When the Premier's motion was suddenly placed before the House, Mr. Roebuck complained no notice had been given but his protest was ignored.

After the vote, Leopold Macaulay (Con. York South) denounced a Toronto Star story from Ottawa suggesting that Ottawa viewed the success of the war loan as an indication of confidence in the King government.

Attractive Investment

Opponents of the government had been as enthusiastic supporters of the loan as any—and it should be kept in mind that the loan was an attractive investment at 3 1-4 per cent. Sir John Simon was now talking of issuing the next British loan at two per cent, he said.

Allan Lamport (Lib. Toronto-St. David), resuming the debate on the throne speech, charged that Col. Drew had done more than any man in Canada to retard Canada's war preparations. "Many more British factories would have been here now had it not been for his action," he said.

Charles Fletcher (Lib. Essex South) reminded the House that conduct of the war would be threshed out in Parliament, meeting shortly, after which the government would probably hold an election in which the people could express their verdict directly.

Mr. Fletcher criticised the comparative lack of time devoted to agricultural problems by the legislature, agriculture being the "Cinderella" of the economic household. The problem, simply, was that the price of farm products was out of line with other prices. Abuse of the customs tariffs, to the loss of the farmer, was a major factor. Then there was the question of wages artificially set by labor unions or groups operating under the Industrial Standards Act.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT

The Danish dispatches, from Toendern, came 25 years to the day after the first German zeppelins droned in from the North Sea to bomb England in the first Great War.

German Sub Blamed

Meanwhile, in Maritime warfare a German submarine was blamed for the loss of the British tanker Inverdargie, 9,456 tons, which went down in flames off the southwest English coast Tuesday. The entire crew of 45 or 46 was believed to have perished. One Canadian Seventh Engineer C. W. Dixon of Liverpool, N.S., was reported to have gone down with the vessel. Others in the crew were seamen from the West Indies.

The cargo of an Italian steamship, the 4,427-ton Premuda, was saved when the vessel was refloated from Goodwin Sands and safely beached. She had run aground after colliding with a lightship Tuesday night.

Apparently linked with Britain's economic war effort was a decision announced last night to suspend for three months import of American surplus cotton under a cotton-rubber barter deal.

According to the Toendern dispatches, the first attack on German sea bases was believed to have come about 6 p.m. (noon, Thursday, EST) when a half-hour of anti-aircraft fire was heard on the Danish coast, near Sylt and only 65 miles from Germany's Heligoland base.

Three hours later Danish observers saw five bombers which they believed to be British fly over Sylt to the accompaniment of gunfire and five explosions which sounded like bombs.

Raided Several Times.

Sylt has been raided several times by British aircraft engaged in "security patrol" to checkmate German mine-laying and scouting planes at their take-off points.

The present aerial warfare with Germany is a far cry from the zeppelin raids of a quarter century ago. This war in the skies is being fought with tremendously faster and more heavily armed planes, and dirigibles have found no place in the struggle

On the night of Jan. 19, 1915, two of the lighter-than-air craft with which Germany pioneered bombed eight towns along the Norfolk coast. Twenty-four bombs accounted for four deaths and injury of 16 persons.

Coastal Defences Skimpy.

Those raids gave birth to the blackout because the towns hardest hit were those which showed the most lights. Coastal defences were skimpy in those days.

Now—after 4½ months of the new war—Britain is armed not only with a strict blackout but clusters of fighting planes, anti-aircraft guns, sentinel balloons moored to barges and small boats offshore and balloon barrages inland.

Although most Britons still are "air raid conscious", fewer and fewer are carrying gas masks. One London air raid warden reported that of 16,000 pedestrians passing a certain point one day, only 320 had gas mask kits.

A committee on national expenditures announced appointment of a sub-committee representing the armed services, home defence, trade, agriculture and economic warfare.

Highlights from the 93rd Annual Report

of Canada's Oldest Life Assurance Company

"The present strength behind our policy contracts has never been exceeded at any time in the Company's history."
A. N. Mitchell, President.

- Sales of new paid-for life insurance during the year amounted to $61,145,371. In addition, new considerations of $1,695,093 were received for annuities.
- Life insurance in force at the end of 1939, excluding annuities, amounted to $810,291,141.
- Assets, representing almost entirely accumulated savings of our policyholders, increased to $268,046,507, the highest figure in the company's history.
- The average rate of interest earned on all the company's investments was 4.29% compared with 4.25% in 1938.
- Income from all sources amounted to $39,022,044 in 1939, an increase of $380,667 over the 1938 total.
- Surplus funds and special reserves of $13,024,729 show an increase of $1,450,611 from the previous year.
- Dividends to policyholders were increased in 1939 for the third successive year. And it was announced at the annual meeting that unless unforeseen developments arise a further and larger increase will be made in July 1940.

PREMIER KING

Some observers predicted the Prime Minister would make his comments during his speech in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

First Debate of Session

This is the first debate of the session and the Government leader generally takes several hours to review the Government's record and outline the Government's attitude on current issues.

Political circles were particularly concerned whether the criticism Premier Hepburn sponsored in the Legislature was an indication of a change of policy regarding Ontario's stand on the St. Lawrence waterways project.

Shortly after the war started, Premier Hepburn reversed his stand and said he would support the scheme. As a result negotiations have opened between Canada and the United States.

Viewed as Unique Stand

The Legislature's censure of the Federal Government was viewed as unique by students of parliamentary history. Only on a few occasions have Provincial Houses taken such action.

It marked a renewal of intermittent attacks made on the Prime Minister personally and on his government by the Ontario Liberal leader during the past two years and was a breach in the amicable relations which have existed since September when Mr. Hepburn came to Ottawa and appeared to compose his differences with the government here.

Since 1937 when the Ontario Premier disagreed with Federal authorities over the automobile strike at Oshawa, the dispute has flared half a dozen times, with Mr. Hepburn taking the initiative on most occasions.

SOVIET APOLOGIES

only two craft, lost in a snowstorm, flew over Kallaks.

Norway had protested similarly last Monday, charging that several Russian planes flew over Norwegian territory between Jan. 12 and 14 and that one had landed on Norwegian soil.

The note handed the Norwegian legation in Moscow acknowledged the charge but explained that three flights of Russian planes over Norway were due "to extremely unfavorable atmospheric conditions rendering orientation difficult for fliers."

Border Indistinguishable

The Soviet explanation was regarded with satisfaction in official Oslo quarters but it was explained that Norway attached no great importance to the incident.

Informed sources said Norway appreciated that the border was indistinguishable in present wintry conditions and that the Russian apology, although welcome, would "have no bearing on the general political situation."

In Stockholm, too, the Russian expressions of regret were received with satisfaction and sources close to the government said they had "undoubtedly contributed something to better feeling between the countries."

MANY OFFICERS

in Canada owing to the variation across the Dominion in weather conditions, stores and equipment supplies. Technical equipment is now available to meet all needs.

Following individual training, there will be a period of collective training designed to establish the division as a compact, battleworthy formation, ready to take the field.

Efficiency of the training program has been guaranteed not only by the selection in Canada of experienced officers but also by various courses for officers and other ranks, now in progress. These courses average two to three weeks in length and have been staggered over ten weeks up to the end of this month.

Officers and Others For Courses.

More than 100 officers and 150 other ranks from all arms within the Canadian Active Service Force have been chosen for courses. Subjects included are tactics and gunnery, field engineering, use of platoon weapons, motor transport driving and maintenance, camouflage and concealment, intelligence and cipher duties and instruction in physical training and anti-gas work.

Col. Turner has ordered that at the completion of individual training all ranks in the division must be qualified in anti-gas training, trained in the principles of passive air defence, exercised in "field craft" and duly impressed with its importance as well as familiar with the principles of camouflage and construction of field works appropriate to their arm of the service.

Collective Protections.

All officers, warrant-officers and non-commissioned officers must be conversant with principles of collective protection against gas and proficient in map-reading and use of compass by day and night. General specifications have been set for qualification in small arms.

Standards to be attained are stipulated for regular and reserve drivers, regimental signallers, specialists and tradesmen. In other categories detailed instructions are being issued from time to time. Training areas and ranges have been allotted and maps of the widespread Aldershot area distributed.

Under divisional arrangements, a series of tactical exercises without troops (known to officers as "tewts") are being organized. The purposes will be to establish uniformity of understanding prior to preparation by commanding officers of exercises for collective training of their units; and to study modification in tactics following on recent changes in organization and equipment.

The "tewts" will be carried out in two stages: 1. A series of exercises on the map, or "made up" ground on the sand table or canvas model, dealing with the main principles of various operations; 2. a series of outdoor exercises on the ground, adapting principles to varying conditions.

Mystery Lights High Over Bridge, Looking as if Hung From Balloons, Probably Planets and Bridge Lights

Watertown, N.Y., Jan. 19.—(AP)—Mysterious lights twinkling high over the Thousand Islands International Bridge are "just a big joke" to Commissioner H. P. Landis of the United States Immigration Service.

"Those people probably saw Venus, Mars and Jupiter and the red blinking lights atop the Bridge", he said of reports that several motorists had seen red and green lights flashing high in the sky.

From his office in St. Albans, Vt., Landis communicated with his inspector at the bridge, John Kinnevan. The red lights, Landis explained, are several hundred feet in the air and might give the appearance of being suspended in the heavens.

Earlier, Police Lieutenant L. G. Fenlon said the lights were the subject of an investigation and headquarters of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Ottawa also announced an inquiry.

The lights looked to many motorists as if they were suspended from balloons. In Ottawa it was suggested they might have been new type military parachute flares being tested on the Canadian side of the border.

CONTINUED success, progress and good fortune are indicated by the current astrological map. Promotion, preferment and substantial gestures of endorsement and co-operation may be looked for from employers, superiors and those in influential positions, either in business, politics, diplomacy or fraternal organizations. It is a propitious time for pushing for such advancement and favors by sound judgment, hard work and fidelity, but in these efforts shun extravagance and unwarranted social ambitions.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of definite recognition for steadfast work, diligence and faithfulness to those persons and positions that spell efficiency, ambition and progress. Seek these with confidence, especially in political or diplomatic circles or in fraternal organizations, but do not indulge in extravagance or too lofty social aims. Let merit and tested responsibility inspire your goals.

Senators Vandenberg and Pittman Express Opinion on Russian Relations

Washington, Jan. 19—(AP)—The question of severing diplomatic relations with Russia bobbed up again today as Chairman Key Pittman of the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee asked the State Department whether it wished to comment on a proposal by Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Michigan Republican.

Vandenberg proposed that the Senate call upon President Roosevelt to inform it whether the Soviet Government had lived up to promises made in 1933 when the United States extended diplomatic recognition to the Soviet.

Vandenberg told reporters he was confident that, if the Senate approved his resolution, the information furnished in response to it would be such that action would be forced on the question of severing relations.

Pittman, Nevada Democrat, said he agreed with Vandenberg that Russia had violated its 1933 pledges not to support political organizations in America and not to interfere with the religious worship of Americans in Russia, as well as its promise to pay for confiscated American property.

30,000 More Men, 200 Airplanes Can Save Finland

MAY IS DEADLINE

New Evidence of Aid for Finland Comes From Canada Where Exporters Are Buying Oats and Oats Products

London, Jan. 20—Given 30,000 more fighting men, 200 airplanes and a generous supply of military equipment before May, Finland can save herself from Soviet Russia, British military authorities concluded today.

In line with a growing belief that Finland is the pivot of the entire struggle against aggression in Europe, Great Britain and France have been making substantial contributions to Finland, including planes and military supplies.

The military experts' prediction was founded on close study of the campaign in Northern Finland, where they said one of history's most notable displays of tactical skill had thrown back the Russian invaders.

It was agreed generally that May would bring the ultimate turning point. It is then that the snows melt and the ground becomes firm enough for best use of the Soviet mechanical equipment.

Might Come in March or April

(Military observers in Finland previously have said that a major Russian smash at the Karelian Isthmus defences might come as early as March or April. Bitter cold ordinarily continues through March, however.)

Experts here declared that with adequate arms, ammunition, planes and the designated fresh fighting force, the Finns might hold out even through a May crisis because the rugged, lake-dotted terrain of their countryside is a defensive asset.

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen

Frozen rivers! Nothing is thought of rivers that freeze regularly every year; but much is made of the event when a river freezes only occasionally, because it marks a season of unusually cold weather and the date becomes important in local climatic history. The winter season of 1813-14 was such a one in England, when the Thames River froze over and walking across on the ice became an adventure. There was a week of festivities, and a grand walk was made from London to Blackfriars bridges. All activities were pursued on the ice as at a land fair. The chronicler adds that gaming in all its branches threw out different allurements, while honesty was out of the question.

NEW POST OFFICE AT TWEED WILL NOT BE ERECTED

LONG DISPUTE

Mr. C. A. Cameron, K.C., Federal member for the riding of South Hastings is in receipt of a letter from Prime Minister Mackenzie King, advising him that construction of the proposed new post office at Tweed will not be proceeded with. The prime minister was in agreement with Mr. Cameron, the letter states, that due to the change in attitude of the council of the village of Tweed, and war time conditions, it would be unwise to go on with the erection of the building.

Due to the publicity given the matter in the press since the proposed construction became known, Mr. Cameron has furnished the Ontario Intelligencer with copies of the letter received by him from the prime minister, copy of communication between Mr. Cameron and the prime minister and a copy of a resolution passed by the Tweed Village Council under the date "May 8, 1939" in which that body requested revocations of former resolutions, and asked for construction of the new building at the corner of Victoria and Spring streets in the village.

In his letter to the Prime Minister, Mr. Cameron points out that he felt justified in asking the government for the appropriation at the time it was made. "That, however, was in peace time, and the situation is now changed somewhat due to the war," the letter stated.

Mr. Cameron, in his letter to Prime Minister King, also states that, "difficulties encountered in connection with the construction of the building were brought about by two factors, namely, the site that was chosen, and certain political interests which felt it to their advantage to create differences, and certain personal preferences as to the site to be chosen."

Below is a copy of the letter sent to the prime minister by Mr. Cameron on January 17, in which he urged the postponement of the construction of the new building.

Royal Navy Abandons Wide Hunt For Auxiliary to Pocket Battleship

Montevideo, Jan. 20 (AP). — A London announcement that 300 British seamen had been prisoners under "slaveship" conditions on a mysterious auxiliary to the German pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee led naval sources here today to believe that the Royal Navy had abandoned a wide hunt for the vessel.

British officials reported the ship might have reached a German port, and naval sources here said it probably had found a safe haven.

These sources named the ship as the "Altmark", built secretly by Germany as a combination raider, supply ship and floating prison expressly to accompany pocket battleships.

They said it is of about 12,000 gross tons, has three masked six-inch guns, and an anti-aircraft gun, and is capable of 25 knots. It roamed three oceans with the Admiral Graf Spee, they said, and was in contact with the pocket battleship five days before the battle that ended when the latter fled into Montevideo harbor Dec. 13.

The captain of the Admiral Graf Spee destroyed his ship Dec. 17 as British warships lurked outside the port.

Informed persons in Montevideo said the Altmark is one of two German naval units which British vessels had been hunting in the South Atlantic, and that they believed the second is a cruiser or armed raider which was in the Pacific when the Admiral Graf Spee met disaster here. This was not confirmed, however, and the British announcement mentioned only one unidentified ship, described as a tanker.

It said the 300 captured merchant seamen were forced to live in filth and vermin, with insufficient food and only a quart of water allowed each man daily for drinking and washing.

ITALY APPROVES BIGGEST BUDGET SINCE GREAT WAR

Government Prepares to Meet Possible Dangers Growing Out of Current War

542 MILLIONS VOTED

Italy Will be Absent From Balkan Entente Parley Called for February 2nd.

(By Richard Massock, Associated. Press Staff Writer)

Rome, Jan. 20—(AP) — Premier Mussolini's Government today approved Italy's biggest military budget since the first Great War, to meet possible dangers growing out of the current war during the coming year.

The cabinet authorized the expenditure of 10,846,000,000 lire (about $542,000,000) for military purposes in the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The enlarged military expenditures represented an actual increase of about $75,000,000 over the current military budget, which has been progressively increased by emergency appropriations to about $469,563,200.

300 Million Deficit

The total 1940-41 budget, which the cabinet approved, was set at 3.,896,000,000 lire (about $1,745,000,000), with a deficit of about 6,000,000,000 lire ($300,000,000).

A cabinet statement said the large arms appropriations for the army, navy and air force were designed to "meet the undeniable necessity of placing the armed forces in a condition which will assure the greatest efficiency for any event."

This efficiency would be attained, the announcement said, "by a series of important measures which will be gradually put into effect."

SERIES OF RAIDS CARRIED OUT BY RUSSIAN FLYERS

51 Planes Reported Flying Over City North of Helsingfors

CITIES RAIDED

Helsingsfors, Jan. 20 (CP)—Russian planes flew over Helsingfors today as they ranged southern Finland in a series of intense bombing raids.

The capital had four air raid alarms during the morning and early afternoon although no bombs were known to have fallen here.

However, 51 planes were reported flying over a town north of Helsingfors and even in the Capital the faint rumble of exploding bombs could be heard at times.

Six Russian planes were seen flying over the outskirt of Helsingfors at a great height. In view of the almost continuous alarms it was believed the Soviet air force was taking advantage of exceptionally clear skies to attack a large number of small centres.

It was announced that Russian bombers yesterday raided 27 Finnish cities, towns and villages, dropping more than 1,000 bombs. Casualties were not announced.

On Thursday, the Finnish communique estimated, 450 Russian planes flew over Finland.

The fourth alarm was accompanied by temporary suspension of foreign telephone service.

Britain Under No Illusion About War, Says Halifax In Speaking to Empire

Leeds, Jan. 20—(AP via Radio)—Viscount Halifax, Secretary for Foreign Affairs, assured an international radio audience today that Britain's promise to help Finland "will not remain an idle promise, a mere academic formality."

Speaking from the Leeds Town Hall, Lord Halifax said he had no doubt that the "prayers of the world" were going up for the Finns in their war with Russia.

Discussing the conflict between the Allies and Germany, the Foreign Secretary indicated a belief that Adolf Hitler would have become the dictator of all Europe if Britain had not continued her rearmament program after the Munich settlement.

As he sees it, Lord Halifax said, Germany's only chance of winning the war was by doing it at once.

Hesitates for Reason

"Yet she has hesitated probably for the reason that makes the bully hesitate for fear someone will hit him back. I have heard it said that if the winter were to pass without an aggression by Germany it would be the equivalent of a victory for the Allies."

Meanwhile, he continued, Britain has been building up her strength at home and in the field and coordinating her efforts with France.

"Our agreements open up a new chapter in our history with France," he said.

Hope Understanding Broadens

He repeated what Prime Minister Chamberlain said early this month, that he hoped the Anglo-French understanding would be broadened and preserved.

"Meanwhile Germany has been concentrating her efforts on the kind of warfare peculiarly her own—submarine warfare. Yet in spite of this she seems to be gaining little," he declared, adding:

"At a time when we hoped hostilities might be averted the German U-boats were taking up their stations along the trade routes to prey on our unarmed and helpless vessels."

But since Britain's preparations have gone on, he said, and some 8000 vessels have been safely convoyed with the loss of only 12.

He referred to the self-destruction of the Graf Spee after the British victory off the River Plate, and declared the seas were swept clear of German shipping.

Causes Great Losses

"Conscious of her miserable failure at sea . . . Germany resorted to mine warfare," he said. "You know that mines have caused us great losses and worry, but I am happy to say that today methods are being taken which the Admiralty is confident will cope with that menace successfully."

At another point he said: "While it would be dangerous and wrong for anyone to underestimate the strength of the enemy and the extent of the ordeals we must go through I am satisfied that victory will be ours."

Then speaking of Britain's peace aims, he said the Allies must insist on the restoration of the small nations which Germany has cut off and that Europe must be guaranteed against a repetition of "this disaster."

No Vindictive Peace.

If Germany were willing to make a decent peace, Lord Halifax said, "we would not seek a vindictive peace".

He declared the Munich agreement "gave Germany all that she immediately wanted" and settled every contentious matter "in Germany's favor.

"Yet it became apparent at once," he said, "that Herr Hitler was dissatisfied. In private he inveighed against England against his advisers who favored peace."

"Once it became clear that the purpose of Germany was the domination of non-German peoples, we found ourselves once more faced by the historic challenge that Europe was threatened and no assurances of Hitler's could remove those fears."

Strength Not Underestimated.

Britain, Lord Halifax said, would have been "singularly blind" not to recognize that Hitler's aggressive ambitions lay far beyond Poland.

COMPULSORY VOTING IS ADVOCATED

PASS EXTENSION ACT

Toronto, Jan. 20 (CP)—Compulsory voting in elections "would do away with a certain amount of skullduggery," Charles Fletcher (Lib. Essex South) said in the Ontario Legislature yesterday as he resumed the Throne Speech debate.

Mr. Fletcher said compulsory voting had proved its worth in other places. He advocated two penalties for the voter failing to vote unless he or she could show reason for unavoidable absence from the polls. The two penalties would be loss of the franchise for a limited period and a small fine.

Compulsory carrying of liability insurance by owners of motor cars was also advocated by Mr. Fletcher. He said it was unjust that a motor car's victims often couldn't recover for injuries they suffered.

Companies Receive Benefits

The tobacco companies received all the benefit from the production control program in Ontario, said Mr. Fletcher. The tobacco marketing board set a low basic price to discourage expansion of tobacco acreage. Retail tobacco prices were not decreased however, and corporation profits were increased. For the tobacco in a small package of cigarettes the farmer got half a cent or less.

CANADA'S LOAN OVERSUBSCRIBED BY 60 PER CENT.

Finance Minister Says Response "Exceeded My Highest Expectations"

CLOSED IN 5 DAYS

Ottawa, Jan. 20 (CP)—Canadians oversubscribed the $200,000,000 war loan by 60 per cent in five days, contributing $321,276,850 in cash subscriptions which Finance Minister Ralston said "has exceeded my highest expectations."

The Bank of Canada announced the total on the Minister's behalf last night after the books closed. The loan went on sale last Monday and by Tuesday night was 25 per cent oversubscribed. Subscriptions continued to pour in for the next three days.

Conversion subscriptions totalling $53,300,000 also were received and $50,000,000 has been allotted, making the total of the first warn loan $250,000,000. Bonds turned in for conversion were some of the $115,000,000, three-per-cent Dominion of Canada bonds due next March 1. Most of this issue already is held by the Bank of Canada but some of it was in private hands and it was these bonds which were converted.

Response Will be Heard

Col. Ralston said the response to the 12-year, 3 1-4 per cent loan "will be heard and unmistakeably understood the world over, and particularly by our Allies and by our enemies."

No Legislation Contemplated To Reduce Age for Compulsory School Attendance Says Minister

Woodstock, Ont., Jan. 20—(CP)—No legislation is now contemplated to reduce the age for compulsory school attendance from 16 to 14 years, it was stated here by Hon. Dr. L. J. Simpson, Ontario Minister of Education, in the city for the opening of Woodstock's new collegiate institute last night.

Dr. Simpson was commenting on a report eminating in Toronto this week that the department was considering dropping the school leaving age to 14 years for the duration of the war.

During war years, however, Dr. Simpson said, no obstacle will be placed in the way of healthy boys of 14 and 15 years leaving school to take employment in cases where a labor shortage is indicated.

"My own feeling," said Dr. Simpson, "is that it is not necessary to pass any new legislation, but that the existing legislation can be administered intelligently in the light of war conditions."

PEACE CHANCES REDUCED, STATES POPE PIUS XII

"Stubborn Obstacles Which Daily Become More Difficult to Surmount" Apparent, Says Pontiff

PRESIDENT THANKED

Personal Representative of Roosevelt at Holy See Makes Vivid Impression on His Holiness

Washington, Jan. 20 (AP).—Pope Pius XII advised President Roosevelt today that the immediate chances for peace were reduced to a "slight probability" by "stubborn obstacles" which "became daily more difficult to surmount".

The Pope called upon the "friends of peace" to "visualize" the seriousness of these obstacles and the improbability of cessation of war "so long as the present state of the opposing forces remains essentially unchanged".

These expressions and a hope for the eventual attainment of peace were made in a letter to Mr. Roosevelt, delivered to White House by Archbishop Cicognani, Apostolic delegate in Washington. It was a reply to a communication of Dec. 23 in which Mr. Roosevelt disclosed he was sending to the Pope a personal representative, Myron C. Taylor, to assist in "our parallel endeavors for peace".

Providential Help.

It bespoke a "Providential help", His Holiness said, when the President at Christmas time placed himself in the vanguard "of those who would promote peace" and succor the victims of war.

BRISK FIGHTING IS REPORTED

French Communique States French and German Patrols Meet on German Territory

Paris, Jan. 20—(CP—Havas) — The French army High Command today reported brisk fighting between French and German reconnaissance units in German territory.

This morning's official communique reported:—

"There was a lively engagement between reconnaissance elements in the Blies region, in German territory.

An enemy pursuit plane was shot down within our lines on Jan. 19."

The communique contained the first report of fighting in German territory since the middle of October when the French forces evacuated positions taken up on Reich soil at the beginning of the war and destroyed the three bridgeheads on the Rhine.

Failure to Launch Blitzkrieg Due to Lack of Seasoned Leaders

By SAM ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 20—(CP Cable) — Failure of Germany to launch a Blitzkrieg—lightning war may be due to a lack of seasoned leaders in the Nazi High Command.

The fact that Adolf Hitler's army does not contain a single officer who held rank above captain in the first Great War was revealed today by an unimpeachable source which can not be identified.

The amazing revelation came from a man who once served in the German army and whose present war duties demand that he be perhaps the closest student of the Nazi armed forces outside Germany itself.

Did Not Embrace Creed

There are a number of reasons why the "soldiers of the Swastika" serving under Hitler, himself a corporal of the last war, are so completely lacking in leaders and tacticians with military experience.

For one thing many of the Reich's front rank army officers did not embrace the Nazi creed. Many others disappeared in the blood bath Hitler gave the party in June, 1934. That purge was as devitalizing a blow to the German army as the more recent one Joseph Stalin carried out in the Russian army.

Years, too, have removed a large number of other officers who directed Germany's unsuccessful war against the Allies from 1914-18.

Have No Experience

The Reich's present military leaders had such an easy row to hoe in Hitler's absorption of neighboring countries that they have not gained the experience vital in facing a major enemy such as the Anglo-French Allies.

Some valuable lessons were learned by the men Germany loaned to General Franco in Spain's protracted Civil War.

But the Blitzkrieg successfully carried out by the Nazis against a surprised Poland has been of little use to the German High Command so far as directional experience under fire is concerned. Once the Polish bases of supply—both in man-power and materials — had been scattered by the unchallenged German air force, the campaign was as good as over.

Rubbed Out Leaders

Military students regard the amazing stand of little Finland against numerically powerful Russia as at least partly due to the fact that Stalin "rubbed out" a large number of his military leaders in a purge of "traitors" to his brand of Communism.

If that is correct, lack of action on the western front is possibly due to Germany being completely devoid of thoroughly experienced military leaders such as those who are directing the Allies' campaign.

SENATOR BORAH, 'LION OF IDAHO', DIES AT AGE OF 74

Isolationist Dean of U. S. Senate Succumbs to Cerebral Hemorrhage

HAD PLANNED SPEECH

Washington, Jan. 20—(AP)—William E. Borah, isolationist dean of the United States Senate, died last night.

The 74-year-old Idaho Republican, known in the Senate as an isolationist in personal as well as international affairs, died from a cerebral hemorrhage.

Leader of successful battles against United States participation in the League of Nations and the World Court at The Hague, Borah, "the great oppositionist," was widely mourned.

President Roosevelt, whose foreign policies often brought Borah's denunciation in the Senate, declared that "we shall miss him and mourn him and long remember the superb courage which was his."

A State funeral in the Chamber where Borah sat for 33 years was tentatively scheduled for Sunday or Monday.

Fought Many Lost Causes

Borah was known among his colleagues as an isolationist on questions of foreign policy. But he constantly reiterated that his views sprang from a basic desire to keep the United States out of war.

The Senator, called for years "The lion of Idaho", fought many a lost cause but was the winner of some.

He was a leader in the fight against Mr. Roosevelt's recently-enacted neutrality program which barred United States shipping from combat areas but allowed sale of arms to belligerents on a "cash and carry" basis.

On the victorious side, he was one of the leaders in the fight

In Many Places Snow Fills Roads Faster Than They Can be Ploughed Out—Temperatures Hover at Zero

W. ONTARIO HIT BY GALE

Locally in Quinte District Snow Falls Steadily During Night Swept by Brisk Wind — Every Effort is Made to Keep Roads Open

(By The Canadian Press)

Parts of northern Ontario reported the worst blizzard of the winter today while a high wind generally swept the southern part of the province accompanied by snow. Gales and continued cold temperatures with occasional snow was forecast for tomorrow.

A fierce storm raged today in the Owen Sound area of Georgian Bay and in North Bay district. At Owen Sound snowploughs battled the worst snow storm in recent years, now in its third day, and practically all concession and county roads are blocked.

North Bay district citizens arose early in an attempt to dig themselves out from deep drifts due to high winds. Temperatures at both North Bay and Owen Sound hovered at zero.

Work-bound citizens in Toronto district bucked a 36-mile-an-hour wind from the southwest while the weatherman reported the thermometer showed five above zero. Occasional snow in the Toronto district today compared with from two to five inches through the Georgian Bay area.

Bitter Wind Blowing

A bitter wind blew strongly throughout western Ontario and although the temperature generally rose above zero, residents said the wind made the weather seem more severe than the sub-zero climate of earlier this week. Highways were reported mostly clear with drifting snow piling up on some.

The thermometer at Windsor jumped from eight below yesterday to 10 above today despite an icy wind. Many Galt residents said they awoke today in homes made cold by a biting northwest wind.

Effect of near-zero temperatures in Welland district was intensified by high winds and snow which made visibility poor. Weather conditions prevented many farmers from reaching the Welland market and only a few stalls operated.

Ice Bridge 35 Feet Thick

Rivermen at Niagara Falls said the ice bridge was 35 to 40 feet thick and that it stretched from the foot of the cataract a nearly a mile beyond it.

Many hockey games throughout the province were postponed last night as a result of the low tem-

COUNTRY ROADS IN P. E. BLOCKED

Worst Snow Storm of Winter Sweeping Over County Since Thursday

Picton, Jan. 20 — The worst snow storm of the present winter has been sweeping over the county of Prince Edward since Thursday night, and as a result of the driving blizzard some of the country roads are blocked. The main roads have been kept open however by the snow plows which have been working night and day.

Yesterday the mail courier from South Bay was unable to reach Picton as the roads are blocked in that district. Other mail men arrived at Picton post office but some of them were unable to call on all boxholders due to blocked cross-roads.

The main highway to Belleville and other main roads are still passable but are heavy.

Gerard Kavanagh, reeve of South Marysburgh township, who was in town for the sessions of County Council, is marooned in town owing to the roads to South Bay being blocked.

The Junior O.H.A. game between Picton and Belleville scheduled for Friday night here was postponed on account of the blizzard.

County Council Passes Resolutions

Several resolutions were passed by Prince Edward County Council at the session which closed on Friday. The council passed a resolution asking that the government take some action to put into force some system of sickness old age and unemployment insurance, in the province.

Hospitalization of indigent patients aroused the ire of members and it was felt that the word 'indigent' gave too much leeway. The resolution passed read in part 'that whereas the word indigent in regards to hospital admittance is termed as an individual, who must have an earning power equal to $2.50 per day, according to the Act. And whereas this term could apply to seventy-five per cent of the people of Ontario, this council petition the Ontario Minister of Health, Hon. Harold Kirby, to have this condition remedied.'

Rebates for gasoline used by farmers in operation of their farms was also discussed fully. It was stated that at the present time farmers were required to pay the full cost of the gasoline and that the rebate was given by the government. It was charged by several members that there was a lengthy delay in receiving these rebates. Council's motion was to the effect that when farmers purchased gasoline that he be able to give the vendor an affadavit entitling him to the rebate and that the tax would not be paid at that time. The money that would ordinarily go for tax could be used as part payment.

The County of Prince Edward is losing $2,414 each year in school grants due to the high equalized assessment of the county, it was stated by Public School Inspector Brown who was called in to explain the matter of grants. County grants were unusually low compared to neighboring counties. This is due partly to the fact that the higher the assessment the lower the grant. In Prince Edward the equalized assessment is $45 per acre, whereas the county of Lennox and Addington is assessed at $19 per acre, Frontenac at $11, and York at $50 per acre. Due to the fact that equalized assessment of Prince Edward is much higher than the actual assessment, grants to this county are lower due to the fact that grants are based on the equalized rather than on the actual assessment.

School Board Officers

At the annual meeting of Picton Public School Board on Thursday night, Wilfred E. Scott was elected chairman for the year. Committees appointed were:—finance, John Maher, Harry Blakely, Clifford Cooper; management, J. Maher, Gay Welsh, Dr. C. E. Wright, J. C. Cooper; supply, Dr. Wright, Dr. J. H. Walmsley, W. E. Scott; kindergarten and auxiliary, J. C. Cooper, G. Welsh, Dr. Walmsley, Dr. Gullett. Fred VanCott, principal of the Mary Street School, was named representative to the Picton Collegiate and Vocational Institute Board. Leave of absence was granted for the duration of the war to Sergt. Elmer Duetta and Frank Starr, another veteran, was appointed to fill the vacancy.

Mayor Entertains

Mayor Nesbitt McKibbon was host at an oyster supper for fifty members of Quinte Lodge No. 143, I.O.O.F., at their annual meeting this week. His Worship was named Noble Grand for the coming year. Other officers are: Jr. N.G., Milton Dulmage; V.G., Orval Handley; R.S., Frank Kemsley; Financial Sec., W. H. Hunt; Treasurer, B. C. Sound Business to Set Out Lands In Forests if Plenty Available

Agricultural Representative Addresses County Council on Conservation

URGES COMMITTEE

Urging County Council to take interest and if possible action on the conservation and reforestation of the many thousands of acres of sub-marginal land in the county, H. L. Fair, county representative told the body, that Spring floods were carrying the best of the county's soil to the lakes and bays, while forests were being badly depleted with no provisions made for their replacement.

In the few counties where this work is being done, Mr. Fair said, county bodies have established special committees within their own ranks to deal with the question. They are doing splendid work, and the result has been that thousands of acres of former useless land are now crops of trees.

"It is sound business, if a county has plenty of land, to set it out in forests," he continued. "It is not necessary to do it all in one year, each year it can be added to" quoting the Northumberland County Forest of some few thousand acres as an example.

Looked Upon as Crop

Trees should be looked upon as a crop he said, Canada has been reaping a harvest of trees for years but no effort of much size has been made to sow, where we have reaped." There is a lot of land in Hastings County, which could be used for this purpose.

He urged the County Council to form a committee to look into the advisability of this work. "We have more rough land, than the majority of other counties, but the trouble is they are more tree-conscious than we are. We do not value the wealth of our forests."

In an effort to make the school-children of the county tree-conscious, a large number of trees had been sent to the schools in the southern line townships, where they had been planted by children in schoolyards and other places. In a few years ample shade will be available, where these trees have been planted, he said. This year trees will be sent to all schools in the county, in the hope of getting children and teachers tree-conscious.

Hungerford Takes Advantage

Hungerford Township had been the only community in Hastings County, which had availed itself of the opportunity to secure trees in the past for reforestation purposes. "It cost between $20 and $30 for thirty thousand trees for this township, Mr. Fair told council. The effort was successful for 95 per cent livability had resulted.

He urged that the Agricultural Committee be given power to act in the event council did not see fit to appoint a Reforestation and Conservation Committee. Reeve Charles Rush and Deputy Reeve George Jordan, Hungerford representatives spoke briefly in support of Mr. Fair's appeal.

Executive Re-elected at Annual Meeting of Deloro Safety Committee

Marmora, Jan. 20.—The fifteenth annual meeting of the Deloro Safety Committee was held in Deloro Hall on Thursday evening. R. A. Elliott, chairman, presided over a good attendance of members and guests. Prior to the meeting the members assembled at the staff dining room to enjoy an excellent repast which was served by Mrs. P. Smith and her helpers and for which the management of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company have been annually responsible. At the hall the regular monthly meeting got under way after the Gypsy Serenaders of Toronto (Clair Rouse, violin and Miss Dorothy Fielding, accordion), had given some selections of the exhilarating type. G. Brooks for the suggestions committee gave the initial report. There were twenty-one suggestions received in December. C. T. Nicholson then reported for the competitive committee. Ten of the twenty-one suggestions received in December were awarded prizes and upon a review of the seventy-four suggestions received previously in 1939 eight more awards were made. W. L. Rigg reported for the inspection committee and J. A. Rice followed with that of the health and investigation committee. J. H. Hemphill for the publicity committee dealt chiefly with the recent contest and the new design on the signboard. C. H. Buskard then gave the monthly statement of the benevolent relief funds as the closing item. As a prelude to the annual meeting, Clair Rouse as the musical vagabond put on his skit "If I had the world to give" in which in turn in vagabond costume and with all the whimsicalities of a hobo, he played a variety of instruments drawn from his topcoat. Minutes of last annual meeting opened the annual meeting following which Mr. Elliott as chairman gave his report. First of all he presented figures of the records of each department of the plant. The matter of the foreman with the best safety record was then touched upon. Three this year tied for the honor, G. Brooks, M. McCoy and H. O. Loveless. M. McCoy, through having this honor for the first time will attend the Safety First Convention this year and the co-delegate from the members of the staff will be C. T. Nicholson. Mr Elliott next enlarged a little upon the dispensing of the benevolent relief funds and mentioned it was in a healthy condition and available in time of true need. Mr. Elliott then quoted from editorial closing words of which were most applicable to all in safety first work. "The only sure way to happiness is to help others." He wished to thank the management and employees for their assistance in the past year and wished all a safe, happy and prosperous new year.

F. Paquet, secretary treasurer, in his report touched upon work of the various committees and expenditures incidental thereto. Both reports were passed upon motion of S. B. Wright, seconded by H. A. McNally.

Miss Fielding gave some accordion solos that were much appreciated, finishing with some war song tunes which everyone joined in.

The election of officers followed the executive being re-elected as follows: Chairman, R. A. Elliott; vice-chairman, W. L. Rigg; secretary treasurer, F. Paquet; assistant secretary, H. A. McNally.

Each year one member of the Benevolent Relief Committee retires and R. A. Elliott's turn arrived this year. Upon a vote of the meeting he was re-elected. The other two trustees are C. H. Buskard and H. O. Loveless.

H. Rennie and H. C. Barlow were appointed as auditors for the benevolent relief funds for 1940.

Clair Rouse then appeared as Rear Admiral Jellyfish, the old beachcomber.

Mr. S. B. Wright, general manager of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company called upon to speak mentioned the splendid record accomplished by the committee and reassured his hearers they could always rely upon the support of the company in every way in safety work and wished the movement every success and the members a safe and prosperous new year.

Mr. C. A. Seaton, manager of the Consolidated Smelters at Cordova gave some details of some safety work under the jurisdiction of his company and congratulated the Deloro organization on its excellent record.

H. W. Sabine was the next speaker and said he felt that the safety work of the plant goes out to have an effect upon the community.

Dr. H. Crawford spoke of the low death rate in the village of Deloro and hoped that it was a record that could be kept up and hoped the safety record in Deloro would be better than ever.

J. Arnold Thomson, architect of Belleville, said he was surprised at the splendid interest and co-operation he noticed in safety work at Deloro. W. L. Rigg as concluding speaker, said as an observer he felt the plant was well maintaining the safety spirit. Claire Rouse then gave his concluding number after which the entertainers again played for community singing and with the singing of the National Anthem the gathering dispersed.

The entertainment held in the town hall on Wednesday evening, sponsored by the Women's Institute and the Catholic Women's League, was well attended. Winners of the bridge prizes were Miss Miriam Savage for the ladies while Jack Hughes and Joseph Murray tied for the gentleman's prize with Jack Hughes winning in the tie breaker. The euchre prizes went to Mrs. C. Reynolds and Charlie Brady. Bingo was played and lunch was served after which dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by K. Doyle, M. Kouri, Harold Auger and Eugene Reynolds.

J. O. HERITY SPEAKS TO CLUB

Christian Civilization and Democracy Gifts of Great Britain to World, States Speaker

"Great Britain has given two great gifts to the world," stated Mr. J. Owen Herity, addressing the Baptist Brotherhood Friday evening at their regular monthly supper meeting in Victoria Avenue Baptist Church. "First and foremost she has given to the world what we call the Christian civilization, and in the second place she has given the gift of democratic government of the people, for the people, by the people. Christian civilization owes its spread more to the British Empire than to any other. Notwithstanding the defects in our democratic system it is the best civilization that has yet been devised by human minds.

"If anyone had asked me, at the turn of the century, if I thought democracy would continue to prevail in the world I should unquestionably have answered in the affirmative. And yet in 1914 and again today democracy is fighting for its very life. And what has happened to our Christian civilization? In several of the great countries in the world they have governments today that do not scarcely tolerate religion. In others they are trying to destroy it.

Outcome Not Foreseen.

"No one can foresee the outcome of the great war in which we are now engaged but that Christianity and Democracy will be saved I am convinced."

In a review of British history Mr. Herity spoke of the glorious years of Queen Victoria's reign and the great celebration of her Diamond Jubilee in 1897, when representatives came from the remotest parts of the British Empire to take part in the triumphal procession through the streets of London. A great naval review provided an imposing display of her strength upon the seas. Then, said Mr. Herity, the British people were brought to their senses by the publication of Kipling's great poem, the Recessional, which was written "Lest we forget . . ." that all they had was in the hands of God. Mr. Herity quoted the poem with fidelity and great feeling.

Mr. Chas. Franklin, president of the Brotherhood, occupied the chair and conducted several items of business. The guest speaker was introduced by Mr. H. O. Trusdale. Scripture was read by Mr. Fred Fox, while Mr. Arthur Wynne offered prayer. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Herity for his highly interesting and inspiring address.

RIVERSIDES WIN FOURTH STRAIGHT IN RURAL LOOP

Defeat Ivanhoe 4-1 With Tomlinson Receiving a Nasty Cut Over Eye

FOXBORO EARNS DRAW

Zion Hill "Irish" Battled Southern Team Right Down to Wire

Stirling, Jan. 20—(Special)—Reserve strength and excellent netminding by Hagerman were important factors last night, when Glen Ross' "Riversides" chalked up their fourth straight victory in the Centre Hastings Rural Hockey League race at the Stirling Arena. The twin bill offered two of the most interesting games of the season so far as action was concerned for in the other half of the "double feature" performance Foxboro "Foxes" and Roblin Dulmage's "fighting Irishers" from Zion Hill battled sixty minutes to a 2-2 draw. Both games featured close checking, plenty of fast clean hockey and an occasional ripple of rouging to warm up the enthusiasm of the crowd. Glen Ross still gave a display of real strength in spite of being shorthanded and the division of brilliance in the Zion-Foxboro set-to is fairly indicated by the score 2-2.

First Game

With Zion and Foxboro meeting for their second game within a week and incidentally both ended in ties with real low scores. Both team started at top speed and both Guay and Gifford were given a chance to display their wares in netminding as the play raced from end to end. Gifford in the Zion nets has come out of an early season slump and played up to his last year's form in his two most recent starts. "Normie" Guay, who last season played on the forward line is doing fine work in front of the Foxboro twine. After a scoreless first period with play and checking about fifty-fifty, both teams went after goals in the middle period. "Noley" scored for Foxboro and Tommy Bedford got the equalizer.

The pace increased in the final period with the score still all tied up and heavy bodying and high sticks began to appear. The only penalties of the entire game went to Ray Dickey and Spencer when they clinched briefly. Three minutes after the face-off Ketcheson lifted one from centre ice that caught Guay napping and gave the "Irish" a short lived lead. Still playing bang up hockey they surged forward for additional goals and Elder got loose for the Foxes, skirting the defence on the most brilliant play of the evening when he tried Gifford twice and succeeded in banging in his own rebound for the tying score. For the remaining three minutes of the period both teams tried frantically to break the tie and were dog tired as they skated off all even for the second time this week.

"Ray" Dickey, Bedford Brough and Simms looked best for the Irish with Gifford shining much brighter in the netminding division. For Foxboro Guay brothers played their usual fine game with Gough, G. Wright and G. Gay turning in good performances. Elder making his first appearance with the Foxes looks like a real prospect with his first tireless effort being rewarded with the tie-er-upper with only three minutes left.

Teams:

Foxboro — Goal, "Norm" Guay, defense, "Noley" Guay and Gord Walt; centre, G. Wright; wings, Spencer and Thompson; subs, Elder, Gough, G. Gay, J. Gay, Helliwell and Dafoe.

Zion Hill—Goal, Gifford, defence, Ray Dickey, T. Bedford; centre, Mills, wings Faulkner and Ketcheson; subs, Simms, Tummon, Ray and Sills.

Referee—Jim "Buck" Hulin, Stirling.

Fourth Win for Glen Ross

The towering "Riversides" from Glen Ross were held in close check by the ambitious "Stripes" from Ivanhoe for two hustling periods. This game was held up at several points, one rather interesting incident from the spectators' standpoint. Two players began mixing it a bit and without warning a spectator jumped the fence and joined in. Doug "Pepper" Martin got the first tally, taking a pass close in from G. Fraser. Six minutes later "Stew" Kirby tied it up and the game speeded up considerably. The next holdup was an unfortunate one. Tomlinson, defenceman of the Ivanhoe crew, received a nasty cut over the left eye when a shot from G. Fraser clipped him. Four clamps were required to close the wound when he was taken to the surgery of Dr. Demorest. Just before the period ended Doug Martin got his second tally unassisted. The last period found the Easterners pressing hard with every man up on the attack and each break made by the Riversides was dangerous. Hagerman played a real game in the Glen Ross nets and Martin and R. Pyear combined for another counter with the former scoring. G. Pyear got the final goal of the game on a shot from centre ice, making the total 4-1 for Glen Ross. Martin, Armstrong, Fraser and Hagerman were best for Glen Ross. Kirby, Cook, Thompson and Reid were the pick for the fast improving Ivanhoe squad. The lads from Ivanhoe have yet to click for a win. But the quality of their pick-up thus far in the schedule makes them a continual threat for a play-off berth. Their forwards are a husky bunch of real hustlers gaining momentum with each game.

The teams:

Ivanhoe—Goal, Delve; defence, Thomlinson and Reid; centre, Dan Cooke; wings, H. Thompson, "Stew" Kirby; subs Woods, Murphy, Fleming, Downey and Tanner.

Glen Ross—Goal, Hagerman; defence, Armstrong and Fraser; centre, Martin; wings, R. Pyear, G. Pyear, subs Macdonald.

League Standing

	P.	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Glen Ross	4	4	0	0	8
Foxboro	4	1	1	2	4
Zion Hill	4	0	1	3	3
Ivanhoe	4	0	3	1	1

Continuing the schedule under the dates arranged at the beginning of the season the next games will come on Monday, Jan. 22nd with Glen Ross playing Zion and Ivanhoe playing Foxboro.

STOLEN MOTOR CAR FOUND ABANDONED

Belleville police today announced the recovery of a motor car which was reported stolen from this city last Saturday. The vehicle, which is the property of a Hillier farmer, was found abandoned north of the city by the Provincial Police.

Toronto city police reported the theft of a 1938 Chevrolet sedan, license plates number 7-E-992 early today. This vehicle is believed to have been taken by two young men and a girl, who later held up a woman in Toronto and at the point of a gun, stole $35 from the pedestrian.

A 1938 Dodge sedan, bearing license plates No. 363-D-5 was reported stolen in Belleville last evening, but later it was discovered that the owner had made a mistake in his parking position.

The cell block at the police station was available to the comfort of 12 transients last night, no arrests being reported.

Manager Explains Foreign Exchange Control Board

Complimenting the body on the excellent financial condition of the county, Mr. C. L. Jewell, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce told members of Hastings County Council in session today that the recently created Foreign Exchange Control Board has had a beneficial effect on not only industry but farming in general.

United States currency would today be at a premium of twenty cents on the dollar if the Foreign Exchange Board had not "pegged" the discount at a flat rate of ten cents. Sterling exchange, Mr. Jewell said, would be today at a discount of $4.00 instead of the present quotations which range between $4.42 and $4.46.

Financial conditions of Canada were much better now than they were at the beginning of the last war, the speaker pointed out, adding that "Canada's finances were solidly behind the country's war effort."

Fixed rates of foreign exchange, Mr. Jewell said, would have a direct bearing on Canada's exports, which would in turn have an indirect reaction on the dairying and agricultural industries.

He extended a cordial invitation to all members of council to avail themselves of the services of the institution, he represented, again congratulating council on the fact that Hastings County was one of the most financially sound counties in Ontario.

VITAMIN B-I FOR PLANT GROWTH

AN HORTICULTURAL SENSATION

8-inch Rose buds, Daffodils as large as a salad plate, Hyacinth blooms over 1 foot long, Snapdragons nearly 7 feet high, seedlings maturing in half the usual time, plants in full bloom and growth transplanted without root-shock or set back and sickly plants reinvigorated into strong and healthy growth. This is only part of the story, in October issue of "Better Homes & Gardens", that has electrified the horticultural world by its description of the marvellous results obtained through scientific study of the newly discovered effects of Vitamin B-1 on plant growth.

Need my Vitamin too!

Vitamin B-1 gives new vigor to the whole plant

Not a plant food or fertilizer but imparts new vigor to the roots so that the plant obtains the maximum benefit from the soil in which it is growing THUS PRODUCING THESE ASTONISHING RESULTS IN SIZE AND RATE OF GROWTH.

Easy—Safe—Economical

FOR PLANTS INDOORS AND OUTDOORS. We supply Vitamin B-1 in a new convenient powder form, specially prepared for plant growth. No complicated weighing or measuring whatever. Using measuring spoon which we supply, just add a little powder to each gallon of water and pour on soil once a week. Package will prepare 2,000 gallons of solution (enough to last the average gardener a whole season). With directions, $1.00 postpaid (special half package, 65c. postpaid).

Four Gaebel Brothers, Bancroft, Serving In Same Regiment

Picton—To have four brothers serving in Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment is the proud record of the Gaebel family of Bancroft. Three are now overseas with the regiment and the other A. V. Gaebel, is with the Depot Battalion in Picton, being in the paymasters' office. He is a veteran of the Great War.

The three brothers who are overseas are Gordon, Gerald and Mervyn Gaebel and a letter received here yesterday from them by their brother states that they are satisfied with conditions and that the trip overseas was not bad.

HOCKEY

The Picton Juveniles lost their first game of the season on Wednesday night at Wellington when the home team scored four goals to the town team's one. Wellington scored two in the first, Bovay from Slaven and Slaven from Bovay. In the second, V. MacDonald made it three and Picton scored their lone goal, Ackerman driving home Woodward's pass. Bovay scored again in the third to make it 4-1.

In the B group, Bloomfield defeated Rednersville 4-0, the winners getting one in each period. Tripp accounted for two, one on an assist by Gough and Demille for the third on an assist by Tripp. Carman Welbanks handled the juvenile game and Burley the B game.

Deseronto

Deseronto — Mr. James Smith, who has been manager of the Deseronto branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce for the past two years has been transferred to Sunderland. Before coming to Deseronto he was manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Picton. Mr. Smith and family have moved to Sunderland.

Accompanied by high winds snow and rain fell here all day Sunday and on into the night leaving the roads in a bad condition, which makes motoring difficult. Farmers particularly appreciated the rain because there has been a shortage of water during the past several months.

The ice on the Bay of Quinte is of a considerable depth and cars, teams and sleighs are travelling to and from Deseronto on the ice.

A social evening was held in the Parish Hall on Thursday evening. Both bridge and euchre were played and the prizes were awarded as follows: Bridge, Miss Mary Dowling and Miss L. Therrien and euchre, Mrs. J. Marlin and Miss McDonald. After the cards dancing was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening. The music was furnished by Jack Denmark's Aces. The committee in charge served refreshments.

Rev. James McAvoy of Bath, who was recently appointed pastor of the United Church, preached his initial sermons here on Sunday last. Rev. McAvoy succeeds Rev. A. D. Waite who resigned on account of ill health.

BUILDING UP WAR EFFORT

Greater use of the press, the film and radio is planned in order to explain Canada's war effort. The three factors, it is expected, will be linked more closely in the work of keeping the people informed.

Leonard Brockington, former CBC head, now official war recorder, will serve as special adviser to the National Film Board. His work here will be creative in character and under the film board's direction.

The newspapers, the screen and broadcast are outstanding factors in the spread of knowledge in this age. Through them an invaluable contribution to the war effort of Canada can be made as it has been made. For instance Mr. Brockington will make use of the press and the radio for keeping the people more closely informed on their war effort and in making known to the nation the outstanding sacrifices being made by thousands of Canadians and the many evidences of the enthusiasm shown for the Allied cause by citizens of alien birth.

Films have done and will do fine work in recording scenes of Canadian troops as in such films as "Call to a Nation." It is said many striking pictures are now being completed and that the task of a similar service by press and broadcast is being planned. Such a film shows that the war requires the united force of all Canadian activities, for it is a complete war in which the whole nation's strength is mobilized.

GOOD DEEDS

Often a striking event of great public interest reveals how heroic an individual may be. Yesterday the papers carried the story of a Corunna man who led his wife to safety and then went back into his burning dwelling four times to bring out his children.

In fact, that is what mankind would expect of a true husband and father in the presence of the impending death of his loved ones should he not make the effort. And it is a brave thing to do.

How many stories tell of a parent, a brother, a sister, or even a stranger, daring death to save those who are in danger!

More rapidly than the twinkling of an eye man knows what to do. He scarcely requires to think. He is fired with an overpowering thought — of saving.

Great deeds reveal great heroes and yet there are also those great heroes and heroines whose achievements do not call for plunging through fire or pulling a child from in front of a locomotive or a motorcar, but only for living a quiet normal life, which demands the heroic equipment. Lives of heroes and heroines are spent in offices, shops, factories, homes, meeting the incessant round of problems knocking on the heart and mind for solution. Such rounds of good deeds last a lifetime for childhood to age.

NEUTRALS FEEL SAFE WITH ALLIES

One of the best proofs of the integrity of the Allies and the justice of their cause is to be found in the fact that every neutral knows where to look for possible danger. It is not Britain and France that the Scandinavians, Dutch, Belgians, Hungarians, Rumanians, Yugo-Slavs and others fear.

The same relations exist between the Allies and these neutrals as existed before the war.

If the Nazi Germany of Hitler were in the position in which Britain and France are today, one would see a different world. The neutrals, troubled as so many of them are for fear of Germany, would be far less happy and be at the mercy of Nazism.

What must the Germans think of the Allies, possessing the vast power they do, and yet using it gently and fairly? Nazis could never fail to snatch at the temptation to use power as a giant would. These Nazis have vowed they would not be gentle and that they would take what they wanted. And yet as they look out on the world outside of their boundaries, they must see that the world really feels safe with the Allies and dreads the Nazi Germans. Why? The answer must be clear.

Canada's Japs In War Effort

Vancouver, Jan. 20—(CP)—Japanese residents of British Columbia, some of them scarred by service with Canadian forces in the First Great War, are digging down in their pockets for contributions to Canada's war effort.

Groups of loggers, fishermen and businessmen throughout the province have pooled donations to be sent to the department of national defence at Ottawa. Others are subscribing to the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Japanese are recalling they had their difficulties joining up in the last war, although Japan was then a British ally, and it was not until 1916 that the first group of Japanese was taken into an Alberta unit. A total of 196 went overseas. Of the 151 who returned, only 10 had not been wounded. Thirteen were awarded the Military Medal and one, Otomatsu Yamamoto, received the bar to his.

Training of the "Japanese Volunteer Corps" began at Vancouver in January, 1916. For three months 202 recruits who had passed the medical tests were given intensive drill, only to be told Japanese volunteers were not needed as a full battalion had not been formed.

However, in June, 1916, Japanese were accepted by recruiting officers in Alberta. They were included in the 209th battalion, the 13th cavalry battalion and the 191st, 192nd and 175th battalions.

The Belleville Amateur Minstrels put on a good performance at the opera house—the place was filled to capacity. The performance was under the direction of Mr. C. A. Bernard and the musical part was conducted by Mr. H. L. Tourgis. The singing of "Memory" by Mr. J. Doyle was one of the chief features of the evening and he was loudly applauded and encored; Mr. A. B. Overell sang "Whoa, I tell you", and he was also encored; "Sweet Little Stanie Snow", was well rendered by Mr. F. Fellowes; Mr. Bennie Dickens sang with good effect, "Put on de Golden Crown."

Mr. C. A. Bernard sang "Heart Flower"; Mr. R. Bell's song, "That never could happen here," which contained many local hits, took well: "If the waters could speak as they flow" was given by Mr. Bert Hostage; Mr. George Fax, the great favorite, sang "We'll raise dat roof to night," and captivated the audience: the balancing act by Mr. James Bensley was well done; Messrs. Henry Foltz and Howard Green played well on the banjos and Master Leo Riggs' playing on the autoharp was much appreciated: Messrs R. Bell and D. Kerr were great favorites in their artistic clog dancing: Mr. John Mackie's songs, "Who killed Cronan" and "Where did you get that hat," were well received: Mr. A. VanNorman's playing upon the guitar was much enjoyed. The performance was concluded with the beautiful and intricate drill of the "Coon Jockey Club" which was originated and conducted by Capt. J. Halliwell. Much disappointment was felt that owing to illness Count Mikel could not be present and make his famous stump speech. The absence of Mr. Charles Dickens, owing to illness was also a disappointment to the audience. The proceeds of the entertainment will be given to the Belleville Hospital.

Daily War Survey

By The Canadian Press

Russian apologies to Norway and Sweden for trespasses on their territory committed by Russian fighting aircraft will bring a measure of relief to the tension which has prevailed in the Scandinavian sector of Europe since the Red army launched its attack on Finland.

The Moscow authorities said the Soviet fliers, engaged in the Finnish operations, accidentally flew past the borders of Norway and Sweden owing to bad weather. The gesture from Moscow, a more generous concession to the polite usages of diplomacy than has been customary in that quarter recently, may mean much or little.

It may be genuine or it may simply mean that the Communist government is so busy with the Finnish war at the moment it cannot waste time on Norway and Sweden.

Meanwhile the result of the bitter fighting now prevailing in the Salla area of Finland will be awaited with interest. Meagre reports indicate the Russians, after a substantial advance into Finnish territory, are retreating and fighting a bitter rearguard action.

If the Russians are able to withdraw to a safe position without the destruction of their main forces they will be in a position to strike again when weather becomes more favorable. If the Finns succeed in smashing them as they have done with other Russian forces, the danger of an early renewal of the Russian thrust to cut Finland in two pieces will be lessened.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

Treating the Neurotic—Belief That an Organic Ailment is Present

A patient who thinks he has heart disease and continues to visit his physician despite the fact that after careful examination the physician has told him no heart disease is present, is called a neurotic thinking you have an ailment when none is present). Such a patient may later find himself in the "observation" department of a mental hospital.

Why do these individuals think they have heart, blood-vessel, stomach or kidney trouble?

As a matter of fact, they have symptoms pointing to or resembling the symptoms of various diseases, and until they are relieved of these symptoms they are going to seek help somewhere.

In a great many of these cases, anxiety is causing the symptoms because anxiety and other emotional disturbances can cause symptoms of heart, stomach, or other organ, as these emotions upset the action or rhythm of these organs.

What is the treatment of this condition?, In outlining the treatment given by the Toronto Psychiatric Hospital in its out-patient department, Drs. E. P. Lewis and D. G. McKerracher, in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, state: "The essence of the treatment is to get a sympathetic understanding of the patient."

First, the physician listens patiently and sympathetically to all the patient's complaints. Next, a history is taken (a) so as to understand his present situations with its frictions, worries, and domestic or business stresses, (b) to get a complete understanding of his family and childhood background. After being able to tell all about his symptoms, his family life and childhood background, the patient becomes less tensed and better able to understand some of the reasons for his symptoms.

The next part of the treatment is a thorough examination to let the patient realize that another search for an organic cause of symptoms is being made.

The physician then explains that while no organic disease is present his symptoms are nevertheless real, because an upset stomach can be caused by eating when distressed, or a headache can be caused by worry. Similarly, his symptoms are due to his anxiety, to worry, to a mental conflict, any of which can cause his particular symptoms.

In a series of fifty cases, all but one of whom accepted the fact that their emotions were causing the symptoms, 16 are well, 20 improved, 11 unimproved, and 3 lost from sight.

Fresh, Clean Air of England

To come back to the fresh, clean air of England after breathing the foul atmosphere of Germany, so poisoned by its murderous government's malignity, hate and vituperation — not only against England and every other nation that blocks its way, but also against so many of its own citizens—is to enter a new, a wholesome, a free world; is to experience an exaltation of the spirit.

Here men can smile even under the strain of a terrible war. Here they look you straight in the eyes with nothing to conceal or apologize for.

There they talk to you about their hopes, their fears, their aspirations, their desires, without looking behind them to see if they are being overheard. Here they criticize their government, if they so wish, and close no doors for fear of a Gestapo. Here they have a still free, if not unfettered press, and here they tell you that, much as they hate the war and all that pertains to it, this is a job to be done as best it may.

No cant, no self-laudation, no self-pity, no whining. Just a manly, straightforward, clear-eyed facing of the future with the same magnificent, cool courage, the same astounding determination that amazed me at the outbreak of the struggle.

x x x

I have not found a man or a woman enthusiastic for the war — no more than in Germany; and thank heaven, I have found none who have professed admiration for it as war. I have encountered many who hate the whole institution, dread the outcome of it all, and feel that the blunders of their own governments in the past have helped to bring it on. But I have met none who did not admit the complete, the essential justice of the Allied cause, whether they believed in war methods or not.

The serious dissensions of 1914 are nowhere in evidence; it is as nearly a united front as it could possibly be, granting the existence of conscientious objection to war and that united front, without heroics or self-adulation, is still calmly saying that this war must be won if Europe is to be saved, if it is to be a place of habitation of free men.

There has been no referendum of the British people on this war, as I wish there might always be in every country, but if there had been there can be no doubt whatever of the size of the majority there would have been.

In Berlin I was eagerly asked what was the spirit of the British people, and nothing I told them impressed my hearers more than the story of the quite young man who sat next to me on the top of a bus just before I left for Germany.

I had asked him the rank of an officer near us, apologizing for my ignorance by saying that I was an American.

He said: "You have come to London at an unhappy time. It is too bad that you should see it now." I explained that it was not a new city to me, but that I was deeply grieved that war had come to it again.

Very quietly and simply he replied. "Well, it had to come. You see, I am a young man. I shall probably have to go and may not come back. But there is no use going on in this way. I don't want to live in a Europe like the one we have lived in for the last five years. How can a young man like myself build a home and found a family if he's told every six months he must be ready to go to war?"

That, I assure people in Germany, is just the spirit in which England went into the war. Those are the words used to me by porters, taxicab-drivers, waiters — indeed, all the workers I have had time and opportunity to meet. My chamber-maid says cheerfully: "We'll have to go on till we get rid of that man."

Underneath, I know, the currents of the spirit run fast. Under that mask of calm self-control that has set the Englishman apart for centuries, feelings are deep and deeply stirred. Underneath the emotions of these men and women lies the passion for justice — and the passion for justice, I believe, is stronger in this country than in any other.

My great fear for England is lest the war weaken that passion, lest the zeal for individual liberty, which has been England's greatest contribution to the progress of the race, be weakened and even destroyed by the war and the war spirit. For war means, as everyone here knows today, the extension of controls, the putting on of checks and reins, the infringement of liberty, which it is sought to justify on the ground that one must fight fire with fire, that to defeat a ruthless dictator one must be as ruthless as the dictator himself.

Fortunately, it is in the finest English tradition that criticism is still heard in the British Parliament. The very impatience with war restrictions, the widespread disapproval of phases of the evacuation and of the compulsory billeting, the vigorous opposition to Mr. Keynes' scheme for a forced levy on wages for saving, the great desire to keep Parliament in session—all these are signs of health: signs that the finest thing in British life, its jealousy of its rights and privileges, is still intact.

One has only to look across the Channel to Germany — where no man dare venture an opinion as to what the peace should be; where I heard no single man discuss the terms of a just settlement or what the Europe of the future should be —to understand the difference between slaves and free men, to know why it is that two systems for the government of men are in death-grapple today.

Goodbye London! I shall take back to America an unforgettable picture of blackouts and sandbags, of trenches scarring the beautiful parks, and of ballrooms on guard, as exquisite when beneath blue skies as jewels in a rajah's raiment. The majesty of London at night in a darkness unparalleled since the days of Shakespeare will always live with me, for then the mystery of the greatest of capitals is at its height.

Men and women may sit behind drawn curtains fearing perhaps to go about; the city broods over them in awe-inspiring beauty. Look down upon it from a height and it is all the world—dotted by will-o'-the-wisp lights that betray a bus, a car.

Destroy this city? Well may the Germans pause, for this that looms so sombre and so vast is not England's alone. This is the heritage of all who say that men shall be free. For him who lays violent hands upon it there will be forgiveness never.

Goodbye London I take back to America something finer still—the unforgettable picture of the men and women who bring this city's streets to life. By day and night I shall see the puzzled, adventurous faces of children being evacuated into—for them— the unknown, with their British mothers shedding but scant, decorous tears.

I shall behold, whenever I please, the faces of British youth in uniform; handsome, clear-eyed, cheery —wholesome, wholesome, wholesome. Too fine to lose; too fine to die! I shall recall the women, young and old, in uniform; a trig, handsome girl of the Women's Auxiliary Air Force; a constable as neat as spick and span, as any guardsman before St. James' Palace; an air-warden in brown, for all the world a sergeant-major in skirts; a man in a khaki kilt dancing with a girl in khaki trousers.

There will come to me across the Atlantic the men drilling bare-kneed in barracks; long queues before the Naval Reserve boats in the Thames; troops marching across country; lorries full of men, tanks, guns, men — always fine, splendid men.

But, more than that, as long as I live there will be with me the quiet faces of those without uniforms, without titles, the plain people who carry on; who have nothing — yet, if they have sons, everything — to lose; who must pay and pay and pay. For these are England—the England that must be made free of wars, free of fear, free of injustice. For them, after the war, must be built the England that is to come, better and finer than ever before.

Goodbye, England! I go unafraid. For justice, humanity and the right are standing on your right hand. And to them victory will come in time.—By Oswald Garrison Villard, distinguished United States writer, in the London Daily Telegraph.

Don't Imagine All Furs Are of Arctic Origin

New Orleans—(CP) — Milady probably thinks the fur coat she wears came from the north woods of the United States, Canada or Alaska, but it may have come from the swamps and bayous of sub-tropical coastal Louisiana.

For Louisiana claims that in most years it produces more fur—in number of pelts, not value — than all of Canada and Alaska combined, and easily leads any other state in the Union.

It is an annual $8,000,000 to $15,000,000 industry in which from 10,000 to 25,000 families make their livelihood, arising before sunup and paddling or pushing precarious little boats or dugouts through 7,000,000 acres of marshland and cypress swamp to tend the traps set for muskrat, opossum, mink, otter, raccoon and skunk.

These trappers, mostly of French descent, live frontier lives along the bayous. Disease and savage animals lurk in the water and tall grass for the unwary or too-enthusiastic among the trappers, many of whom speak English brokenly or not at all.

They trap because it is the thing they do best. They gamble, have a passion for new automobiles, marry early, stay married, and seem to grow old soon.

Trappers From Childhood

From the time they are able to walk, the children yank dead, damp rats out of the piles thrown down by their fathers in front of the cabin doors and carry them by the tails to their mothers busy skinning the day's catch or stretching the pelts to dry.

By the thousands the trappers say good-bye to their families when the season opens Nov. 20 and go out in the inaccessible marshes to dwell alone in huts and work until the season ends Feb. 1.

Muskrats are the principal prey of the trappers who this year will catch about 4,000,000 of the creatures. The pelts have sold as high as $1.25 each; this year the price is running around 40 cents.

For their labor and the work of their wives and children the trappers will receive possibly about $750 each. The rest of the year they do nothing.

It is not all so tranquil as that, though: the trappers, being poor, rarely are their own bosses. The state owns 500,000 acres, which are worked by the men on a 50-50 basis. Other millions of acres are controlled by a few companies whose buyers travel through the swamplands purchasing the skins from the trappers working under contract.

BY-LAWS PASSED

One of the strongest delegations ever to represent Hastings County will leave for Toronto in the near future where it will present a petition to the Ontario Department of Highways, requesting that body to formally take over the Belleville-Madoc road as a provincial highway.

There was a decided note of unanimity among council members when the matter was brought to their attention by Warden John L. Churcher at the closing session of the January sitting of the county body yesterday.

In view of the fact, the warden said, that owing to war conditions and lack of facilities for trans-oceanic travel, Canada this year would be the recipient of the heaviest tourist business in its history. And it was only fair to expect that Hastings County should have its share. But if travel accommodations, highways and roads leading to the vacation centres of the district are not passable, then it would not be reasonable to expect a great influx of tourists to this part of Canada.

Chamber of Commerce to Co-operate

He had, he said, received the assurance of the total co-operation of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce in the placing of pressure on governmental departments to get the highway in question placed in the provincial roads system. It was his personal feeling, he said, to accept the offer of co-operation from the city bodies. He urged council to send the strongest representation possible.

Deputy Reeve George Jordan of Hungerford told council that all the pressure possible should be brought to bear on the Department of Highways in an effort to have the highway transferred to the provincial system. "The more pressure, the quicker the result," he said, adding that he felt the time was opportune."

Reeve Charles Rush, Hungerford, said that "if ever a piece of legislation was needed, it is the one referred to. "But," he said, "we want more than pressure. We want the wholehearted co-operation of every individual in this body and others as well."

The road in question was a disgrace to the county. Reeve Robson, Thurlow, stated. "There has been absolutely nothing done about fixing this highway and it is high time that it was".

Reeve William Linn of Marmora, expressed the opinion that "just before the next provincial election comes along, the road will be taken over by government to get votes".

A motion to the effect that the County Clerk be instructed to communicate with the Belleville Cnamber of Commerce and the Belleville City Council regarding the co-operation of those bodies in the county's efforts to have the highway taken over by the Department of Highways, carried unanimously.

Express Appreciation

Prior to adjournment of council until June, Warden Churcher asked the five new members to express their opinions of the work done at this their first session. The representatives expressed their appreciation of the fine reception accorded them and the co-operation given by the veterans of the council. All voiced their whole-hearted thanks for the generous way they had been treated by warden, officials and other members.

The Warden in his closing remarks added his appreciation of the work done by council during the session. "It has been a very happy time", he said "and I want to express my personal thanks for the co-operation which has been 100 per cent by the members of this my first council. The success of this session has not been because of the efforts of your warden, the credit must go to the help and co-operation shown me by the members".

By-Laws Passed

By-laws providing for the year's work received their last reading yesterday while the following grants to the northern municipalities were ordered paid. School grant of $800 to the North Hastings Inspectorate by the old boundary; $90 to the poor schools of Elzevir; $225.00 to the poor schools of North Hastings. To Bangor Township, $450.00; Monteagle $600.00; Carlow, $300; Faraday, $300; Dungannon, $300; Mayo, $300; Wollaston, $300; Limerick, $300; Tudor, $300; Lake and Wollaston Boundary Road $200.; and Elzevir $200.

Other grants included $150 to the Belleville Corps of the Salvation Army; $150 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and $25 to the Ontario Conservation and Reforestation Association, London, Ontario.

R.A. Reid, President Of Shannonville Agric. Society

Shannonville, —The annual meeting of the Shannonville Agricultural Society was held at the home of its secretary-treasurer, Mr. K. R. Vivian on Wednesday evening, with the directors and their wives in attendance. During the early part of the evening the report of the past year was read by the Secretary, Mr. Vivian, which proved to be very satisfactory. Although much extra expense was curtailed during the past year what with two of their buildings being destroyed by the wind, electric lights being installed, and other improvements being made the fair still made a profit which is due in no small part to the energy and initiative shown by the fair board officials. Following the business period an enjoyable social period was held which was presided over by Mrs. K. R. Vivian in her usual charming manner.

The personnel of the fair board for 1940 is as follows —President, Mr. R. A. Reid; 1st Vice President, Mr. Lorne Lazier; 2nd Vice President, Mr. Fred Barlow; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. K. R. Vivian.

Honorary Lady Directors — Mrs. Lorne Lazier, Mrs. K. R. Vivian, Mrs. R. A. Reid, Mrs. Herbert Houston, Mrs. Clarence Long, Mrs. Sidney Fitzgerald, Mrs. Percy Moore, Mrs. Harry Sine, Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Morris Reid, Mrs. Fred Barlow, Mrs. John Larone, Mrs. Arnold Mitchell, Mrs. Robert MacFarlane, Mrs. Robert Little, Mrs. John Blatherwick, Mrs. Elmer Vivian.

Honorary Presidents — Charles A. Cameron, M.P., Dr. H. E. Welsh, M.L.A., R. D. Arnott, K.C., M.L.A., J. S. Kerr, Thomas Vivian, John Barlow, Albert Mark, W. S. Dies.

Auditors—Mr. J. F. MacFarlane, and Dr. H. E. Eckhardt.

In a fast and exciting hockey game the Point Anne Flyers defeated the Shannonville Hawks by the score of 7-4. The Shannonville boys put up a hard fight but due to the fact that they were shorthanded they could not stave off a last period attack by the Point Anne boys which resulted in three goals and ultimate victory. The game was cleanly played with only one penalty being dished out by referee Josh Maracle, and that to Lorne Maracle for tripping. Shannonville seems to have a fairly well-balanced team this year and much good hockey should be witnessed by local fans.

The line-ups—

Point Anne—goal, James Brant, defence, Bob Hull and Murney Green; forwards, Phil Loft, Arthur Genereaux, "Nick" Scero, subs, Stan Luffman, etc.

Mr. John Houston is seriously ill at his home and his many friends in this community hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Carman Spencer Jr., of the R.C.A.F. Station, Trenton, is spending a two week's leave at his home in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. James MacFarlane, Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacFarlane were Saturday evening guests of Mrs. Jack Kent.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Sherry and infant son, John, were Sunday tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Macfarlane.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kerr prominent residents of the village recently celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary. The occasion was spent quietly with their many friends calling at their home to offer their felicitations and hopes for many future anniversaries.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. MacFarlane prominent merchants of the village recently celebrated their thirty-seventh wedding anniversary and the day was spent quietly with their friends calling and extending their felicitations.

Miss Daisy Ellen Kent celebrated her eighth birthday on Thursday and during the evening a large number of her young friends were her guests at an enjoyable birthday party. During the evening games were played and at the conclusion af the games a delightful birthday dinner was served by Mrs. Kent, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the little guests. Miss Daisy Ellen was the recipient of many beautiful presents.

The Women's Guild of Trinity Church, Shannonville, held a pot luck dinner and a quilting at the home of Mrs. Harriet Topping of Marysville on Thursday. There were 28 present at the dinner. In the afternoon a quilt was quilted and business of the day attended to and a social-hour spent. Every one having a most enjoyable day and Mrs. Toppings was thanked for her hospitality.

Mr. Finley Elmey, Miss Ina Elmey and Miss Helen Elmey of Deseronto, were Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Robertson.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Waddingham and family were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Robertson and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Robertson.

REG MONCRIEFF CHOSEN CHAIRMAN EDUCATION BOARD

Veteran Member of Body Not Opposed for Important Post

REPORTS RECEIVED

Standing Committees for Year Appointed at Inaugural Meeting

Veteran member of the body, Mr. Reg. Moncrieff, was appointed chairman of the Belleville Board of Education at the 1940 inaugural meeting held in the board room last night. Chairman Moncrieff was the unanimous choice of his colleagues, nominations being declared closed as soon as his name was formally presented. The new chairman was escorted to the chair by Trustees E. A. Geen and C. L. Hyde.

In a brief inaugural address, Mr. Moncrieff told the Board that he had no intention of changing the policy of the body. "The people of Belleville are satisfied with it, and I feel that it should continue. We must keep expenses down during the war time, some people call it economy, but if we have efficiency then economy will follow."

"I will do the best I can to merit the confidence placed in me," Chairman Moncrieff concluded, thanking his colleagues for the honor bestowed upon him.

Chairmen Appointed

With the new chairman presiding the board formally appointed the chairmen of the various committees for the coming year. These include—School Management Committee, Rev. A. B. Payne; Finance, H. B. Fetterley; Supplies, John Deacon; Property, C. L. Hyde; Collegiate and Auditorium, Dr. Kinnear; Queen Alexandra, Dr. Locke; King George School, John Deacon; Queen Mary School, F. R. Wotten; Queen Victoria School, Dr. Kinnear; Vocational, the Chairman of the Board and Messrs. Cushing, Deacon, Geen, Pinkle, Sisler, Stiver and W. J. Harrison; Secretary-Treasurer J. B. Findlay; Library Board for a three-year-term, Miss Helen Potter, Truant Officer, Fred W. Wiggins.

Reports of various committees and the school nurse were read and adopted by the board. Principal P. C. MacLaurin, in his report informed the Board that a number of repairs would be necessary in various schools of the city. The Board immediately concurred in a resolution to meet on Wednesday afternoon and inspect the various schools in a body.

1,000 Registered at Collegiate

Since last fall, the principal's report stated, one thousand pupils had been registered in the day school with an average attendance for the four months of 97.25 per cent. and two hundred in the night classes with an average attendance of 70 per cent.

Discussion that preceded a resolution to give permission to the city service clubs to use the playgrounds for the purpose of erecting public rinks for children of the city, revealed that last year additional liability insurance premiums were necessary and the matter was accordingly dropped. The Board however went on record as granting permission to the club for the purpose outlined, with the condition that the organizations operating the rinks would carry the necessary insurance.

Another motion placed the repairs to school office typewriters in the hands of the School Supplies Committee with the necessary power to act.

65 Automobiles Burned at Grand Haven

Grand Haven, Mich., Jan. 20 —(AP)—Fanned by a strong Lake Michigan wind, flames destroyed two buildings in downtown Grand Haven today, endangering much of the business district before they were brought under control.

The two-storey Western Union building, and a garage housing approximately 65 automobiles were destroyed. Firemen estimated the damage at $65,000.

STUDEBAKER BEATS ALL OTHER CARS

IN GILMORE-YOSEMITE ECONOMY SWEEPSTAKES

Conducted under American Automobile Association supervision

Studebaker wins first, second and third place in this official economy test....no other car ever did this before!

Studebaker Champion
35.03 MILES PER IMP. GAL.

Studebaker Commander
29.66 MILES PER IMP. GAL.

Studebaker President
28.08 MILES PER IMP. GAL.

ON January 4, 1940, in the great Gilmore-Yosemite Economy Sweepstakes, Studebaker's three famous cars finished first, second and third—ahead of all cars of all prices and sizes!

This is the most outstanding economy triumph ever scored by any one line of cars. Last year, with two cars entered, Studebaker won two of the first three places in the Sweepstakes—this year with three cars entered, Studebaker finished one—two—three! And each of the three Studebaker's entered—President, Commander and Champion—won first place in its price class!

For the second year in a row, the Studebaker Commander won the coveted Sweepstakes Trophy. And the new Studebaker Champion, with an official 35.03 miles per Imperial gallon, proved itself 17% to 29% superior in gas economy to the three other leading lowest price cars.

All competing cars were driven by expert drivers and you cannot expect to match these records in everyday motoring. But they offer convincing evidence that you'll get the utmost in gasoline saving in any 1940 Studebaker you buy.

Come in today and drive one of these Studebakers—easy terms.

First Shipment of New Ford Tractors Arrive in City

The first large shipment of new Ford Tractor with Ferguson wheelless implements for local distribution has arrived at Trudeau Motor Sales authorized Ford Dealer for Belleville district.

The shipment consisted of six tractors and a stock of Ferguson wheelless implements including ploughs and two types of cultivators, which are controlled by the built-in hydraulic mechanism.

Mr. Trudeau is optimistic regarding business possibilities with this new type mechanized farm equipment. He states that it is designed to meet the requirements of the majority of farmers and that it is so simple, effective and economical in operation that it should sell readily.

The new Ford Tractor will be formally introduced on January 25th. Arrangements are already underway for demonstrations of the new tractor and implements on local farms as soon as conditions permit, said Mr. Trudeau. Farmers will be invited to attend these demonstrations where they can gain first hand knowledge of this different kind of power farming.

"The most revolutionary feature of the new Ford Tractor is the power and traction it develops although it weighs only about 2,000 pounds. The hydraulic control and special coupling makes it possible to use this lightweight tractor for heavy jobs such as ploughing with two bottoms. Because dead weight is not needed for traction such work can be done on one gallon of fuel an hour with average soil conditions," said Mr. Trudeau.

PERSONALS

ENGAGEMENT NOTICE

Mr. and Mrs. A. MacDonald, Trenton, Ontario, wish to announce the engagement of their only daughter, Hedy Margaret to Mr. Harold Huffman, only son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Huffman of Belleville.

Mrs. P. J. Lee, Misses Helen and Patricia Lee, Messrs. Edward and Frank Lee were in Grafton today, attending the Lee-Drumm wedding.

The condition of Mrs. Joseph Jones who is confined to her home at 94 East Moira Street, through illness remains about the same.

About forty members of the Association of Anglican Sunday School Teachers enjoyed an interesting supper meeting held last evening in St. Thomas' Parish House. Representatives attended from St. George's, St. Paul's, St. John's, Christ Church and St. Thomas' Sunday Schools. Rev. Rural Dean A. Beauchamp Payne presided and ideas for increasing interest in Sunday School were discussed.

The hospitality of the Ontario School for the Deaf, the scene of many interesting social events in the past, was again extended to a large number of residents of the city last evening, when the Association of Teachers and Instructors of the Deaf entertained at an informal dance and bridge. Everything had been carefully planned for the enjoyment of the many guests and the event proved a splendid success. The visitors were welcomed to the school by Mr. W. J. Morrison, superintendent and Mrs. Morrison, Mr. Frank Cunningham, president of the Association and by the patronesses, Miss C. Ford, Mrs. A. Wannamaker, Miss E. Nurse, Miss C. Maloney, Miss E. Panter, Miss L. Carroll and Miss H. Keeler. Arrangements for the dance were carried out by various committees, under Miss M. Waite, convener of the Social Committee, and Mr. E. B. Lally, secretary-treasurer of the Association. Bridge was played in the spacious sewing room and the prizes were win by Mrs. Waldorf, Trenton and Mr. A. Boynton for high scores. The sealed score prize was won by Miss Rita Fitzgerald while the lucky prizes were won by Miss Bessie Soutar and Mr. T. J. Flurey. In the Assembly Room of the school dancing took place, with the Commodores nine-piece orchestra providing an excellent dance program. Supper was served in the dining room which presented a charming picture with streamers in the school colors of gold and green forming an artistic background. Tea tables were centred with Spring flowers in pastel shades with tapers in deeper tones. Following supper dancing continued until two o'clock.

BRIDGE STREET W.A.

The January meeting of the Women's Association of Bridge Street United Church was held January 18, with an attendance of over ninety. Owing to the winter school the meeting was held a week previous to their regular date. Mrs. Hyde, president, presided. The Secretary's and Treasurer's reports were very gratifying, the treasury showing a surplus over preceding year.

The Nominating Committee brought in a full slate of officers,—

President, Mrs. C. Hyde.

1st Vice President—Mrs. A. May.

2nd Vice President—Mrs. H. Muir.

3rd Vice President—Mrs. H. Ackerman.

Rep. V.O.N.—Mrs. Foley, Mrs. Roblin.

Press Rep.—Mrs. J. Boyd.

Unit Leaders—Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Correll, January; Mrs. Moon, Mrs Morgan, February; Mrs. Gilroy, Mrs. Dixon, March; Mrs. Clapp, Mrs. Clark, April; Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Sargeant, May; Miss Corbett, Mrs. Moshier, June; Mrs. Hibbard, Mrs. Massey, September; Mrs. Finkle, Mrs. Hefkey, October; Mrs. May, Mrs. Semple, November.

The Nominating Committee chosen for 1940, Mrs. Sisler, Mrs. Ackerman, Mrs. J. Cook.

Dr. Semple addressed the new executive as to the importance and what was expected of the Society as in the manual of the church and congratulated the Society on such a successful year's work.

Hymn, "Take My Life and let it be", was sung followed by short prayer by Dr. Semple.

Mrs. Fox's unit then took charge.

Mrs. Thomas gave the Scripture reading. Mrs. Correll gave a reading "What is Prayer", followed by The Lord's Prayer in unison. Mrs. Manore gave two readings, which were greatly enjoyed and appreciated. Meeting closed with singing "O God Our Help" followed by Mizpah Benediction after which a membership tea was served by Mrs. Fox's unit.

Realize Fine Sum For Milk Fund

Picton, Jan. 20.—The fine sum of $85 was realized by the community teas sponsored by the H. and S. Club on Thursday afternoon to raise money for their milk fund.

More than one hundred ladies attended the tea at the home of Mrs. Gordon Walmsley, Main street east. The guests were admitted by little Barbara Nourse and were received in the living room by Mrs. Walmsley and Mrs. Charles Spencer. A cheerful grate fire brightened the living room. The fee was taken by Mrs. D. Fournia, while the guests were invited to the dining room by Mrs. Reg. Nourse. The tea table was very attractively arranged with a silver basket of daffodils over a lace cloth, and yellow and green candles in silver sticks. Mrs. P. A. Van de Water and Mrs. Geo. Cook poured, while the assistants were Mrs. J. H. Walmsley, Mrs. J. B. Creeggan and Mrs. Lyle Wood. The plates were replenished by Mrs. Monte Shannon. Similar teas were held at the homes of Mrs. A. H. Walton, Mrs. P. Webster and Mrs. W. G. Grothier.

Mr. Frank Wager has returned to his work as manager of the Fair grocery after being ill at his home for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Will Haggerty continues ill at her home near Cherry Valley and under the care of a trained nurse.

Among those who have recently enlisted with the P. E. and Hastings County Regiment are Jimmy Davies, Wm. Gordon, Keith Rose, Percy Bongard, Jimmy Bird, Dr. P. A. Scott and Dr. C. A. Brownson of Bloomfield.

Mrs. Vernon Lockwood, Reg. N., is one of those who will lecture at the classes of St. John's Ambulance Corps which open in Picton next week.

Mrs. Lance Nethery has gone to Toronto where she has taken an apartment for the winter.

Mrs. Mills of Toronto has come to Picton to be at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Hepburn, who with Mr. Jas. Hepburn is spending some weeks at the Park Plaza, Toronto.

Master Neil Saunders, Bloomfield Road, returned to his home yesterday, after being very seriously ill in P.E. County Hospital for the past three weeks following an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. E. H. McLean entertained four tables of guests at bridge at her home, Main street east, Thursday afternoon, later taking her guests to the H. and S. Club tea at the home of Mrs. Gordon Walmsley.

Every room in the local hospital is in use, and it is very hard to get a doctor in Picton owing to a large number of cases of 'flu. The soldiers at the armouries are among those hardest hit by the epidemic.

HOUSEHOLD HINT

Here is a new use for those leftover canned fruit juices: Quarter and peel some apples, simmer them until tende rin peach, apricot, pear or pineapple juice. Add a little cinnamon and cloves and serve warm or cold as a meat of fowl garnish. Chilled, they make a refreshing salad combined with diced lettuce and salad dressing. Put in a few broken nuts for crunchiness.

PEGGY CRERAR MARRIED AT ALDERSHOT

Lieut. A. Z. Palmer, of the Canadian Field Artillery, son of Mrs. A. Z. and the late Col. Palmer, Ottawa, Canada, is pictured with his bride, the former Peggy Crerar, daughter of Brig.-Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, Chief of Staff at the Canadian military headquarters in England, as they left St. George's, Aldershot Garrison Church, after they were married. Trumpeters of the Royal Military College of Music, Keller Hall, stand behind them.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Introduction of Relatives-in-Law

That "in-law" label need not be an introduction bugaboo. Remember, that in making introductions the words we use are not nearly as important as the way we say them.

Usually, too, there is an alternative that you may use, a form that can be said more easily and with more warmth of tone. For instance, a mother introducing her son's wife may say, "John's wife" or "my daughter-in-law". Or the daughter-in-law may prefer to say "John's mother" or "My husband's mother" instead of "my mother-in-law". Or, instead of "My sister-in-law", you might prefer to say my brother Howard's wife".

Serving The Guest

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

1—From which side of the guest should the plate be removed, and from which side should the dessert be served?

2—Where should the salad fork be placed? The iced-tea spoon?

L.

2. The salad fork, whether the salad is served as a separate course or as an accompaniment of the roast course, is placed at the left of the plate. The iced-tea spoon may be placed either at the extreme right of the plate, or, if you prefer, above the plate, with the handle toward the right.

Maid of Honor's Gown

Dear Mrs. Beeckman,

I am to be maid of honor at my sister's wedding, which is to be an informal afternoon wedding. My sister is wearing a white tranparent velvet dress. I would like to wear a gold lame dress (floor length) with sleeves. Do you consider this appropriate?

M.

It is the bride of course, who is the one to make the decision about what she wishes her attendant to wear. But I feel sure that your sister will feel as I do, that if you wear a gold lame dress such as you describe, your costume will be appropriate and lovely as a background for the bride's dress.

A Matter of Choice

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

Will you please tell me how many months before my marriage it is proper to announce the date set for the wedding?

R.

There isn't any rule about how long before the wedding the date may be announced. When the date has been decided, the couple may tell their relatives and friends if they wish. Or they may wait to reveal the date when the invitations are sent out. It's entirely a matter of choice and convenience.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Seen a Happiness Chart?

If you're getting ready for an early marriage, because that impetuous lover of yours simply won't wait another six months, you've probably made all the usual preparations.

Clothes? Oh, you've never even dreamed of having so many. And all designed to please one lucky man.

Housekeeping outfit? The family have seen to that. They have to.

But frocks and saucepans aren't the whole of marriage. How about a Happiness Chart? Have you consulted one?

Perhaps you've never even heard of this scheme for determining the future happiness of bridal couples. Two university professors have spent six years in studying more than five hunded marriages. They believe they've discovered just what qualities in a bride and bridegroom, just what conditions in their early histories, are most favorable to success in marriage. The results have been tabulated and published in one of the women's magazines. These constitute a Happiness Chart and all you have to do is consult it.

"But we love each other!" you will probably say. "Jim adores me and I simply idolize Jim. Our marriage is certain to be a heaven on earth. We can't conceive of anything but perfect bliss from the moment we leave the church door and belong to each other forever. What can anyone know about us who has never even seen us? And with happiness itself within our reach, why in the world should we consult a chart?"

Well, my dears, love is necessary to a perfect marriage. Love is something there can't be too much of. To me, nothing is so sweet, so profoundly moving, as young lovers' belief in each other. I'm the last person in the world to belittle love.

But it's true, nevertheless, that most happy marriages do depend in part on other elements besides love. Shall I give you a hint of one or two of them?

According to the professors' chart, it helps a great deal to have had happily married parents. And that's easy to believe. To have had plenty of brothers and sisters helps also. In such families one doesn't get spoiled.

Long engagements are safer than short. The lovers have a chance to prove their faithfulness, and the fact that they know their minds. Regular incomes, however small, are safer than variable ones. Easier on the nerves, we all know that.

But here is something you might not expect. Among desirable professions for a husband, that of chemical engineer ranks highest. An engineer, it seems, is practically certain to make home happy. And so is a clergyman. As for travelling salesmen, it isn't perhaps entirely a surprise that they rank low.

To my mind, the reason for considering such facts as these is that it's never too late to fortify a weak spot in one's marriage. So far as you can, you should repair the holes in your marital equipments, as you would repair the defects in your house. Keep on believing in love. It's the greatest thing in the world. But give love a chance.

Burrs

Burr's—January thaw took a chill, when on Wednesday morning the thermometer stood at 20 below zero.

Mr. Percy Lough is getting up his wood. Mr. C. L. McFaul and sons and Mr. Gene Hubbs are helping him.

Mr. Donald Parks made several calls on this street on Tuesday.

On Wednesday evening the communities of Crowton, Melville, Burrs and Bowermans assembled at the L.O.L. Hall, Allisonville to do honor to a local young man, Mr. Norman Morden who has enlisted for service overseas for King and Country.

There were four presentations. Mr. E. M. Parks, and Albert Weir, members of Hillier Township Council in a few words expressed their appreciation of Norman as a young citizen of sterling character and of his service to King and country and on behalf of the township of Hillier presented him with a pair of military brushes in a leather case.

The M. B. B. Comrades read an address signed on behalf of the organization by Miss Beth Davis and presented Norman with a fountain pen and pencil set.

On behalf of the community he was presented with a handsome wrist watch. An address signed by Stanley Werden, Harold Cross, Kenneth Wood and Murney Parks was read in his honor.

Mushroom Favorites

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Lent will soon be here, and it behooves us to consider meals that are meatless yet satisfying, toothsome and nutritious. The good cook makes splendid dishes out of macaroni, does marvels with vegetables, and has new ideas when it comes to fish dishes. One of the favorite foods is the mushroom. There are marvelous canned varieties to augment the fresh mushrooms that are nearly always in the market.

The mushroom is popular in all countries, so there are many international musrroom ideas. In the Balkans, cooks peel the mushroom heads, sprinkle with salt, pepper and a little flour, and put in a casserole with two ounces butter to each pound. These are cooked slowly until tender. Then they pour over some sour cream and continue cooking slowly for fifteen minutes more.

If you want to try the Belgium method, melt three ounces butter in a pan with the juice of half a lemon. When simmering, put in a pound of small, peeled mushrooms. Stir for three or four minutes but do not let them turn black. Boil quickly for five minutes (the mushrooms are now soaked in butter and will not burn), then take out the mushrooms with a strainer. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour, return to sauce pan, cook for ten minutes more, and then stir in an egg youk. Pile mixture on hot buttered toast.

The Turkish Manner.

A Turkish recipe: Put in a sauce pan one-half pint each of cooked rice and chopped, cold, cooked mushrooms, two chopped hard-boiled eggs, a small chopped onion, a pinch of spice and a gill of tomato puree. Heat over a strong flame. When cool, fill little pastry shells with the mixture. Bake, and serve hot.

Fashion Flashes

THE OPERA brought out more evening gloves than ever this season. A lovely glove is of soft white doeskin with a piping of gold kidskin down the back and around the scalloped edges.

Small trifles help make a big costume. There is charm in a snood and muff of green velvet. The full, shirred hood and the round, fat little full are covered with green velvet bows.

Happy hours in a lovely housecoat; that's home comfort. A lovely model is in glowing red crepe with drapped dolman sleeves and a wide wasp waistband and a slide fastener.

The casual note is present in many luxury fur creations this season. Cut just like a riding coat, tight at the waist with a slight flare across the hips in back, is a hip-length coat of white ermine.

Point up your winter costume with a white hat. A beautiful toque is of white felt with little black silk knots all over and a sweep of black coq feathers in back.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, January 21

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds omens of a conflicting nature, with the personal relations giving unrest or concern, despite their activity. While there may be gayety, good fellowship and pleasure trips, there are certain dangers or upset plans. These call for discretion and prudent readjustments. Be alert to accidents.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of contradictory circumstances to cope with. While there will be much activity, desirable change and moderate progress with social or affectional relations holding happy promise, as well, there are menaces of deceit, treachery and probable accident or other sudden misadventure. Use wise and circumspect behavior in equivocal places.

A child born on this day, although talented, enterprising, bold and adventurous, with much personal charm and geniality, may have certain trends toward deceit and treachery, inviting kindred reactions and sufferings from its fellows.

For Monday, January 22

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a particularly lively and strenuous day, with much progress to be made by shrewd, even drastic and high pressure methods. Yet, the best endeavors seem beset by dangers of loss, possibly by confused ideas, duplicity or fraud. It may take tact, intrigue or strategy to circumvent trickery.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which success, happiness and prosperity may depend upon their native shrewdness, prudence and diplomacy, since there are omens of fraud deception and secret enmities undermining business as well as personal relations. Precaution, vigilance and stratagem may circumvent sinister undercurrents.

A child born on this day may have much adaptability and talent, with keen imagination and quick intuitions everthing much deception in its life.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

A New War Danger

The war in Europe is striking at us in a new way. It is threatening us with a shortage of cod liver oil.

I know that the first reaction of many who read this will be "so what?" They will hardly regard it as news over which very many persons are likely to worry. But there are many of us who are more than a little concerned over this news for we see in it a menace to our national health.

I suppose this last statement will be deprecated by the skeptical-minded, but nevertheless it is true. I have always staunchly insisted that to the children of this continent, cod liver oil is a necessity in winter. I wouldn't let a child of mine go without it. I know what it has done for hundreds of children, I know what it did for the Dionne Quintuplets.

If our supplies of cod liver oil are cut off or curtailed, then there will certainly be an increase in sickness amongst children. This I am sure of and so I think it would be foolish not to look on the cod liver oil shortage as a very serious thing.

The reason we face this shortage is that most of our cod liver oil comes across the Atlantic. Over there a large proportion of the ships are under government control and so are not available for commercial traffic. Those freight ships that are in service are in such great demand and are under such expense that preference is given to the most urgent and best paying cargoes.

There is another controlling factor also. Governments have commandered factories and are keeping the supplies at home. This is what happened at Hull, England, where a very large plant is located. The British government is taking all the oil produced. It is also taking over large amounts of the oil produced in Newfoundland. Newfoundland is one of the main producers in North America. Now its domestic customers must look elsewhere for supplies.

About the only remaining source of the oil open to us today is Norway. Luckily for us, Norwegian oil has the reputation for being a very superior product so that what we do get will be the best in the world. But here the difficulties in the way of shipping become a factor and so we cannot look forward with much confidence to dependable supply of the oil from Norway either. It may even come to pass that it will be dragged into the war as Finland was.

The biggest needs for cod liver oil come in the late fall and the winter, when we use it as a substitute for sunlight. Most of the importers do not bring their shipments in until early fall. The outbreak of war in late August cut off much of this year's shipments and many domestic suppliers are already short of the oil.

The Quintuplets each get a teaspoon of cod liver oil morning and evening every day in winter. In the morning they get it with six ounces of orange juice as soon as they get up, while they are dressing. In the evening they get it just before supper. It has done wonders for them. I hope that nothing happens to prevent them and other children from being deprived of it.

Time Out to Relax

LARAINE DAY . . . . finds time every day for relaxing.

By HELEN FOLLETT

IS TIME at your heels, making you tear through the day at top speed? Do you hustle the papa off in the morning, get the kids ready for school, order groceries, go to see old Aunt Jane, get 40 telephone calls, mend clothes, dig out closets, keep on going until you fall into bed? That's the routine of many of the sisters. It isn't giving oneself a fair deal. Sometimes during the day one should flop down, close the eyes, chase worries from the mind, pull oneself together.

Half an hour of rest will do more for a tired woman's face than all the cosmetics churned up in laboratories. Women who look ten years younger than they are and fool people into thinking they are their own daughters are the ones who know how to relax. They arrange a balance of work and rest, which every woman with a grain of sense in her head should do.

No man could stand up under the job of housekeeping and child tending. Office work is pie beside it. In the home it is the same old routine. It crushes some of us. But that won't do. A little self-indulgence is a practical health law. When Mom plays out, everything goes haywire. Mom must stay young in looks and spirit.

Beauty experts stress the splendid results of relaxation. When you get a facial, they insist that you go limp. Think it over, you drive-yourself girls. You'll get just as much done in the long run if you don't run quite so fast.

Not a pleasant topic, this, but we have to consider the problem of feet that are moist. Nervousness is a common cause, a depleted constitution is another one.

Here is something to remember. When bathing footies, use clear water first; it removes chemicals that form when perspiration dries on the skin. Friction the flesh. Then use soap suds and a brush. Sponge the skin surface with a soda solution, one teaspoonful of ordinary baking soda dissolved in a cup of water.

Change stockings daily. Put a little borax in the last rinsing water when washing them, and don't iron.

Revival of Crafts in Canada Advocated by Miss Gaultier

EXHIBIT INSPECTED

Bringing to members of the club the beauties of art and music that are peculiarly Canadian, the folk heritage of three races Indian, Eskimo and French, Miss Juliette Gaultier de la Verendrye an earnest student of the Dominions early culture delighted the Canadian Club yesterday afternoon in her address in Bridge Street United Church parlors. Her avocation is the searching out of Canada's treasures of folk songs and handicrafts, a search that has taken her to France where her work was acclaimed at the Paris Exposition and her assistance sought by the Alliance Francaise.

She has been particularly interested in the dramatic history of Acadia and in the fascinating pursuit of data of the early life of these settlers, she has been delighted to find, that the descendants of these people, in the most outlying districts of the Maritimes have preserved perfectly the legends, the music, and particularly, the language of their ancestors. So pure a French is spoken by these who are proud to tell the inquirer that they are Acadians that research workers from the French Academy have come to Canada to gain first hand knowledge of their speech. Their French is that of the chateau country, of the court of France. Those who are born in its tradition have kept sacred the language that is theirs and Canada, today, has the language that has been lost to France, and the songs that have disappeared from her music.

Not Aware of Facts

Those who say that the French language spoken in Canada is "abominable" are certainly not aware of facts, Miss Gaultier claims.

The speaker gave an engrossing description of her exhibit at the Paris Exposition. She brought her own house and a ton and a half of belongings to France for a display that showed how the people of Canada had preserved the ancient crafts of the French provinces, and the contribution the Eskimo and the Indian had made to the Dominion's art, music and legend. The people of France and of Europe were fascinated by what they saw and heard, and museums in the Old World are eager to obtain examples of the true, primitive Canadian culture. Miss Gaultier deplored the fact that indifference, or perhaps ignorance, of Canada's wealth of folk crafts was responsible for the rapid disappearance of its early arts. She urged her hearers to become "handicraft conscious" and to awaken to the realization that Canada has in her folk lore a precious and valuable possession.

Art Authentic, Original

"We have in Canada the finest school of traditional handicrafts, she pointed out. "I do not mean the modernized horrors that are placed before the tourist. I mean the work that is still being done in the outlying districts, the spinning and weaving, the designing that carries out the ancient motifs of past generations in an art that is authentic and original."

Canada has some ten thousand folk songs, the Eskimo and Indian songs going back one thousand years. To secure these beautiful compositions Miss Gaultier has travelled throughout Canada, and has even gone to France to trace up the songs which are part of Acadian tradition. Her descriptions of the customs and costumes of the French provinces enthralled her listeners.

Possessed of a charming voice, Miss Gaultier's recital of French, Eskimo and English folk songs was a particularly interesting part of her program. One heard shepherd songs, cradle songs and dancing songs of Acadia, Eskimo incantations and Indian traditional music. There was a song for everything in the early days, and Canada's first inhabitants seemed to have worked and danced and sung with the joy that comes from industry and sincerity.

Exhibits Inspected

To complete an afternoon of deep pleasure, the speaker invited the audience to inspect her exhibits which contained articles hand made in Canada with the skill of the master craftsman, and the traditional costumes of France.

Beautiful shawls of Canadian wool that will endure for forty years were outstanding in the exhibit.

Unique with the North American Indian is the art of "bitten" design. Incredibly beautiful designs were done by an old Indian woman whose gift made her one of the most interesting people at the Paris Exposition. Bark work a more enduring and beautiful example of Indian craft than beadwork which has become too modernized to retain its value was displayed, side by side with the exquisite headdress the coiffe of Old France. These Watteau costume details are marvellous examples of needlework and so intricate is their arrangement that they take from three to four days to iron. Fragile and delicate they are the glory of their wearers who today dress in the same picturesque fashion of their ancestors.

Miss Gaultier, who was a picturesque figure herself in the authentic costume of the Evangeline country made a sincere plea to the women to encourage the upkeep of the traditional arts and crafts that are wholly Canadian.

Mrs. C. E. Argue who had welcomed the speaker to the club expressed appreciation of her address on behalf of her hearers. Afternoon tea was served at the close of the meeting.

WAR BRIEFS

London, Jan. 20—(CP)— An anonymous gift of $1,000 has been sent by a Canadian woman for the families of victims of the sinking by German submarines of the British aircraft carrier Courageous and the battleship Royal Oak, the Royal Naval Benevolent Trust announced today.

The man who forwarded the money on her behalf wrote: "Her deep sympathy for the men of the Royal Navy and their wives and families, and her appreciation of the work the Royal Navy is doing in these critical times, as expressed in her gift, are symptomatic of the feelings of the people of Canada in general."

Stockholm, Jan. 20 —(AP) — The Labor newspaper Social Demokraten reported today that police had uncovered an elaborate espionage organization for the reporting of Swedish troop movements and industrial activities by short wave radio to an unnamed "foreign power." It said numerous arrests were made.

Brussels, Jan. 20—(AP)— Military leaves, cancelled a week ago upon rumors of impending invasion, were restored today.

London, Jan. 20—(CP)— The British Government's reply to the United States' protest of Dec. 27 against British censorship of American mails is to be published tomorrow.

Paris, Jan. 20—(AP)—It was four degrees below zero fahrenheit here today, the coldest day in 23 years.

London, Jan. 20—(CP)—Workers in three or four British factories turning out warplanes, protesting against wage and other grievances, took a half holiday today and faced the loss of half-day's pay. Their unions had refused to sanction it.

RUSSIA CLAIMS ANNIHILATION OF FINNISH BATT.

Action Takes Place on North Shore of Lake Ladoga and Karelian Isthmus

COMMUNIQUE ISSUED

Moscow, Jan. 20 (AP) — The Russian army said today it had "annihilated" a Finnish battalion on the north shore of Lake Ladoga and inflicted "numerous casualties" on the enemy on the Karelian Isthmus.

A communique from the Leningrad headquarters, distributed by Tass, Soviet news agency, declared: "In the Petrozavodsk direction, in the area of Kitela, our reconnoitring group annihilated an enemy battalion which left twenty-six machine guns on the spot."

The report claimed "the enemy suffered numerous casualties" in clashes of advanced units on the Isthmus front. It said Soviet bombers raided military objectives in a number of areas.

(The Finns said fighting continued on the Salla front where Finnish forces and Swedish volunteer airmen were reported harassing 40,000 Russians in retreat around Karkajaervi. The Finnish communique reported the capture of "a few enemy positions" northeast of Lake Ladoga. Unofficial Finnish sources estimated the Russians had lost 204 planes and 434 tanks and armored cars during the seven weeks of the war.)

The Soviet soldier, meanwhile, has been ordered into intense ski training for warfare on the snows, War Commissar Klementi Voroshiloff said in the newspaper "On Guard."

"Trainees must not only learn how to fire under complicated conditions but also be able to solve independently any important problem in battle," he wrote.

SWEDISH AIRMEN DESTROY 6 SOVIET PLANES: LOSE 2

Three Officers and One Non-Commissioned Officer Killed When Planes Collide

SURVIVOR RETURNS

Stockholm, Jan. 20 —(AP) — Headquarters of Swedish volunteer forces in Finland reported today that Swedish airmen already had destroyed at least six Russian planes.

The Swedish fliers went into action in operations carried out in cooperation with Finnish infantry.

The Swedes themselves lost two planes which collided in the air, killing three officers. Another non-commissioned officer who survived the crash made his way back to the Finnish lines on skis, headquarters reported.

V.O.N. TO SEEK FUNDS TO PROVIDE DENTAL SERVICE

Nursing Staff Finds Appalling Need in Many Families for Dental Care

SURVEY MADE

The nursing staff of the Victorian Order of Nurses has noticed in its work the appalling need for dental care in families of the low-wage group as well as those on relief. So greatly concerned were the nurses that they wished to learn something definite of the situation. A survey of a group of representative patients was made through the kind cooperation of the local Dental Society.

The hope now is to have a dental fund subscribed by the community. Already a number of church clubs have made small donations for this purpose. The plan, as explained by Miss Soutar, is to have money to partially assist families who cannot pay all the cost of the dental treatment that is so badly needed. Those interested in making contributions should get in touch with Miss Soutar.

At the request of Miss Soutar of the Victorian Order of Nurses, the dental practitioners of this city undertook a survey of thirty persons chosen at random from the patients of the V.O.N. Every person examined required dental treatment ranging from two fillings and one extraction to seventeen fillings and three extractions, some required the removal of all remaining teeth in order to improve not only their oral but also their general health.

Number of patients referred	30
Number of patients examined	29
Number of prophylaxis	25
treatment	29
Total number of fillings	142
Total number of extractions	121
Total number of full dentures	9
Number of phophylaxis	25

The patient not examined failed to present herself for an examination. The above service is considered essential for the health of the individuals and does not include, partial dentures, bridges and in one case an alveolectomy required (an operation on the upper jaw required to place the mouths in the best condition possible).

The value of the care of the teeth cannot be overemphasized. If a person is to have good health, he must have a healthy mouth. Neglect of oral hygiene is detrimental to one's appearance, it can cause "halitosis" and may result in inferiority complex: loss of teeth may cause lisping, poor hearing and a variety of dental complications: loss of function may result in the bolting of food, a cause of indigestion. It has been proven that dental disease will produce a general condition of ill-health and can cause serious systematic diseases. Despite this approximately 75 per cent of the population seldom visit a dentist and then only when in pain, a time usually too late for corrective and preventative measures. It has been estimated that 90 per cent of the population require dental treatment and this survey, although too small for an accurate estimate, is a verification by showing that 100 per cent of those examined require dental care.

GOERING DECREES CONFISCATION

Entire Property of Former Polish State Taken by Germany

Berlin, Jan. 20 (AP).—The official Law Gazette announced today that Field Marshal Hermann Goering, supreme war economic authority, had decreed confiscation of the entire property of the former Polish State.

The decree, issued Jan. 15, is effective immediately as a basis of introduction of the four-year economic program in the reunited eastern provinces and in keeping with Adolf Hitler's ordinance of last Oct. 12 installing German administration for the occupied Polish regions.

District agents were ordered to report in detail on the status of properties in their areas within one month. Non-compliance is punishable by imprisonment and the death penalty may be invoked if "insubordination against political reorganization" is proved.

Improved Lighting of Main Business Streets to be Sought by Local Merchants

SPECIAL SALE DAYS

Belleville merchants will seek an immediate improvement in the lighting of the main business streets. A resolution was passed at the annual dinner meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association (Belleville Branch), at the Queens Hotel last evening, appointing a delegation to interview the City Council Monday night on the subject. Messrs. Laurie Lewis and Jack McIntosh were named as the committee to place the merchants' views before Council.

The Association elected unanimously J. E. McVeigh, manager of the Kresge store, as their president for 1940. According to custom, the retiring president, Bruce Lattimer, was placed in the office of vice-president. M. R. Doyle was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Members of the 1940 executive committee are: I. E. Shapiro, J. G. Galloway, J. A. McIntosh, R. C. Woodley, L. Lewis, E. Ford, T. C. Lapp, C. T. Dolan, E. Logan, W. Leslie and F. A. Correll.

A large representation of the business men of Belleville sat down to dinner after which retiring President Lattimer briefly reviewed the activities of the association for the past year, particularly he mentioned the Sunday night band concerts, in connection with which a substantial contribution was made to the Salvation Army building fund; the Good Will Tours which promoted a friendly feeling with people of surrounding communities, and the highly successful Santa Claus parade. These and other efforts had brought beneficial results.

Year's Work Reviewed

Mr. Chas. Dolan, chairman of the Programme Committee, assumed charge of the meeting and stressed the value of co-operative efforts on the part of the business men in making Belleville more attractive as a business and recreational centre. He asked for full discussion on a number of projects for the year.

Mr. Russell Woodley outlined the work undertaken in the placing of highway signs at strategic points around the country. A number of signs advertising the advantages of Belleville had been prepared and were now awaiting the spring break-up and Highways Department approval of sites before being erected. One sign is being placed on No. 7 Highway at Actinolite, and others in equally good locations. Five additional signs this year were being planned, including one east of Kingston stressing Belleville as the central point for fishing, hunting and camping expeditions.

Better Lighting System Needed

Mr. Jack McIntosh reviewed the efforts made by the association to secure improved lighting on Front Street. A committee had examined the systems in other comparable centres and brought back definite recommendations which would make downtown Belleville bright and attractive at night. He felt that the new lights should be placed as soon as possible. One advantage would be to attract the increased tourist trade expected in Ontario this summer. Mr. Laurie Lewis gave further information regarding the examination of lighting systems in other cities and steps taken by council in the matter.

"It is 24 years this month since I first came to Belleville," said Mr. George Forhan, "and with one exception I haven't seen as poorly lighted main streets as in Belleville."

Discussion switched to special shopping events and special editions of the Ontario Intelligencer to advertise these events.

"I think we are all agreed that advertising in various aspects brings definite results," asserted Mr. Morley Wyman. "Personally I feel that our expenditures on advertising are fully justified." He stressed the cumulative effect of the special editions which preceded the Santa Claus parade and the Christmas shopping period, and said that some of the advertising then still was bringing people to Belleville.

"We have a magnificent territory from which to draw," Mr. Wyman concluded, "and we should offer them three or four real shopping events each year."

"Dollar Days" Proposed.

A proposal for a period of three "dollar days" on February 15, 16 and 17, was put forward by T. C. Lapp of the Ontario Intelligencer and evoked lengthy discussion, following which a resolution endorsing the project was passed. Further particulars will be made available in a few days.

Mr. Everett Smith emphasized the value of keeping store windows well lighted at night to display goods.

An explanation of Credit Bureau functions was given by the manager, Mr. Douglas Marshall. All such bureaux were under government supervision. In effect, the bureau was the "eyes and ears" of the city, Mr. Marshall asserted. He told of the revised legislation covering Division Court functions in which the expenses of action would be lessened. Provision was being made also for a small debts court dealing with amounts up to $100 and in which the costs would not exceed $3 in a single case.

President Asks For Co-operation.

Following his election to the office of president, Mr. J. E. McVeigh spoke briefly, asking for the co-operation of all the business men of the city in support of the undertakings of the Retail Merchants' Association. He believed that co-operation made for better merchandising and thus brought a definite benefit to the general public. His suggestion of monthly general meetings of the association was approved.

The need for better bus services from Belleville to the airport and to Frankford was discussed. Messrs. M. Wyman and H. Carruthers were appointed a committee to discover what might be done to develop the Frankford bus service.

Another suggestion approved was that when American tourists present U.S. currency in making purchases in Belleville that they should be given exchange at the current rate.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to the retiring president and secretary-treasurer Doyle.

3 One-Act Plays Are Presented By Quaternion Club

Under the auspices of the Quaternion Club there was presented at the Tabernacle United Church rooms on Friday evening a program of three one-act plays. The Second of Thurlow rural section presented two of these, one being "The Census Taker" and the other "The Lost Pickets." In these two plays the Thurlow young people did splendid work. In "The Census Taker," the part of Mrs. Malone was taken by Vera Gray and that of the census taker by Ralph Greatrix. In "The Lost Pickets," the characters and the actors are as follows—Mrs. Mason by Lulu Mitchell, Mr. Mason by John Mundick, Joe Dean by Jack Howe, Jean Gibbs by Ralph Greatrix, Miss Trim by Olga Mundick, Mr. Wilson by Maurice Bent, and Mrs. Smiles by Vera Gray.

These two plays were directed by Miss Helen Thompson, president of the Quaternion Club.

The third play, "Are You Listening?" was put on entirely by the city section of the club. The club will present this play at the drama festival at the winter school here next week. Those taking part did their work well.

The musical part of the program was made up of musical numbers by Mr. Sills on the saw and accordion, vocal numbers by George Shepard and several humorous readings by Reginald Perry.

Mr. Archibald was chairman of the evening.

At the close the Rev. D. T. McClintock moved, seconded by the Rev. R. E. Newman a hearty vote of thanks to those who took part and special thanks to Mr. Greenleaf, of the Canadian Department Store, Queen Alexandra School, Mr. Shorey and Mr. Pinkston.

Patient Registration At Belleville Hospital Establishes New Record

Establishing an all time high record for patients receiving hospitalization at one time, one hundred and fifty-one adults and babies were registered at Belleville Hospital Friday. The reason for the influx which taxed the bed capacity which under governmental regulations is one of 96 beds, was not an epidemic, hospital authorities said, but just the ordinary run of illnesses. Had further accommodation been available a number of patients who were forced through lack of hospital facilities to be turned away, would have been admitted to the institution.

The 151 patients were comprised of 132 adults and 19 babies. Bed facilities for the patients over and above the regular number of beds were created by the installation of additional beds in rooms where only one bed is used and in the corridors.

Crowded conditions have been noted at the hospital for some time and last year the percentage of occupancy was 108. Authorities however, are not refusing patients the facilities of the hospital until conditions absolutely demand it. More bed space is drastically needed, if present conditions prevail, and in the event of an epidemic breaking out, it would be hard to conjecture what would happen in the face of present conditions.

18th Annual Winter School Of Bay Conference

The eighteenth annual winter school of the Bay of Quinte conference will be held at Bridge Street United Church on January 20 to 26. A large number of young people will attend. Rev. Dr. J. Semple of Bridge Street Church will conduct the morning worship program.

The program includes Bible study by the leaders, Rev. J. W. Gordon, Rev. W. T. R. Delve, Rev. Andrew McLachlin and Rev. A. R. Craw. Method of enrichment courses led by Miss Loretta McDougall for recreation by Rev. G. N. Maxwell on the worth of young people in the church and by Rev. T. M. Wesley on "Youth and Marriage." There will be organized visits in the city, skating and other recreation.

There will be special evening programs, including an address by Principal Wallace of Queen's University and reception on Monday evening.

8 OUTSTANDING FIGURE SKATERS TO PERFORM HERE

V. O. N. Carnival to Present Skaters Taking Part in Skating Championships at Ottawa

SPONSORED BY Y'S MEN

At least four of Canada's outstanding figure skaters, who are scheduled to skate at the annual V.O.N. Ice Carnival at the Hume Arena next Friday night, will compete in the Canadian finals of the Dominion figure skating championships at Ottawa today. Those skaters to have advanced to the Dominion junior finals are Shirley Halstead, Margaret Wilson and Peter Killam, of the Toronto Skating Club, and Dennis Ross of the Ottawa Minto Club. All of these skaters, as well as four other high-ranking skaters from Toronto and Ottawa, will appear as feature attractions at Friday night's annual Charity V.O.N. ice carnival, sponsored by the local Y's Men's Club.

Although the fancy and figure skating acts will be the principal performances of the evening's entertainment, a gala display of winter sports wear will be displayed by the Deacon Shirt Company and in termination of a two hour program, the annual primary schools relay ice skating race will take place. This race has taken place annually for many years and is keenly contested by the students of the city schools.

President Harold Vaughan of the sponsoring Y's Men's Club, today announced the names of the skaters to appear at the Hume Arena next Friday night and they include Miss Constance Choquette, Dennis Ross, Miss Andree Choquette and Arthur Nelles of the Minto Skating Club, Ottawa, all of whom compose the "Minto Four." Miss Shirley Halstead, Miss Margaret Wilson, Peter Killam and John Brownson of the Toronto Skating Club. The evening's program will consist of octettes, quartettes, doubles and singles numbers as well as pattern skating features. Seats are rapidly being sold at Bill Cook's news store the pre-sale indicating a capacity house being assured.

Lincoln Elliott Chairman of Tweed Cons. School Board

Tweed (Special) — Tweed Consolidated School Board held its January meeting on Wednesday evening with Messrs. H. S. Tucker, L. Elliott, C. H. Myles, T. C. Graham and C. R. Porritt present. Mr. Tucker, retiring chairman, expressed his appreciation of the board's co-operation during his term of office. Mr. Lincoln Elliott, Farnsworth representative on the board, was the board's unanimous choice for chairman for the current year. Mr. C. R. Porritt was re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Mr. H. W. Crosbie remains the representative of Tweed Consolidated School on the High School Board.

Messrs. T. E. Moffat and S. R. Curry interviewed the board on behalf of Tweed Amusements Ltd. Mr. Moffat spoke of the original purpose for which the covered rink was erected some ten or twelve years ago—to provide the childen of Tweed with a place where they could obtain supervised entertainment and healthful exercise. For some years the rink had not been able to meet its obligations from revenue. The board was asked to make a contribution of thirty dollars to the rink in return for which the school children will be given free skating on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and the use of the rink on Saturday mornings for hockey games.

The Board unanimously approved of the scheme. The Separate School Board will contribute $20. and the High School Board $50. for the same purpose.

Mrs. H. M. Caverley returned to Toronto on Monday after spending a few days with Mrs. Catherine Caverley.

Misses Evelyn Biglow and Winnifred Sabine visited at the former's home in Omemee over the week-end.

Mrs. D. P. Marett spent a couple days last week with her parents in Peterborough.

Mr. Lea Forestell who has been spending the past few months in Toronto returned to his home on Sunday.

TWEED RALLIES TO BEAT STIRLING

Teams Resort to Unsportsmanlike Tactics as Tweed Wins 5-2

Tweed, Jan. 20 (Special)— After two periods of very indifferent hockey on the fastest sheet of ice of the season, Tweed staged another of their third period rallies which have become a feature of their games this winter and handed their smart Stirling rivals a 5 to 2 reverse. The game from the standpoint of the crowd, in spite of a local victory, leaves something to be desired. The players of both teams treated (?) the rail-birds to some very unsportsmanship actions. Such things as throwing hockey sticks, shooting the puck into the crowd, when given a penalty don't help the game as far as the crowd is concerned—and after all, it's the crowd that makes hockey possible, in spite of what the players may think.

Penalties were numerous, some probably undeserved, and on at least six occasions the player refused to leave the ice. Tweed and Stirling have smart teams and can play good hockey when the players remember why they are on the ice.

Marsh opened the scoring for Tweed on a pass from Courneyea. Two penalties to Tweed in quick succession left Reeves at the mercy of Stirling sharp shooters and J. Walker beat him from close in. Stirling made it 2 to 1 a few minutes later when Richardson's long shot got under Reeves' guard. The goalie more than made up for that lapse as he kept the visitors off the score sheet for the next forty-five minutes.

Joe Courneyea star local centre, knotted the count shortly after the opening of the second period. This was the only goal of the period, although both goalies had plenty to do.

Courneyea broke the deadlock when Prevost set him up early in the third period. The locals put the game on ice a few minutes later as Prevost soloed through the entire Stirling squad and picked a corner neatly. "Shorty" Long tallied an unnecessary goal when he batted in Wagar's rebound following a ganging attack by Stirling which failed of its purpose. Wagar and Prevost were the fastest men on the ice while the two Walkers' and Armstrong played well for the visitors. Fox in goal, turned in a good game, having no chance to save on any of the shots which beat him while Reeves was spectacular in Tweed net during the last period.

Tweed: Reeves, Orr, Tummon, J. Courneyea, Wagar, Marsh, Prevost, A. Courneyea, Leal, Woodcock, Long.

Referee: A. Wells, Stirling; J Quinn, Tweed.

NAZI NEWSPAPER ATTACK CAUSES SWISS CONCERN

Observers Believe Germany May be Planning Propaganda Campaign Against Switzerland

SHARP REPLIES

Berne, Jan. 20 (AP)—A German newspaper attack, charging a double standard in Swiss neutrality, caused concern in some quarters today that Germany might be planning a propaganda campaign against Switzerland.

Some observers considered it a possible "preparation for the springtime," contending the Nazi high command wants to keep the Allies guessing where it plans to strike.

Swiss newspapers replied sharply to a dispatch carried by DNB, German News Agency accusing Switzerland of having "two neutralities."

DNB quoted the Berlin newspaper Berliner Boersen-Zeitung which charged that Switzerland had banned the pro-Nazi Neue Basler Zeitung of Basel "for having too much understanding of the German viewpoints," but tolerated other Swiss newspapers "completely in accord with the British and French desire to destroy German unity."

The German agency's attack in its Swiss service brought a flood of critical comments from the Swiss press.

HEAVY STORM CUTS DOWN ATTENDANCE ON SATUR. MARKET

Practically No Outside Vendors — Egg and Chicken Prices Unchanged

NO FISH OFFERED

Driving snow and heavy winds that swept out of the south today in the worst blizzard of the season, reduced both vendor and shopper attendance at the city market to the lowest figure of the season.

What offerings were available consisted mainly of eggs and chicken with the majority of veteran vegetable vendors of the outside market being conspicuous by their absence, or the setting up of small displays in the comparative comfort of the market building.

Egg prices were generally steady with good quality "A" selects offered at twenty-five cents the dozen. Mediums and other grades were quoted at twenty-one and twenty-two cents. Butter quotations were unchanged at thirty cents the pound.

Chicken displays as was expected were much scarcer than usual but some good quality stock was offered. Choice weightly June birds sold at prices ranging between $1.25 and $1.50, with yearlings offered at quotations of one dollar. Fowl brought from sixty to seventy-five cents each for fair quality stock.

What few staple vegetables were offered noted no change in former quotations. Carrots, beets and turnips sold at sixty cents the bushel with onions offered at $1.25 for the same quantity. Potato prices were steady at $1.15 and $1.25 per seventy-five pound bag-lot according to quality.

Only a light offering of winter apples was on display with northern spys and Starks offered at forty cents the peck. A few hampers were quoted at $1.25 each for choice quality fruit.

No fish was offered, nor did farmer vendors of the district offer the usual quota of young pigs at their stand near the Hume Arena.

Tweed Hortic. Society Closes Successful Year's Activities

Tweed (Special) — The annual meeting of Tweed Horticultural Society was held at the Council Chambers on Friday afternoon with a small attendance. The following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. H. M. Countryman; First Vice-president, Mr. S. H. Connor; Second Vice-President, Mrs. A. C. Blakely; secretary-treasurer, Miss Cosey Meiklejohn; directors for one year, Mrs. Harry Coulter, Mrs. W. S. Gordon, Mrs. Arthur Varty, Mrs. D. W. Sills, Mrs. John Kingston; Directors for two years, Mrs. M. J. Quinn; Miss Myrtle Foster, Mrs. Laurason Ketcheson, Mrs. Chas. R. Porritt, Mr. John Sager. Auditors, Messrs. A. Leman and I. D. Corcoran.

The president gave a resume of the Society's activities during 1939, one of the most successful years since the Society was organized in 1925. The membership was 59, which includes one honorary member. Considerable money was expended by the Society in planting shrubs, perennials and annuals at Tweed Memorial Park. A very successful Flower Show with a wealth of magnificent bloom was held in the Pavilion in August. In the Spring the Society sponsored a Bird Box Contest.

Much of the success enjoyed by the Horticultural Society during the year was due to the untiring and painstaking efforts of Mrs. Howard Countryman and Miss Cosey Meiklejohn, president and secretary, who were re-elected to those offices. Receipts of the society were $250 with expenditures of $215.

Mrs. Countryman was named delegate to the Ontario Horticultural Association's Convention to be held in the King Edward Hotel in Toronto on February 29th, and March 1st.

CITY HAS FACILITIES FOR DRUNKEN DRIVERS

St. Petersburg, Fla., Jan. 20 (AP)—The Times, in a front page box, carried this reminder for anyone who might mix alcohol and gasoline: "St. Petersburg facilities for the care and keep of drunken drivers—1 jails (if you live unhurt) 2 hospitals (if you live); 3 morgues."

Students in Louisiana Skate On Campus for First Time

Near Zero Temperature is Expected on Gulf of Mexico Coast

New York, Jan. 20—(AP)—More than a score of deaths from exposure in northern states, ice skating in Southern Louisiana, freezing temperatures in Florida and a bitter chill from the Rockies to the Atlantic emphasized today the intensity and scope of the cold wave in the United States.

At least 95 deaths were attributed directly or indirectly to the frigid weather in 30 states this week.

The cold moderated somewhat in the middlewest and Rocky Mountain region after several days of sub-zero temperatures. The mercury remained far below the freezing point, however.

Lower temperatures were in prospect for much of the east and south tonight. Little relief was expected until Monday at the earliest. The Pacific coast enjoyed normal temperatures.

There were 28 death from exposure in a dozen states. One was reported as far south as South Carolina. Overheated stoves caused hundreds of fires which took at least 28 lives. Traffic accidents blamed on snow, ice and the cold claimed 25 victims and 14 persons died from other causes atrributed to the weather.

Louisiana State University students skated on the campus for the first time in history. Minimum temperatures of near zero were expected on the Gulf coast.

Belleville Redmen Defeated By Petes in Wide Open Game Who Assume Top Rung of Loop

Score is 9-7 and Fans Kept on Toes With Many Brilliant Rushes

GAME QUITE CLEAN

Both Squads Played the Rubber Instead of Man Resulting in Plenty of Action

In a wide open game that pleased the 600 fans present the Belleville Redmen were defeated by the Peterborough Petes at the Hume Arena last night in an Intermediate "A" scheduled game by a score of 9-7. The win places the Petes at the top of the loop with the Flyers in second position and the Belleville Redmen in the cellar the local team not having a win so far this season. The Redmen played under new managment last night and if they continue the exhibition given in their game with the Petes they will not be wanting for paying customers. The boys played a wide open game and the Petes went right along with them and the result was a series of fine rushes, good blocking on the defence and sensational goal tending at both ends of the ice igloo.

The Redmen were outplayed in some respects but that did not stop them from carrying the play at every opportunity and one could hear more concerted encouragement than has been given in some time. Although the score might indicate it was a loosely played game the constant switching in the fortunes of the two clubs kept the customers on their toes. Belleville enjoyed a goal lead part way through the first period but at the end of the frame they were trailing by two goals. Each team scored two in the second canto and in the third period the teams battled on even terms.

First Game in Goal

Ab Hinton playing his first game in goal this season gave a fine performance. Better clearing in front of the nets and less bunching would have given the goalie more protection. McCreary and St. Louis took care of the defence duties and their rushes were always dangerous. The Jackson brothers carried the load on the front line with Windsor and Yates showing well in spots. Cy Barrage helped himself to two goals. For the Petes, Bun Kingdon and Coughlin were the chief threats. The defence was sound but Harding has been netter in the twine. The game was exceptionally clean only five penalties being handed out, Belleville drawing three. The lineups:

Peterborough—Goal, Harding; defence, Jopling, Crowe; centre, Starr; wings, Coughlin, Heal; subs., Ellis, Kingdon, Burton, Blewett, Gardner, Tompkins.

Would Meet Bobby Pearce for World's Professional Sculling Title

WINS SCULLS TWICE

No Competition This Year as 1940 Olympics in Finland Doomed

Toronto, Jan. 20 —(CP)— Pressure was being put on Joe Burk of Philadelphia today to forfeit his amateur standing and meet Bobby Pearce of Hamilton, Ont., for the world professional sculling championship.

It seemed to be entirely up to the blond and barrel-chested Burk, for the Canadian National Exhibition was ready to stage the match and Pearce was ready to defend his title against "anyone, anywhere."

Jim Rice, former coach of the Hamilton Leander boat club, brought into the open the proposals for what would be the greatest match sculling race in years by saying in New York last night that Burk might turn pro, because there was no more competition for him in amateur ranks. Burk has won the diamond sculls the last two years and the 1940 olympic games are doomed.

Burk Made Offer

Elwood Hughes, general manager of the Canadian National Exhibition, said he had made an offer to Burk within "the last few days," repeating offers of last fall. Pearce, at Hamilton, declared: "I'll go for that," meaning a series of races with Burk along the exhibition waterfront at Toronto.

But the Toronto Globe and Mail quoted Burk as saying in a telephone conversation from his farm home at Bridgeborough, N.J., that "the way I feel now, I won't turn professional for some time."

"I'm going to wait until April, when Finland must declare the olympics on or off," Burk was quoted as saying on his 26th birthday. "But, feeling the way I do now, I won't turn professional for some time yet. I'm only a young man."

King of Amateurs

In the past it has appeared that Burk would be ready to listen to professional offers after the 1940 olympic games. With the war on in Europe, there doesn't appear to be an amateur within Burk's reach who could touch him.

"The reason I think Burk might turn pro," Rice said, "is that he has run out of competition among the amateurs, the same as Pearce has outclassed other pros. Now that the olympics have been called off, there is nothing for Burk to look forward to in the amateur field, and I know he loves competition."

Rice suggested that Burk and Pearce tour the country, staging series of races on a best-of-three basis. One would be at a half-mile, another at the Henley distance of one mile and 550 yards and the third at three miles.

Hughes said he had made Burk an offer on that basis, but had suggested a one-mile race rather than the half-mile event.

TRICOLOR TRIMS TRENTON R. C. A. F.

Score is 6-1 and Teams Now Tied With Game Each in Van Horne Finals

Kingston, Jan. 20—(Special)—Queen's defeated Trenton R.C.A.F. by a 6-1 score in the second game of the George Vanhorne senior hockey finals to tie the series at one win each at the Jock Harty Arena Friday night. The Tricolor rallied in the last period to increase an early lead in a rousing, rugged battle played before the biggest crowd of the season here. The third and deciding game will be played next Wednesday.

The Tricolor used a different system to the style that beat Dartmouth last night, but the result was the same and both wins were decided in the last period. The star Kingston line of Mel and Norv Williamson with Bob Neilson starred in the win. Pop Irvin, Cameron and Gibson in goal were the best for the Flyers, while Musgrove, last year with Wembley Lions in England, was good in the Kingston cage.

The line-up:

Queen's — Goal, Musgrove; defense, J. Neilson, McGill; centre, M. Williamson; wings, N. Williamson R., Neilson; subs, Hood, Carter; Mable, Lane, Hepburn, Dewar.

GOODYEARS WIN OVER HAMILTON IN CLOSE CONTEST

Port Colborne Swamps Galt 10-1 and St. Kitts Shellack Cataracts 7-1

RUGGED SPECTACLES

Hamilton Given Two Goal Lead but Goodyears Soon Reduced the Margin

Teams clustering at the top of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" standing had things almost their own way against occupants of lower berths in the three games played last night.

Port Colborne swamped Galt 10-1, St. Catharines shellacked Niagara Falls 7-1 but Toronto barely edged Hamilton 5-4 to remain at the head of the group with a four point margin over the Ports who, in turn were two up on the Saints.

A goal by Lloyd Fitzgerald in the first period and another by Earl LaRoche early in the second gave the Ports a working margin before Reilly sniped the lone Galt marker. Mac McKelvie added another for the Ports in the second session and then Vince Upper, Gooney McGowan, Fitzgerald, LaRoche, McKelvie, Thompson and Leitch scored in the final frame to complete the rout.

Rugged Spectacle.

Despite the one-sided score the Saints and Cataracts provided a rugged spectacle punctuated with 10 penalties, including a major to Rudy Pilous, Winnipeg skater who has made good in the O.H.A., after wandering in England and the Eastern United States League.

After a scoreless opening session St. Catharines marksmen banged in four quick tallies in the second period, Bill Mocha, Pete Backor, Red Reynolds, and Bobby Pinder finding the target before Ken Begin notched the Cataracts lone score.

Reynolds wound up the scoring in the second frame. Blondy Buell increased the Saints margin in the third before Reynolds turned the hat trick with his third goal of the game.

Hamilton Edged Out.

Hamilton started against Toronto impressively, Miocinovich and N. Walker tricking the visiting defence for goals before Toronto got one back from the stick of George Imlach.

John Conick gave Hamilton a two goal margin early in the second chapter but the Toronto club came back with a brace of goals, Eddie King and Murray Ezeard, finding the range. Ab Tonn put his team back in the running with a score before the frame ended and Bert Turney tied the count early in the third. The winning counter went to John O'Flaherty halfway through the final session when the Toronto forward line caught Hamilton's defence out of position.

Two-Ton, Two-Gun Tony Galento Wows Crowded Auditorium

Orange, N.J., Jan. 20 —(AP)— Two Ton, Two Gun Tony Galento fanned the hammer of his shootin' iron and vowed he'd, "get dat bum who give me a pair of pants wit no seat in 'em."

Galento, eminently successful as a pugilist, made his debut last night as leading man in "Two Gun Tony and His Buckaroos," a benefit show which attracted 1,500 townsfolk to the high school auditorium.

To add to the illusion that he was an actor, Galento donned a pair of chaps, the supposedly final touch to his cowboy costume. He discovered, two minutes before his entrance, that chaps do not cover that portion of a cowboy which is ordinarily settled in the saddle.

Surveying his figure, Tony announced in awed tones:

In the silence that followed one could have heard Joe Louis drop. Then:—

"Holy Moses! Where's me pants. I go on dat stage in two minutes and I can't find me pants," shouted the eminent pugilist and tavern keeper. "I'll moider somebody!"

Underlings rushed away in search of suitable covering for the perspiring heavyweight, while a stage manager pleaded:—

"Keep quiet, please, those people out front will hear you."

"So what?" roared Galento. "Dat's what dey paid for dem tickets for ain't it? To see and hear me?"

Someone shoved a pair of pants in Tony's hands. He went out and spoke his nine-line part, each line consisting of three one-syllable words.

Nine-Year-Old Kid Topples the Maples Like a Veteran

Cliffside Park, N.J., Jan. 20—(AP)— Joey Ferraro, going on nine, is a half-pint bowling prodigy who hasn't any doubts about what his career will be.

Joey, 46 inches tall and weighing in at an even 59 pounds, put on an exhibition of his technique the other night by chalking up two strikes in succession for newsmen.

"I guess I've had enough," he said in businesslike tones then.

In April he's going to go to the American Bowling Congress in Detroit, not just as the mascot of a local team, but as a full fledged contender.

Joey graduated into the 10-pin sport from his old business of shining shoes. He used to play around with a duck pin ball while waiting for customers in a bowling alley.

The tot surprised Teddy Berghorn, the manager. Berghorn gave him a few lessons and Joey began using a nine-pound ball.

BANNER YEAR FOR GEE-GEES IS PREDICTED

Handicap Group Will be the Best in Some Years on American Tracks

NOT ALL GRAVY

For Every Dollar Spent on a Horse the Average Return is Only 75 Cents

(By Alfred Gymnne Vanderbilt)
(President, Belmont Park and Pimlico Race Tracks)

Baltimore, Jan. 20.—(AP)—The year 1940 will be a banner one in racing.

It will produce probably the best group of handicap horses the country has had in some years. Several horses will win more than $100,000, and mathematically-minded sports fans will compute that in such a celebrated race as the Belmont futurity, the winner will net $1,000 a second for the actual time of the race.

Casual readers will look with envy upon the horseman whose horse has flashed across the finish line to win a lavish purse and a coveted trophy. Little or nothing will be written about the horses that are a dead loss, or the next thing to it, to the hundreds who own them. Some revealing figures on this subject have been compiled by disinterested statisticians.

The sum of all money to horsemen in purses, stakes, prizes and trophies have been totalled for one average year. Then the average cost of keeping a horse alive and in good condition throughout a calendar year was estimated and multiplied by the number of horses that raced in an average year. These two totals, when compared, give the answer to the man who reads of huge purses and interprets them as huge profits.

These estimates show that for every dollar spent on the care of a horse, the average return is just over 75 cents. When it is understood that this covers just the expenses and not the original investment, it can be seen that those big purses are not all gravy.

The picture isn't all black, however. Sometimes an owner can make money with his horses, but he must work against odds. A lot of stables will make money during certain years, but few stables will make money every year—a very few. As a rule, the bulk of stable accounts are written in red ink.

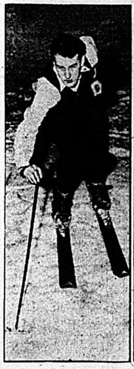
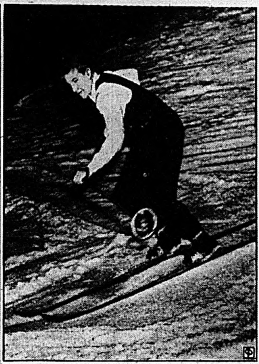
BASIC SKIING

CHRISTIANIA MADE LIKE SKATING STOP



Start of a Christiana.



Weight-shifting during the turn.

This is the last of six articles on skiing written for Central Press Canadian and this paper by Tomm Murstad, young Norwegian teacher and star who has won all the major amateur titles in Europe.

By TOMM MURSTAD

Just another turn, but one you'll use after perfecting it more than any other, the Christiana is worth all the effort and practice you can give it. Throughout the Christiania the skis, contrary to other turns you've learned up to now, are kept parallel. The turn itself is exceeded by a quick shifting of weight which requires perfect balance and co-ordination.

The writer is illustrating the stages of the Christiania which is ideally adapted to change of direction in speed ski-running or coming to a sudden stop. If you've ice skated you've used a "Christie" stop time and time again.

A Christiania to the right starts with a fairly low (not exaggerated) crouch with the right arm thrusting forward. While going into this position, the right foot is also advanced somewhat, but be sure to maintain the parallel position of the skis. Actually, the right shoulder, right hip and right foot are in advance.

In the second phase of the turn, the skier rises elastically from the crouch (this process does what is known as unweighing the skis), the body is forcefully twisted so that the left shoulder and hip are brought forward, while simultaneously the backs of the skis are skidded around to the left by strong heel pressure.

Always maintain the parallel position of the skis and remember the turn is effected through the powerful twist and shift on weight of the body. At the end of the turn a slight crouch is brought into play while the feet are brought even with each other and the balance is shifted from the side to the centre.

For extremely high-speed skiing and ski racing the tempo turn, a refinement of the Christiania eliminates the skidding movement of the skis. The turn is effected entirely by the weight of the body and requires the most perfect contral and co-ordination. For this reason, a concentration on the exercises and the basic steps and turns will develop a grand back-ground for your tempo turns next year.

EDWARD BARROW GIVEN PLAQUE

Awarded for "Meritorious Service to Baseball Over Long Period of Years"

New York, Jan. 20—(AP)—On the theory that it is better late than never the baseball writers of this tremendous town decided today to give President Ed Barrow of the world champion Yankees a plaque "for meritorious services to baseball over a long period of years."

Such an award has been made annually for eleven years and perhaps the only surprise in the selection is that it didn't come sooner. He'll share honors at the New York chapter's 17th annual dinner Feb. 4 with Bucky Walters, Cincinnati Reds' pitcher who will receive a plaque as "player of the year."

Aside from the fact that baseball has had a lot of notable characters to honor for valued services, the delay in getting around to Barrow may have been occasioned because he remained hidden in reflected glory for many years and only came into his own upon the death of Col. Jacob Ruppert a year ago this month.

"Cousin Ed" has been running the Yankees for 20 years, however, and has been in organized baseball since 1896 when he managed and won a pennant for Wheeling, W. Va., in the Interstate League.

Junior Titles In Skating Are Decided

Ottawa, Jan. 20 —(CP)— Foremost figure skaters in Canada glided and pirouetted on the ice of Minto skating club here today in the Canadian figure skating championships.

Three junior titles were decided last night and the seniors skated through the school figures today in preparation for the finals this evening. In the junior events Barbara Ann Scott and Denis Ross brought the first two titles to Ottawa winning the women's and men's singles respectively.

Last night's third crown went to Shirley Halstead and Michael Kirby of Toronto skating club when they won the junior pairs event.

Audrey Joyce of Montreal was a close second to Miss Scott in the junior women's singles. Christine Newson of Toronto skating club placed third, Gwenneth Steeves of Ottawa fourth, and Elizabeth Guant of Montreal fifth.

Ross had only two rivals in the junior men's singles. Kirby placed second and John Milsom of Toronto was third. There were also only three entries in junior pairs, Margaret Wilson and Peter Killam of Toronto were second to the Kirby-Halstead combination and Helen Malcolm and Peter Stranger of Montreal were third.

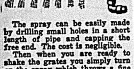
HEATING HINTS
by James Stewart

A NUMBER of my readers have asked me how to avoid dust seeping through the cracks in the ashpit door when they shake the grates. This can be very easily ended by having a small pipe spray installed in the ashpit and connected with the cold water system.



The spray can be easily made by drilling small holes in a short length of pipe and capping the free end. The cost is negligible.

Then when you are ready to shake the grates you simply turn on the spray which throws a fine mist over the entire ashpit. Thus the ashes are wet down as they fall through the grates and the dust is settled immediately, and kept inside the ashpit. And when the ashes are removed from the ashpit they are wet enough to prevent any more dust from arising and flying through the cellar. (21)

A severe blow to Boston Bruins in their attempt to repeat last winter's good work in the National League, was the loss of Roy Conacher, last year's high-scoring rookie, with a broken wrist, but doing a fine job of filling in for the injured star has been Red Hamill, above. He's been up before for short spells, but this time has been playing better than ever. He's built along large Boston lines and has been scoring fairly consistently.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Four Daughters."

"Four Daughters" was adapted from Fanny Hurst's famous story, "Sister Act", and features an exceptional cast including Priscilla Lane, Rosemary Lane, Lola Lane, Gale Page, John Garfield, Claude Rains, Jeffrey Lynn, May Robson, Frank McHugh and Dick Foran, of these stars the most appropriate words to use is "splendid indeed" are their performances.

"Four Daughters," we have been told, had its premiere world showing at Radio City Music Hall, New York City, without any undue advance publicity. The producers knew better. They knew that the heart-warming story of "Four Daughters" did not lend itself to a circus-like poster campaign. Too, they wanted the best judge of all—the public—to pass final opinion on this picture.

Accordingly, it opened at the Music Hall, New York's finest theatre, on a one-week booking. Almost from the first performance, praise began finding its way from one person to another. People in all walks of life were warning others that no matter what else they did, they must not miss "Four Daughters". With this word-of-mouth praise permeating into every section of New York, business increased noticeably each day, with the result that at the end of the first week crowds were pushing, fighting their way to the box-office for the opportunity of seeing the picture they had heard so much about. And these daily crowds were repeated on the second week with no let-up. Due to immediate bookings which had to be shown at Radio City after the second week "Four Daughters" had to be switched to another New York theatre and here also the crowds came, thousands of whom already had seen it earlier included, at which theatre the picture continued almost for a period of two months.

There was the proof, the public had unanimously hailed "Four Daughters" as undoubtedly one of the finest pictures to come out of Hollywood.

Although it is a second time for its showing in Belleville there is no doubt but that the McCarthy Theatre will be filled with many who had previously enjoyed it and to those who missed it before we sincerely hope that at this time they will know about the excellent entertainment it brings to the screen and that they will avail themselves of seeing it. Every man, woman and child in Belleville should see "Four Daughters". The program in addition will include Bobby Breen in his newest musical comedy "Escape to Paradise' 'and a splendid "Screen Snapshots" short subject.

"Tower of London."

"Tower of London" which has been presented all this week at the McCarthy Theatre is now playing for the last time and we urge one and all who have not already attended one of the previous performances to do so now.

AT THE CAPITOL

"First Love"

Presenting the young star in a more mature role than any she has ever attempted, "First Love" finds her experiencing her first romance. The film was produced by Joe Pasternak, who has been responsible for all of Deanna's offerings, and directed by Henry Koster, who directed her in "Three Smart Girls", "100 Men and a Girl", and "Three Smart Girls Grow up".

The picture is an original screenplay and was made at Universal studios by the same staff which produced all of the former Deanna Durbin successes beginning with the memorable "Three Smart Girls"

Logical Story

Deanna will be seen as an orphan girl who is forced to live with an aunt, an uncle and two cousins of her own age. They are rich and snobbish and look upon Deanna as a poor relation. The star's personality, consideration and kindness win over the servants and finally bring about an upheaval in the family.

In the picture Deanna encounters her first love affair, a boy-and-girl romance between herself and Robert Stack, a screen new-comer in the role of a young bachelor who is the object of the affections of Deanna and of Helen Parrish, who plays one of the snobbish cousins. And in the romance Deanna receives her first screen kiss—and her first proposal of marriage.

Outstanding Names

"First Love" presents a supporting cast which includes, in addition to Deanna, Miss Parrish, and Stack a roster of fine players. Lewis Howard, from the New York stage, is in the role of Deanna's lazy cousin; former screen star Leatrice Joy is her astrology-mad aunt; Eugene Pallette is the self-concerned uncle; Charles Coleman as the understanding butler; Frank Jenks as a policeman-brother of the cook, Lucille Ward, and Dorothy Vaughn and Mary Treen as other house-servants. Marcia Mae Jones, June Storey and Jack Mulhall will also be seen in prominent roles.

Included in Deanna's songs are "One Fine Day" from Puccini's opera, "Madame Butterfly"; "Amapola", by J. M. Lacalle; "Home, Sweet Home", by John Howard Payne; and "Spring in My Heart", a medley of Straus waltzes adapted by H. J. Salter with lyrics by Ralph Freed.

AT THE BELLE

"Judge Hardy And Son"

"Judge Hardy and Son," brings Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney and the rest of the entertaining Hardy Family to the Belle Theatre starting today in the eighth all-new adventures of the famous family. In the new story Mickey turns detective to help his father fight a foreclosure cast; gets involved with three pretty girls with consequent trouble with his "regular" sweetheart, Ann Rutherford; turns hero to ferry Cecilia Parker across a raging flood to reach her sick mother's bedside; and inspires his father to new courage in an hour of tragedy. The new picture is laid entirely in the family's home town of Carvel. There are poignant moments when the family fears the loss of the mother through illness. There are hilarious complications in Andy Hardy's life, and several tense dramatic moments in the life of the family. George B. Seitz, who all but one of the Hardy series, directed. Leiws Stone as the judge and father, Mickey as Andy Hardy, Cecilia Parker as his sister, Fay Holden as the mother and Sara Haden as the aunt, with Ann Rutherford as Polly Benedict, Mickey's high school sweetheart, comprise the "regular" cast of the series. Mme. Maria Ouspenskaya, distinguished Russian actress who recently scored in a hit "The Rains Came," June Preisser, Henry Hull, Martha O'Driscoll, Margaret Early, Leona Maricle, Egon Brecher, Edna Holland, George Breakston and Marie Blake are others in the cast. Thrills include the flood sequence and Mickey's adventures with his recalcitrant car. Comedy highlights include his involvement with three pretty girls at once and his struggles to extricate himself from the predicament.

Added pleasure on the same program includes the Parmount British Overseas newsreel, a funny comicolor cartoon, "The Bear That Couldn't Sleep," and a clover Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Passing Parade film success "Forgotten Victory."

REMEMBER WHEN?

(By The Canadian Press)

Setting a precedent in hockey, officials four years ago today postponed the Toronto Maple Leaf-Montreal Canadiens National League game scheduled for Jan. 21 as a mark of respect for the late King George V, who died Jan. 20. The Chicago-Maroon game at Montreal on Jan. 28 was also called off as the King's funeral was held that day.

HAT IN RING

Frank E. Gannett, Rochester publisher, who at a civic reception in his honor, announced his candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination. The 63-year-old critic of the New Deal will be a rival of New York County District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey for the states 92 votes in the forthcoming G.O.P. national convention.

John Garfield and Priscilla Lane who are featured with Rosemary Lane, Lola Lane and Gale Page in "Four Daughters," opening next at the McCarthy Theatre with the first run hit, Bobby Breen in "Escape to Paradise."

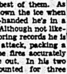
BINGO KAMPMAN

Toronto Maple Leafs



Bingo Kampman

One of the six defencemen being used in a sort of relay system by Toronto Maple Leafs this year in the National League is Rudolph (Bingo) Kampman, one of Kitchener's many hockey products. He is serving out his third term with the team. He had helped Sudbury win the Allan Cup in the 1936-37 season and was signed to a pro contract the following fall, first going to the Toronto team's International-American League Syracuse farm team. He didn't stay there, however, an injury to Reg. Hamilton giving him his chance to move up to the Leafs and he hasn't looked back since. A turbulent type of player he mixes into any and every scrap that comes along and can give and take knees and elbows in the corners with the best of them. As a lofter of shots down the ice when his team is short-handed he's in a class by himself. Although not likely to break any scoring records he is dangerous on the attack, packing a heavy shot that he fires accurately from any distance out. In his two seasons he's accounted for three goals, ten assists and served 108 minutes in penalties. He will probably get more of everything except penalties this season than he did in the first two combined. Before going to Sudbury he played with junior and senior teams in his home town. Twenty-six years old, weighs close to 190 pounds.

JANNIS PARKER

Linda was in the tub thinking of Jerry when the phone rang. She'd been thinking of him ever since they'd met a week before at the last club dance of the season. And a bang-up dance it had been. The orchestra, imported from Harlem, had out-cavorted the dancers, their instruments taking a terrible beating. During what was supposed to have been intermissions an Italian with a piano-accordion that prohibited conversation, and a voice that dimmed the piano-accordion, had sauntered from table to table singing old love songs of Italy and new ones from Broadway.

Steve, good old Steve with the indelible frown the rhythmic feet and the fog-horn voice, had asked Linda to the dance. He had also presented Jerry.

"Want to meet the nicest little job the stork ever turned out?" he'd boomed.

Jerry had. And Steve hadn't exaggerated. In short Linda was O.K., ace-high, top-notch, first-rate. And certainly men like Jerry would always have a market. He had everything the advertisements promised. Easily Jerry and Linda had been the best looking couple on the floor and he had stuck to her all during the evening like ink to a blotter.

Linda, however, whose existence enabled the telephone company to pay steady dividends, had not heard from him since that night. She found this disconcerting not because Jerry was her answer to prayer but because he'd started her praying.

Now, alone in the apartment, she had to leave the suds hurriedly, swathe herself in a towel and make wet tracks for the shrill phone.

A man's voice boomed hoarsely over the wires and Linda's high hopes fell to the ground. For seven days she'd snatched up the phone—it might be the call she'd prayed for. It never had been.

"Linda?" he was repeating.

"You sound like King Kong," Linda replied, doing her best to sound light-hearted and carefree. Why, oh why, couldn't this have been Jerry?

"Just a slight cold," he explained. "I'll soon be back to the silvery cadences. I'd have called you sooner but until today I couldn't speak at all. 'Feed a cold,' however, you know. So how about having dinner with me?"

"That would be awfully nice." Try as she would Linda couldn't sound enthusiastic.

"Any chance for tonight?"

"Tomorrow night," she said.

"Would it be too much to ask you to meet me in town?" his voice rasped.

Linda lived tucked off in the suburbs far from jay-walkers and taxi races.

"Where and when?" she asked.

"Martini's. At seven. O.K.?"

"O.K."

Linda's mother came in as she hung up the phone.

"For me?" she asked.

"No. For me, Steve. I'm having dinner with him in town tomorrow night."

Linda's mother repeated what she'd been saying for some time. "You could do worse."

"Much worse," Linda admitted. "I could have two meals with him every day and three on Sunday. No, thank you. Steve's a lamb, but . . ."

"You don't appreciate him," her mother broke in. "He's a splendid young man."

"For somebody else."

The next evening Linda dressed lackadaisically. She didn't wear the new outfit. She was saving it just in case the Jerry man had a sudden fit of memory.

The train ride into the city was a monotonous trip that was only taking her to a monotonius evening. The cross-town cab was an unrestful auto that was taking her to a restless evening. Linda bleakly visualized the past seven days. Each day had grown drearier, heavier. Each day had taken her that much farther from Jerry. The possibility of more such days was ghastly — days when the sound of the phone buoyed her up only to cast her down.

"For two cents, I'd scream," she mused. "I'd do it even cheaper."

At Martinis she paid off the taxi driver and walked in under the long, striped awning. The sort of awning used at weddings, she reflected morosely. Why had she accepted this dinner invitation of Steve's? Why had she forgone the comforts of home where she could cry into a pillow in peace instead of having to swallow hard lest tears splash into the hors d'oeuvres? She was berating herself when she walked right into his arms.

She blinked rapidly, shook her head to clear it, but the apparition was not an apparation. There he was all six feet three of him. There flashed the smile that made her smile back. There stood the man she'd never really left since the moment she'd met him.

Radiant at seeing her again, he spoke, still hoarsely.

"How you recognized this battered voice over the phone is more than I'll ever know," grinned "Television would be wasted on you, Linda."

He indicated a charmingly secluded little table marked, "Reserved."

"What do you say?" he asked.

Linda spoke cautiously as though holding her breath. Her hand fluttered tremblingly at her throat.

"I'm like you were before you phoned me—speechless."

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, Jan. 20 (AP).—Indecision again gripped the stock market today, and, except for a few favorites, the general run of leaders shuffled over a slightly irregular route.

The pace was relatively slow. Transfers for the two hours were around 350,000 shares.

Canadian issues were easy. Fractionally lower were McIntyre, Hiram Walker and Lake Shore Mines. Dome Mines were steady and Canadian Pacific unchanged. Canada 4s, in the bond market, improved.

Among resistant shares were Montgomery Ward, Great Northern, Pennsylvania, Westinghouse and General Electric. In arrears most of the time were U.S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott, Du Pont, Loft and Standard Brands.

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Jan. 20—(CP)—Industrial and Base Metal stocks registered an upward tilt in today's two hour session. The cheaper Golds were chiefly responsible for the sizeable volume of about 250,000 shares for the two-hour session.

Several gains of a point or more appeared in the Industrial Section. Canada Steamship Lines Pfd. bulked 1 5-8 to 17 1-2, Porto Rico Power Pfd. added 1 3-4, selling at 101 and gains of about a point were netted by Massey-Harris Pfd., Fleet Air-Craft and National Steel Car. Other Steel issues were up, including Algoma Steel, Dominion Bridge, Dominion Steel and United Steel. Canadian Canners, Dominion Stores and Loblaw B were strong spots in the food group. Senior Oils were steady and Brazilian and Distillers-Seagrams weakened small fractions.

Powell Rouyn displayed more firmness, holding a small net gain as a result of the day's operations, while Pickle Crow weakened about 10 cents to 3.80. Other secondary issues were mixed. Lamaque, Macassa, Beattie and MacLeod-Cockshutt firmed moderately and the tone was slightly heavy for Sylvanite, East Malartic, McKenzie and San Antonio. Naybob continued its forward trend, touching 37 1-2 for the current movement, up about 3 cents over-night.

Base Metal shares continued dull. Sherritt and Steep Rock registered moderate gains and Smelters and Ventures were a bit weak. Eldorado added 8 cents, selling at 1.12.

Some Carcasses Carry Too Much Finish

Recently there have been several farmers, who have been conscientiously trying to produce good hogs express the fact that they have been disappointed in the grade returns that they have received. In each case the scale tickets on which notations of the quality of the carcasses have been made revealed the fact that the carcasses were carrying too much finish.

On further investigation it was found that the finishing rations contained high percentages of such combinations as wheat and barley, rye and barley and buckwheat and barley. While strong feeds are required in the finishing ration it is quite evident that in some cases that this feature has been overdone. The extent to which the different feeds can be used to give the best results is largely a matter of practical experience on the part of the farmer.

General Improvement In Produce Lines

Toronto, Jan. 20—General improvement was apparent for most lines during yesterday's trading on the Toronto open produce market. Egg prices were a shade higher under fair demand. Butter closed on a firm note when trading picked up, while poultry maintained a steady tone in quiet dealings.

The egg market has been helped of late by inquiries from out of town. Although still not heavy, inspected shipments to Northern Ontario exceeded last week, while at the same time, one car of 450 cases went forward to Halifax. Eggs were also shipped to Montreal from Toronto this week. Arrivals of fresh receipts have been sufficient to cover local requirements in spite of present adverse weather. Friday's market closed firm, with rising tendencies evident in both sections.

Trading started slow on the butter market but improved in the afternoon. Buyers took on Ontario offerings more readily at the unchanged prices as well as purchasing western supplies.

Quotations on the poultry market this week were practically unchanged. Light receipts met fair demand, which left little surplus for storing. It was reported that some firms packed no poultry this week.

Montreal Produce

Butter: First grade creamery prints, jobbing price, 29c; first grade solids, jobbing price, 28 1-2c.

Eggs: Graded shipments in used free cases, selling price, A-large 23 1-2c; A-medium 22c; A-pullets, 20 1-2c; B-large and C unquoted. Receipts, 544 cases.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, Jan. 20 (AP)—Dressedweight and liveweight were both up 15 cents at Chatham today and prices at Stratford stood at yesterday's low in bacon-hog markets reporting today. Other markets were unchanged.

Liveweight: Chatham $8.75.

Dressedweight: Barrie $12; Chatham $11.90; Hamilton $11.50, plus transportation, Hull $11.60, London $11.50 plus transportation. Stratford $11.50 plus transportation.

Three Accident Victims Brought to Hospital

Three accident victims were admitted to Belleville General Hospital last night, none of them seriously injured.

James McGarry, a transient giving his address as 362 Richmond Street West, Toronto is said to have fallen off a freight train near the city and was admitted with slight injuries.

Percy Lloyd, resident of Northbrook, suffering with injuries to a hip incurred in a fall was brought in at eleven o'clock and was given treatment by Dr. J. J. Robertson.

Charles Bankey, 55, 49 St. Charles Street, fell on the pavement near the J. B. Boyce Garage and was taken to hospital believed to be suffering with a fractured leg. X-ray examinations will be made by Dr. Austin Walters, attending physician today to ascertain the extent of Bankey's injuries.

Rev. J. C. Cochrane Will Speak of 'Romance of North'

Rev. Dr. J. C. Cochrane, superintendent of Missions of the United Church for Northern Ontario and Northwest Quebec, will speak at Bridge Street United Church on Sunday evening and present a beautiful series of pictures on "The Romance of the North." Dr. Cochrane knows the North and will speak of developments in missions and other developments, including mining.

COMPULSORY

Without recorded division the legislature passed second reading of the local government Extension Act, designed as a measure of municipal economy for war time.

Whereas statutes now provide that municipalities may decided by vote to have two-year terms for councillors and others, the bill approved in principle today and now standing for committee stage, provides that the two-year term will have to vote themselves out of its provisions.

The measure, sponsored by Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs, will become effective Feb. 1, 1941, and will automatically provide for a one-year term extension for those in municipal office at that time, unless the municipality has voted against the extension.

A Major Retreat

The proposal, in its present stage, represents a major retreat on government policy, it having first been announced that the two-year term would be mandatory for municipalities.

Conservative leader George Drew asked that the bill be laid over for consideration. Arthur Roebuck, former Attorney General, opposed it outright as a sapping of democracy.

Mr. Cross said he was confident the bill would result in strong and efficient councils and in substantial economies. The economies would be appreciated by the municipalities as the strain of war was felt.

Col. Drew contended the Municipal Act as it now stood was adequate for the purposes of the bill. Any municipality could decide to have the two year term. The minister, under the pressure he had scorned, had brought forth an innocuous act.

Mr. Roebuck said he was opposed to anything to weaken the control of the electors over those they elected to office. Municipal councillors, in office for two years, at the start of their terms might gamble on the short memory of the electors and do things they wouldn't do if an election was a year nearer.

No Disciplinary Action

"This measure is symptomatic of a tendency I don't like," he said.

Premier Hepburn gave assurance that no disciplinary action was contemplated against nine Liberals for voting against the Premier's motion of censure concerning Federal government war policy.

The Premier said in an interview that the resolution having been presented "on the spur of the moment" and not having been discussed in caucus, left the members free to vote as they pleased.

One echo of Thursday's debate was heard in the House yesterday when Col. Drew replied to the charge of Allan Lamport (Lib. Toronto-St. Davids) that Col. Drew had impeded Canada's war preparations by his Bren gun contract charges. Mr. Lamport's statement was made yesterday and Col. Drew was not in the House at the time.

Speaker Makes Ruling

Mr. Lamport attempted to continue the discussion yesterday after Col. Drew spoke, but the speaker ruled the matter closed. Mr. Lamport persisted but Premier Hepburn called orders of the day.

Col. Drew said that all his charges concerning the Bren gun contract had been proved "in every detail" at the Royal Commission inquiry conducted by Mr. Justice H. H. Davis of the Supreme Court of Canada.

CANADA'S LOAN

"Here in the Dominion, it gives us as a united nation increased confidence in ourselves, and even greater determination and resolve for whatever lies ahead. Canada thanks every citizen who has helped in any way towards the outstanding success of our first war loan."

The bank said all subscriptions of $5,000 and under have been confirmed in full, while cash subscriptions from large institutions and corporations made through the National subscription committee have been allotted 40 per cent.

Allotted 40 Per Cent

Other subscriptions received through loan dealers since Tuesday night also have been allotted 40 percent while all subscriptions received up to Tuesday night have been confirmed in full.

Feature of late returns on the loan campaign was the number of group employee subscriptions from a number of cities across Canada. Third largest subscription to the loan came in the final day when the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company contributed $5,000,000.

30,000 MORE MEN

(New evidence of aid for Finland came from Canada where exporters with Finnish connections were buying up quantities of Canadian oats and oats products.

(Observers said these exporters had bought 200,000 bushels of oats recently in the coarse-grain pit, and other grain authorities said Finnish orders for more than 5,000,000 pounds of Canadian rolled oats had been filled from stocks in the United States.

Air Raid Rehearsal

(Reliable sources reported that the rolled oats were being bought with funds raised in the United States for Finnish relief.)

In the war with Germany, Great Britain last night conducted the biggest air raid rehearsal to date in the five London boroughs south of the Thames.

Two thousand air raid precaution workers battled make-believe fires, bombings and gas attacks in Battersea, Camberwell, Lambeth, Southwark and Wandsworth.

ITALY APPROVES

Will Issue Bonds

The cabinet decided to issue nine year five per cent bonds to meet the budget deficit and retire a previous issue of nine-year bonds which falls due this year.

Government leaders foresaw the possibility that "exceptional requirements of the international situation" might necessitate additional emergency appropriations during the budget year. Such expenses, they said, would be met by "appropriate means."

Italy, a high authority said will be absent from the Balkan entente conference at Belgrade Feb. 2, not even sending an observer, as some had expected her to do.

Scope is Narrowed

The Italian decision, along with reports that Hungry and Bulgaria also would refrain from sending observers, has narrowed the meeting's scope, in the view of diplomatic circles.

Italy's desire to avoid any contact with the entente of Roumania, Yugoslavia, Turkey and Greece, which long has been considered as under French tutelage, was understood to be the reason for Rome's hands-off attitude.

Premier Mussolini has preferred to carry out his foreign policy through direct diplomatic contact with individual capitals.

Italy, while arming for the possibility of war, is expected in foreign circles to avoid as long as possible any complications that might involve her directly, or indirectly in fighting.

Italians Warned

On the other hand, Ettore Muti, Fascist party general secretary, warned Italians Wednesday they must be ready to take up arms at any moment. This was intended, many diplomats believed, to shake people out of the feeling that Italy, while making money from the war's trade opportunities, had escaped its dangers.

Army leaves are expected to terminate by April, so the present force of some 800,000 men will be back to more than 1,000,000, perhaps 1,500000. New guns, tanks and airplanes will be ready. Stocks of supplies will be stored up.

Premier Mussolini told Adolf Hitler through their foreign ministers last May, that Italy would need three years to arm herself to the limit. That has been cut drastically since the outbreak of the war in September, which imperiled Italy through her ally, Germany.

PEACE CHANCES

"It is," the Pontiff declared, "an exemplary act of fraternal and hearty solidarity between the new and the old world in defence against the chilling breath of aggressive and deadly Godless and anti-Christian tendencies, that threaten to dry up the fountainhead, whence civilization has come and drawn its strength."

In such circumstances, the Pope said, "we shall find a special satisfaction" in receiving a personal representative from the United States President.

Contents of Letter.

Pope Pius placed in the future the time when peace might be achieved. He wrote:

"When that day dawns—and we would like to hope that it is not too far distant—on which the roar of battle will lapse into silence and there will arise the possibility of establishing a true and sound peace dictated by the principles of justice and equity, only he will be able to discern the path that should be followed who unites with high political power a clear understanding of the voice of humanity along with a sincere reverence for the Divine precepts of life as found in the gospel of Christ.

Must Visualize Seriousness.

"Only men of such moral stature will be able to create the peace, that will compensate for the incalculable sacrifices of this war and clear the way for a comity of nations, fair to all, efficacious and sustained by mutual confidence.

"We are fully aware of how stubborn the obstacles are that stand in the way of attaining this goal, and how they become daily more difficult to surmount.

"And if the friends of peace do not wish their labors to be in vain, they should visualize distinctly the seriousness of these obstacles, and the consequently slight probability of immediate success so long as the present state of the opposing forces remains essentially unchanged."

against America's entry into the League and the World Court.

Left unfinished by his death was a speech which he had planned to make in the Senate. He was preparing to protest against British contraband examination of mails carried in United States vessels on the High Seas.

"I don't like this idea of the British holding up United States mail," Senator Borah told an Associated Press writer Monday, "and I'm going to speak about it in the Senate. (State Secretary) Hull has rightfully and vigorously protested to the British Government on the question, but Britain pays no attention.

"We can make them respect American mails and I have in mind demanding that the United States take retaliatory action—perhaps denial of port facilities to British ships—until they permit the passage of mails without interference and without delays."

"I suppose they'll start howling again that I'm anti-British," he added. "I'm not anti-British and I never have been. It's just that they do so many things to us that need to be called to the attention of the American people."

(He referred to a United States protest over British examination of all mail's which might contain currency contraband for Germany. The British reply, now being studied, has not been made public.)

OBITUARY

LATE F. A. LAWRENCE
(Formerly of Tweed)

Tweed (Special) — The funeral of the late Francis Alfred Lawrence of Copenhagen, New York, was held on Wednesday, January 17th. The late Mr. Lawrence, who was in his 78th. year, was born in Tweed, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis Lawrence. He was a bricklayer and stone mason by trade, moving from Tweed in 1893 to Watertown. Here for more than a quarter of a century he carried on his trade, moving to Copenhagen 17 years ago.

In 1938, Mr. Lawrence returned to Tweed for Old Home Week and took a leading part in the entertainment. He was the oldest of the "old schoolmates" who took part in the "Schoolmates' Reunion" and was presented with a silver tray.

Surviving are five sons and one daughter: William of Buffalo; Fred, Herbert and Austin of Copenhagen, N.Y., John of Watertown and Mrs. A. C. Larsen of Plessis, N.Y. One brother, Edmund Lawrence, Tweed, and three sisters, Mrs. Carpenter and Mrs. W. K. McCaw of Tweed and Mrs. R. J. Stewart, Toronto. His wife, Emma Marsh passed away in 1931.

LATE MISS ELMIRA WAY
(Formerly of Tweed)

Tweed (Special)—Another old resident of Tweed and strangely enough, another visitor to Tweed during Old Home Week in 1936, Miss Elmira Way, of Vancouver, passed away at her home on January 7th. at the age of 84 years. The late Miss Way was born in Hungerford township, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Way. In 1905 she moved to Vancouver where she had since resided. A brother, George Way of Tweed, and a sister, Elizabeth of Vancouver, passed away recently.

LATE JOHN C. HOARE

The funeral of John Campbell Hoare took place from the Martin Funeral Home, Campbell street, on Friday afternoon, January 19, to the Gospel Tabernacle at Coe Hill where service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. F. Wicks.

Interment was made in Coe Hill Cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. Leo Campbell, Elvin Robertson, Clarence Batchelor, Murney Belton, William Cairns and Lorne Wicks.

peratures, swirling snow and drifts.

Throughout Eastern Ontario the weather generally was bright, temperatures were above zero and little snow fell.

A raging westerly wind, bringing with it one of the worst blizzards in recent years, struck Huron County today causing drifts to fill all roads as quickly as ploughs opened them. Most roads in the northern part of the county were blocked.

Roads Very Heavy

Adjoining Perth County escaped the full force of the strm although tury proves them to have been right.

"No small nation, I believe, has ever regarded our sea power as a menace to its development."

But this, he added, was not true of Germany's land power, and once she began rearming " a trembling ran through Europe."

roads were reported by the department highways as "very haevy." Most railway trains in the district were running behind time.

Scores of motorists were snowbound in the Huron district and many spent the night in farm homes. Snowploughs worked throughout the night in the Goderich, Kincardine, Wiarton and Southampton district.

Belleville District Blanketed

The heavy blizzard, the worst of the year which buried other parts of the province beneath a deep blanket of snow swept out of the west here last night, a whirling white mantle that swirled over the city and district in the van of a high wind, making visibility extremely difficult.

Part of the storm swept Prince Edward County yesterday along its southern extremity Residents of Wellington and Bloomfield were forced to wait for county snowplows which fought their way through heavy drifts all night and were still in action today.

Hastings County plows went into swift action here today pushing their way through light drifts that accumulated as the storm continued in unabated density. City plows were sent out to the various sections of the city while gangs of shovellers were employed clearing other spots of the city where snow accumulated rapidly.

All efforts will be made to keep the county road system open, officials said today. A large number of rural vendors of the city market were forced to stay at their homes, as heavy drifts plugged sideroads and other byways of the immediate vicinity.

BRITAIN UNDER

"Once he had settled with Poland and southwest Europe he would have been ready for France and Britain," the secretary said.

He said Britain was "under no illusion about the war" nor did she underestimate the "strength of the enemy".

Command All Energy

"To ensure victory we must command all the energy at our command," Lord Halifax said in a speech broadcast across the Atlantic.

"A dictator enjoys great initial advantages. His policies can be made in great secrecy. The people have no part in that policy. They cannot place themselves in opposition to it and therefore the actions of a dictator appear to the outside world as the decisions of a single mind."

Democracies, on the other hand, he continued, do not surrender the private judgments of its citizens.

"But when trouble comes the fact that the people approve carries with it the thought that it is the overwhelming will of the people."

His audience in Town Hall applauded at these words.

The troubles of war, he went on, will be borne more easily by the man "who is in the war from his own convictions and not through coercion."

Information Available

It was desirable, Lord Halifax said, that the fullest information on the nation's foreign policy be available. "I became foreign secretary at the end of February, 1938, and within a fortnight the German army marched into Austria. Two months later there was a crisis over the alleged reparations of Germany to attack Czecho-Slovakia."

Whatever the truth of the picture then, he continued, Germany did destroy Europe's confidence in peace.

"The Munich settlement gave Germany all that she immediately wanted. In applying that agreement I think it is true to say that every contentious matter was settled in Germany's favor. Yet it became apparent at once that Herr Hitler was dissatisfied. In private he inveighed against England and against his advisers who favored peace."

Attack Britain

In public, Lord Halifax declared, Hitler began attacking England. So did his Minister of Propaganda .

"Herr Hitler objected to settlement by negotiations, and he actually resented the Czecho-Slovakia settlement," he said.

"I have no doubt he was disillusioned that we were not lulled after Munich into relaxing our own determination to rearm."

Had Britain not prepared, Lord Halifax indicated, Hitler would no doubt have one day become dictator of Europe.

"I think it is true that the instincts of our people have always made them resist the attempts of any one nation to become master of Europe. They have always seen in such attempts the threat to their own liberties and of those of all Europe. And I have no doubt that the history of the 19th cen-

NEW POST OFFICE

Belleville, January 17, 1940
The Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King,
Prime Minister of Canada,
Ottawa, Ontario.

Dear Mr. King:

re Construction of Public Building at Tweed

I have no doubt that you have now received the resolution passed by the Council of the Village of Tweed on Friday, January 12, 1940, a copy of which has also been forwarded to me.

There are certain features of the matter which I feel should be presented to you, particularly in view of a possible misinterpretation which might have arisen in the minds of the public due to the lack of complete information.

May I say that the original request for a public building in that town was put forward because of my feeling that the Post Office facilities were quite inadequate and that the public would be better served by a larger and more commodious building. That this is definitely the case may be shown by:

1. A petition forwarded to the Minister of Public Works and signed by a very substantial majority of the ratepayers of the town;
2. The resolution of the Village Council dated May 8, 1939, a copy of which is attached hereto, and to the contents of which I would especially direct your attention. You will observe particularly that the Council indicate that its previous actions were hasty and ill advised and that the proposed building would fill a great need (this resolution although passed by the same Council as now in office, is still in force and unrevoked.)

The difficulties that have been encountered in connection with the construction of the building have been brought about by two factors:

1. The site that was chosen. This is demonstrated by the resolution enclosed.
2. Certain local political interests, which felt it to their advantage to create differences, and certain personal preferences as to the site to be chosen.

As indicated above, I felt perfectly justified in asking the government for an appropriation for the building at the time it was made.

That, however, was in peace time and the situation is now changed somewhat, due to the war.

It is unquestionably true in my view that public funds should be conserved as much as possible at this time in order to prosecute the war effort to a successful and speedy conclusion with all our resources.

For that reason, I cannot now urge the Government to construct the building at Tweed during the war period; and if in the opinion of the Government it should not now proceed with a public building which while desirable during peace time might be dispensed with at a time of national war effort, such action would meet with my approval.

I have the honour to be Sir,
Yours faithfully,
C. A. Cameron,
Hastings South.

Ottawa, January 19, 1940.
C. A. Cameron, Esq., M.P.,
Belleville,
Ontario.

My Dear Cameron:

"I thank you for your letter of January 17th regarding the construction of a public building at Tweed, Ontario. I agree with you that in view of the change in attitude of the Village Council, and war time conditions it would be unwise to proceed with the construction of the building. I have made the representations of your letter known to my colleagues in the Cabinet, who concur in this view. I have also advised the Department of Public Works not to proceed with the construction of the building."

"I need scarcely add that I am very grateful to you for the attention you have given to this question."

With kind regards,
Yours very sincerely,
"W. L. Mackenzie King."

Following is a copy of the resolution passed by the Tweed Council under the date "May 8, 1939" in which that body requests construction of the building on a certain site.

The resolution states:

The Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Village of Tweed assembled this 8th day of May, 1939, wish to express their appreciation of the efforts of the local Federal Member of Parliament, Mr. C. A. Cameron, the Minister of Public Works and the Government for the joint new post office to be constructed in this village.

This new public building, the first one to be constructed in the history of this village, will fill a great need.

Efforts were made by Mr. Cameron to meet the wishes of all parties in having it placed on a suitable and convenient site but due largely to a misunderstanding proper steps were not taken to bring about a settlement of the matter and neither Mr. Cameron nor the Government were in any way to blame.

Therefore, be it resolved that Tweed Village Council assembled on this 8th day of May, 1939, revoke resolutions passed on April 5th and April 12th, 1939, which in the light of facts ascertained, seem to have been hasty and ill-advised and we request the Government to arrange for the construction of the post office at the corner of Victoria and Spring Streets on the site now occupied by Tweed Hydro Shop and the village hereby agrees to furnish this site free from all charges insofar as the Federal Govt. is concerned.

Further be it resolved that we wish at this time to express our appreciation of the grant obtained from the Govt. through the local member Mr. C. A. Cameron. The dispute which followed the appropriation had to do with the site only rather than that of accepting the grant already made by the Dept.

Therefore, we request the Govt. to accept the conveyance of the property now occupied by the Hydro Shop in exchange for either the Quinn or Grier properties not later than June 1st, 1939.

Secret Discussion On Balkan Policy Held by Ministers

Bucharest, Jan. 20 (AP) — Foreign Ministers Grigore Gafencu of Rumania and Alksander Cincar-Markovic of Yugoslavia held a secret discussion on Balkan policy today.

They met at the castle owned by Queen Elizabeth of Greece near Timisoara, Rumania, where King Carol of Rumania and Regent Prince Paul of Yugoslavia conferred January 12.

Despite the mystery which surrounded the foreign ministers' session, it was reported unofficially Yugoslavia is seeking a Rumanian-Hungarian rapprochement to strengthen southeastern Europe neutrality.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 20 (AP) —A parking metre paid off like a slot machine to John Barone, Omaha motorist. The nickel he tried to deposit wouldn't go into the metre because another stuck inside. He rapped the machine with his fist and the coin flew out.

RAIL-GRADING SYSTEM PRAISED BY LINN FAIR

24 CLUBS FORMED

The rail-grading system is the only fair and square way of estimating the value of hogs, Linn Fair, Hastings County agricultural representative told the County Council in an address of farming matters of the county, yesterday.

He asked members to contact their constituents and advise them to the effect that in increasing the hog population to meet demands of the Mother Country not to forget quality as well as quantity.

Hastings County, he said, was one of the most important hog-producing counties in Ontario, ranking tenth in pre-war production. It produced 55,000 hogs last year, twenty-eight per cent of which were select grades and on which the government bonus of one dollar per head was paid.

To Provide Boar Free.

In order to encourage the production of bacon, the government Mr. Fair said, will provide free of charge, an advanced registry boar to groups of six farmers owning at least twenty brood sows between them. Service charges would recompense the farmer chosen to care for the boar. Twenty-four bacon-hog clubs have already been established in the county, the speaker said, which are producing hogs that mature rapidly, which not only provides quick products but also cuts down feed costs.

Twenty sows have been placed in the county by the department, Mr. Fair said, and litters have been distributed to young farmers clubs throughout the district in an effort to speed up production of bacon type hogs. The pesent type hogs raised in the county was "fairly decent," Mr. Fair told council, but there was a tendency toward them being too long and shallow-bodied. This could be remedied, he felt, by the introduction of the bacon type sows and boars offered by the government.

Assumes Responsibility

Prices at the present time are $20.18 cents for 112 pounds of pork laid down at an Atlantic seaport. The British Government assumes all responsibility of transport from Canadian shores. At the present rate of exchange, this price nets the farmer approximately 9 cents per pound liveweight on an average.

Referring to cheese, Mr. Fair told council that the price had been pegged three times last fall, the last quotation of which netted the farmer roughly 13 1-2 cents per pound. The price was low at the start of the season, but war conditions brought about a sharp increase. The outlook for Spring, he said, was one on which he would not hazard a guess, but he felt sure the government did not feel that the price of 13 1-2 cents was sufficient to warrant increased production.

He did not know, he said whether the bonus or premium paid for high scoring cheese last year would be continued, but he felt sure that prices would be much higher at the beginning of the season than were those of a year ago.

Mild discussion followed Mr. Fair's address in which reeves asked questions relative to the farming conditions of the county.

GEN. HERTZOG CONTINUES FIGHT

Smuts' Government is Expected to Command Safe Majority

Cape Town, South Africa, Jan. 20—(CP)—General J. B. M. Hertzog, whose opposition to South Africa's declaration of war against Germany led to his resignation as Prime Minister Sept. 6, continued his fight for neutrality today as parliament opened a new session.

He gave notice he would offer the following motion in the House of Assembly Tuesday: 'This House is of the opinion that the time has come for the state of war against Germany to be ended and peace be restored.

In the Speech from the Throne, read by the Governor General, Sir Patrick Duncan, it was intimated the government would ask parliament for broader war powers. Approval will be sought for war measures already put into force.

As the new session opened political circles predicted the government of General Jan Smuts would command a safe majority when the Hertzog motion is put to a vote. When General Smuts, then Minister of Justice, split with Prime Minister Hertzog in the first few days of the war, Hertzog was defeated by a margin of 13 votes. It is believed the Smuts majority now may be as high as 18 votes.

SECOND CONTINGENT OF CANADIAN TROOPS AT TRAINING DEPOT

The second contingent of the Canadian active service force were welcomed upon their arrival in England by Mr. Anthony Eden and Mr. Vincent Massey, LOWER LEFT. With their forage caps decorated for New Years, these two Canadian lads, UPPER LEFT, wave a cheery greeting upon their arrival at a training depot, while some of their comrades, UPPER RIGHT, chalk up a New Year's greeting on the barrack door. Closely following on the heels of the first contingent of Canadian troops, Australian airmen, LOWER RIGHT, arrived in England on Boxing Day to form the first dominion unit on active service. They are manning Short-Sunderland flying boats and taking active part in coastal patrol work.

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Jan. 20—(CP Cable)—A German offensive against Poland and Belgium in present winter conditions would be a 'colossal gamble' in the opinion of high military leaders here.

An attack against the low countries is feasible as long as the weather stays cold and the ground remains frozen, but a sudden thaw would bring extremely serious handicaps where a reverse might develop into disaster.

In the opinion of military experts here the Germans would be forced to give at least 24, and probably 48, hours' notice of their intention to move against the low countries.

At the present time Germany has big troop concentration along her western frontiers, which grow smaller in numbers as Switzerland is approached.

Big Gamble on Weather

Germany's big gamble would be over the weather. Winter conditions impose greater difficulties on the attacker than on the defence, but if the German high command could bank on the canals and rivers of Holland and Belgium remaining frozen an attack might be justified in German eyes.

Military experts here believe it would be impossible for Germany to launch a winter offensive against the Maginot Line or through Switzerland. That leaves three possibilities—into Northern Holland, into that part of Holland below the Rhine and a big swing into Belgium or through the Ardenne and Luxembourg.

Fears of Invasion Recede

Although the fears of Belgium and Holland last weekend over the imminence of a German invasion have receded, there are many diplomatic and military experts here who believe the crisis is not over, but merely postponed.

They believe in the inevitability of Germany moving against the low countries at some time with the double object of securing air bases for bombing Britain and flanking the Maginot Line.

One reason advanced by those holding this view is Germany's conviction she can win the war only by a knockout blow against Britain. If this can be done at all, it will be possible only by air attack, which in turn demands air fields from which fighter aircraft can convoy bombers in large numbers and in a steady stream.

Germany can get these air fields, from which Britain's factories and seaborne commerce can be attacked, only from the low countries. It might be that Adolf Hitler will decide to protect his rear first by some action against Rumania or Scandinavia, but the belief in the inevitability of his attacking the low countries is growing here.

Not a Wolf-Track Seen by Hunters in Big Drive

Apsley, Ont., Jan. 19—(CP)—The score in the drive to rid this district of deer-eating wolves as it stands today is five newspapermen, two game wardens, two guides and two hunters, all slightly frost-bitten, but no wolves.

The game wardens are along just to see that everything is according to the Ontario game laws, the guides are to keep the hunters (two of them) from losing themselves in the bush, and, of course, the five newspapermen are here to let the world know how the drive progresses.

The trouble, according to Charles Kingan, of Peterborough, who organized the hunt, is that current temperatures with the mercury hovering around the 30 below mark have caused would-be hunters to think twice about leaving their warm homes and heading this way.

Holding in his hand a file of letters from men in Toronto, and other centres, all eager to participate in the hunt (when it was announced last week) Mr. Kingan is looking for a larger turnout today.

With the accompanying newspapermen, guides and wardens, Mr. Kingan and a friend ventured into the bush south of here yesterday and well into the interior to Wolf Lake, but there was not even the track of a wolf.

With no better luck today than there was yesterday, it looks as if the Peterborough and district wolf hunt of 1940 is going to fizzle out like a wet fuse with the only wolf sign in the district being the two wolf pelts that Stewart Brown has.

KINGSTON ROAD UNITED CHURCH HAS ANNUAL MEETING

The Kingston Road United Church held its annual meeting on Wednesday night with a good attendance.

Reports from the different departments showed a healthy condition financially. Stewards raised $260.00, Woman's Association $113.00, Sunday School $39.00, M. and M. Fund $41.00.

All debts were paid with a surplus to start the New Year.

Words of appreciation of the work of the pastor, Rev. E. Farnsworth, were expressed and a unanimous invitation was given him to remain another year.

The Sunday School was reorganized with the following officers and teachers: Superintendent, James Donaldson; asst. superintendent, E. A. Ridley; secretary, Mrs. Herb Walkom, asst. secretary, Dorothy MacDonald; treasurer, Mrs. Ted Gazley; pianist, Mrs. J. Donaldson; superintendents: Cradle Roll, Annie Logan; Temperance, Mrs. C. A. McDonald; Missions, Mrs. Ted Gagley; teachers, E. Farnsworth, Herb Walkom, Mrs. E. Farnsworth, Mrs. C. A. MacDonald, Mrs. J. Donaldson.

Story of Canada's Army In Second Great War To be Recorded in Picture and Sound

By GILLIS PURCELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Aldershot, Eng., Jan. 20—(Delayed)—(CP)—The story of the Canadian forces in the second Great War will be set down for posterity in every detail—in words and pictures, complete with sound effects.

Officially, the most important historical duty in the army is compiling the daily "war diary" for the use of any historian appointed by the Department of National Defence at Otawa. Col. Fortescue Duguid was named historian of the Canadian forces in the first Great War.

(L. W. Brockington of Winnipeg, has been named counsellor to the war committee of the Canadian cabinet in Ottawa and recorder of Canada's war effort.)

News of War's Activities

Canadian daily newspapers were assured news of the force's activities when the Department of National Defence accredited to it a representative of The Canadian Press, the co-operative news-gathering organization of the Dominion's daily newspapers. In the last war, The Canadian Press was represented at headquarters of the Canadian Corps in the field.

No permanent arrangement has yet been made for production of photographs but temporary steps have been taken. Ernest Wilson of Ottawa who took part in the Canadian cavalry's charge at Moreuil Wood in 1918, now attached to the Dominion Government Motion Picture Bureau, accompanied the troops overseas and ground out 2,500 feet of film.

C. B. C. Records

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation took steps to assure an historical record for the air. Bob Bowman of Ottawa, director of special events, and Art Holmes of Windsor, Ont., his technical assistant, made the trip to England recording interesting material en route. They turned the "mike" for instance, on the departure of the troops from Canada, concerts and ceremonies aboard and disembarkation in England.

On arrival in England they went to the laboratories of the British Broadcasting Corporation to compile and edit their material, incorporating typical sounds they spotted in out-of-the-way corners of the troopship. Later their efforts were heard in Canada on programs broadcast from England.

Insurance Given a Toronto Firm

Insurance covering road liability and which includes liability protection for all county buildings, was awarded to the A. E. Wilson Company Limited, Toronto, at a premium of $896.00 by the Hastings County Council yesterday.

Mr. Joseph White, representative of the company, which has carried the road insurance of the county thirteen of the last fourteen years, told council in a brief address that conditions this year in the roads and bridges system were very favorable, and for this reason his company had decided to make a substantial reduction in premium costs.

Road insurance, it was pointed out by Mr. White, covers all cases where the county would be liable for any defects in its roads and bridges system.

FINNS CAPTURE SEVERAL POSTS

High Command Says Swedish Volunteer Airmen Take Part in Bombing Russian Camps and Columns

Helsingfors, Jan. 20—(AP)— The Finns tonight reported capture of "a few enemy positions" northeast of Lake Ladoga and the wiping out of a Russian detachment of five officers and 45 men near Ilomantse.

The high command also announced that Swedish volunteer airmen had taken part with the Finns during the past week in bombing Russian camps and columns.

The Army's announcement, covering yesterday's events, said a battle had continued throughout the day at Markajaervi, where Finns were reported to have caught up with 40,0000 Russians in retreat above the Arctice Circle.

Widespread Russian air raids yesterday, the communique said, involved about 250 planes over the Karelian isthmus and the war zone and about 450 over the whole country, but the casualties were only one dead and four wounded.

P.E. Co. Council to Spend $10,000 Less On Roads this Year

Picton—Favoring a curtailment of road work for the duration of the war, Prince Edward County Council yesterday decided to reduce the amount spent on construction and maintenance of roads in the county this year to $60,000. This is ten thousand dollars less than last year. $35,000 will be spent on maintenance and the remainder on construction. Road superintendent J. B. Dunkley pointed out that with the taking over of 24 more miles of road the county now had 180 miles of road in the county system. He stated that no grants were being made on the purchase of new equipment and as a result council decided not to purchase a new crusher but to rent one.

Reeve H. S. Colliver stated that Picton had planned a street program which had to be curtailed due to changes in grants due to war time conditions.

Warden J. H. Rutter, Reeve Ed Purtelle, Reeve Roy Ketcheson and Reeve B. Pearsall were named a committee to attend the Ontario Good Roads Convention in Toronto.

Grant for patriotic purposes and others took up a great deal of time. Judge E. H. McLean, president of the Prince Edward County branch of the Canadian Red Cross, made an appeal for $15,000. He stated this was the amount designated the county as its part of the National Red Cross campaign, which had gone over the top elsewhere. It had been decided not to have a canvass here but to have the council make a grant for the same purpose. On the previous day, council had voted to give the Sir Thomas Picton Chapter I. O. D. E. the sum of $100 per month until further notice to aid them in their war work. Miss L. Boulter, the Regent, stated the Order had raised over $500 since war began but help was required to carry on their extensive work.

Council felt there were organizations and appeals which were worthy and decided to appropriate $15,000 for patriotic purposes, subject to approval of the Ontario Municipal Board. Of this, $9,000 will be given for the Canadian Red Cross Society, $3,000 for use of the Prince Edward branch in purchasing supplies and $3,000 to meet other demands including those of the I.O.D.E.

Council voted $100 as a retaining fee for Constable Earl Marvin of Wellington. It was pointed out that a constable in that part of the county was necessary due to the large territory by the Chief County Constable James Lovelace of Bloomfield.

The usual grant of $100 was made to the Salvation Army, a similar sum to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and $25 to Quinte Seed Fair, at which county farmers are heavy winners each year.

Feast of St. Patrick Observed in Diocese On April 3rd.

The Feast of St. Patrick will be observed this year in the archdiocese of Kingston April 3rd, instead of March 17, a change being followed generally in the Catholic diocese of Ontario. Such a change in lithurgical dates is not unusual when a Feast falls on a Sunday. This year the 17th of March is on Palm Sunday, hence the transfer of the celebration of the Feast day.

ALL IS BRIGHT

CHAPTER XXVII

Star heard the carols, faintly at first, above the put-put-put of the launch. Then as they drew nearer to the ship the words were clear: "Let nothing you dismay."

Tears rolled down her cheeks. It was so good to hear cheerful voices again, to see the smooth white side of the ship, clean and shining, towering above them. She asked nothing more than this; to step up on deck and to stay there, watched over and guarded from the unknown dangers of the sea.

She had scarcely spoken to Kent. He had reached the schooner soon after it was headed back toward Kingston. Nor had Coates said any more, either in apology or in defense of his behavior. His interest in her seemed to have vanished into thin air with his knowledge that she was not an heiress. For the first time in her life Star was grateful that she worked for her living.

The library at Milford had become a very haven of comfort in her thoughts. More than once in the last two hours she had wished fervently that she was back, sheltered by its familiar walls, the books looking down upon her with friendly faces.

Kent had said simply: "Youd' better come back with me. We're sailing in half an hour."

Coates had instantly lowered the rope ladder. Star wondered how she had ever managed to get down without falling into the water that heaved and reached toward her as the rope bumped against the side of the schooner. Her knuckles were skinned. She saw that, but she felt no pain. She could only move automatically, sit where Kent told her to, watch him moving quickly and efficiently in the small boat. He had called up to Coates: "Miss Sandringham's travelling case?"

So he knew about that too! Star felt that her misery was complete. Naturally Kent thought she had been running away with Coates. How could she explain that she hadn't packed that bag, hadn't even known it was there? It would sound silly. Better just sit quietly until they returned to the ship. At least Kent must know that she repented ever setting foot aboard the Merry Maid.

She had managed to keep control of herself all during the long trip back. Kent was busy driving the boat through the water, intent on reaching the ship as quickly as possible. He might almost have forgotten she was there, so unconscious did he seem of her presence She made no effort to attract his attention. She wanted only to reach her cabin before she gave way to the sobs that were tearing at her throat.

But she had not thought of the singing. Without warning the sound came across the water, so reassuring and sweet that she could not restrain her tears.

Still Kent did not speak. He drew alongside the pier and helped her out.

"I'll bring the bag." His voice was matter of fact, as if they had just been for a short sail, as if the very world hadn't shattered at her feet. The carolers were singing: "Oh, tidings of comfort and joy—Comfort and joy!"

Star sped up the ladder and past the curious seaman who stood on deck. She barely had time to reach her cabin before the singers disbanded. Hardly had time to realize that the nightmare was over and that Christmas Eve had brought her a real gift of security, even though it had removed Kent from her farther than ever.

In the dining salon, on the small platform Elise's hands lay idle on the piano fingering the keys of the last chord she had played. Below, the passengers were beginning to chatter; outside, the ship's whistle signalled their departure from the port.

Barton's hand reached over and touched hers lightly, almost with reverence. "Such lovely hands."

Elise raised her eyes slowly to his. She smiled tremulously as Barton bent his head and kissed her fingers one by one. She laid her cheek against his dark hair. The old year would soon die. But sometimes death did not bring pain alone. Sometimes it brought a new life—a new love.

"Come in!"

Captain Porter hastily buttoned his jacket. He was in an irascible mood. The ship had been delayed while Doctor Barrett chased after that fool girl who had planned her own shore excursion, and they would have to make up the time of this run. Captain Porter was a man of precision; there was nothing more annoying to him than to have his schedule upset, whether by a recalcitrant mule who refused to quiet down after he had been lifted to the deck, or by an equally stubborn passenger who wouldn't return to the ship on time.

What were girls coming to these days? He didn't know. In his own way Captain Porter had managed to find out that it was to Gloria Kent was engaged. He hadn't heard that the engagement was broken, but he had thought until this afternoon that Kent was making a mistake. The Sandringham girl looked trimmer, more as if she would be a good wife for a seafaring man. She reminded him in some way of his own Doris—not now, of course, for Doris had put on a little weight these last few years. But when she was younger.

"Come in!" he shouted again. Captain Porter marched over to the door and threw it open, his tongue framing the words he always had ready as a disciplinary measure. But as he saw who was standing there he choked hastily and backed into his room.

"Er—ah—come in, please," he said as cordially as he could manage. "Mrs. Jenkins, isn't it?"

"Yes, it is."

Mrs. Jenkins returned his stare with a belligerence that matched his own. For the moment Captain Porter forgot that he was master of the Cartagena and Mrs. Jenkins only a passenger. She was far more master of the situation than he. He almost apologized for occupying the cabin.

"I've come to report a theft," his visitor announced briskly. "I want you to stop the ship and have everyone searched."

Captain Porter sighed in exasperation, but he managed to control his words. "What is it you've lost, Mrs. Jenkins?"

"A pair of silk pajamas—white silk, they were—embroidered in green and gold. Lounging pajamas, you know."

"Ah—yes, I know. Have you looked through your cabin thoroughly?"

"Certainly I have. I'm not in the habit of making statements, Captain Porter, unless I am positive of the facts. These pajamas were stolen."

"When did you miss them?"

"When we returned to the cabin after decorating the Christmas tree. We stood around and sang carols for a while and the thief had a very good opportunity to go through everything. The ship must be searched."

Captain Porter glanced at his clock. It was the dinner hour. Yet it was hard to tell Mrs. Jenkins that even if she had lost the Kohinoor diamond he would not stop the ship for a second. In fact he wanted to get to the bridge and tell them to put on more speed.

"We'll conduct a search of course," he said soothingly. "But I feel sure that if you look—" his voice trailed off as Mrs. Jenkins fixed him with a piercing glance. "You—uh—you realize that we ask all passengers to lock their cabins while we are in port just to prevent such petty losses."

He said the wrong thing again. Mrs. Jenkins fairly bristled. "Petty? Those pajamas cost five dollars! And—and besides the money—" to the Captain's alarm, Mrs. Jenkins' face suddenly crumpled and her eyes became misty—"It's the—the idea that now—now I c-can't give them—"

"They were a gift?" Captain Porter helplessly clicked his tongue against his teeth. "But—couldn't you explain to the person for whom you intended them?"

"They were for Mr. Jenkins," his visitor said with a quaver in her voice. "He—he's never had silk pajamas. I—I wanted to surprise him."

CHAPTER XXVIII

Captain Porter coughed and turned away. The thought of Mr. Jenkins clad in white silk embroidered in green and gold was almost too much for his dignity. "I'm sure," he began as soon as he could speak, "that there is some explanation."

He was interrupted by another knock at the door. Mrs. Jenkins turned and Captain Porter went thankfully to see who the new caller was. Anything was better than facing Mrs. Jenkins alone.

Gloria stood in the doorway, still in the yellow dress she had worn that afternoon. She looked tired and plain. She ignored Mrs. Jenkins and spoke directly to the Captain. "I've had a beastly headache all evening," she said to him accusingly as if he had been the cause of it," and while I was up on the top deck trying to rest someone entered my cabin and removed a silver bracelet I bought at Cristobal. I want it returned immediately, please, or I shall hold you personally accountable."

"But, my dear lady—"

"On Christmas Eve, too," Mrs. Jenkins put in. "It must be some heathen who'd steal on a night like this. Captain Porter, I demand that you return to Jamaica and notify the proper authorities."

"Mrs. Jenkins has lost a pair of silk pajamas," the Captain explained to Gloria. She was uninterested. "Of course I realize that it is annoying," he said placatingly to both of them, "but I assure you the ship will be thoroughly searched. Doubtless it is someone's idea of a prank."

SURVIVE TURKISH EARTHQUAKE

A pathetic sight was this Turkish peasant woman, survivor of the violent earthquake, as she sought refuge with her baby in a shelter made of 'quake wreckage. The death toll in the earthquake was placed officially at 30,000 but unofficiall sources placed the number of deaths from tremors over a wide section of the country at nearly 50,000.

FOUR BRITISH SHIPS, ONE A DESTROYER, SUNK

3 Neutral Victims Added to Toll Of Men and Ships

1485-Ton Flotilla Leader, Grenville, Sunk by "Mine or Torpedo" States Admiralty — Eight Killed and 73 Known to be Missing

MANY WOUNDED

Winston Churchill in Broadcast to Empire States War at Sea "Not Going Badly at All" Despite Losses and Misfortunes

London, Jan. 22 (CP)—Four British ships, one of them a destroyer, were sunk in a wave of week-end shipping losses.

Three neutral victims also added to the heavy toll of men and ships, especially in icy waters around the British Isles, which some sources blamed on an increase in German mines.

Sinking of the destroyer Grenville, 1,485-ton flotilla leader, "by a mine or torpedo" was announced by the Admiralty yesterday. She was the fourth British destroyer sunk in nearly five months of war and Britain's 21st loss to her fleet. When she sank was not disclosed.

The Admiralty said 118 officers and men were saved, but "eight are known to have been killed and 73 are missing and must be presumed to have lost their lives". It listed the commander, Captain G. E. Creasy, among the 81 dead. Among survivors landed at the east coast port were some severely wounded.

Churchill Not Dismayed.

Britons saw the week-end losses as pointing up Winston Churchill's warning of Saturday that "many losses and misfortunes" still lie ahead in the war at sea, even though the allied successes have been so great. The First Lord of the Admiralty in an Empire broadcast said "things are not going so badly after all. Indeed, they have never gone so well in any naval war."

Why The Weather?

By MAJOR A. H. THIESSEN

Science Service Meteorologist

Cold air and water vapor! Water vapor, whence comes rain and snow, forms a part of the atmosphere in varying amounts everywhere from the surface of the earth to the stratosphere, where it may exist in minute quantities. The actual amount of water vapor decreases rapidly with altitude. The quantity in one cubic foot of space when saturated varies from 8.5 grains at 72 degrees to less than one-half grain at zero. By saturation is meant all the vapor that can exist, and the amount varies with the temperature as indicated above. Thus it is seen that the heaviest snows can not occur at low temperatures. This accounts for the small snow fall in the polar regions and in the coldest weather.

Napanee's Assessment For County Rate Set at $1,563,000

Napanee, Ont., Jan. 22 (CP)—Lennox and Addington County council passed an assessment bylaw as it ended the January meeting on Saturday, setting Napanee's assessment at $1,563,000 and thereby carrying the town's protest to a new arena.

Reeve John G. Daly and Deputy Reeve Dr. C. M. Stratton had threatened that if the town's demand for an assessment no higher than $1,250,000 were not met, they would present to the Ontario legislature a bill providing for Napanee's secession from the county's jurisdiction. They were the only council members who voted against the assessment bylaw.

The bylaw, apart from minor adjustments, will effect the same levy as the compromise agreement of 1939, which was decided upon after long litigation between the county and the town over Napanee's share in the equalized assessment.

Warden Wilfred McCabe left the chair for the second straight day to lead discussion. Reeve Daly moved at one point, when the issue seemed deadlocked, that the meeting be adjourned. The Warden refused to accept the adjournment motion until the issue was argued further.

The council voted that J. M. Simpson, K.C., be asked to resign on the ground that his services were "not acceptable" at present.

ANNULAR ECLIPSE VISIBLE APRIL 7

In Canada Part Shadow Will Reach to Arctic Circle

New York, Jan. 22 —(AP)— An annular, or ring, eclipse of the sun will sweep across the southern United States April 7 from west Texas to Florida, travelling eastward.

It will shadow part of the United States up to the Alaskan southern border. In Canada, the part-shadow will reach to the Arctic circle. Exact positions have not been predicted.

An annular eclipse is so named because the rim of the sun will show in a narrow ring of light all around the dark moon. This is due to the fact that the moon is little too far away for its bulk to cover the sun completely.

While astronomers can make only a few studies in this kind of an eclipse, the spectacle for the public is something that comes to most persons only once in a lifetime. This eclipse lasts six minutes, much longer than most total eclipses. During that time, the moon will cover 93 percent of the sun's surface.

Heroine of Kidnap Case Shoots Self; Brooded Over Father's Death

Kansas City, Jan. 22 (AP) — Crushed by the death of her father and brooding over the punishment of the men who kidnapped her, Mary McElroy, 32, daughter of Kansas City's ousted city manager, shot and killed herself Sunday. Her maid found the body, a small pistol nearby and a wound in the head.

H. F. McElroy, stormy autocrat of the city hall, had been both father and mother to his daughter and son. Their mother died when they were babies, and McElroy brought them up, dressed them, bathed them, supervised their education. Mary and "the old boy," as she called her father, had been inseparable companions for years.

Mary McElroy saw the will to live ebb from him after former mayor Bryce B. Smith moved him and other Pendergast organization men out of office last spring. McElroy died in the summer.

Seven years ago, during the kidnappers' trial, a defence attorney asked McElroy, "but your daughter was not harmed?"

"Yes," McElroy answered, "my daughter has been injured to the extent that I fear she never will get over it."

Miss McElroy's maid found her body on a divan on the sun porch of her home, a .25 calibre pistol on the floor. A police examination showed powder burns on her right hand.

She left a note, unaddressed:

"My four kidnappers are probably the only people on earth who don't consider me an utter fool.

"You have your death penalty now—so — please give them a chance."

Four men kidnapped Miss McElroy from her bath May 27, 1933. They chained her in the basement of a house near Shawnee, Kas., for nearly 30 hours.

Three of the men were apprehended and convicted. Walter McGee was sentenced to the gallows but Miss McElroy appealed to Guy B. Park, then governor, and Park commuted his sentence to life imprisonment, the same as imposed on his brother George.

Clarence Click, who lived in the farmhouse, was sentenced to eight years but was released in 1938. Clarence Stephens still is at large.

ONLY 2 LIFEBOATS AVAILABLE AFTER LINER TAKES FIRE

Survivors of Burned Italian Liner Orazio Reach Marseille With Harrowing Stories

FIVE BOATS STAND BY

Explosion Occurs Late Sunday as Liner Battled Way Through Tempest Off Barcelona

Marseille, France, Jan. 22 —(AP)—Italian officials announced late this afternoon that all of the 412 passengers aboard the burned Italian motorship Orazio had been rescued, despite heavy seas and speed with which fire ravaged the vessel yesterday off the south coast of France.

Local agents of the Italian line, owners of the vessel, said that "only a few" members of the crew of 231 still were missing after a new check-up of survivors taken aboard half a dozen rescue ships.

Marseille, France, Jan. 22—(AP)—First survivors of about 900 persons aboard the burned Italian liner Orazio reached here today with harrowing stories of a sudden explosion which enveloped the 11,699-ton ship in flame and destroyed all but two of her lifeboats.

The 47 survivors brought to safety by a French auxiliary cruiser said most of the Orazio's passengers and crew threw themselves into the stormy Mediterranean, where they were picked up by lifeboats launched from three Italian merchant-ships and two French warships standing by.

More survivors were due this morning aboard two French destroyers. Special hospitals were ready to care for those who had suffered burns and exposure.

Refugees from the abandoned South America-bound liner said the explosion occurred about 5 p.m. yesterday in her engine room while she was fighting her way through a tempest 60 miles off Barcelona.

While two French warships, the 23,350-ton Italian liner Conte Biancamano, the 11,760-ton Italian liner Colombo and the 5,441-ton Italian freighter Recca put out their boats the two remaining Orazio lifeboats were launched.

Survivors said one, believed to have carried an Italian diplomat, was lost. He had been en route to his South American post.

The Italian Minister to Panama, Renato Firenze, was aboard the burned motorship. Former Belgian

4 PROVINCES ASKED TO SHARE IN FUND FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

Montreal, Jan. 22 (CP) — The Canadian Student Assembly announced today a campaign to have the Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia governments share in a plan under which the Dominion Government is willing to spend $225,000 with the provincial administrations for scholarships during the next three years.

The plan for student-aid scholarships averaging $150 already has been endorsed by the authorities of the five provinces. It was approved by the Dominion Government after its submission to Labor Minister Rogers by an assembly delegation last March.

GERMAN SEAMEN REMOVED FROM SHIP BY BRITISH

Jap Vessel Halted by Shot Across Bows Just Off Japanese Shore

PROTEST MADE

Tokyo, Jan. 22 (CP)—Japan today formally protested the British action in halting the Japanese liner Ascama Maru and removing 21 German merchant seamen. A shot was reported fired across the bow of the Japanese ship.;

The protest was lodged with Sir Robert Craigie, the British Ambassador, by Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita.

While officials studied the incident, Sakichiro Suma, foreign office spokesman, reported that Japanese Embassy officials at Washington would approach the State Department on "technical matters" regarding Japanese-American trade relations.

The Commercial Treaty between Japan and the United States expires Friday.

Termed "Regrettable"

The spokesman termed the removal of Nazi seamen by a British warship as "very regrettable" because the "search and arrests took place so near our shore."

Passengers aboard the ship said the liner was spotted about 35 miles off the Japanese shore. The Asama Maru left San Francisco Jan. 6.

Passengers said the Nazi prisoners were among a group of 40 men formerly seamen on Standard Oil tankers who were being sent home at the company's expense because of the war. They were en route from San Francisco to Germany by way of Japan.

They said the warship, apparently a light cruiser with her name blocked out, came alongside the Asama Maru Saturday and ordered her to halt. A shot was fired across the liner's bow.

Three British officers and nine seamen boarded the liner, it was said, and "with the utmost courtesy" examined the passports of the German passengers.

11 Allowed to Remain

Seventeen of the group of 40 were ignored, apparently because they were unskilled seamen and two others hid from the boarding party, it was said. Eleven other Germans, mostly merchants, also were allowed to remain on board.

The captain of the liner, Yoshisada Watabe, said a "semi-merchantman which appeared to be armed" remained about two miles away during the proceedings and then disappeared.

The British Embassy termed the incident as "in accordance with international law."

YOUTH SHOOTS STEPFATHER

Portland, Ore., Jan. 22 (AP) — Norman Sweider, 16, became enraged as he saw his stepfather knock down his mother three times. He shot the stepfather and then bicycled to a police station to surrender. Police found James Hart, 40, dying, and Mrs. Hart cowering in a corner.

DUTCH GOV'T CENSORS NEWS LEAVING HOLLAND

Intention is to Make Sure There Will be No Doubt of Strict Neutrality

REGULATIONS

Amsterdam, Jan. 22 (CP-Havas)—The Dutch government today imposed censorship on outgoing news.

With the country just realxing from a second threat of invasion, the government announced it was instituting news control to ensure that along these channels at least there shall be no possible doubt cast on Holland's strict neutrality.

Army leaves are being restored Wednesday.

A protest was filed at Berlin today over the flight of a German plane Saturday over Dutch territory.

Censorship will cover communication by telegram and telephone. Transmission will be refused to news falling under the following categories:

"Communications dealing with the defence of the Netherlands apropos of plans, suppositions, or rumors.

"Communications which can endanger the maintenance of Dutch neutrality or cast doubt upon this neutrality.

"Communications which can arouse abroad hostility toward Holland.

"Communications injurious to powers friendly to Holland.

"Communications concerning acts, measures, and projects of the Dutch government or of other countries concerning Holland which have not been officially confirmed by the Dutch government."

MAYOR URGES MEN TO MARRY

Massachusetts Mayor Says Man Without Job Need Not Hesitate

Gardner, Mass., Jan. 22 (AP) — A considerate Mayor, who had but 15 cents when he returned from his own honeymoon, wasn't spoofing when he told unemployed men of this community that if they married he would see that they were supported "even if you have to go on public welfare."

"It's high time for reformers to stop 'monkeying' with natural laws" Mayor Fred E. Perry, father of two boys and two girls said in an interview.

"Because a number of people have been frightened by the drivel they have heard during the past decade about economic collapse, they have refrained from marrying and the result is an increasing number of bachelors and old maids and a falling birth rate."

"A healthy city, state and nation requires marriage and if a man without a job in this city wants to get married, he has my blessing and benediction, and I'll see to it that he gets a public welfare job."

OVER-ICE ATTACK BY SOVIET ARMY EXPECTED HOURLY

Gulf of Finland From the Estonian to Finnish Shore Now Frozen Over

FINNS PREPARED

Finnish Airmen Successfully Raid Russian Naval Base at Kronstadt

By WADE WERNER

Associated Press Staff Writer

Helsingfors, Jan. 22 —(AP)— Hundreds of Russians had been killed, the high command reported today, in each of a number of futile attempts to crush Finnish resistance on the Karelian Isthmus and the eastern front.

On the Karelian Isthmus, where the Finns have reported almost daily attacks, the army said the invaders sought to give effect to their drives by loudspeaker exhortations that the Finns surrender under the threat that the Germans were coming to help their foe.

Reviewing developments in the conflict yesterday, the high command reported in its regular evening communique:

120 Enemy Dead Counted

In the Taipale sector of the Karelian front "about 120 enemy dead were counted in our foremost positions and on the ground in front of our lines were the bodies of several hundred others" after Russian attacks were driven off.

On the eastern front, northeast of Lake Ladoga, the Finns repulsed the Russians, who left "three officers and about 120 men killed."

Further north but still on the lower eastern front, in the Loimola sector, the Russians were driven back with "about 450 men killed" and five tanks destroyed.

In its announcement of the loudspeaker campaign, the army said:

"The enemy tried to give effect to his attacks by loudspeakers mounted in positions which exhorted our men to surrender, declaring that Viborg (Viipuri) would be taken within 48 hours and threatening that Germans were coming to help him and would kill all Finns."

Nothing New in North

In the far north, above the Arctic circle, where Russians earlier had been reported bracing after withdrawing to Markajaervi, the army said there was "nothing new."

In slight air activity yesterday, it was announced, only four persons were known to have been wounded.

Freezing of the Gulf of Finland from the Estonian to the Finnish shore confronted Finland meanwhile with the possibility of an over-ice attack from Russian bases in Estonia.

PREDICTS DEFICIT OF $6,000,000

Montreal, Jan. 22 (CP)—A deficit of $6,000,000 for the coming fiscal year is inevitable for the city of Montreal unless new sources of revenue can be found, Alderman John Kerry said Saturday in an address before members of a Montreal Curling club. Among suggestions advanced by Mr. Kerry was one that the "unfair financial burdens imposed on our municipality by superior governments" be lifted.

LEGISLATURE MAY RECESS THURSDAY

Cannot Finish Legislation Until Federal Budget is Brought Down

Toronto, Jan. 22 (CP)—Possibility was seen today that the Ontario Legislature will be recessed next Thursday night until after the federal budget is presented, or until the government has more of its legislative program in shape.

Premier Mitchell Hepburn has said it is planned to have the bill amending the Succession Duty Act dealt with before the recess, but reports are that difficulties in drafting a lawyer-proof measure may not be overcome in time.

Preparation of the Ontario budget is necessarily delayed until it is seen what Ottawa proposes in the way of new taxation. It is likely that increases in the federal income tax will be followed by increases in the provincial income tax, which is now exactly half of the federal rates.

Used As Sounding Board.

There is speculation as to what was the purpose in calling House weeks earlier than usual. Some observers hold the view that it was to give a sounding board for the dissatisfaction of Premier Hepburn and a seeming majority of his followers, and Conservative leader George Drew with the conduct of the war by the federal government.

Only 23 Liberals of the 65 in the House followed Premier Hepburn in his condemnation of Prime Minister King. Nine voted against the resolution. Ten or more ducked the vote and the rest were absent.

Delicate questions in constituency organization are facing the Liberal party in Ontario by reason of the renewal of the open feud between Premier Hepburn and Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Anxiously awaited is some statement in the House of Commons by Mr. King.

GUARDS COURT DURING APPEAL

Scotland Yard Takes Precautions Owing to Rumor of Possible Trouble

London, Jan. 22 (CP) — Scotland Yard deployed 74 detectives around the court where two Irishmen appeared today from death sentences in connection with an August 25 bombing at Coventry.

It was reported the Yard had been warned of possible action by the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

The men were convicted of murder in the death of Miss Elsie Ansella, shop assistant and one of five persons who died in the blast. She was to have been married September 2nd.

The defendants making the appeal are James Richards, 29, and Peter Barnes, 32.

Officers scanned credentials of all spectators and the hearing was adjourned until tomorrow without an incident.

President of Soap Company Gets Highest Corporate Income in States

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—A soap manufacturer shoved aside all the fabulously-paid motion picture colony to rank as the highest paid corporation employee in 1938 in the United States.

The $469,713 salary and bonus of F. A. Countway, president of Lever Brothers Company in Massachusetts, topped all others in the year's corporate income tax returns.

Under a new law the treasury made public today the names of those who received more than $75,000, instead of $15,000 as in past years. This change cut the list from 50,000 to an even 400. But the list was not a "400" of the wealthiest people, because it excluded income from dividends or other sources not called "compensation". Thus names like Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., do not appear at all.

Movie Star Gets $301,944.

Thomas J. Watson, head of International Business Machines Corporation, ranked second with $453,440, and not until sixth place did Actress Claudette Colbert's $301,944 appear as the best that Hollywood could do.

An unexplained technicality excluded from the list all the wealthy executives and artists of Loew's Incorporated and its subsidiary, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Pictures. Louis B. Mayer, M-G-M head who led all others on the 1937 salary list with $1,161,753, was not shown for 1938, nor were celebrities like Clark Gable, Myrna Loy, Bette Davis, Paul Muni, and Greta Garbo. Some of these names may appear later on a supplemental list.

Hollywood Salaries Pretty Good.

The film pay cheques listed included: Warner Baxter, $279,807; Producer Darryl F. Zanuck, $265,000; Bing Crosby, $260,000; Jack Benny, $250,000 (from Paramount Pictures alone); Shirley Temple, $114,848; Leslie Howard, $141,249; Loretta Young, $181,615; Fred MacMurray, $183,333; Henry Fonda, $105,000; George Raft, $186,964; Garry Cooper, $140,129; John Barrymore, $105,833; Bob Burns, $155,952; Joel McCrea, $152,000; Marlene Dietrich, $130,000; Charles Boyer, $161,000; Frederic March, $136,311; Tyrone Power, $140,750; Director Roy Del Ruth, $216,741; Samuel Goldwyn, $156,000.

Central China May Seek Official Explanation

Count Ciano Sends Greetings to Wang Whom Japan Has Designated as Government Head in Conquered Area in China

JAPANESE VIEW

Foreign Observers Predict Protest Against What is Termed Italy's Virtual Recognition of Japanese-Controlled Government

Rome, Jan. 22—(AP)— Foreign observers predicted today they would protest against Italy's virtual recognition of a Japanese-controlled Government for conquered territory in China before it is organized.

Felicitations to the projected regime were conveyed in a telegram to Wang Ching-Wei, whom the Japanese have designated as Government head.

Foreign Minister Count Ciano, it was disclosed officially, messaged Wang that "China with her great neighbor, Japan, will find a new era of prosperity and friendship" and added:—

"I must express most sincere felicitations, and I assure you that Fascist Italy is ready to offer your work of national reconstruction her comradely collaboration."

Wang at Tsingtao

Wang arrived at Tsingtao today for a conference with heads of the Japanese controlled governments of Peiping and Nanking in an effort to work out a central regime.

Wang's message in reply said that he appreciated the "full value" of the Ciano note.

The former Chinese Premier broke with General Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the Chinese Government and army, a year ago and since has sought an end of the war on Japanese terms for the "new order."

Diplomatic observers expressed doubt that the anti-comintern pact figured prominently in the exchange of messages. Japan, Italy and Germany were the chief signers of the pact to oppose international Communism.

Japanese Viewpoint

Japanese quarters, however, interpreted the exchange as indicating Italy desired to establish an anti-comintern front in China, support Japan's program for a "new order" in the far east and become the first to recognize the new regime when it is formed.

YOUTH STRUCK BY MOTOR CAR

James Howell, Shannonville, Walking in Centre of Road in Blinding Storm

Unable to see his way owing to the heavy driving snow, 20-year-old James Howell, R.R. No. 2 Shannonville, was struck down by a west bound motor car and injured one mile west of Shannonville late Saturday afternoon. A heavy snow storm was rag.ng .. the time and Howell is said to have been walking in the centre of the road. Mr. Thomas J. Pounder, of Toronto, who was driving the motor car immediately stopped and rendered what assistance possible. Howell was later rushed to the Belleville General Hospital where it was discovered he was suffering from back injuries and facial lacerations.

Mr. Pounder informed Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Ervine that he was proceeding cautiously, as visibility was very low owing to a driving snow storm. When the form of Howell loomed before him Mr. Pounder sounded his horn and swerved to miss the pedestrian who was walking on the road. Howell was knocked down and the vehicle crashed into the north ditch. No charges were believed necessary.

OBITUARY

CHARLES W. CRAIG, K.C.
(Formerly of Belleville)

Charles W. Craig, K.C., prominent barrister of Vancouver, B.C., and a former resident of Belleville and Tweed, passed away at the family residence, 1926 Cedar Crescent, in that city, early Sunday morning, January 21. He had been in failing health for some time.

The late Mr. Craig, who was about 68 years of age, was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Craig; his father being for many years in the Civil Service and connected with the Department of Inland Revenue at the port of Belleville. His boyhood days were passed in this city and he graduated from the Belleville High School. Deciding to take up the study of law he entered the office of Messrs. Clute and Williams, barristers, in this city. After study here and at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, he was eventually called to the bar and opened an office in the village of Tweed where he practised successfully for some years. About forty years ago he went to reside in Vancouver, B.C., and became one of the foremost barristers connected with the legal profession in Vancouver and the province as a whole. Upon several occasions he appeared upon legal matters before the Privy Council in England. In the city of Vancouver he was popular with many friends and held a high place in the regard of citizens in general. In religion he was a member of the United Church and fraternally he was a member of the Masonic Order. Old friends in Belleville and Tweed will sincerely regret to learn of his death.

Surviving him are his wife, who prior to her marriage was Miss Ella Sulman of Belleville; two daughters, Mrs. Ledley McMaster of Smith's Falls, Ont., and Mrs. (Dr.) George Rea, of Saskatoon, Sask.; two sisters, Miss Ida Craig of Toronto, and Miss Lily Craig of Norwood, Ont.

Ex-Mayor Charles N. Sulman of this city, is a brother-in-law of the late Mr. Craig.

The funeral will take place at Vancouver.

NATHAN H. LOVELESS,
Colborne, Ont.

Nathan Henry Loveless passed away at the family residence in Colborne on Saturday, Jan. 20th He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Nettie Bedard of Trenton, and the following sons and daughters, Pearl, Ethel, Manly, James, Fred, George, Harry, May and Nathan and one sister, Mrs. Irvine of Ottawa. Funeral will take place on Tuesday, Jan. 23rd.

MRS. ANNA M. CHAPMAN,
(Trenton)

The death occurred at the Belleville General Hospital on Sunday morning, Jan. 21st, of Mrs. Anna M. Chapman, late residence Trenton, Ont. She was 75 years of age and was a patient in the hospital since Oct. 27th last.

LATE WILLIAM E. MAYBEE

The funeral of William Edgar Maybee took place from the residence of his son-in-law Mr. S. H. Turner, 65 Grier Street, on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 20th. The service in the home and at Belleville Cemetery was conducted by Bishop George Marshall, assisted by the Rev. S. R. Foreman, both of Emmanuel Church.

The bearers were Messrs. Leon Turner, Edward Turner. Max Turner, Walter Turner, William Frain and Douglas Lancaster.

LATE MRS. SARAH E. HEARNS,
(Cannifton)

After a lengthy illness, Mrs. Sarah Eliza Hearns, widow of George Hearns, passed away at her late residence in the village of Cannifton on Saturday evening, Jan. 20th.

The late Mrs. Hearns, who was in her 77th year, was born in Cannifton and resided there all her life. Her parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. John Canniff. In religion she was a member of the United Church at Cannifton and throughout her long life she was highly esteemed in the community.

Surviving her are one son, Mr. Clarence C. Hearns. Cannifton; one step-son, Mr. Frank Hearns, London, Ont.; one niece, Mrs. William Cole, Cannifton. Her husband, George Hearns, died in the year 1922.

Resting at the residence of Mrs. Maude Cairns, Cannifton; the funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

DAVID MCADAM
(Havelock, Ont.)

Rawdon, Jan. 22 —(Special)— After several weeks' illness there passed away at Havelock, David McAdam, a former and highly respected resident for many years of Rawdon Township He died at the Green Nursing Home at Stirling early today. The deceased was born in Rawdon Township 76 years ago and excepting for the last three years spent in Havelock, the late Mr. McAdam lived all his life in Rawdon Township. He was married twice, his first wife being the former Eva Williams, while the surviving wife was formerly Mrs. Margaret Crowe. Surviving are two sons, Earl, of Mount Pleasant, and Arthur of the Teaching Staff in Toronto; one daughter, Mrs. Arthur Robertson of Uxbridge; two brothers, Fred and William McAdam of Havelock; three sisters, Mrs. William Brooks, Norwood; Mrs. Charles Parcels, Belmont; Mrs. M. Sexsmith, Pontypool; eight grandchildren and one great grandchild.

HOME MISSION STORY IS TOLD IN COLORED FILM

Rev. Dr. J. C. Cochrane, Sup't. of Home Missions of United Church in Northern Ontario and N. W. Quebec Speaks on Work

Northern Ontario and Northwestern Quebec home missions formed the theme of a motion picture sermon at Bridge Street United Church Sunday evening by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Cochrane, superintendent of Missions of the United Church in that section of Canada.

Dr. Cochrane used colored films which he had himself made on his trips through the north.

The great responsibilities which the development of the natural resources of the timber and the gold and base metal mines of these sections of Canada has thrown on the church were indicated in the intense activity of the churches to serve the people. As soon as there was sign of a settlement the nucleus of a town such as assembles about a gold mine, services are held in small buildings and the people at once begin to show the keenest interest in the construction of a church.

Building of churches is a heroic endeavor in those parts but the work is carried out in amazing manner. No large amount of money is available at first. In one instance, the congregation worshipped in a house basement, the organ and organist being upstairs, but volunteer labor and donations of some materials give a great deal of assistance and shortly where there was no church there is now a modern place of worship. Dr. Cochrane cited one instance of a congregation which started with three resources, seventy-five dollars in cash, volunteer labor and some donated timber.

Dr. Cochrane himself appeared in one of the pictures where he was working as a carpenter for about a month on the construction of one church. The zeal of the people, the labor of love by those who are in charge of missions, form a noble saga of home missions effort.

"We are developing a style of architecture for our churches in the north," Dr. Cochrane said. The style is very appealing to the sense of beauty and the architecture bears the imprint of the ideals for which the church stands.

The development of the nation's natural resources has caused unprecedented activity in the northern areas and has brought large influx of people so that growth of towns and settlements is phenomenal.

The films showed the autumnal beauty of the northland (the pictures were taken in the fall of the year), the vast developments of gold mining and mining of copper and nickel and other base metals. Pictures were shown of the plant at Coniston, the Noranda copper and gold mine in Northwestern Quebec, the Larder Lake section with its new gold mines, such as Kerr-Addison and Quebec mining area. The town of Canadian Malartic, and many other centres were shown. Amazing development is shown in these cities.

Rev. Dr. James Semple, pastor, had charge of the service.

The Rev. Dr. Cochrane spoke at the Tabernacle United Church on Sunday morning.

500 BOYS JOIN CANADIAN AIR CADETS DURING ORGANIZATION'S FIRST YEAR

With less than a year of operation behind it the Canadian Boy Air Cadets, formed in Toronto, has 500 air-minded youngsters taking instructions in five schools and the basements of two churches. Clad in natty gray uniforms, the boys undergo strict discipline and unless the cadet can bring satisfactory reports of his conduct at school and at home he might as well give up hope of getting the coveted "wings" and free flight, which reward the successful graduate. Founded by C. H. MacKinnon, the Canadian Boy Air Cadets may form flights in cities and towns throughout the Dominion, providing local boys show interest in the scheme. The cadets are shown, LEFT, receiving instruction on packing a parachute and, RIGHT, instructions in wireless operations.

FINLAND NEEDS 30,000 TROOPS, 200 PLANES AND SUPPLIES, SAY EXPERTS

Military experts, observing the Soviet-Finnish campaign, are of the opinion that the decisive phase of the war in Finland will come May, when King Winter starts to unloose his hold on the frozen countryside. In the opinion of these experts, 30,000 soldiers, 200 airplanes and generous supply of military equipment will enable the Finns to continue their magnificent struggle and defeat the Red hordes of Stalin. In the meantime the intrepid Finns are battling on amid their native snow and ice. A Finnish soldier, his fighting days over for the time being, is shown, UPPER LEFT, being treated at a first aid base after having fallen on the Salla battlefront. Clad in the white shrouds which, in the past weeks, have made them famous, two Finnish soldiers, UPPER RIGHT, man a heavy calibre machine-gun in a cold windswept post. A captured Russian field gun is loaded on a truck LOWER LEFT, for transportation to a part of the front where it may be used against its former owners. A patrol of Finnish ski troops are shown in action, LOWER RIGHT, their skis lying on the snow behind them.

Madoc I. O. O. F. Entertains at Oyster Supper

Madoc, Jan. 22.—Nearly one hundred Oddfellows and their wives, Rebekahs and their husbands attended an oyster supper in the Oddfellows' banquet hall on Wednesday evening. The occasion was the anniversary of Oddfellowship. Following the banquet Bro. C. I. Ross welcomed the guests who were present and after the toast to the King, Dr. Beatty, Past D.D.G.M. was called upon to propose a toast to the memory of the late Thos. Wiley, founder of Oddfellowship. The toast was responded to by Bro. R. F. Briston, P.D.D.G.M. The toast to Grand Lodge of Ontario was proposed by Bro. G. L. Thain and responded to by Bro. William Barlow, D.D.G.M. A toast to the ladies proposed by Bro. Chas. Johnston and responded to by Sis. Mabel Stockloser, D.D.G.M.

During the evening musical numbers by the High School orchestra, two numbers by Pat and Barbara Nicol and a solo by C. I. Ross were enjoyed by all present.

Following the program the orchestra furnished music for square and round dancing. Among those from out of town present were Mr. and Mrs. W. Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. J. Baker, Bonarlaw; Mrs. R. Blakely and son Dafoe, Saskatchewan; Mr. Swanson, Wainwright, Alta., and Mr. and Mrs. Farrell, Chester, Ont.

Motorist Fails to Stop After Sideswiping Car

Police of the Belleville district were seeking an alleged hit-and-run motorist, whose automobile is said to have sideswiped an Ottawa-owned vehicle near the cemetery crossing west of this city early Sunday. P. C. R. Dawkins, Ottawa, was proceeding towards home on Highway No. 2 when his motor was sideswiped by a west-bound vehicle, which failed to stop after the collision. Mr. Dawkins informed Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Ervine, who investigated, that the second motorist accelerated his speed and drove westerly after the accident. Both fenders on the lefhand side of Mr. Dawkins' car were badly damaged. Constable Ervine notified police to the west but the fleeing motorist escaped and Mr. Dawkins had no opportunity to procure the licence plate number of the hit-and-run vehicle.

St. Catharines' Lady Says Buckley's Mixture Acts Promptly on

COUGHS, COLDS, SORE THROAT

Everyone who suffers from frequent coughs, colds and sore throat should follow the example of Mrs. C. Burrell, St. Catharines, Ont. She writes: "For many years I have used Buckley's Mixture for colds to which I am very susceptible. These colds are always accompanied by sore throat. I find Buckley's Mixture acts promptly and thoroughly on both." At the first sign of a cough or cold, take this grand medicine. It brings almost instant relief by softening the phlegm that clogs your air passages; eases breathing, soothes and heals your throat, clears your head. Don't experiment. Buy Buckley's.

BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE

ALL IS BRIGHT

By Eleanor Browne

The playful aspect of it had escaped both Gloria and Mrs. Jenkins and they did not hesitate to say so, each in her own way and at the same time. The Captain grew redder and redder as the character of his ship and his management of it became an antiphonal chant between the two visitors. He was relieved to hear another knock at his door.

As Bert Wilkinson, second assistant helper in the galley, afterward related: "Pink as a shrimp, 'e was, and them two lydies goin' for 'im in 'ammer and tongs, so to speak. I was only to arsk 'im did 'e want the paper 'ats in place or brought in after dinner. But I takes one look at what's going' on and says quick as a wink: 'Y're wanted on the bridge, Captain Porter,' brisk-like, y' see? Blimey, y' should a seen 'im light out of that place, and today I finds an extra five spot in me 'and. 'E's a 'ard man in some ways, the Cap'n is, but 'e knows when a man does 'im a good turn, 'e does."

The conversation in the dining salon was on much the same topic. Those who had missed nothing were forced to recall that their cabins had been locked. Most of the articles missing had been little things bought in port that very afternoon, or in Cristobal over the weekend. They had been intended for the grab bag that was to be a featured part of the evening's entertainment.

"I'm afraid Santa Claus won't have anything for you," Elise was explaining to Barton Underwood. "I had a little gift all wrapped up and ready for the grab bag, but it disappeared this afternoon when we were trimming the tree."

"I'm going to ask you for the most precious gift in the world later tonight," he answered, his voice very low.

Elise blushed as she said lightly, "It's the season for giving. But you know," she added hastily, afraid that for once in his conventional life Barton was about to forget that they were in a brilliantly lighted room, "whoever it was took my knitting too. Isn't that odd? A half-finished sweater is of so little use to anyone."

Kent, seated beside Star, found it hard to keep up the conversation at his table. The honeymooners were shining-eyed over their first Christmas together. He doubted if they had even seen the gorgeous tree that glistened and glowed in the centre of the room. The Poinsettias that flamed on every table and the green wreaths that transformed the walls into a verdant Christmas garden had been ignored, too. Star, exquisite in the white frock that made her look angelic, was very quiet. Gloria had not appeared. Star explained that she did not want any dinner.

Kent's eye was caught by Elise and Barton a few tables away. There was no doubt of Barton's manner toward the lady at his side. Kent reflected bitterly that he knew exactly how Barton felt. But Star had told him of Underwood's proposal to her! He glanced at Star to find that her eyes were resting as his had been on Elise and Barton.

Embarrassed he muttered: "Miss Cattrell looks much better than she did when she came aboard."

"She's happy," Star said softly. "I'm so glad she has found someone to love."

"You—you mean—you and Underwood—"

Star looked puzzled for a minute, and then she smiled for the first time that night. "Oh, I think Barton was really attracted to Elise from the start," she expained. "He had seen me with Stuart though, and he imagined that he was in love with me."

"But why didn't you tell me? That day at Cristobal, the day I tried to get you to come to lunch with me, I wanted to talk to you."

"Yes."

"I wanted to tell you first that Gloria has released me from our engagement."

Star looked demure. "You said something to the same effect in Kingston," she reminded him. Kent turned a deeper red as he remembered his bald statement that he would not marry Gloria.

"You must think I'm the world's prize heel," he muttered. "But I didn't break the engagement. Gloria did that herself. Anyway, that wasn't what I wanted to 'alk to you about. I wanted to tell you—"

Star's eyes were seeking an escape. She had an idea of what Kent wanted to tell her and her own feelings in the matter were too muddled to let him continue. She must let him know just why she had taken this cruise and what she knew about him before he said any more. Perhaps when she told him he would never feel the same toward her again. Trust and respect were certainly necessary if two people were to pledge themselves to a future together. Yet in a way she did trust Kent, although her heart and not her mind dictated that trust.

Fortunately she was saved from answering. Captain Porter had risen and was tapping on his water glass to attract the attention of the diners. When they were all quiet he said, carefully avoiding Mrs. Jenkins' eye:

"There has been a series of annoying incidents this afternoon which we are attempting to straighten out with all possible speed. However, we are not going to let that delay our Christmas program. In just a moment Santa Claus will appear and I am sure we all want to give him a hearty welcome. If you will all arrange your chairs on one side of the table so that you can have a clear view of the tree, we'll get going."

There was laughter and a general scraping of chairs as the passengers seated with their backs to the tree pushed around to the other side so they could all watch the door. Kent managed to capture Star's hand and hold it tightly in his as they waited for Captain Porter to continue.

"Mr. Underwood has already left and will return with the youngest member of our company, who has been having a little nap. I want to explain that as Santa Claus takes each gift from the grab bag he will call out the name that is written on it. That person will come up, identify himself and thank Santa Claus personally for the gift—for the benefit of our youngest passenger. When the person receiving the gift is a girl, our Santa Claus asks that the thanks be given as a kiss."

There was general laughter and applause that grew in volume as Santa Claus himself came to the door. Star had had a hasty interview with the two-hundred pound seaman who was taking the part and his costume was as letter perfect as they could manage to make it. There had been some difficulty in locating enough red bathing suits to make the one that now stretched tightly over his sun-browned form. He himself had contributed a pair of boots which were ornamented with a roll of cotton batting. A red beret had been loaned by one of the passengers and a big ball of cotton stuck on it. Two whiskers that had been bought for him in one of the ports were securely stuck in place and transformed him into a surprisingly realistic replica of the legendary Saint Nick.

He posed in the doorway and threw his arms wide. "Merry Christmas, everybody!" he boomed.

"Merry Christmas, Santa Claus!" they shouted back.

He started for his place beside the tree, but as he did so the laughter and chattering suddenly died down. Barton Underwood was coming through the door, unsmiling and tight-lipped. With one hand he dragged Stuart, whose expression was even more ferocious. In the other hand he held Elise's knitting bag strained to the bursting point with packages, and spilling over at the top with tissue paper and ribbon.

Star gasped and tugged her hand away from Kent's. "Let me go," she whispered fiercely. "Barton mustn't say it."

CHAPTER XXIX

Before Star could reach the centre of the room Barton was already addressing Captain Porter.

"I hope you and the passengers will accept my humblest apologies" he began, but Star swooped across the room and gathered Stuart into her arms. Barton turned, astonished. He had no chance to say more; Star was leading the child closer to the nonplused Santa Claus.

"Santa, I want you to meet one of the best little boys in the world" she said. "This is Stuart Underwood, who probably spent all afternoon helping you. He knew you wouldn't have time to collect all the gifts you had left around the ship, so I think he went around and gathered them for you."

"Well, well, well, well!" Santa Claus laughed as heartily as the jolly old saint was supposed to do. "So this is Stuart! I've heard about you young man, and I want to shake your hand. Where are these gifts you collected?"

Stuart, slightly overawed by so much Santa Claus, said in a very small voice, "Dad's got them. He said I shouldn't have taken them."

Santa Claus turned on Barton Underwood with a fine display of indignation. "Begrudge me a little help, do you? If there is a gift there for you, sir, I feel that you owe my first assistant an apology before you receive it."

Barton, looking slightly bewildered, handed over the knitting bag and its contents and retired to his seat amid the friendly boos and catcalls of the passengers. Santa Claus lifted Stuart to his shoulder where he sat, his eyes shining, drinking in the splendor of the Christmas tree that towered high above him, Santa Claus reached into Elise's knitting bag and found himself confronted with another problem. Some of the gifts had been unwrapped when Stuart found them, others he had opened to see what was inside.

"I'm a little mixed up here," Santa admitted genially to the passengers, "so I am going to ask you to help me out. Miss Star will hold up each of the gifts and if my assistant cannot remember where he found it I am sure someone in the room will know the person for whom it was intended."

Star reached into the bag and brought out a crumpled pair of white silk pajama trousers. There was a shocked exclamation from the other side of the room and something very much like a snort from the Captain's table.

"Those are the pajamas," began Mrs. Jenkins. There was a warning whisper from the woman next to her. "Those pajamas are for Mr. Jenkins," she amended quietly.

"Mr. Jenkins!" shouted Santa Claus. "Is Mr. Jenkins in the room?

Mr. Jenkins, when he pushed forward, looked as if he would have liked to conceal his identity, but he managed to get to the tree and claim his gift. One by one the other presents were held up and identified by someone in the gathering. Stuart burst into delighted chuckles whenever Santa Claus claimed a kiss from a feminine passenger.

The collection in the knitting bag was almost exhausted when Star handed Santa Claus the photograph of a white-haired gentleman. Across one corner was written in a strong firm hand: "Merry Christmas, Son—Dad."

Santa Claus held up the photograph and for a moment no one seemed to recognize it. Then unexpectedly Kent rose and came forward. "This must be meant for me, Santa," he said gravely.

"God bless my soul! Of course it's for you, Doctor Barrett. Your father himself gave it to me for you, with his best wishes for a Merry Christmas."

Stuart evidently saw nothing amiss in this little byplay, but Star was staring at Kent as if she had never seen him before. She had in fact just realized that he could not be John Kenneth Barrett, whose father had died only a month before. This Doctor Barrett's father was alive! She did not dare look at Kent.

Resolutely she continued to help Santa Claus who had now turned his attention to the grab bag. Even when a gift for herself, which turned out to be a beautiful topaz ring, was found, she did not look toward the table to which Kent had returned. She left the ring in its box and managed to join the others in the Christmas carols that presently rang out. Mrs. Jenkins never faltered on either the words or the music as she led the assembly in the familiar beloved old hymns.

Later they joined hands and danced merrily around the tree while Santa Claus held Stuart aloft once more and announced his intention of taking his assistant back to the South Pole with him. He did actually march off with Stuart, bidding them all a gay farewell, but Star knew that before they had gone far Stuart's eyelids would droop and the end of the journey would be lost in dreams.

—"Merry Christmas!"

Gloria turned and looked at her cabin mate with wondering eyes. "How can you wish me a merry Christmas?" she asked bitterly. "You know what I tried to do to you."

Elected President of Intermediate Hockey Club at Meeting Over Weekend

P. H. Wills, of this city, was elected president of the Belleville Hockey Club at a meeting held at the Hume Arena over the week end during which time it was officially announced that Eddie Thomas, who has sponsored the winter pastime of O.H.A. hockey in Belleville for the past 22 years, had retired.

A meeting of the players of the Belleville Redmen resulted in the following officers being eelcted to guide the destinies of intermediate O.H.A. hockey in Belleville for the remainder of the current playing season. The officers named were—

President—P. H. Wills.

Vice-Pres.—Billie Hughes.

Sec.-Treas.—James Lafferty.

Executive — Ken Watt, Harry McCreary and H. St. Louis.

"Speedy" St. Louis was also named as manager of the Redmen for the balance of the season. The newly elected officials announced today they would seek a lower rating in the O.H.A. presumably an intermediate "B" classification if possible, but would continue in their present group with Peterboro' and the Air Force, meeting the latter team at the Hume Arena in a group scheduled game this evening.

Ed Thomas announced his retirement from hockey sponsorship in Belleville last Friday, after heading hockey clubs in Belleville since 1918. It was during the season of 1936-37 that Eddie Thomas' Belleville Redmen won the Intermediate O.H.A. championship, the only provincial hockey title ever won by a Belleville hockey team. The newly-elected officers of the Belleville team are seeking new players for their club in hopes of building up interest in the game locally.

Little Benny's Note Book

We were eating breakfist and I said, I had a fearse dream last nite, ma, maybe it was a sign of some kind of bad luck or something.

Dreams being one of ma's favorite subjects, and she said, Why, what did you dream for land sakes? and I said, I dreamed I was in a great big giant Ferriss wheel and all of a sudden something got the matter with it and it started to go around fast as lightning and I got so dizzy I've never been dizzier even in a dream.

O deer, dreams about wheels are the worst kind, there are so many different kinds of wheels that are dangerous, especially for children, ma said, and pop said, Maybe this is one of the dreams that go by opposites.

I hope so but I'm not going to take any chances, this is one dream I'm going to take by the forelocks, ma said. Benny, I dont want you to have anything to do with anything connected with wheels today, and that includes your skates or anybody's bysickle, and I want you to come home immeeditly after school this afternoon and stay home, she said.

Me thinking, Aw heck, good night, G wizzickers, and I said to pop, Hay pop, what's the oposite of a wheel?

Why, a square, I suppose, pop said, and I said, Sure, that's it, ma, I've got a engagement to meet Puds Simkins and Leroy Shooster in the square this afternoon because we're the Mystic Three Club and we're going to change our password 'because we've got a sispicion it's been leeking out, so that proves this is a dream that goes by opposites.

I suppose that sounds plausible enough, ma said, and pop said, It's the most plausible darn thing I ever heard, and ma said, Very well, all right then.

Making me feel lucky.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

FRONT STREET LIGHTING

The Retail Merchants' Association is working in the right direction in endeavouring to secure a better lighting system for the main business streets of Belleville. One commentator at the annual meeting of the association Friday night declared that, with the exception of Frankford, Belleville had the most poorly lighted main thoroughfare in Ontario. Whether this is actually the case or otherwise, the fact is that the lighting system on the main business streets was devised for conditions some twenty-five years ago. The standards are widely spaced and, when store window lights are turned off, the dimness approaches that of the back streets.

A well-lighted business section is a decided asset to any city and particularly so to Belleville where so much of the evening activity centres around the downtown area. There is a further reason in the anticipated increase in tourist traffic this summer. Like other people, tourists are attracted by the bright lights and are more likely to stop in a well-lighted town.

A delegation from the merchants is to place the matter before the City Council Monday night and it is to be hoped that steps will be taken before summer comes. Business street lighting has been under discussion for three or four years. Now is the time for action.

THE RETAIL MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Retail Merchants Association (Belleville Branch) on Friday evening brings to public attention the community enterprise of this organization.

There is a mistaken impression that the Retail Merchants are only concerned with promotion of direct benefit to their businesses but in examining the address of the retiring president, Mr. Lattimer, it will be noted that most of the 1939 accomplishments were not directly concerned with swelling the contents of the store tills. A series of band concerts culminated with a substantial donation to the Salvation Army building fund; Good Will trips made for better understanding between this city and communities in the adjacent territory; the Santa Claus parade brought delight to thousands of youngsters, as well as the grownups.

Even in those events organized for the promotion of trade there is a considerable community benefit by offering goods at particularly attractive prices and in bringing a considerable volume of new business to the city.

The Retail Merchants Association gradually is becoming more active and a greater influence for good as each year passes. Under the officers elected for 1940 there is every reason to believe that this progress will continue.

ROBERT BURNS AND SCOTLAND

A few days hence the Scots throughout the world will be thinking of Robert Burns and his birthday which came in the blustery month of January. The twenty-fifth of January is set as a time of snow, storm and cold. It was just such winds as blew in on Burns' cottage, such snow that fell and such a chilly atmosphere as we have that ushered in the life of Scotland's ploughman poet.

In some ways Burns' life seemed to be symbolic of storm. His life was not altogether happy, he was brought up in rather poor circumstances but a good home atmosphere. He was a man of warm affections and was often swept away by his emotions. He died young with the distressing thought on his mind of the future of his wife and family. It was not fear of his future fame for better than any other he was able to appreciate his own greatness in song, because in them he was true to the primal instincts and motives of human beings, but it was fear of the lack of security for the Burns family.

o—o—o

Burns went through the turmoil of life and out of his trials blossomed the richest gift of song to the world any nation has given. In his own class he is peerless for every quality that makes for song. Compare one of his lyrics for depth of heart with some of the sentimental ballads of today and one sees why Burns' lyrics will endure as long as man has a heart for song. Out of this life struggle came the social appeal of Burns which made him pen those lines which forever place him at the head of those who have championed the rights of the common man in "A Man's A Man."

Burns left the mark of his personality on everything he touched. His songs cover a wide range of the natural emotions of the people of any race and of any age. In this he is fortunate for it is in the personal element after all that the great appeal lies. Burns peculiarly was able to transmute his emotions in the crucible of composition into words of enduring quality which have a message for mankind.

o—o—o

The life of Burns shatters so many notions people have about opportunity. It is true Burns had the great blessing of having been brought up in a home which though simple and not rich instilled in his soul the sense of right and justice. His contact with the world gave him an intense sympathy with suffering and a clear insight into realities. His native gift for song brought him into that realm of national poetry, the folksong, or the Scottish ballad, the final need to make him the supreme lyric artist in the world's history. Unthinking, a man might say the world did not do much for Burns. But nature, fate gave him birth in a land of integrity in spite of hardships, it surrounded him with the songs from the hearts of the people and it set him among men and women who had their burdens and it raised him in that fortress of the Scots, the civilization which was for the ploughman as well as for the dweller in the city and in every other phase of life in Scotland.

H. M. S. Names Make Problem

London—(CP)—Apart from actual conduct of the war at sea, the Admiralty has another problem — finding suitable names for the large number of vessels being constructed for convoying merchantmen, minesweeping and hunting submarines. The job nominally belongs to the First Lord, but because he is too busy it is generally delegated.

Various officers chose the name during the last war. The first 50 sloops were named after flowers in the garden of the Acting Admiralty Librarian and have been called the "herbaceous border" ever since.

As far as possible the names are chosen so that ships of the same type have names from the same group — seaside towns, racehorses naval heroes. Traditional navy names are divided among the heavier types of warship. The Admiralty is hampered in bestowing these "traditional" names by an order providing that names which entered the Navy List through capture from the French in wars of a century ago must be admitted. Often, a prize was added to the fleet with her name unaltered as a tribute to the resistance of her crew.

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

So far the sum of $6,634.00 has been raised in the campaign to secure $16,000.00 for the local Y.M.C.A.

In answer to an enquiry regarding the building of the bay bridge we give the following information: The crib foundation for the north abutment was sunk on Sept. 14th, 1889, and the masonary work on the pier was commenced a month later and finished in two weeks. The erection of the superstructure was commenced Nov. 10th, 1890 and completed on April 15th, 1891. The bridge was practically ready for traffic in the Spring of 1891 when driving over the ice became unsafe.

Complaints are being made to the police that in several parts of the city the snow bylaw is not observed. In West Belleville, it is said, there is one special place where the snow has not been shovelled this winter and there are four men living in the house. Surely it is time they got busy.

Mr. Murphy of the G.T.R. freight department here left last night for Ottawa.

Mr. Eli Wickett of Toronto is visiting friends here and in the vicinity.

A number of sports attended the pigeon shoot at Foxboro today.

Messrs. Alford & Lee, contractors for the substructure of the bay bridge, commenced work this morning. The sub-contractors for the piers have also commenced work and much activity will be in evidence at the scene of the job until the bridge is completed.

Daily War Survey

By The Canadian Press

Belgium and Holland have not relaxed the extra defensive preparations taken 10 days ago when something occurred to revive fears of a German invasion although leaves in the British army and air force, cancelled at the time, have been restored.

Belgian newspapers now disclosed the principal cause of the alarm was the sudden change in the disposition of German forces along the frontier in the direction of Limberg and Liege. The days which have elapsed since apparently have neither increased nor reduced the threat.

It is difficult to see what advantage Germany would gain by an invasion of Belgium and Holland now.

The objective of obtaining coastal bases close to England for air and submarine operations is clear. But the disadvantages of extending the land front, disrupting the inflow of supplies from and through Belgium and Holland, and adding the armies of those two countries to the forces opposed to the Reich, must be no less clear to the German high command.

The Germans may be confident their forces are capable of rolling back and cutting through the defences and smashing whatever resistance the British and French may offer but they must also be aware that failure would almost certainly mean loss of the war.

If a front in Holland and Belgium became stabilized short of the attainment of the coastal objectives the demands of the war on Germans limited economic resources would be increased.

Materials, ammunition and arms for a front twice as long as the present one would be needed and the Allied blockade would be drawn tighter because the amount of goods now entering Germany through Belgian ports would be shut off.

The Meaning of Courage

I have been reading an Anthology of Courage, by Hugh Kingsmill. Courage, as the publishers remark, is a quality for which the present times afford an ample field.

It is usual to divide courage into moral and physical. Mrs. Disraeli, who lost no opportunity of giving away her distinguished and devoted husband, once said at her dinner-table: "Dizzy has great moral courage, but no physical courage. When he has a shower-bath, I always have to pull the string." In Hitlerian Germany physical courage is the chief virtue, and moral virtue the chief crime.

x x x

Aristotle, who held that virtue is a mean(some would unfairly say a meanness) between two opposite vices, says that courage is a mean between rashness and cowardice. A man ought not to throw away his life unnecessarily. This raises the rather difficult question whether we ought to honour men who have died in attempting foolhardy exploits such as climbing almost inaccessible mountains, trying to reach the South Pole, or swimming the rapids at Niagara.

I think we must distinguish. Scott's Antarctic expedition was not merely an attempt to establish a "record"; it was undertaken in the cause of science. We need make no reservations in honouring those who perished on their return journey from the Pole. To climb Everest, or to swim Niagara, is simply an athletic feat. We may admire the courage of those who attempt such dangerous exploits, and yet wish that they had risked their lives in some more useful cause.

Nothing, says Lecky, should check the reverence with which we bow before the martyr's tomb. We must all agree. For instance, the account of the heroism with which the slave-girl Blandina endured hideous tortures in the arena at Lyons would be almost incredible, if it were not certain that spiritual exaltation may partly neutralize the extremity of bodily pain.

x x x

There have been many instances in which men and women have died under torture rather than reveal the names of their friends or accomplices. There was a statue at Athens of a lioness without a tongue. This was to commemorate the constancy of Leaena ("The Lioness"), a woman of loose character, who bit out her tongue when she was being tortured to make her reveal the names of conspirators against "the tyrants."

To the disgrace of our criminal courts, pressing to death, the "peine forte et dure," was inflicted as late as the eighteenth century, on prisoners who refused to plead guilty or not guilty. This stopped the trial: the prisoner could not be convicted and so he saved his property from being confiscated.

Many men endured this agonizing death for the sake of their families. At last it was decided that those who refused to plead were to be understood to have pleaded not guilty. It sometimes takes a long time before obvious solutions are adopted.

x x x

A sense of honour may be as potent an antidote to suffering as religious conviction. The Red Indians used to tie their prisoners to a stake and apply the most ingenious and protracted tortures for the delectation of the assembled tribe. The victims never cried out, but taunted their captors with not knowing their business, and with their last breath hurled insults at the victorious chief.

In the days of ferocious floggings it was a point of honour not to cry out; schoolboys used to chew something to help them to keep their mouths shut.

I have mentioned the courage of the Red Indians. A nobler example was given not long ago by a Mexican engine-driver, a pure-blooded Indian. While his train was standing at a station he noticed smoke rising from a truck on a siding, which he knew to be laden with dynamite. The inevitable explosion would have wrecked not only the station, but many of the adjoining houses.

He said to the stoker, "Get down; I am going to my death." Then he hitched the truck to his engine and drove off into the open country. He was just clear of the town when the truck blew up.

x x x

The highest kind of courage is cold courage. Many men who have but little moral courage will fight like Berserkers when their blood is up. When they "see red" they are ready to run amok. But to face a danger which has been fully realized, with no emotional excitement to conceal it, demands higher qualities.

I am surprised that Mr. Kingsmill has given no examples of the self-sacrifice of doctors. The Life of Mme. Curie shows that she was well aware of the risks she ran in handling radium. Several experimenters have lost their lives through radium and that terrible disease, X-ray dermatitis.

Lippmann, in his Instroduction to Morals, says: "The cold courage of a man like Nogachi who, though in failing health, went into one of the unhealthiest parts of Africa to study a deadly disease, could come only from a nature which was overwhelmingly interested in objects outside itself. Nogachi must have known exactly how dangerous it was for him to go to Africa, and exactly how horrible was the disease to which he exposed himself. To have gone anyway is really to have cared for science in a way which very few care for anything so remote and impersonal."

Lippmann adds the example of four soldiers in hospital who let themselves be used for the study of typhoid fever. "Their courage was as near to absolute courage as it is possible to imagine, and I who think this cannot even recall their names."

The essence of courage, as of most other virtues is disinterestedness. "Who lives if England dies? Who dies if England lives?"

x x x

Are civilized men less brave than barbarians? Before the Great War it was doubted whether the little townsman, torn from his counter or his desk, would be able to stand the hardships and horrors of modern warfare. But in all the belligerent armies the soldiers showed astonishing bravery in the face of such long-continued dangers as men had never been called upon to endure before.

No doubt military discipline makes cowardice in the face of the enemy more dangerous than to advance when ordered to do so. Tennyson made rather too much of the foolish charge of the Light Brigade. "Some one had blundered," but the men had to ride on.

But unless the large majority of the men are really brave, discipline cannot prevent panic. There was a mutiny in the French army after Nivelle's ill-planned attack, but for this there was every excuse: and if the Italians ran away at Caporetto, it was communist treachery, not cowardice. Even the unfortunate Russians, who were sometimes sent into action with one rifle for three men, fought well enough.

It is a curious fact that our men suffered more from shell-shock than our Allies. Psychologists suggest that foreigners, who are just as brave as we are, are not ashamed to howl when they are wounded and to weep when they are miserable, while our stoical fellow-countrymen deny themselves this salutary relief.

x x x

There are and always will be outlets for the display of courage besides military service. We may hope that the time will come when it will be possible for the brave man to face danger only in the service of his fellow-men. After all, has there ever been more sublime courage than that of Christ, when He went to Jerusalem well knowing the terrible fate that awaited Him there?

The two little poems of Sir Walter Raleigh and Emily Bronte, both written in the immediate prospect of death, which Mr. Kingsmill prints at the end of his book, are immortal. But the modern man is not much afraid of death, only of dying.

"Pour etre mort, malheureusement il faut mourir." We all have to summon up our courage to hear this sentence, and most of us can rise to the occasion.—By Dean Inge in the Hamilton Spectator.

Perhaps Robber Cannot Count

Boston, Jan. 22—(AP)—A hold-up man walked into a 75-year-old Frank Holland's room last night and demanded $100. Holland gave the intruder his trousers which contained $150. The man took some of the money and left. Holland checked up and found $60 remained. He figures the robber either was in a hurry, or just couldn't count.

Many Answer S.O.S.

Another [illegible] have been picked up by a [illegible] auxiliary cruiser, one of the rescue fleet summoned by two distress calls from the Orazio. The United States liner Washington, bound from New York to Genoa, also answered her S.O.S.

All survivors who had reached Marseille so far were Italian and German. Many were burned badly.

Officials in Genoa said the origin of the fire was not known, but that it apparently broke out while the Orazio was about 20 miles off Toulon.

They said the Conte Biancamano had taken the Orazio in tow and, according to their latest information, she still was afloat.

Estimates of the number of persons aboard varied from 900 to 940. (Officials in Rome withheld the exact number of passengers and crew members pending a final check).

Although all aboard were reported removed from the flaming liner, Italian shipping officials sought word of three lifeboats with 107 or 109 survivors who they hoped had been picked up by one of the French warships or Italian rescue vessels.

Ships answering the S.O.S. searched throughout the night for the lifeboats bobbing in the storm on the western Mediterranean.

The Orazio, launched in 1926 and in the Italian line's South American service since October, 1927, when she made her maiden voyage from Genoa to Valparaiso, Chile, left Genoa Saturday for Barcelona, first stop on a trip to Valparaiso.

GIRL GRABS GUN, SHOOTS FATHER

Tells Police Victim Was Arguing With and Abusing Her Mother

Wilmington, N.C., Jan. 22—(CP)—Police today detained a 13-year-old girl after, Sheriff David Jones said, she told authorities that she killed her father, William H. Morrison, 64, of Toronto, with her .22 calibre rifle.

The sheriff said the girl, Zelda Dolores Morrison told him this story:

"Father had been drinking, and he and mother started arguing about some government business. Mother said she was going to tell that he came to this country from Canada without a passport; and they began fighting. I grabbed my rifle and shot him."

The shooting occurred yesterday at Mrs. Morrison's five room home on the Carolina Beach road, near here. Mrs. Morrison, a native of Wilmington, was held as a material witness, Jones said.

The Morrisons were married in Florida in 1925.

Jones said the girl told him her parents entered the United States about Jan. 1.

It was stated at Toronto that Morrison was a son of the late James Morrison of Toronto, founder of a brass manufacturing company bearing his name.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY JANE MUFFITT
(Coe Hill)

One of Hastings' County grand old pioneers and descendants of the Normans, who crossed to England, passed to her final reward in Coe Hill on January 11th, when Mrs. Mary Jane Muffitt, highly esteemed resident of that village died after a lingering illness. The deceased was in her 84th. year.

The late Mrs. Muffitt was a daughter of the late Joseph and Priscilla Cassan, and grand-daughter of the late Captain Matthew Sheffield Cassan, said to be a lineal descendant of the old Norman family of De Cassaigne who crossed the English Channel with William the Conqueror in 1066.

Born in Seymour Township, she resided there for 34 years when she moved to Coe Hill and had lived there until the time of her demise. In 1875 she married Charles Muffitt and to this union was born Thomas Muffitt, now of Buffalo; Jack, Lewiston, N.Y.; Charles and Daniel, Coe Hill; Robert, Verta and Blanche, Toronto; Mrs. George Grills, Mrs. Robert Dunk and Mrs. Fred Bennett, Campbellford; and Mrs. Fred Little, Port Hope, all of whom are surviving. A grandson is R.C.M.P. Constable Ted Muffitt, of Craig's Harbor, Ellesmere Island.

The funeral was held in St. Michael's Church, where the service was conducted by the rector, Rev. A. Redding. Many beautiful floral tributes testified to the high respect and esteem in which the late Mrs. Muffitt was held. Interment was in St. Michael's Cemetery, Coe Hill.

Hepburn Orders 15 Per Cent Cut in All Estimates

Toronto, Jan. 22—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn, Provincial Treasurer, has instructed all provincial departments to reduce their estimates of controllable expenditures for the next fiscal year by 15 per cent, it was learned today.

Estimates for the 1939-40 fiscal year to end March 31 next were the highest in the history of the province, though they showed reductions in some departments. The general order now issued exempts no departments from the cutting to be made in the figures for the fiscal year to start April 1.

The Premier has said that it is feared that provincial revenues will be impaired by new federal taxation.

It has not yet been determined whether provincial grants for schools, universities and like purposes are to be cut 15 per cent. They may escape the cut if the total reduction can be made in other items in the education department

WHEREABOUTS OF MAN IS WANTED

Chief Alexander Kidd received an inquiry from Assiniboia, Sask., seeking information regarding the whereabouts of one Arthur H. Legge, who was employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway at Assiniboia around the year 1913, or possibly later. Mr. Legge was a resident of the Belleville district prior to leaving for Western Canada, being a native of the Bay of Quinte district, Chief Kidd was informed in a letter from Assiniboia today. Business acquaintances in the west are anxious to locate Mr. Legge. Knowledge of his whereabouts should be communicated to Chief Kidd at Belleville.

RECEIVES BOUNTY

Any doubts as to the identity of the animal shot on the northern fringe of Huntingdon Township a few weeks ago by A. Chappelle, and which was thought to be one of a pack that were conducting forays on sheep and cattle of the district, were dispelled today when Treasurer James Haggerty of Hastings County received a notification to pay Chappelle the $15.00 bounty provided by the government for the killing of wolves.

Many Possible Romances Spoiled By Hard-Hearted Army Authorities

London, Jan. 22 (CP)—One thousand London society girls and dainty debs were disappointed this morning, but at least they've learned there's a war on.

The girls paid five bob each for the privilege of being dance hostesses to the husky Canadian troops for a few glamorous hours.

But it's all off. The headquarters of the Canadian Active Service Force pointed out that to send 1,000 men to London for the ball would mean a serious interference with training.

The girls understand. The boys understand. All the titled guests understand. And the military authorities said to the organizers: "Why didn't you tell us before, we could have saved you all this trouble."

The secretary of Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, the Canadian commander, told the London Daily Mirror:

"It must be remembered that we are over here to fight a war. Our troops are going through an intensive course of training, and to send 1,000 men to London would mean serious interference with work. We do not want our folks at home to think we are frittering our time away in hospitality, no matter how delightful."

Churchill Invites Europe's Neutrals To Join With Allies in Conflict

(By Fred Backhouse Canadian Press Staff Writer).

London, Jan. 22 (CP Cable) — A British spokesman today said Winston Churchill's speech urging neutrals to join Great Britain and France in their war effort against Germany should be regarded as a "fireside talk" by a cabinet Minister and not as a considered statement of government policy.

The statement was made after press reports reached here showing the warning of the First Lord of the Admiralty had met a chilly reception in neutral countries. The spokesman asserted:

"The neutrals should keep the speech in its right perspective. Nonetheless it was the statement of a situation which was obvious to every one."

Britain is engaged in a war to prevent German aggression and the neutrals "who have had to spend vast sums preparing to resist such aggression would benefit from a peace won through the Allies' expenditure of blood and treasure just as much as the Allies themselves."

In his speech Saturday, Mr. Churchill said he believed the war would spread both to the north and south. He invited neutral states to join in "united action" against "aggression and wrong."

If Britain and France, "wearying of the struggle, were to make a shameful peace, nothing would remain for the smaller states of Europe . . . but to be divided between the opposite, though similar, barbarisms of Nazidom and Bolshevism," the First Lord of the Admiralty said in a worldwide broadcast.

Germany, he said, was waging warfare on the neutrals. "Whether on sea or on land, they are the victims on whom Hitler's hate and spite descends."

Their plight is lamentable, he said. They "bow humbly and in fear to German threats of violence, comforting themselves meanwhile with the thought that the Allies will win, that Britain and France will strictly observe all the rules and conventions and that breaches of these laws are only to be expected from the German side. Each one hopes that if he feeds the crocodile enough the crocodile will eat him last. All of them hope that the storm will pass before their turn comes to be devoured."

Tribute Paid to Finland

He paid tribute to Finland "superb, nay sublime, sublime in the jaws of peril" and said that if the light of freedom should be quenched in that northern race "it might well herald a return to the dark ages when every vestige of human progress during 2,000 years would be engulfed."

To Austria, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia he had a word of comfort.

"Let the great cities of Warsaw, of Prague, of Vienna banish despair, even in the midst of their agony," he said. "Their liberation is sure."

Much of his speech was a review of the war at sea. He said that while he was sure many losses and misfortunes lie ahead, yet things were going better for Britain than they had in any previous naval warfare.

Press Praises Churchill

The Press today praised Mr. Churchill for the blunt directness with which he warned neutral countries that their future existence depends on an Allied victory. Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax it was noted, expressed the same idea more mildly in his speech at Leeds the same day.

"Mr. Churchill," The Times commented, "pointed out that unscrupulous tyranny was taking advantage of their (neutral powers') isolated positions and was menacing them one by one.

"This again cannot be denied. And in a forthright way he declared his views that their only hope of salvation lay in banding themselves together and in standing with the British and French empires against aggression.

"The Allies stand for right dealing with neutrals, who know they have nothing to fear from this side either during war or in victory."

Daily Mail

The Daily Mail said: "Not a single soldier is under arms in any neutral country in Europe to defend his land because of any fear of allied action. Even the neutrality that they are endeavoring so hardily to maintain today has as its main defence the unbeatable forces of Britain and France.

The Daily Express declared that Mr. Churchill enjoys the esteem of the nation to a greater degree than does any other member of the government. Of his speech, The Daily Express said:

"He made a fine appeal to neutrals and warned them that feeding the crocodile would not save them from ultimately becoming a meal themselves. Nothing can save their independence but an allied victory. If Britain were beaten tomorrow, the neutral countries of Europe would go down Germany's gullet the day after."

Switzerland Not Afraid

Berne, Jan. 22—(CP-Havas)—Commenting on Winston Churchill's declaration that all neutral European nations wishing to preserve their independence can do so most surely by supporting the Allies, the Basler Nachrichter said today that "as far as Switzerland is concerned its neutrality is assured by international accords, and its population has confidence in, among others, the signature which Great Britain affixed to the Statute of Neutrality"

La Suisse of Geneva declared: "Switzerland does not mean to let itself be dragged into the war. Only aggression could part us from neutrality, which is the very function of our independence."

Copenhagen, Jan. 22 (CP-Havas).—The three Scandinavian countries want only to preserve their neutrality, the newspaper Politiken said today in commenting on Winston Churchill's proposal Saturday that all neutral countries of Europe unite with the allies in the war against Germany.

The editorial in the Politiken was the only comment carried by the Danish press. Asserting that various speeches by responsible ministers of Denmark, Norway and Sweden have already given answer to the British suggestion, Politiken said:

"These three countries desire to observe the strictest neutrality toward both groups of belligerents. To try to make them leave this neutrality is to add all sorts of difficulties to those from which they already suffer and for which they are not responsible."

Denmark's best friends, the newspaper concluded, are those who are disposed to let her alone in that comparative degree of peace which she enjoys but which is lost to the great powers and to Finland.

CAMP MOHAWK MAY BE PUT IN USE

The work of surveying the former Camp Mohawk, at Deseronto, famous Great War flying training grounds, is going on apace and residents of the town have every hope that the old site will be included in the new Empire Air Training scheme.

This week trucks and machinery such as rollers, scrapers as well as tractors were at work on the site. The area being surveyed is roughly one and a half by two miles square.

Although no definite news has been released regarding the many areas of ground being surveyed throughout the province, citizens generally feel that this area of ground, which hummed with activity in the years 1914-1918, will again be one of the places chosen for the training of air pilots.

SUPREME COURT SESSION CANCELLED

The General Sessions of the Peace of the Supreme Court of Ontario scheduled to be held today in the County Court Buildings, with Mr. Justice Urquhart, Toronto, were cancelled due to the fact that no cases were on the docket.

Secretly Throwing Out Feelers for Peace

London, Jan. 22 (CP)—Germany is secretly throwing out feelers for peace with the western powers and at the same time preparing for a stroke to the east, the diplomatic correspondent of the observer said Sunday.

"From no fewer than four neutral countries—Sweden, Holland, Switzerland and Italy—information has been received," the correspondent said, "that German agents, calling themselves delegations, have crossed the frontier from Germany and have made known their 'mission', namely, to suggest still another basis for an immediate armistice."

CORRESPONDENT DETAINED

Washington, Jan. 22 (AP)—Joseph C. Grew, United States Ambassador to Japan, cabled the State Department today that James Young, Tokyo correspondent of the International News Service, was detained yesterday by Japanese police for examination.

The police, Grew said, refused to divulge the charges or to indicate the possible date of release.

SIXTH SESSION 18TH PARLIAMENT OPENS THURSDAY

Prime Minister Expected to Give Picture of War Effort in Debate on Throne Speech

NEW WAR ORDERS

Ottawa, Jan. 22 (CP)—The sixth session of the eighteenth parliament opens Thursday amid expectations of heavy questioning of the government in regard to Canada's war effort and, in all probability, some criticism.

For this the government is prepared and it is expected Prime Minister Mackenzie King will give the picture of Canada's war effort when he speaks in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

The Prime Minister follows Conservative Leader Manion in this opening debate and the opposition chieftain already has said he would place before the House of Commons complaints regarding soldiers' dependents allowances and charges of patronage in the war effort.

Further criticism is expected from the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. Party spokesmen already have come out against wartime regulations controlling speech and publication as being too severe.

Will Ask About Delay.

In the matter of complaints the Liberals themselves are expected to lodge a few, centring mainly on delay in proceeding with promised public works for which the money already has been voted.

From the Social Credit group a demand for conscription of man-power and wealth, is anticipated.

Meantime, even before parliament meets, large new air orders are expected to be announced, calling for the building of $20,000,000 worth of anti-submarine boats and coastal craft for salvage and rescue work and 1,000 airplanes.

While the prime minister will give the main story of the Canadian war effort, the more intimate details may be expected to come from questions by private members. Nevertheless the prime minister will have plenty of scope for much has occurred since the emergency session of parliament last September.

Northern Municipalities Escape Brunt of Storm

The blizzard which swept this district over the weekend and Prince Edward County for three days, extended only from the southern part of Prince Edward to as far north as the Roslin area, County Road Superintendent W. L. Langlois stated today. Northern municipalities did not suffer from the brunt of the storm, being subjected to only a light snowfall.

Slippery Road Cause of Accident

Bancroft (Special)—An accident occurred on the Banroft Coe Hill road Saturday between the British American gasoline truck in charge of P. J. Stringer of Bancroft and a car driven by Reginald Wiggins also of the village. The crooked road from Ormsby to Coe Hill and icy wheel tracks made the accident unavoidable. Considerable damage resulted to the Wiggins car in that the front fender, engine hood and front door were damaged.

ONLY ONE CASE TO BE HEARD IN COUNTY COURT WEDNESDAY

Only one case that of Rex versus Dean is scheduled to be heard at the County Court Criminal Session to be held in the County Buildings here on Wednesday. Judge J. E. Madden, Napanee will preside.

HUSBAND KILLS SLEEPING WIFE, THEN SHOOTS SELF

Police Seeking Motive for Tragedy at Bradford Early Sunday

COMMUNITY SHOCKED

Bradford, Ont., Jan. 22 (CP) — Police today sought to account for a motive for the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stephenson in their home here. They believed Stephenson 32-year-old baker, shot his wife twice through the head as she slept and then fired a bullet into his own temple.

First word of the tragedy came when their five-year-old daughter, Joan, fully clothed, went to the neighboring home of Russell Warfolk, early yesterday and called: "They're both dead. They're shot."

Provincial Constable C. P. Dean and Chief Constable Wallace Reeves said they found Mrs. Stephenson lying in a normal position in bed with two bullet wounds in her head, while the body of her husband was sprawled beside the bed, one hand grasping a .22 calibre rifle. A 9-months'-old daughter, Marilyn, was in a crib in the same room.

Married Thirteen Years

Mr. and Mrs. Stephenson, who had been married 13 years, were skating in the village rink Saturday evening and apparently left about the same time. Later Stephenson was seen in the stores downtown and police said he was following his usual habit of checking the stores for orders for the bakery.

Police believe Joan was awakened by the sound of the shots although she seemed unable to remember incidents of the previous night.

Albert Hunt, Stephenson's partner in the bakery, could not account for the shooting.

Shock to Partner

"We have always got along," Hunt said. "The whole thing is a surprise and a shock to me. He was cheerful—they both seemed cheerful yesterday—and there didn't seem to be anything wrong. I can't give any reason any more than anyone else can."

Stephenson was active in sports, being a good bowler and hockey player. Mrs. Stephenson was a member of the Bradford Badminton Club.

Bradford is 33 miles north of Toronto.

Bancroft Man Gets Pulpwood Contract With Penna. Paper Co.

Work Will Give Employment to About 70 Men

Bancroft, Jan. 22 (Special) —Mr. Gordon W. Jones of Bancroft, who has been in the pulp business for over twenty-five years, has purchased a limit in Burton township, County of Haliburton. The limit is situated northwest of Bancroft about thirty-five miles, of which the last eleven miles is a Winter haul road.

Clifford Avey of the village, is jobbing for Mr. Jones and has established three camps on the limit comprising some seventy men.

Mr. Jones has a contract with the Castanea Paper Company of Johnsonburg, Pennsylvania, which is one of the largest paper mills in America. The entire output of paper from this company is sold to the publisher of The Saturday Evening Post and The Ladies' Home Journal. Mr. Jones' contract calls for ten thousand cords of pulpwood, but he only intends supplying between five and six thousand cords this summer.

Six trucks at present are hauling over the ten mile stretch from camp. The dry pulpwood which was cut last Summer is being trucked to the C.N.R., north of Lake St. Peter, while the green pulp is being dumped on Boulder Lake and will be piled ready for shipment this coming Summer.

13-Year-Old Boy Kills Wounded Wolf With Axe Near Cordova

Marmora, Jan. 22 (Special) — A lone wolf hungrily surveying a flock of sheep in the yard of Murray Barrons' farm a mile north of Cordova on Saturday forenoon, from a knoll three hundred yards away, paid the penalty for so doing within an hour. Mr. Barrons observed the animal as he went to the rear of his barn in the course of doing his chores and went to the house for his gun and a few shells. The wolf in the meantime had not changed his position. The firing of a few shots sent the wolf on the run. Mr. Barrons hit the wolf in the leg and decided to pursue the wounded animal. The wolf took the direction of Jas. Spry's farm and came up to where Mr. Spry's thirteen-year-old son Ray was opening up a hole for his cows to drink. The lad saw the wolf but did not identify it. To him it looked either like a dog or a fox. Unawares that Mr. Barrons was also in pursuit the lad took after the animal with his axe. He overtook it after a tramp of about a mile and a half and killed it with one blow. He threw the carcass over his shoulder and retraced his steps to confront Mr. Barrons within a few paces. The dead animal was exhibited at Ross Barrons' store and Cordova's unorganized wolf hunt filtered through many a conversation in that village and Marmora over the week-end.

C.C.F. Chairman Terms Vote of Censure as 'Impertinent'

M. J. Coldwell, M.P., Says Criticism of Premer King is Also Criticism of Britain's War Policy

IN BAD TASTE

Toronto, Jan. 22 —"Impertinent," was the way M. J. Coldwell, M.P., National C.C.F. chairman, today described the Hepburn Drew Legislature vote of censure of the war efforts of Prime Minister Mackenzie King and his government.

"Mr. Hepburn, Colonel Drew and Attorney-General Conant," declared Mr. Coldwell, "are becoming notorious across Canada because of their apparently frantic efforts to introduce totalitarian methods into Dominion affairs."

Canada is at war, and no matter what a person might think of the events that led up to it, all must recognize, Mr. Coldwell declared that the country must bring such an effort to a successful conclusion.

"It seems to me," he continued, "that any effort to make political capital out of the sincere attempts of our government to this end is in exceedingly bad taste. I am thoroughly opposed to politicians of any stripe furthering their own ends and ambitions by playing politics.

"By their vote of censure on Prime Minister King, Premier Hepburn, Col. Drew and the others criticized the war policy of Great Britain and the other Dominions, because it's obvious to even these provincial politicians that Canada is acting on the advice of Britain in almost every move she makes," the C.C.P. M.P. declared.

"Doesn't Make Sense"

"It seems rather impertinent of provincial politicians to criticize the war policy when they had no criticism of the government's international policy prior to the war," he said. "Now they are shouting their heads off because Mr. King is taking the advice of the British government. It doesn't make sense.

Referring to the Defence of Canada Regulations and their enforcement, Mr. Coldwell stated: "The present Minister of Justice, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, is a kindly and just man but he must be guided by his officials and advisory committees. It may be improbable but not impossible that Mr. Lapointe may be succeeded by Col. Drew or Mr. Conant.

He has already placed on the order paper of the Commons a resolution asking the government to refer the regulations to a special committee of the House, he stated. He states he hopes that this committee, if appointed, will modify the rules in accordance with the amended British regulations.

"The regulations were published almost simultaneously with the British code," Mr. Coldwell said, "and they were almost identical in character, indicating there had been co-operation in the framing. Since then, the British regulations have been modified, following a storm of criticism in the House of Commons. As yet, nothing has been done to amend ours in like manner," he said.

"Our civil liberties are derived from Magna Carta and the Petition of Rights," he continued. "They guaranteed us a fair trial in an open court. Section 21 of the regulations abolishes that right and directs that the accused, and here I quote from the book, 'may be detained in such place and under such conditions as the Minister of Justice may determine.' That means," he claimed, "for an indefinite period. No limit minimum or maximum is stipulated in the regulations.

Flying Boat Just Missed Going to N.Y.

London, Jan. 22—(CP)—How a 25-ton Royal Air Force flying boat just missed going to New York was told today.

The big plane, with a crew of 10, was on patrol over the Atlantic recently when ice formed on its wings and forced it down.

A Netherlands freighter took the British fliers aboard and the plane in tow, stern first.

"Where will you put us ashore?" one of the airmen asked.

"In New York," the skipper replied.

It was agreed eventually, however to send a wireless message to England and the next day two British destroyers picked up the men and plane.

WOMAN IS BURNED WHEN HER BED CATCHES FIRE

Fatal Injuries Result From Blaze Believed to Have Been Caused by Cigarette

FIREMEN CALLED

Death Takes Place in London Hospital, Though it Was Felt for Time She Might Recover

London, Ont., Jan. 22—(CP)—Mrs. Marion Anderson, 40-year-old beauty parlor operator, died here today from burns received last night when her bed caught fire.

Severely burned about the face, neck and upper part of the body, Mrs. Anderson was found in a flaming bed in her third storey apartment when firemen were summoned by neighbors who smelled smoke. She was rushed to hospital where doctors for a while held hopes for her recovery.

Several residents of the apartment house ran into Mrs. Anderson's room but were unable to approach the blazing bed before firemen arrived. Fire from the bedding had caught on to the woman's clothing and she was unconscious when firemen smothered the blaze with blankets.

It is believed the fire was caused by a cigarette.

Coast Defences Keep Watch for Nazi Parachutists

London, Jan. 22—(CP-Cable)—Working on the theory that you can't be too careful in war, Britain's coastal defenders are keeping a close watch for Nazi parachute spies.

Despite the fact enemy planes cannot even approach the coast without being engaged, certain sections of the British Press believe it possible the enemy may attempt to land spies and saboteurs under cover of darkness on the lonely Moorland wastes of Yorkshire, Northumberland and Scotland.

The Royal Air Force coast command and anti-aircraft posts have received orders to keep their eyes peeled.

It is not a "scare," merely a reasonable precaution. It is recalled that a number of German parachutists landed behind the Polish lines early in the invasion of Poland.

In France the Royal Air Force established special flying squads of armed security police who rushed to all points where parachutists were reported to have been seen.

Authorities insist, however, that no enemy agent has yet landed behind the Maginot line.

EASTERN ONTARIO BEARS FULL FORCE OF SNOWSTORM

Western Ontario Cities in Path of Storm Which Was Felt During Week-end

SIDEROADS BLOCKED

For Seventh Day Gusty Winds Block Sideroads in Western New York and Threaten Milk Supply

Winter returned with renewed fury to most parts of Ontario during the week-end, leaving a heavy fall of snow, blocked side roads and scattered drifts that impeded traffic.

Eastern sections along Lake Ontario bore the brunt of the storm which rode in on a high wind Saturday night. Kingston and Brockville reported high winds and intermittent falls of snow. Peterborough district reported nine inches of snow over the week-end though the fall was fluffy and failed to block traffic.

Six Inches of Snow at Kingston.

Rising temperatures were indicated from most sections, including most of Western Ontario. The main storm missed Hamilton although spasmodic falls helped to block sideroads. Brantford, Galt, Stratford, Kitchener, all were in line of the main storm which reached proportions of a blizzard in some districts.

Snow was still falling in some sections today.

At Kingston, heavy gales, accompanied with snow prevailed throughout the night and today many side roads were reported as being rapidly filled. About six inches of snow fell and was still coming down this morning, forcing many snow shovellers to be summoned by the city.

In the country it was reported side roads were suffering, though snow ploughs were out early.

Brockville reported intermittent storms over the week-end which gave the district the most snow of the season. Municipal snowploughs were out during the night and Provincial Highway Department ploughs were also in operation. All roads were open.

Near-gales At Buffalo.

Buffalo, N.Y., Jan. 22 (AP)—Gusty winds of near gale force drifted snow-glutted highways through western New York for the seventh day, threatening Buffalo's milk supply and piled more snow on Watertown in the city's "worst storm in fourteen years".

A 12-inch fall last night brought Watertown's snowfall to 64 inches since Thursday. Bus schedules were abandoned as the wind piled drifts which reached a depth of six and seven feet.

In Buffalo milk producers said Sunday's supply was 40,000 quarts short with milk trucks lost on drifted back roads. Dealers said supplies were arriving "eight or nine hours late", but hoped for better delivery today.

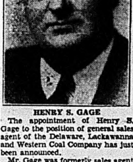
John Wagner, secretary of the Niagara Frontier Milk Dealers Organization, said milk was arriving so late that some dealers had supplies shipped in from Rochester and a Producers' leader suggested asking a supply from less affected areas of the state.

HENRY S. GAGE

Appointed General Sales Agent

D. L. & W. COAL

Well Known In Canada



HENRY S. GAGE

The appointment of Henry S. Gage to the position of general sales agent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Coal Company has just been announced.

Mr. Gage was formerly sales agent for the company in Ontario and Western New York and is a well known figure in the coal business in both countries, having spent much of his time in Canada before being appointed to his present executive position with the organization.

A native of Buffalo, Mr. Gage has been connected with the coal business since 1911. He was appointed sales agent for Western New York and Ontario in 1929 and last year was moved to New York as advertising and sales promotion manager of the company.

In his present position, Mr. Gage will be in charge of sales for the United States and Canada.

How To Relieve Misery of Your CHEST COLD

Massage throat, chest, and back with plenty of Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. Then spread a thick layer on chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

VapoRub's double action brings double relief. It acts as a poultice to penetrate the surface skin; and its soothing medicinal vapors are breathed direct to the irritated air passages.

Try it, to loosen phlegm—to clear air passages—check tendency to cough—and also to relieve the tightness and soreness of chest muscles.

SCALLOPED OYSTERS—Ingredients: 25 oysters with liquor, two cups bread crumbs, one-half cup rich milk, two tablespoons butter, one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon pepper. Grease baking dish and cover bottom with bread crumbs. Lay oysters in carefully, season and cover with bread crumbs. Pour milk and oyster liquor over all and top with butter cut into small pieces. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 20 minutes.

HOT MOLASSES CAKE—Ingredients: one-half cup shortening, one-half cup brown sugar, one egg, one-half cup molasses, two cups flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon allspice, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half cup milk. Cream shortening; add sugar slowly, creaming well. Add beaten egg and molasses; beat well. All flour sifted with baking powder, salt, soda and spices, alternately with milk; mix well. Bake in shallow greased tin at 375 degrees F. for about 35 minutes. Serve warm. If desired, spread thinly with chocolate icing. Makes twelve pieces.

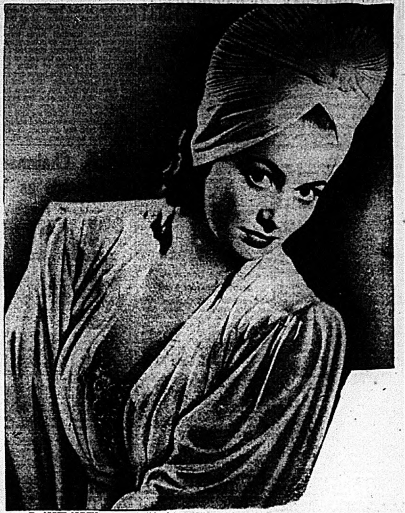
Sophisticated Lady



By ALICE ALDEN

OLIVIA DeHAVILLAND goes sophisticated and flirtatious under the influence of the exotic white crepe dinner turban, matching a gown of Grecian lines embroidered with white seed pearls and huge jewels, in this picture. It's possible and it's fun to switch from the old-fashioned to the ultra modern; from curls to a chignon; from the tailored wool frock to the black crepe with ruffly lingerie collar. Wear a plaid taffeta sailor by day, cover your coiffure with Persian drapery by night. Insist on pearl button earrings for the office, but try dangling glitter come evening. Wear your low heels in the woods and on the street, but yield to the allure of spikes for dancing. It takes more imagination than money to dress cleverly. Guard against the ridiculous, that's all.

May's Ahead!

By ALICE ALDEN

One way to feel compensated for not going south in January is to buy a dress from the tempting collections and put it away for summer. It's surprising how many women do just this, feeling they get the pick of the showing months in advance. It's not a bad idea to use some of that Christmas gift money for things you'll be sure to crave, only to find the stock is exhausted come May. Here's a safe selection, a spun rayon cotton in soft blue and off-white plaid, fastened coat style. It's easily packed and, better, easily laundered. The cruise-going sandal is white buck with platform sole studded in brass nail heads, a spectator shoe which also comes in colored suede.

Caroline Chatfield Says Today

Unsafe For Wife to Depend On Husband to Supply Sole Happiness.

There are scores of married women who know they don't want what they've got in life; but they aren't quite sure what they do want and so make no definite plans to pull out of the bog of disappointment in which they've fallen along the marriage journey.

They are the women who expected marriage to yield them blissful happiness, and when marriage didn't they quite and began to cry out loud because life had cheated them. No design for living, no plans to find compensations on the outside for what they missed inside, nor effort to piece out the pattern of their lives and lead a useful and reasonably content existence, even if they are married to duds.

Day after day I receive letters from women who bring every sort of indictment against their husbands; one husband has no interest in his home, another is stingy, another drinks, gambles; another won't talk, another won't provide any nourishment for his wife, but takes plenty for himself; another has eyes for other women. And at this particular time of year there are innumerable complaints from hunting widows who say that the family surplus goes for dogs and shells while they wear old clothes and sit at home in the ashes waiting for the huntsmen to return.

No matter how these men got this way, no matter who is at fault in the beginning, it's perfectly natural for a woman to be disappointed when the principal things she got married for have eluded her: a home built for two and enjoyed by both, companionship, security, fun and whatnot. But that's no excuse for her to fold up and admit she's licked.

We can't blame an ignoramus for failing to enjoy good books, nor blame a hardworked woman who is in poor health for falling in her bed when the day's work is done, nor blame a timid, inhibited woman for not going out to scare up an exciting social life. These are not the only ladies who are crying out loud because husbands have cheated them. They are a small fraction of the number.

There's hope for every one of these marriage malcontents regardless of her limitations, if she will get up and fight her way to contentment. To begin with she can usually persuade her husband to participate with her in some phases of their life (if she's diplomatic and patient); and to end with she can learn to roll her own; have friends and fun on the side and make a reasonably full life for herself, even if her husband won't co-operate or participate.

HOPE IN WHOOPING COUGH

Why do doctors not discover something to stop whooping cough?

This frequently asked question is answered by Dr. H. B. Cushing in the current issue of "Health" by the statement "easier said than done".

Last year, according to Dr. Cushing, over 15,000 children died of whooping cough in North America alone and more children died of this disease in Canada than of any other acute infectious disease.

The writer, who is physician to the Children's Memorial Hospital and to the Alexandra Hospital for Contagious Diseases, Montreal, says in part:

"Whooping cough, or pertusis as the doctors like to call it, is one of the most curious of the contagious diseases. It starts like a common cold or cough but gradually in the course of a week the cough becomes spasmodic and the typical paroxysms and 'whooping' develop. Unlike most epidemic diseases there is no fever, and no prostration. Between the attacks of coughing the child appears quite normal and wants to play and eat as usual. Unless worn out by loss of sleep, vomiting, et cetera, the patients are hard to control, or keep in quarantine. Doctors find it difficult to make a diagnosis, unless they witness an unmistakable paroxysm. The infection seems to be spread by direct contact. The disease usually takes ten days to develop, and is most contagious during the first two weeks, but may remain so as long as five or six weeks.

For years hundreds of investigators have spent their lives on the problem, some of the greatest intellects in the medical world have devoted their attention to the subject. Our knowledge of the disease and its possible control is steadily growing, even if the progress may seem maddeningly slow. The cause has been discovered, a minute bacillus, allied to the influenza bacillus is found in the larynx and air-passages of the sufferers. It can be grown in test-tubes and its discovery is used as a test for the disease in doubtful cases, but so far no one has discovered a certain cure. Much can be done to relieve the sufferers. Careful nursing and attention to the diet maintain their general health. Abundance of fresh air and sunshine lessens the number of spasms. Various sedatives in the worst cases afford a measure of relief but no specific drug or serum has so far been found to shorten the course of the disease.

"In the past few years, two great advances have been made which give promise for the future. First, a wonderful new drug, sulphapyridine, which saves thousands of lives in pneumonia, is also effective in most of the cases of pneumonia complicating whooping cough.

Second, efforts have been made for many years to find a vaccine which would immunize the children against the disease. At first the vaccines tried were quite ineffective, but in recent years, vaccines have been prepared of greater potency, so that now children can be inoculated with a reasonable hope of success.

"With the improving results of immunization, the better understanding of the disease, more careful quarantine, and the control of the fatal pneumonia, the future looks promising. It is hoped the coming year will show great promise in the conquest of this, the worst of the remaining plagues that afflict children."

Adolescent's Greatest Problem—Anemia

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

A great problem of adolescence is anemia. This may be very insidious and entirely escape attention, but I think anyone who deals with large groups of adolescent children must notice the high incidence of pallor. This probably indicates anemia whether the blood examination shows it or not.

The anemia of adolescence is usually one in which the number of red cells is not reduced although the coloring matter of the blood shows a more or less significant reduction.

The old-fashioned "green sickness" in girls was a form of primary anemia called "chlorosis". We are told on eminent authority that this has disappeared off the earth. The explanation of the disappearance of chlorosis has been that the nutrition of the modern age is better than that of other periods. We have a large supply of fresh foods during the winter, including fresh meats, which was not true in our parents' time, and we also have green vegetables and fruits with a high iron content all the year 'round now. All of which goes to prevent the development of chlorosis.

Iron Deficiency.

Chlorosis is due to iron deficiency and its treatment is very simple; it consists in the feeding of iron. The argument for the reasons of the disappearance of chlorosis, that we have more iron in our food now, is therefore plausible.

I am not sure, however, that chlorosis has disappeared quite as much as we are led to believe. I see cases every once in a while in the clinic, and I find that they are not recognized because the subject of chlorosis is not taught emphatically to modern physicians.

The principal symptoms of chlorosis are digestive, consisting of loss of appetite and a liking for particular kinds of foods. This appetite change may be more cause than effect because the foods which are preferred are candy and other processed foods which contain little iron or vitamins.

Blood May Not Show It.

The examination of the blood, as it is done in a routine way by a technician in a laboratory, may show little indication to a physician that [illegible] exists. The old clinicians who made the diagnosis of [illegible] did so because they made their own blood examinations, a custom, which unfortunately, in modern times has largely gone out of fashion.

Anemia, then, is a problem of adolescence which is often overlooked and disregarded. The diagnosis can be as much on the appearance of the child as on technical blood examinations.

I think it is proper to advise, however, that in the routine examination of the adolescent, the blood should be checked at least once a year.

The other important routine examination of the adolescent is for tuberculosis and it is, of course, possible that adolescent anemia may have tuberculosis as its causative background.

In all events, there can be no harm in careful attention to the adolescent's nutrition, particularly with reference to seeing that he has plenty of iron in the food.

Questions and Answers.

K. E. T.: "Have I any reason to be worried about running a temperature of 99 to 100, that is, off and on, all winter? It is normal in the morning and evening. It goes up about 11 and stays up till 5 o'clock I am not weak and have no cough."

Answer: Such a condition certainly demands investigation, including an X-ray of the chest. It suggests a chronic infection, possibly early tuberculosis. Do not wait until cough and weakness appear.

Your Own Hat Style

By ALICE ALDEN

HAPPY THOUGHT: It's time for a new hat—and any hat goes. It may be an exotic-looking turban, either white or boldly shaded. It may be a straw sailor, for luncheon in particular. It may be Javanese, Malayan or angelic, the word we think best fits this velvet halo designed for dancing star Ann Miller. Because her face is oval—and pretty—Miss Miller gets by beautifully with the shirred chin strap. But some of us should think twice before again adopting this effective means of keeping the hat on the head. All of us, though, can dress our hands cleverly for the cocktail hour, either choosing ready-made gloves which go with our hats or having them made. The black velvets in this picture flaunt sequin embroidery.

Tricks of Cooking Trade

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Quick tricks and pepper-uppers should be in the repertoire of every good cook. We have many of our own ,which we are glad to share with our friends, as quick tricks for unexpected luncheon guests are valuable.

Make one with six firm bananas, two tablespoons melted butter, salt, six strips bacon, six slices toast and savory cheese sauce, for six servings. Peel bananas. Place on broiler rack or in pan. Brush well with butter and sprinkle with salt. Place about five inches below heat and broil six to ten minutes, or until bananas are brown and tender, easily pierced with a pork. Broil bacon until crisp. Cut each banana crosswise into halves and arrange two halves on each slice of toast. Pour sauce over banasas and garnish with bacon. Serve at once.

Savory Cheese Sauce is made with two tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, teaspoon prepared mustard, one-fourth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, two cups milk, one cup grated American cheese. Melt butter, add flour and seasoning and stir until smooth. Stir in milk slowly. Add cheese, and cook, stirring constantly until sauce is smooth and thickened. About two cups sauce.

Always Welcome.

A pepper-upper for cold meats is always welcome, and here's a swell relish of pickles, beets and cabbage. Mix it well and pile it on lettuce cups, and then place around cold meat platter. It's nice with hot meats, too, as crisp as a Yankee twang. Make two cups finely-shredded cabbage, three-fourths cup chopped pickles, one cup diced celery, French dressing, one cup Julienne beets, and two sliced hard-boiled eggs. Combine cabbage, pickles and celery. Add French dressing, tossing lightly with a fork until well blended. Add beets just before serving and toss lightly. Garnish with eggs and serve with additional dressing.

It is good to have something on the pantry shelf that adds zest and tang to salad dressings. Spiced Vinegar is just the thing. It is made with one-fourth ounce each whole cloves, mace, allspice, pepper, celery seed and mustard seed, one quart good cider vinegar, tablespoon sugar, one bay leaf and one teaspoon salt. Place all ingredients in covered mason jar for two weeks. Strain before using.

String Beans and Eggs
Mashed or Creamed Potatoes
Celery, Cabbage, Green Pepper and Celery Salad
Cottage Pudding Lemon Sauce
Tea or Coffee

This meal may be prepared very quickly. You can, if you wish, buy a plain cake and serve with lemon sauce in place of the cottage pudding. However, a cottage pudding may be made very quickly and be baking while the rest of the meal is being prepared and eaten.

String Beans and Eggs—Ingredients: two to six eggs, one cup canned string beans, diced, and one-half cup cooked minced ham or bacon. Break eggs into a hot greased flying pan. Add beans and meat and cook over low heat until eggs are set, stirring two or three times during cooking.

Cottage Pudding—One-fourth cup shortening, one-half cup sugar, one egg, one-half teaspoon vanilla extract, one and one-half cups pastry flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half cup milk. Cream the shortening, add sugar slowly, beating in well, add unbeaten egg and flavoring; beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, mix well and bake in well-greased baking pan or small ring mold in 350 deg. F. oven for from 30 to 40 minutes. Serve warm. Serves four.

Lemon Sauce—Ingredients: one-half cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, three-fourths cup cold water, two tablespoons butter, grated rind and juice of one lemon, one egg yolk. Mix together sugar and flour, add water and stir until smooth. Add butter and lemon rind and boil five minutes, stirring constantly until thick. Add lemon juice and slightly beaten egg yolk; cook two minutes longer. Can be used warm or cold.

Serving Meal Without Maid

SERVING NEED .. .. fee tecl-
By ELEANOR ROSS

A letter at hand has whipped up considerable thought and attention. The burden of it is that the writer has no maid, but would like to entertain at luncheon or dinner once in a while. She is fairly new in the neighborhood and knows very few people, but she would like to entertain the few she has met.

A buffet service is the thing for several guests, but it won't do for this hostess at all. She feels that without the services of a maid, it will be impossible for her to invite even one couple for dinner. But we disagree. We have seen a dinner for six that was beautifully served and managed by the hostess without benefit of a maid to wait at the table or to prepare food in the kitchen. It is all a matter of management, of planning well beforehand, and of not inviting more guests than can be comfortably managed.

The first course, such as a fruit cup or a seafood cocktail, should be placed on the service plate, together with the rolls, celery, radishes and such, before guests are seated. This may be done while appetizers are being served by the host in the living room. A small serving table or, better still, a tea wagon, should be placed near the dining table, to the right of the hostess. On this can be placed the needed dinner plates, the salad bowl, with its plates, and, if possible, the dessert plates. The main dish should be kept warm in the oven and should be the type of dish that is easily transferred to the service platter. The sweet should be a frozen dessert or an ice box cake, anything that can be prepared in advance. Fruit gelatin or caramel custards in individual cups are good choices and with mixed little fancy cakes or biscuits, make nice sweets. A cheese platter containing various cheeses and crackers is a

SELF-RELIANCE CHILD'S RIGHT!

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

While some mothers don't do enough for their children, others do far too much for them, robbing them of self-reliance. It is very easy for any of us to cause our children to be over-dependent on us; and after we have so injured them we may grow vexed at the very traits for which we have been responsible. The following extreme case is an example..

"Dear Dr. Myers—I am hoping there is something I can do indirectly to help an 18-year-old boy, my brother's son, find his place in life before there is a tragedy.

"The boy's mother is one of those women with whom cleaning is a phobia. R. G. always was the best dressed boy at school. When he got his suit soiled, he would wait at his father's office until he could go home with him rather than face the situation alone.

Dressed, Bathed Him.

"He has been so completely supervised that he never even dressed himself until recently, and, believe it or not, a year ago she still bathed him (he might spatter a drop of water if he had to do it). She has successfully destroyed every bit of initiative or self-confidence the boy should have. In fact, he has never had these characteristics; they were choked from the start.

"Naturally, he never developed any study or work habits. Now his parents constantly criticize him for not displaying any of these qualities they have destroyed. He has been failing consistently in his studies, although his mind is O.K.

"Two weeks ago his cousin, who has been held up as an example to R. G. all these years, graduated from high school. R. G. wouldn't attend the graduating exercises.

Doesn't Understand.

"His father fails to understand. He just harps on his faults and what a problem he is. Recently he said: 'I'm going to make R. G. finish his high school if it takes twelve years,' then added, 'Can you feature an 18-year-old boy standing around chewing his nails and wishing he were dead?'

"Poor boy! I could weep! Any little gutter snipe or street arab has a better chance to cope with life than this 150-pound, six-foot boy. Yet, he has many possibilities, one of which is a talent for drawing which has never been stressed. He played the snare drum in the school band when not barred from this little pleasure because of low grades in his other studies.

"I hope that we may be able to do enough for R. G. to make him wish for something besides death."

And I hope the suggestions I wrote her on how she might change the attitude of R. G.'s parents toward him will bear some fruit. Also I hope that many parents reading the foregoing letter will avoid the serious errors of the parents of R. G.

Winter Sport Assets

By ALICE ALDEN

Those brief walks we all like to take when a good snow's prettied the landscape are more fun if we don't have to stride in our office or Sunday best. But walking is only one excuse for adding a smart little inter wrap to the wardrobe. Anita uise uses this camel hair jacket lined in plaid as an all-around sports asset, combining it with a plaid skirt and a cherry-red sweater. Change the skirt for ski or skating trousers and the result is an active sports ensemble, and, of course, the jacket alone is perfect for after-ski warmth, tobogganing and sunning on deck, if you're taking a cruise.

Mash cheese, and blend in mayonnaise. Whip milk very stiff. Add lemon juice. Fold in fruit and cheese mixture lightly. Pour into cold freezing trays. Press partition in place to freeze mixture in cubes. Serve on crisp lettuce or watercress with or without salad dressing. Delicious when served on peach or pear halves, or slices of pineapple. Yield: one and one-fourth pints, or 16 large cubes.

Family Favorite.

Frozen fruit salad is pretty sure to become a family favorite throughout the year. Make it with one No. 2 can fruit salad, sixteen marshmallows (four ounces), one tall can chilled evaporated milk, three tablespoons lemon juice, one-fourth cup mayonnaise and one-half cup black walnuts, pecans or almonds, chopped. Drain fruit well. Cut apricots and peaches in one-half inch pieces, and cherries in halves. Cut marshmallows in eighths. These cut easily with scissors which have been dipped in hot water. Whip milk very stiff. Fold in lemon juice, mayonnaise, marshmallows. nuts and fruit. Pour at once into cold freezing trays. Slice and serve on crisp lettuce leaves, with or without salad dressing. Yield: three pints.

Frozen Roquefort Salad will delight those who are partial to this tangy cheese. Make it with one three-ounce package of cream cheese, one wedge portion of Roquefort cheese, one-fourth cup mayonnaise, one small can or two-thirds cup chilled evaporated milk, one and one-half tablespoons lemon juice and one-fourth cup finely-cut water cress. Mash cheese and blend with mayonnaise. Whip chilled milk very stiff. Fold in lemon juice, then the cheese mixture and watercress. Pour at once into cold freezing tray. Press partition in place to freeze mixture in cubes. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves or on watercress. Yield: one pint, or twelve cubes.

Tracing the Child's Motor Development

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

The child learns to walk alone between the ages of 11 and 18 months. But he arrives at this achievement gradually. He usually develops in the following order: First he crawls with his abdomen dragging. He then creeps, with the abdomen lifted clear and some teamwork of the arms and legs. Next he pulls himself to a standing position by taking hold of furniture or other objects, and finally makes stepping movements which culminate in walking.

Here are more detailed stages in these developments (for the average child):

Side to side movement of the head, two to three weeks of age Raises self by the arms, clearing chest, two to four months. Sits with support, three to five months. Sits alone momentarily, five to six months. Rolls from back to stomach, six to seven months. Sits alone steadily, seven to nine months. Creeps, nine to eleven months. Walks when led, ten to eleven months. Pulls self up to stand by furniture, ten to eleven months. Stands alone, twelve to fifteen months. Walks alone, twelve to eighteen months.

Trips Easily At First.

In the early walking stages the baby moves almost as if on stilts, easily tripping over small obstacles. But within the next few years he will learn to run, jump, climb, skip, hop, walk a narrow rail or board, jump rope and so on. It is important during this period for the child to have the opportunity to develop control over his muscles by using them in a wide variety of ways, manipulating many materials.

The young child so develops that he can make the larger movements earlier and easier than the smaller ones. Therefore, modern play equipment is made up of large things which are easy for the child to handle. The tendency a generation ago was to make such equipment very small.

Other Factors.

But as Professor John Anderson says, "While modern evidence and practice tend to support the principle of large equipment, it must not be forgotten that the child's own readiness and interests are important factors in the determination of his activities. Thus, a good environment will not be comprised exclusively of one type, one size or one piece of material, but will contain a variety of materials and play objects. . . .

"One cannot predict high skill in one activity from high skill in another. A boy may throw a ball very well and yet be poor in manipulating a saw or hammer. It follows, then that the environment during the early school years should give the child a wide variety of opportunities for experience in many different situations, for otherwise he can't explore his own potentialities."

Health Conditions In New Zealand

The Health League of Canada,
105 Bond St., Toronto, Ont.

New Zealand has the reputation of being a very healthy country. Its infantile deathrate is about the lowest in the world. Its women have excellent pre-natal care. The medical and nursing professions are equal to anything found elsewhere.

Recent information throws some doubt on the usually accepted health conditions prevailing amongst our cousins on the other side of the world. For one thing the New Zealanders do not consume a proper balance of the protective foods, that is meat, fish, milk, eggs, fruits and vegetables. Most of the protective foods are fairly expensive and in consequence meat is the main first class protein used and the diet is bulked with white bread, cakes, cane sugar and tea. The New Zealanders are the largest meat eaters in the world, (about 250 pounds a head annually). The average daily consumption of food is as follows: sugar 6 to 7 ounces, red meat one pound, white flour ½-pound, milk two-thirds of a pint, egg one-third, cheese one-third an ounce, and from two to three ounces of butter. Most of the milk available shows that 97 per cent of school children have dental cavities and 50 per cent of the people have false teeth. One in every twenty persons is in hospital every year chiefly for such complaints as appendicitis, diseased tonsils and goitre. The adult population suffers considerably from digestive complaints, rheumatism and neuritis.

Most of the children maintain good health until about the eighth to the tenth year after which milk, cod-liver oil and orange juice are cut down and their place taken by refined starches. By the time children are going to school dental decay has begun though this has been to some extent checked by a supply, in the last two years, of a daily half pint of milk.

New Zealand eats too much pastry and cakes. The tea-drinking habits are the surprise of visitors. There is great need, as here, in education in the basic principles of nutrition.

Easing the Dish-washing Task

By ELEANOR ROSS

Like every other home economics writer, we constantly receive letters of complaints about dish washing. "We are going to eat out," is the burden of some of these letters, "then there won't be stacks of dishes and sauce pans to give me indigestion before the meal is over." "Where can I get nice-looking papier mache plates? I'm sick and tired of washing china after every meal," is another plea.

Well, these things won't be much help, for as long as there is eating there will be dish-washing. The only way is to make the best of the inevitable, and endeavor to simplify and ease the task as much as possible.

The best plan we know is to wash mixing bowls, spoons and other preparatory equipment as you go along. Pots and pans are seldom a problem if they are soaked in soapy water the minute the food has been transferred to the serving dishes. Then there are those grand ovenware and flameware dishes and saucepans which can march right on to the table with the best of them, thus eliminating serving dishes from the dish-washing line-up. This glassware cleans easily and beautifully, we've found.

Scraping First Step.

Scraping is the first step in systematic dish-washing. Use a rubber scraper or paper towels to remove grease and food remnants, then rinse the dishes under running hot water if possible, and stack them neatly in a convenient place.

All these preliminary steps are time and trouble savers, but the important part of good dish-washing technique is to start with a dishpan full of hot, soapy water, and to renew the water as soon as it becomes sullied and the suds die down.

There are two reliable rinsing methods ,and rinsing is just as important as the washing. Either transfer the dishes to a second dishpan of hot water before letting them drain, or place them directly in a wire drain basket and pour scalding water over them. Silver and glassware should always be wiped with clean, lintless towels, but china, when it has been scalded, should be dry enough to put away after it has drained for a while. There are rubber racks made to hold various-sized plates.

Keep all dish-mops, dish-cloths and towels spotlessly clean. There is no sense in washing table china, glassware and silver and then dry them with a cloth which is stained or dusty. The best way is to wash the towels as soon as the dish-washing is over. We fill the sink with hot water and soap powder and in a jiffy towels are cleaned and hung up to dry, ready for service again.

Your Own Hat Style

By ALICE ALDEN

HAPPY THOUGHT: It's time for a new hat—and any hat goes. It may be an exotic-looking turban, either white or boldly shaded. It may be a straw sailor, for luncheon in particular. It may be Javanese, Malayan or angelic, the word we think best fits this velvet halo designed for dancing star Ann Miller. Because her face is oval—and pretty—Miss Miller gets by beautifully with the shirred chin strap. But some of us should think twice before again adopting this effective means of keeping the hat on the head. All of us, though, can dress our hands cleverly for the cocktail hour, either choosing ready-made gloves which go with our hats or having them made. The black velvets in this picture flaunt sequin embroidery.

Tricks of Cooking Trade

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Quick tricks and pepper-uppers should be in the repertoire of every good cook. We have many of our own ,which we are glad to share with our friends, as quick tricks for unexpected luncheon guests are valuable.

Make one with six firm bananas, two tablespoons melted butter, salt, six strips bacon, six slices toast and savory cheese sauce, for six servings. Peel bananas. Place on broiler rack or in pan. Brush well with butter and sprinkle with salt. Place about five inches below heat and broil six to ten minutes, or until bananas are brown and tender, easily pierced with a pork. Broil bacon until crisp. Cut each banana crosswise into halves and arrange two halves on each slice of toast. Pour sauce over banasas and garnish with bacon. Serve at once.

Savory Cheese Sauce is made with two tablespoons butter, three tablespoons flour, teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, teaspoon prepared mustard, one-fourth teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, two cups milk, one cup grated American cheese. Melt butter, add flour and seasoning and stir until smooth. Stir in milk slowly. Add cheese, and cook, stirring constantly until sauce is smooth and thickened. About two cups sauce.

Always Welcome.

A pepper-upper for cold meats is always welcome, and here's a swell relish of pickles, beets and cabbage. Mix it well and pile it on lettuce cups, and then place around cold meat platter. It's nice with hot meats, too, as crisp as a Yankee twang. Make two cups finely-shredded cabbage, three-fourths cup chopped pickles, one cup diced celery, French dressing, one cup Julienne beets, and two sliced hard-boiled eggs. Combine cabbage, pickles and celery. Add French dressing, tossing lightly with a fork until well blended. Add beets just before serving and toss lightly. Garnish with eggs and serve with additional dressing.

It is good to have something on the pantry shelf that adds zest and tang to salad dressings. Spiced Vinegar is just the thing. It is made with one-fourth ounce each whole cloves, mace, allspice, pepper, celery seed and mustard seed, one quart good cider vinegar, tablespoon sugar, one bay leaf and one teaspoon salt. Place all ingredients in covered mason jar for two weeks. Strain before using.

Caroline Chatfield Says Today

Women Bear the Brunt of In-Law Troubles Because They Are Bred in the Home, Woman's Domain.

Women bear the brunt of everything that goes on inside the four walls of a home: whether it's managing the menage, stoking the furnace, disciplining the children, carrying on the war or making peace terms with the in-laws. The home is the woman's dominion and husband and children are her subjects. Now let son grow up, get married and bring his bride in to share mother's possessions, make free with her pretties, push mother out of her accustomed place in son's life and mother has a hard time smothering her jealousy and resentment.

Two women are sharing everything that a possessive woman wants to own in fee simple, including the young man. Only if both women are kind and generous, self-contained and self-controlled can they hit it off harmoniously.

The case with father and daughter-in-law is altogether different. First, there is the sex difference which some of the psychologists would have us believe is the whole story. But there are other differences quite as telling.

Father is away from the home half the time and when he's at home there's no collision of interests and ambitions. He doesn't care if son's wife is untidy and musses up the living room. It doesn't matter to him if she breaks mother's treasured china and raids the refrigerator. She's a sweet young girl in the house and he enjoys her gaiety and irresponsibility. He has no petty provocations and irritations with her during the day. And she hasn't changed his status with son.

Writes Mr. M. C. W.: "You have noticed that you seldom receive a letter from a father complaining of his daughter-in-law or vice-versa. Fathers-in-law aren't on the spot and I believe experience has taught me why this is true.

"A young bride usually enters the groom's home with an aloofness which mother interprets as invitation to the fight for son. Why can't the bride go into a huddle with the groom's mother saying, 'Let's leave off the word in-law and lets you and I be a good mother and daughter to each other. Your son and I have promised to share everything. He can share his mother with me and I will share my mother with him'."

Any reasonable woman would be won by this sort of attitude on the part of her son's wife. Though she may not put it into words this is the attitude the bride assumes to the groom's father. And this is why a peaceful relationship exists between them.

Fine and dandy, Mr. Father-in-law. But why not let the overture come from the head of the domain into which the young bride comes; shy, scared, on the defensive because she has married mother's son and has a sneaking notion that mother had just as soon she hadn't.

String Beans and Eggs
Mashed or Creamed Potatoes
Celery, Cabbage, Green Pepper and Celery Salad
Cottage Pudding Lemon Sauce
Tea or Coffee

This meal may be prepared very quickly. You can, if you wish, buy a plain cake and serve with lemon sauce in place of the cottage pudding. However, a cottage pudding may be made very quickly and be baking while the rest of the meal is being prepared and eaten.

String Beans and Eggs—Ingredients: two to six eggs, one cup canned string beans, diced, and one-half cup cooked minced ham or bacon. Break eggs into a hot greased flying pan. Add beans and meat and cook over low heat until eggs are set, stirring two or three times during cooking.

Cottage Pudding—One-fourth cup shortening, one-half cup sugar, one egg, one-half teaspoon vanilla extract, one and one-half cups pastry flour, two and one-half teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half cup milk. Cream the shortening, add sugar slowly, beating in well, add unbeaten egg and flavoring; beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk, mix well and bake in well-greased baking pan or small ring mold in 350 deg. F. oven for from 30 to 40 minutes. Serve warm. Serves four.

Lemon Sauce—Ingredients: one-half cup sugar, two tablespoons flour, three-fourths cup cold water, two tablespoons butter, grated rind and juice of one lemon, one egg yolk. Mix together sugar and flour, add water and stir until smooth. Add butter and lemon rind and boil five minutes, stirring constantly until thick. Add lemon juice and slightly beaten egg yolk; cook two minutes longer. Can be used warm or cold.

Serving Meal Without Maid

SERVING NEED .. .. fee tecl-

By ELEANOR ROSS

A letter at hand has whipped up considerable thought and attention. The burden of it is that the writer has no maid, but would like to entertain at luncheon or dinner once in a while. She is fairly new in the neighborhood and knows very few people, but she would like to entertain the few she has met.

A buffet service is the thing for several guests, but it won't do for this hostess at all. She feels that without the services of a maid, it will be impossible for her to invite even one couple for dinner. But we disagree. We have seen a dinner for six that was beautifully served and managed by the hostess without benefit of a maid to wait at the table or to prepare food in the kitchen. It is all a matter of management, of planning well beforehand, and of not inviting more guests than can be comfortably managed.

The first course, such as a fruit cup or a seafood cocktail, should be placed on the service plate, together with the rolls, celery, radishes and such, before guests are seated. This may be done while appetizers are being served by the host in the living room. A small serving table or, better still, a tea wagon, should be placed near the dining table, to the right of the hostess. On this can be placed the needed dinner plates, the salad bowl, with its plates, and, if possible, the dessert plates. The main dish should be kept warm in the oven and should be the type of dish that is easily transferred to the service platter. The sweet should be a frozen dessert or an ice box cake, anything that can be prepared in advance. Fruit gelatin or caramel custards in individual cups are good choices and with mixed little fancy cakes or biscuits, make nice sweets. A cheese platter containing various cheeses and crackers is a good thought.

Hostess Removes Dishes.

After the first course, be it appetizer or soup, has been eaten, the hostess removes these dishes to a tray which has been standing ready on the sidewalk or side table. She places dinner plates in front of the host, removes the tray of dishes to the kitchen and returns with the main platter and vegetable dish. While the host is carving or serving she returns with the gravy and other vegetable dishes and such.

When the main course is finished, the plates are removed to the handy tea wagon or serving table, and the salad served. The salad plates are returned to the kitchen on the tray and the hostess returns with the dessert or the cheese platter. A dish of fruit and a pile of fruit plates and knives should be at hand if cheese is served.

If possible, arrange to serve coffee in the living room. Have the service ready in the kitchen, and the coffee perking or dripping, so that it may be served soon after guests leave the table. This is best as it eliminates such jobs as clearing the table of crumbs before coffee is served. But if the living room and dining room are one, then the table must do.

The main thing is that the hostess have grace and charm, that she plan to have a suitable meal, one that eliminates constant jumping up and trips to the kitchen.

SELF-RELIANCE CHILD'S RIGHT!

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

While some mothers don't do enough for their children, others do far too much for them, robbing them of self-reliance. It is very easy for any of us to cause our children to be over-dependent on us; and after we have so injured them we may grow vexed at the very traits for which we have been responsible. The following extreme case is an example.

"Dear Dr. Myers—I am hoping there is something I can do indirectly to help an 18-year-old boy, my brother's son, find his place in life before there is a tragedy.

"The boy's mother is one of those women with whom cleaning is a phobia. R. G. always was the best dressed boy at school. When he got his suit soiled, he would wait at his father's office until he could go home with him rather than face the situation alone.

Dressed, Bathed Him.

"He has been so completely supervised that he never even dressed himself until recently, and, believe it or not, a year ago she still bathed him (he might spatter a drop of water if he had to do it). She has successfully destroyed every bit of initiative or self-confidence the boy should have. In fact, he has never had these characteristics; they were choked from the start.

"Naturally, he never developed any study or work habits. Now his parents constantly criticize him for not displaying any of these qualities they have destroyed. He has been failing consistently in his studies, although his mind is O.K.

"Two weeks ago his cousin, who has been held up as an example to R. G. all these years, graduated from high school. R. G. wouldn't attend the graduating exercises.

Doesn't Understand.

"His father fails to understand. He just harps on his faults and what a problem he is. Recently he said: 'I'm going to make R. G. finish his high school if it takes twelve years,' then added, 'Can you feature an 18-year-old boy standing around chewing his nails and wishing he were dead?'

"Poor boy! I could weep! Any little gutter snipe or street arab has a better chance to cope with life than this 150-pound, six-foot boy. Yet, he has many possibilities, one of which is a talent for drawing which has never been stressed. He played the snare drum in the school band when not barred from this little pleasure because of low grades in his other studies.

"I hope that we may be able to do enough for R. G. to make him wish for something besides death."

And I hope the suggestions I wrote her on how she might change the attitude of R. G.'s parents toward him will bear some fruit. Also I hope that many parents reading the foregoing letter will avoid the serious errors of the parents of R. G.

Winter Sport Assets

By ALICE ALDEN

Those brief walks we all like to take when a good snow's prettied the landscape are more fun if we don't have to stride in our office or Sunday best. But walking is only one excuse for adding a smart little winter wrap to the wardrobe. Anita Louise uses this camel hair jacket lined in plaid as an all-around sports asset, combining it with a plaid skirt and a cherry-red sweater. Change the skirt for ski or skating trousers and the result is an active sports ensemble, and, of course, the jacket alone is perfect for after-ski warmth, tobogganing and sunning on deck, if you're taking a cruise.

Favorites Among Frozen Salads

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

Today is salad day, and we are emphasizing those delicious frozen salads which are becoming popular.

Eggless Mayonnaise is the first recipe, one that has been requested by several friends. It is made with one teaspoon confectioners' sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon mustard and paprika, one-fourth cup evaporated milk, one cup oil, two tablespoons vinegar, two tablespoons evaporated milk. Measure sugar, salt, mustard, paprika and the quarter-cup milk into a bowl. Beat well. Beat in one-fourth cup oil, a teaspoon at a time, to form an emulsion. Then add remainder of oil and vinegar, alternately, beating well after each addition. Add the two tablespoons milk and beat again thoroughly. Yield: one and one-half cups.

Frozen cheese salad is made with a three-ounce package cream cheese, one-fourth cup mayonnaise, one small can chilled evaporated milk, two tablespoons lemon juice, three-fourth cup chopped dates and a No. 1 can crushed pineapple, drained. Mash cheese, and blend in mayonnaise. Whip milk very stiff. Add lemon juice. Fold in fruit and cheese mixture lightly. Pour into cold freezing trays. Press partition in place to freeze mixture in cubes. Serve on crisp lettuce or watercress with or without salad dressing. Delicious when served on peach or pear halves, or slices of pineapple. Yield: one and one-fourth pints, or 16 large cubes.

Family Favorite.

Frozen fruit salad is pretty sure to become a family favorite throughout the year. Make it with one No. 2 can fruit salad, sixteen marshmallows (four ounces), one tall can chilled evaporated milk, three tablespoons lemon juice, one-fourth cup mayonnaise and one-half cup black walnuts, pecans or almonds, chopped. Drain fruit well. Cut apricots and peaches in one-half inch pieces, and cherries in halves. Cut marshmallows in eighths. These cut easily with scissors which have been dipped in hot water. Whip milk very stiff. Fold in lemon juice, mayonnaise, marshmallows, nuts and fruit. Pour at once into cold freezing trays. Slice and serve on crisp lettuce leaves, with or without salad dressing. Yield: three pints.

Frozen Roquefort Salad will delight those who are partial to this tangy cheese. Make it with one three-ounce package of cream cheese, one wedge portion of Roquefort cheese, one-fourth cup mayonnaise, one small can or two-thirds cup chilled evaporated milk, one and one-half tablespoons lemon juice and one-fourth cup finely-cut water cress. Mash cheese and blend with mayonnaise. Whip chilled milk very stiff. Fold in lemon juice, then the cheese mixture and watercress. Pour at once into cold freezing tray. Press partition in place to freeze mixture in cubes. Serve on crisp lettuce leaves or on watercress. Yield: one pint, or twelve cubes.

Tracing the Child's Motor Development

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

The child learns to walk alone between the ages of 11 and 18 months. But he arrives at this achievement gradually. He usually develops in the following order: First he crawls with his abdomen dragging. He then creeps, with the abdomen lifted clear and some teamwork of the arms and legs. Next he pulls himself to a standing position by taking hold of furniture or other objects, and finally makes stepping movements which culminate in walking.

Here are more detailed stages in these developments (for the average child):

Side to side movement of the head, two to three weeks of age Raises self by the arms, clearing chest, two to four months. Sits with support, three to five months. Sits alone momentarily, five to six months. Rolls from back to stomach, six to seven months. Sits alone steadily, seven to nine months. Creeps, nine to eleven months. Walks when led, ten to eleven months. Pulls self up to stand by furniture, ten to eleven months. Stands alone, twelve to fifteen months. Walks alone, twelve to eighteen months.

Trips Easily At First.

In the early walking stages the baby moves almost as if on stilts, easily tripping over small obstacles. But within the next few years he will learn to run, jump, climb, skip, hop, walk a narrow rail or board, jump rope and so on. It is important during this period for the child to have the opportunity to develop control over his muscles by using them in a wide variety of ways, manipulating many materials.

The young child so develops that he can make the larger movements earlier and easier than the smaller ones. Therefore, modern play equipment is made up of large things which are easy for the child to handle. The tendency a generation ago was to make such equipment very small.

Other Factors.

But as Professor John Anderson says, "While modern evidence and practice tend to support the principle of large equipment, it must not be forgotten that the child's own readiness and interests are important factors in the determination of his activities. Thus, a good environment will not be comprised exclusively of one type, one size or one piece of material, but will contain a variety of materials and play objects. . . .

"One cannot predict high skill in one activity from high skill in another. A boy may throw a ball very well and yet be poor in manipulating a saw or hammer. It follows, then that the environment during the early school years should give the child a wide variety of opportunities for experience in many different situations, for otherwise he can't explore his own potentialities."

Centre Men of N. H. L. Clubs Figure in 18 of 20 Goals Scored During the Weekend

Rangers Defeat Bruins 4-2 to Take Over First Place Alone

LEAFS WIN, LOSE

Americans Move Out of Cellar by Defeating Hawks by 2 to 1

(By Jack Calder Canadian Press Staff Writer).

Take a quick look at the important roles the centre-ice stars are playing in the National Hockey League these nights and you might come to the conclusion that their job more than ever can be called the pivot position.

Discussion over the greatness of Toronto's Sylvanus Apps at centre has gone to the background during his absence through injury. Instead, without detracting from Apps' brilliance, there has grown a conviction among many observers that more good centres are around.

Clint Smith, the half-pint from Assiniboia, Sask., scored twice last night when the Rangers took undisputed possession of first place in the standing through a 4-2 victory before 16,214 customers at New York over the Bruins, with whom they had been tied. But Smith was only one of a long line of centres who made the weekend headlines and of 20 goals scored around the league the pivot men figured in 18.

Smith Scored Two

Smith scored the first and last goals against Boston, overcoming a one-goal Bruin lead in the opening period and making victory sure with four minutes to play. Neil Colville, first-string centre, made the pass for his brother Mac on the Rangers' second score and Phil Watson, pivot of the other line, helped Bryan Hextall to fire the third.

The two Boston goals were scored by centre Milt Schmidt and the only defenceman to get a point all weekend was Captain Dit Clapper who aided Schmidt in the Bruins' second counter. It was almost as if the rushing defencemen weren't rushing.

Centres played parts in all six goals when the Maple Leafs defeated New York Americans 5-1 at Toronto Saturday. The Leafs' playmakers had a field night in and around the American defence in the first period to make or complete the plays for four goals by Sweeney Schriner, Gus Marker, Billy Taylor and Pep Kelly.

Stein Cut in Practice

Centre Murray Armstrong of the Americans and centre Pete Langelle of the Leafs completed the scoring in the second, though Murph Chamberlain kept setting up plays for his wings through the New York defence till the finish, only to have them blocked repeatedly by goalie Earl Robertson.

Toronto's goal was filled by Turk Broda, though Phil Stein was to have replaced him. Stein, selected for the second straight night to substitute for the regular goaltender, suffered a four-stitch chin cut in practice before the game. It was the third time the long-time minor-leaguer had been injured just when he seemed ready for the big show.

Broda went on to Detroit and was in the nets last night when the Red Wings upset the Leafs 3-2 before 7,229 persons who revelled in swift skating and heavy checking, in sharp contrast to the 2-2 tie the same teams played in Toronto last Thursday.

It was the only game in which the centres didn't have something to do with every goal, but centres Connie Brown and Ken Kilrea did all the Detroit scoring. Brown grabbed two goals and Kilrea the other, while the Leafs' shots were made by Lex Chisholm and Red Heron without help from anyone but the other wingmen.

Amerks Subdue Hawks

The Americans took a second crack at getting out of last place and made it when they subdued the Black Hawks 2-1 at Chicago last night. This time centres did all the scoring.

Cully Dahlstrom sent the Hawks ahead in the first period but Tommy Anderson tied the count in the third and Art Chapman shot the winning goal with less than four minutes remaining. As a result the Americans stepped into sixth position, a point behind Detroit, while the idle Montreal Canadiens dropped to the bottom.

SKIER BREAKS NECK

Ottawa, Jan. 22—(CP)—Marcel Bart, 18, of Ottawa, died in hospital last night of a broken neck, suffered in a fall while skiing on Faery Lake near Hull, Que.

"Marcel was a pretty good skier and had been doing it for six or seven years," said Louis Fontain, 25, Bart's companion. Fontain said they went down the slope several times and only decided to try a jump after seeing several others do it successfully. It was on the jump that Bart lost his balance.

McGILL FORCED TO THE LIMIT IN BEATING YALE

Rule of Redmen in Intercollegiate Hockey in Danger of Being Broken

VARSITY WINS

Easily Defeat Dartmouth 13-1 to Tie McGill and Queens for Lead

(By the Canadian Press)

Securely seated upon the International Intercollegiate hockey throne for the last three seasons, McGill University Redmen appeared today to be in serious danger of losing their crown. This, contrary to the standings which show the Montrealers with a record of two victories and no losses.

Supporters of the Redmen, accustomed to seeing their favorites race through United States opposition with ease, were shocked Saturday to see them forced to the limit to beat a stubborn Yale team 5-3.

And University of Toronto's convincing 13-1 victory over Dartmouth College lent support to those who believe that this is not McGill's year.

The victory was Varsity's third in as many games, in which they have averaged 11 goals a game, and put them in a first-place tie with Queen's University of Kingston, Ont., whose games won and lost record is the same and whose scoring average is almost as high.

No Organized Attack

The Redmen, who averaged better than eight goals a game last season when they won all but one of their 10 games, could not organize an effective attack against the Bulldogs. The victory was merited but the performance was disappointing to the 2,000 home fans who saw their team in action for the first time this season.

Tenacious checking and the excellent net work of Harrison (Harry) Holt all but brought about what would have been the major upset of college hockey—a Yale victory. As it was, McGill won only when penalties left the Bulldogs shorthanded in the third period.

Howie Walker and Bob Keefer scored for McGill and Bill Barres for Yale in the first period. Keefer scored again and Dave Rodd counted for the Elis in the middle session and in the final period, after Rodd's second goal had evened the score, Bill Macdonald and Tim Dunn brought McGill victory with goals that came while Yale was shorthanded.

Showed Power on Attack

Toronto showed power on the attack and on the defence against Dartmouth. Playing at home for the first time since the schedule started, the Blues ran up a four-goal lead in the first period, outscored the H[illegible] N.H., team 4-1 in the second and then rammed in five goals without reply in the third.

Don Dunbar was the leading figure in the attack, scoring four goals and assisting in two others. Muchy McIlquham and defenceman Bob Copp scored three goals each while the other three were divided among Jack Quigley, Cam LacLachlan and Art Boddington.

Dan Sullivan's solo dash in the second frame saved Dartmouth from being shutout.

139 NOMINATED FOR PREAKNESS

Golden Jubilee of Stake Will be Run at Baltimore on May 11th

Baltimore, Jan. 22 —(AP)— On the assumption that the winner's expected $80,000 pot of gold won't be hard to take, 75 turf owners have nominated a record total of 139 top three-year-olds for the Golden Jubilee running of the Preakness at Pimlico, May 11.

Headed by Col. E. R. Bradley's 1939 juvenile king, Bimelech, the field already lists most of the crack youngsters of last year, it was announced today. More are virtually certain to come into the fold as supplementary eligibles for the mile and three sixteenths classic.

Bimelech's chief two-year-old rival, Andy K. probably will come under the latter heading. The son of Jack High is roaming the farm and it is likely Tony Pelleteri didn't want to make him eligible for the big stakes until he sees how the colt comes through the winter.

Otherwise, the turf's "royal family" of 1939 juveniles is well represented. Mrs. Parker Corning's Straight Lead, winner of the New England futurity and a total of $41,800 last year is entered. So is Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Merry Knight, an impressive winner at a mile and 70 yards in the mud last season. This bay son of Sir Gallahad III earned $22,860 in 1939.

G. CUNNINGHAM TO QUIT RACING

Brilliant Miler of Cinder Track States This is His Last Year

New York, Jan. 22—(AP) — The iron man of track, Glen Cunningham, plans to quit running before his joints get rusty. The durable Kansas miler disclosed in a radio interview last night this would be his last season.

"For a long time now I've postponed my retirement from active competition, but it's one of those things that can't be put off forever," he said. "This will be my last year. "I've continued in competition these past two years mainly with the hope of trying for my third successive Olympic team. Now conditions on the other side have made the holding of the Olympic games impossible."

Big Chance for Al Davis in February Bout With Ambers

By Central Press Canadian.

New York, Jan. 19.—Clash of Al Davis and Lou Ambers here, February 23, should go a long way toward deciding the fistic future of Davis, Brooklyn, welterweight, who was considered by ring critics as the most promising fighter of 1939.

Davis, undefeated in 37 fights, is the current boxing pride of the New York area. If he can step by Ambers, who is near his peak following his comeback last year, the Flatbush Jew may go on to become the light "white hope" needed to put added spark in the boxing game.

Pulls 'Em In.

The Brooklyn welter has been the Garden's biggest drawing card for months. He has pulled three gates of $30,000 upward into the big house, against Mickey Farber, Tony Canzoneri, and Tippy Larkin, all of whom he defeated.

The Canzoneri fight was Davis' big shove into the big time. Davis you may remember, knocked out the veteran Tony, ending the latter's comeback attempt.

Life story of Davis is typical of many fighters. The family lived in crowded tenement flats. The father had a difficult time making a living. Davis went to work, peddled tomatoes and later did some trucking. He also took up fighting.

Starts Close to Home.

He became neighborhood champion and soon turned pro and then climbed fast. His neighborhood fights with Mickey Farber proved the lad's ability. His matches with Canzoneri and Larkin followed. And now Ambers.

AL DAVIS

Davis is a hard puncher and can take care of himself as proven by his record of 37 straight wins.

TORONTO RULES FIGURE SKATING IN THE DOMINION

Norah McCarthy and Ralph McCreath Whirl to Three Championships

MISS THACKER BEATEN

Miss McCarthy is Senior Women's Champion and McCreath Same in Men's Division

Ottawa, Jan. 22—(CP)— Toronto rules the Canadian figure skating firmament for 1940 following the Dominion championships at the Minto Skating Club during the week-end. Norah McCarthy and Ralph McCreath, a formidable team from Toronto Skating Club, glided and whirled to the three major championships Saturday.

In the greatest upset of the two-day tournament, Miss McCarthy displaced Mary Rose Thacker of Winnipeg as ruling queen of individual Canadian senior women skaters while Ralph McCreath proved himself a worthy successor to Montgomery (Bud) Wilson of Toronto as senior men's champion.

Miss McCarthy and her handsome partner then teamed to capture the senior pairs title for a clean-sweep of the major events.

Ottawa won both waltzing pairs events and the junior singles championship for both men and women, while Toronto captured the junior pairs.

Marred by Fall

Miss Thacker had to be content with second place behind Norah McCarthy. The Winnipeg girl made a brilliant effort in defence of her crown, especially in the compulsory school figures, but her free skating performance was marred by a fall during a difficult jump.

Ralph McCreath was easily the best in the senior men's singles, with Donald Gilchrist, Toronto, in second place with Wingate Snaith, Montreal, third. Paired with Norah McCarthy, McCreath also figured in the senior pairs event, with Miss O'Meara and Gilchrist second, and another Toronto pair, Christine Newson and Sandy McKechnie, third.

Mrs. Donald Cruikshank and her husband kept the waltzing championship in Ottawa. The 10-step competition, similar to the waltz, was won by Mrs. Elmore Davis and Melville Rogers of Ottawa.

FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION ACTIVE

Montreal, Jan. 22—(CP)—Present indications are that the Dominion Football Association will carry on as usual despite the war, Robert Walker, D.F.A., council member for Quebec, told the annual meeting of the Province of Quebec Football Association Saturday.

The Provincial Association's Governing Board was returned by acclamation and at a subsequent meeting of the board all officers were re-elected.

INDIANAPOLIS, SPRINGFIELD STILL LEADING

Race So Close in Int.-Am. Loop One Game Changes Whole Complexion

STARS IMPROVE

Eddie Shore Makes Debut in Loop Playing With Springfield Indians

(By the Canadian Press)

The fight for position is continuing at a lively clip in the International-American Hockey League and so close is the competition that one victory or loss could change the standings of all but three of the circuit's nine teams.

For the time being, the Indianapolis Capitals are entrenched in first place in the western section while Springfield Indians and Philadelphia Ramblers have no opposition for their third and fourth positions respectively in the eastern half. Elsewhere, however, the teams are bunched closely.

Syracuse Stars narrowed the margin between the western sections second and last place teams to two points during the week-end by gaining a pair of victories, beating Philadelphia Ramblers 4-3 Saturday night and Hershey Bears 4-1 last night. The Stars are still last but are only two points behind the second place Cleveland Barons.

Their victory over Hershey, featured by Norm Locking's two goals and an assist and Jack Toupin's goal and three assists, dropped the Bears into a last place tie with the Stars. On Saturday the Bears tied Cleveland 2-2.

Barons Beaten

The point gained in that draw was the only one the Barons got during the week-end for they were beaten 3-1 last night by Providence Reds.

Providence also played twice in two nights, tieing Springfield Indians 1-1 Saturday as the great Eddie Shore made his debut as a player with the Indians. Owner of the Springfield team, Shore did not figure in the scoring but drew a penalty in the first period.

By gaining three of a possible four points, Providence moved to within a point at New Haven Eagles, leaders of the Eastern section. The Eagles, with Herb Gardner of Philadelphia playing in their nets in place of the injured Wilf Cude, remained in front by beating Springfield 4-3 last night.

Indianapolis and Pittsburgh Hornets played a home and home series to complete the week-end bill. Hank Goldup's third period goal gave the Hornets a 1-0 victory Saturday while the Capitals ended a three-game losing streak with a 3-1 triumph at home last night.

N.H.L. STARS

(By the Canadian Press)

Clint Smith, Rangers, fired two goals to lead Rangers to a 4-2 victory over Boston Bruins.

Conny Brown, Detroit, bagged a pair of goals as the Red Wings defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 3-2.

Art Chapman and Lorne Carr, Americans, former made its first goal of the season the winning one and latter helped in both tallies by his team in a 2-1 victory over Chicago Black Hawks.

Sweeney Schriner and Pete Langelle, Toronto, each added a goal and an assist to their scoring records as the Leafs defeated Americans 5-1 Saturday night.

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

with
Ken I. Colling

After twenty years of active service as sponsor of hockey in Belleville, Eddie Thomas relinquished the reins of the Belleville Redmen last Thursday night, under rather regretable circumstances. Players, whom Thomas has used better than is the lot of the general run of amateur pucksters in Ontario, stated they could not see their way clear to continue with the Redmen. Immediately "Speedy" St. Louis stepped forward and announced he would ice a team for Friday. The management of the Hume Arena purchased the entire Redmen's equipment and St. Louis iced the rightingest team seen in a Belleville uniform in some time, eye witnesses tell us now they have tossed old man Coryza for a loss following a one round struggle. It might be well to leave the management of the Redmen in St. Louis' hands now, as the players seemed satisfied and might again revolt if the management is changed, we hear. St. Louis is being assisted by former goalie Ken Watt in the coaching and the boys are seeking an intermediate "B" rating, especially after seeing the fast Gananoque team in action.

On at least four occasions since Ed. Thomas took over the sponsorship of hockey in Belleville, well over 20 years ago, outsiders have stepped in and relieved him of the management but rink owners were only to glad to have Thomas back within two years. Eddie always returned to again take over Belleville's hockey and in more years than can be mentioned Eddie assumed a financial beating, despite reports to the contrary. It will be interesting to watch the future developments of intermediate hockey from this present point. Right after the late war, under Coach Jack Marks, our local team was taken from Eddie but that club lasted one season and Thomas returned to the helm when approached by the late Dick Arnott. A few years later the players revolted and operated a city O.H.A. team, but here again they were glad to have "sugar-daddy" Eddie back at the helm the next season. When the new artificial rink was built the management usurped the team management again, but one year proved to them the fact that operating a hockey team was "not so rosey" and Thomas was back again, until the Cities Service took over the reins. Two years later found Thomas back again, following which his 1937 team won the intermediate championship of Ontario, being the only O.H.A. championship ever brought to Belleville. (Thanks to Eddie Thomas).

Eddie Thomas has done more than his share towards the fostering of hockey in Belleville for the past two decades and never asked favors. However, his neglect of junior hockey interest in Belleville for the three years, prior to last season, is undoubtedly the cause of the present embarrassing position Eddie found himself in at the opening of the present campaign. As for the players, who have been with the Redmen for the past three years, as always was the case in the old days, members of the Belleville Redmen have fared better for their services, than any hockey club in Eastern Ontario. However, if the players are desirous of playing for glory, it is undoubtedly their own business and as Eddie said today—"I have no regrets."

The new Redmen skate out to their second game of the season tonight at the Hume Arena and versus the strong Air Force team. The locals gained the respect of the fans with their courageous stand and wide-open hockey played against the Petes here last Friday night and can be assured the fans will respond to their efforts if they continue to play this style of hockey, as the public like to see goals scored. Incidentally Laurie Gibson, who was the game's hero versus the Petes last week, let six slip by him in the second Van Horne Memorial final as Queens knotted the series at one game each by beating the Flyers 6-1 last Friday. With the old Air Force-Belleville feud still very much in evidence, tonight's game should be productive of some really high class hockey.

Regarding last Friday's game here the Peterboro scribe says: "Petes climbed back atop the intermediate "A" heap last eve in Belleville with a 9-7 triumph over the Redmen. Using Hinton in goal, the Thomas team put up stiff resistance and led the locals for a time. It was a wide-open tussle, we're told, and by no means one-sided as in their previous meeting here. It was the third straight loss for the boys of Bella Villa, who might have gone somewhere this semester if Gow and Hastie had not been snatched from 'em."

Down in Kingston the Jock Harty Arena management has instituted a new regulation regarding the giving out of hockey scores played in the Jock Harty rink. No scores will be given out by telephone in the Kingston rink until the game of the evening has long-since been terminated. In the Limestone City the hockey patrons must either attend the hockey games or await the newspaper account the following day. (Hume Arena officials please note).

The Petes will have to play better hockey tonight than they did against the Redmen, or we are afraid Frank Buckland's charges are in for a sweet lacing. The Peterboro club is bringing the strong Toronto Goodyears to the Liftlock City for an exhibition game this evening. The "Goodies" will be at full strength Manager Bob Ecclestone assured the Petes. Incidentally we have tried to persuade Manager Joe Stephenson, of the R.C.A.F. "Flyers" to bring the Oshawa "Generals," Dominion Junior Champs, to Belleville for an exhibition hockey game,, but local hockey sponsors are not keen on exhibition hockey, for which we can hardly blame them judging from the crowds which attend league games of late. However, the Generals are as classy a hockey team as can be found in the Dominion and if they wouldn't draw, well it's time to close up the sports of this city.

Kingston Scribe Walsh has the following comment regarding Fridays' Van Horne tussle: "The fact that Kingston likes good hockey was shown last night and the night before when large crowds attended both games and there should be two capacity crowds in the Jock Harty Arena next week when Trenton and Queen's play the third and final game for the George Van Horne Trophy and on Wednesday and when the favored Varsity Blues battle their old Tricolor rivals in an International - Intercollegiate fixture Friday."

SPORTS SPICE: Lester Patrick's New York Rangers are perched high and dry and alone as leaders of the N.H.L. today . . The Rangers beat the Bruins to turn the trick. . . . Toronto split two games and is one point behind the second place Boston Bruins . . .. Kingston's Hank Goldup scored the winning goal for Pittsburgh last night . . . Miss Norah McCarthy, of the Toronto Skating Club, who skated in Belleville in connection with the Quinte Skating Club carnival last season, dethroned Mary Rose Thacker of Winnipeg as senior champion of Canada at Ottawa on Saturday . . . Basketball returns this week with the Belleville "Y" meeting the Air Force on the B.C.I. gymnasium floor on Wednesday.

Pro Puck Personalities

By Central Press Canadian

A fast-skating left wing, playing with his third National league team, and taking full advantage of the excellent apportunities presented there, is Hustling Herbie Cain, of Boston Bruins. Last year he played with Canadiens, but was traded to the Bruins for Charlie Sands just before the present campaign got under way. As thanks to his new owners for this deal, he appears to be headed for a new personal high in goals and with Art Jackson and Bill Hollett gives the Bruins an effective third line. Recently had his biggest evening when he beat Turk Broda in the Toronto goal four times, to lead his team to a 5-2 win. Herbie entered the N.H.L. in mid-season of 1933-34, making the pro jump from Hamilton Tigers to Montreal Maroons, with whom he remained until the break-up of the club, when he joined Canadiens for a single season. His second season with Maroons was his most productive, as he registered 20 goals for the Stanley Cup winning team. His totals until the start of this season were 65 goals, 75 assists and 97 minutes served in penalties. Born 26 years ago at Newmarket, Ont., on a Christmas eve. Played his first hockey there before moving to Hamilton. On making the jump to Maroons he was thrust into the playing breach without even a chance to practise with the team.

HEATING HINTS

by James Stewart

MARCH is the month of high winds. Day and night temperatures vary greatly. While the days are usually warmer, the nights are very chilly. This necessitates a few changes in furnace operation.

As the weather moderates, the turn damper should be more nearly in the closed position—particularly on windy days. Because wind increases the draft, and if the furnace is not throttled down the fire will quickly burn out. For the same reason it is wise to keep a deep fire. A thin fire will burn out rapidly and it will allow excess air to pass through the fuel bed, sending most of your heat up the chimney.

Remember, then, at this season of the year keep a deep fire in your furnace and keep the turn damper as nearly closed as you can without causing the fire to go out. This will enable you to maintain a uniform temperature — avoid overheating — cut down chimney loss—and save fuel. And it will give you a fire of sufficient body to provide more heat quickly if it suddenly turns cold. (22)

WIRE IS STOLEN FROM FAIR GROUNDS

Equipped with pole-climbing spurs robbers stole 2,000 feet of insulated copper wire from the premises of the Belleville Exhibition Park some time last week, James Scott, the park caretaker informed police over the week-end.

The robbers climbed electric light poles in the park, loosened the wires from their fastening and lowered them to the ground. Indications that pole climbing spurs were used was quite evident as fresh notches in the poles were found, indicating this method of approach was used. Some months ago several hundred feet of covered copper wire was stolen in identically the same manner. Most of the wire stolen recently was new material.

MARMORA TAKES OVERTIME GAME FROM TWEED, 5-4

Senior Interscholastic Opens With Loss to Home Team

Tweed, Jan. 22 (Special)—Marmora High School was forced into overtime to take the verdict from Tweed High School in an interscholastic hockey game at Tweed arena on Saturday night. The score was 5 to 4.

The visitors opened the scoring in the first period with two quick goals and appeared likely to completely overwhelm the locals. Paced by the two Leonards and Reynolds, one of the best lines in the intermediate league, the visitors gave the locals a bad case of jitters for a few minutes. This stage fright was soon shaken off and Trudeau cut down the margin in the latter stages of the period.

Goals from Courneyea and Langevin gave the locals a lead of 3 to 2. They were unable to hold this margin as Reynolds and G. Leonard again put Marmora in the lead.

Tweed tied the score on Courneya's goal in the third, forcing the game into overtime when E. Leonard scored the winning marker while E. Doyle was serving a penalty. G. Leonard figured in three of the visitors' goals.

Referees: Cousens, Marmora; Prevost, Tweed.

Marmora: Prentice, goal; Gray, Crawford, defense; G. Leonard, Reynolds, wings; Nayler, Maloney and Gordon, subs.

Tweed: Wagar, goal; Porritt, Courneya, defence; Bergeron, centre; Langevin and Luffman, wings; Connor, Vance, Doyle, Trudeau, Hayes, subs.

MONTREAL TEAM BEGINNING TO PAY OFF ON THE ICE

One of the Classiest Teams on Paper Ever Collected Together Starting to Roll

LEADING LOOP

Montreal, Jan. 22 —(CP)— Montreal Royals, on paper one of the classiest amateur hockey teams ever brought together in Quebec, are beginnig to pay off on the ice.

The Royals have been somewhat of an enigma so far this season. They have been at the top of the Quebec senior hockey league standing since the schedule opened but they have been a disappointment to many of their supporters, chiefly because they have not overpowered their opponents as might be expected of last season's Allan cup finalists.

Royals are considered a stronger team than the one that was beaten by Port Arthur Bear Cats last spring yet they are sharing first place with Montreal Concordia, considered the weak sister of the Q.S.H.L. in early season predictions.

Click in Every Department

Even the most exacting fan had no criticism of the Royals today, however. For yesterday they finally did what was expected of them, clicked in every department, offensively and defensively, for an 11-1 victory over Verdun Maple Leafs.

Johnny Acheson and Buddy O'Connor were the leading goalgetters with four and three respectively but every man was travelling in top form. Paul Marcel Raymond didn't score a goal but he drew six assists while Russ McConnell had five.

Royals needed that victory to remain tied with Concordia, for the Civics beat Quebec Aces 4-2 in Quebec. After trailing by two goals, the Montreal team rapped in four successive counters to give the Aces their seventh loss in eight games.

Senators Beat Flyers

In a game at Ottawa Saturday night, the Senators kept pace with the leaders by wiping out a 3-0 deficit and raining a 4-3 overtime victory against Cornwall Flyers. Jack Bruning scored the winning goal for the Senators who are three points behind Royals and Concordia.

The provincial senior league saw goals in abundance but no change in the standing. Sherbrooke Red Raiders remained in front by lacing Verdun Bulldogs 8-4 yesterday with Hank Harris leading the attack by scoring three goals and assisting in three others.

Boston Olympics paid their last visit of the regular schedule to Canada and gained only two of a possible eight points but remained one point behind Sherbrooke. The Olympics, who play four-point games on the road, were swamped 12-2 by Verdun Saturday night and tied 2-2 by Valleyfield Braves yesterday.

In other games yesterday Lachine Rapides edged out Shawinigan Falls Cataracts 4-3 while the third place St. Hyacinthe Gaulois beat Quebec Beavers 5-4.

There are no games in either league tonight.

Transient Held on Shoplifting Charge

Arrested on a charge of shoplifting, a man who gave his name as Harry Dobson, of Amherst, N.S., was apprehended in Belleville on Saturday night by Detective Fred Isard and P. C. Wright. Dobson was apprehended as he emerged from a local restaurant after police had watched his actions.

The authorities revealed today they had found two new pairs of gloves and four odd gloves, all new, in a shopping bag carried by the accused. Police received a complaint from the management of the Metropolitan Stores regarding some person stealing goods from their counters. Dobson denied the charges, but was remanded in custody on a shoplifting charge pending trial.

Police Blotter

Provincial Police arrested a ma who gave his name as Wilfred Mou at Bancroft over the week-er Mount was today lodged in the Ha tings County jail here awaiting r turn to Haileybury where he is wa ted on a charge of obtaining go by false pretences, provincial pol announced this morning.

Two teen-aged boys were que ioned over the week-end regardi the entering of a local Front str business concern. Entrance was ma through a rear-store opening, b nothing of value was reported mis ing.

Chief Kidd announced today that the 1940 city dog licenses are now available at the police station.

FINNS PLAY HAVOC WITH RUSSIAN SUPPLY TRAINS

Gliding noiselessly over the snow on their skis, Finnish troops are not only spreading death amongst Russian troops, but are also wreaking havoc with vital Russian supply trains. This Soviet supply train was wrecked by the Finns near the Arctic circle. It is by actions such as this that the Finns are cutting large bodies of Red troops off from vital supplies.

Throw a Dollar out of the window

There's a certain amount of pleasure in throwing a dollar bill out of the window (we suppose—we've never tried it) . . . watching it float through the air . . . guessing where it's going to land . . seeing it finally settle on a curbstone . . . and perhaps seeing some surprised individual pick it up.

At least, it's certainly more fun than throwing away a dollar bill by paying one hundred cents extra for something you're buying. Yet every year we all part with a goodly sum of hard-earned cash that we might otherwise save — IF WE KNEW HOW TO BUY!

The quickest, easiest, simplest way to learn how to buy is to read the advertisements in this newspaper. Know values. Know prices. Know quality. Start now to STOP throwing dollar bills away!

Germany Pressing Rumania For Larger Oil Supplies

Dispatch States King Carol Told He Cannot be Regarded as Neutral if Demands Not Met

WANT ROLLING STOCK

London, Jan. 22 (C.P. Cable) — A Reuters news agency dispatch from Amsterdam today said telephone wires between Berlin and Bucharest had been buzzing for 36 hours with urgent messages between the German government and Dr. Karl Clodius, German trade emissary to Rumania, in connection with a serious oil situation in the Reich.

The Reuters correspondent said he had learned from Berlin that Adolf Hitler was facing an increasingly grave problem and was giving it his full attention. The dispatch said pressure was being applied to King Carol to force Rumania to satisfy German demands for gasoline. Unless he does so, the dispatch said, he has been told he can no longer be regarded as genuinely neutral.

Freezing of the Danube has paralyzed deliveries by barge and Germany is demanding the use of Rumanian rolling stock on the railways.

Germany's need is reflected in increasing restrictions on the use of private automobiles. Germany had to import nearly half her peacetime needs of gasoline and the British blockade has reduced oil imports nearly 90 per cent since hostilities began.

WAR BRIEFS

Rome, Jan. 22—(CP—Havas) — Popolo Di Roma reported today from Budapest that the Soviet Union has sent more than 100,000 workers to complete fortifications along the new border between Hungary and the Soviet.

Paris, Jan. 22—(CP—Havas) — The French Cabinet held a 75-minute meeting here today which, it was stated authoritatively, was "devoted to a study of the diplomatic situation."

The meeting, under President Albert Lebrun, took place at the War Ministry instead of the Elysee Palace, since Premier Daladier was unable to leave his headquarters because of a foot injury.

London, Jan. 22—(CP) — Captain Colin Thornton - Kemsley, Conservative, today announced he will question Oliver Stanley, War Secretary, in the House of Commons Tuesday concerning the ban on kilts for Scottish regiments at the front and what he described as an infiltration of non-Scottish officers and men into these regiments.

He will ask the Minister if it is the Government's intention to pool manpower regardless of national characteristics and history, and the magnificent fighting record of the Scots.

Aalesund, Norway, Jan. 22 (C P. Havas)—The Aalesund wireless station today intercepted distress signals from the Etonian steamship Nautic, 2,050 tons, northeast of Iceland. The message said the crew had taken to lifeboats. The Nautic was built in 1920 by the Dominion Shipbuilding and Repair Co., Ltd., of Toronto, Ont.

Hong Kong, Jan. 22 (CP.)—Strict wartime control of communications entering and leaving this Crown Colony was announced today in the government gazette.

The measure banned conveyance or transmission except through post office facilities of "any article recording information by words, signs or otherwise' 'and included newspapers, books, photographs, photographic film, maps and sketches.

Amsterdam, Jan. 22 (C.P.-Havas) — The Budapest correspondent of the newspaper Algemeen Handelsblad today reported Italian troops had arrived in Hungary for use in case the Soviet Union invades that country.

He reported the soldiers are confined to barracks in Budapest so they will not attract attention.

PREDICTS STRUGGLE FOR JUNIOR POSTS IN BRITISH CABINET

London, Jan. 22 (CP Cable) — A shuffle of junior ministerial posts was predicted today by The Daily Express.

The paper said Major G. C. Tryon is expected to retire as Postmaster General after five years in the post. It added that Sir Edward Grigg, parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Information, Sir Victor Warrender, Financial Secretary to the War Office, and Geoffrey Lloyd, Secretary for Mines, are other junior ministers likely to be affected in the shake-up.

Produce Lines Remain Firm

Toronto, Jan. 22—Local produce lines closed out the week on a firm footing on the open market Saturday.

Fair demand was evident on the butter market for fresh No. 1 Ontario creamery solids at .27 1-4c Offerings at this level were light, and the odd sale went through wholesale channels at 1-4c higher. Prints to the retail trade moved at unchanged prices.

Steady trading on the egg market kept fresh receipts well cleared at the week-end. Slight improvement was noted in top grades in both sections. Cold weather was said to have affected production of fresh eggs a little, but there were enough supplies to cover requirements.

A juvenile hockey league is being organized in Tweed among the boys from 12 to 16 years of age who do not get an opportunity to play on the High School team. Four teams will be entered. On Saturday morning the following captains were chosen: Donald Meraw, Jack Rashotte, "Bud" Sills and Francis Baldwin. The captains will meet at Gerry Quinn's on Monday afternoon when the players will be divided into four evenly-matched teams, managers will be selected and a schedule will be drawn up. Some sixty boys have entered their names and some hockey talent will no doubt be uncovered. Two games will be played each week at the Arena from 7 to 8 o'clock.

On Saturday morning the boys of the Separate and Consolidated Schools will have free use of the rink from nine to eleven. The boys of Grades 6, 7 and 8 will practise from nine to ten with Mr. S. H. Connor in charge. The boys from Grade 6 will practice from ten to eleven with Mr. I. D. Corcoran in charge. This will be followed by High School practice under the direction of Mr. T. E. Moffat.

Vincent O'Cain of Bogart suffered a painful injury to his foot while chopping wood at his home. His feet slipped on the ice, resulting in a bad gash from an axe. His companion, Henry Sharkey, assisted him to a doctor where medical attention was given.

Enjoyable Skating Party

There was a good attendance at the Salvation Army skating party held at the Arena on Thursday night to raise money for war work the Army Red Shield Women's Auxiliary organized a short time ago for war work. They have already raised more than $50., mostly from the nickles and dimes collected here and there. They have twenty-six knitters engaged in turning out sox and other articles. Officers of the organization are: President, Mrs. Elias Wright; Vice Pres., Mrs. Frank McConnachie; Secretary, Mrs. Ed. Long; Treas., Capt. Banar.

The programme of sports attracted a large entry list. The winners of the races were: Girls over 14—Edna Woodcock; prize donated by Rupert's Drug Store; Girls, under 14—Hazel Luffman, prize donated by Belch's Drug Store; Boys under 14—1st, Don Meraw; 2nd, Bill Barnett, prizes donated by Myles and Son's Hardware. Young Men's race—Jack Tummon, prize donated by Salvation Army; Barrel Jumping—"Bud" Sills, prize donated by G. D. C. Morton. The winners of this event cleared seven barrels without difficulty.

A girls' hockey match with Ana Thompson and Goldie Godfrey as captains of the teams was won by the former team. Prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hayes for best-dressed couple and to Floyd Drinkwater as the youngest skater. The Army is indebted to Messrs. J. Tummon, E. C. Drinkwater and "Bud" Sills for their assistance, also to Mrs. F. McConnachoe, Mrs. C. McConnachie, Mrs. E. Long and Mrs. M. Metcalf who served free coffee and doughnuts.

3 NEUTRAL VICTIMS

He said that the chances were 500 to 1 against any ship in a British convoy being sunk ;that half the U-boats with which Germany began the war have been destroyed and "their new building has fallen far behind what we expected; and that mines "do not present us with any problem which we deem insoluble." DIED .. .. wihcmdeeere:x g ET

Diplomatic Repercussions

"Here we are, after nearly five months of all they can do against us on the seas, with the first U-boat campaign for the time being utterly broken, with the mining menace in good control, with our shipping virtually undiminished and with all the oceans of the world free from surface raiders," he said.

Britain's own sea offensive, particularly her far-flung patrols to blockade Germany, brought diplomatic repercussions.

United States officials in Washington intimated they are watching anxiously the apparent shrinking of American farmers' export markets as a result of British shipping restrictions. Possibility also arose in Tokyo that Japan might make a formal protest against the stopping of the Japanese liner Asama Maru by a British warship.

List of Ships Sunk

Besides the Grenville, grief to these eight other ships became known during the week-end:

The 7,807-ton British tanker Caroni sank suddenly Saturday after an unexplained explosion when she was 20 minutes out on a trial run after refitting. Her crew of 55 was saved, but many were flying high into the air and several were injured severely.

The British steamship Protesilaus, 9,557-tons, sank yesterday after striking a mine off the west coast of England. A rescue vessel brought her crew of 60 safely ashore.

The 1,086-ton British steamship Feryhill sank apparently after striking a mine off the northeast coast. Two survivors were landed, but 12 of her crew were believed lost.

Crew Rescued

The sinking of the 1,050-ton Estonian steamship Nautic Saturday off the Shetland Islands was confirmed. Her crew was rescued.

The 1,179-ton Swedish steamship Flandria went down after striking two mines, and 17 of her crew were reported lost. Four survivors, picked up after spending two days in an open boat, said the Flandria sank Thursday.

The 1,469-ton Danish steamship Tekla was reported to have sunk after striking a mine yesterday off the northeast coast of Scotland.

The 4,842-ton British freighter Kirkpool was reported to have run aground on the southwest coast Friday night. Her crew was saved.

A collision damaged the 10,786-ton British liner Llandaff Castle, and she turned back from a voyage to South Africa.

Torpedo Misses Mark

The crew of the Norwegian merchantman Notos took to lifeboats Saturday when a submarine attacked. But when a torpedo churned past the Notos' bows a loud explosion and dense smoke suddenly came from the submarine, which disappeared and was not seen again, the crew returned to their ship and told their story in a northern port yesterday.

Besides the Grenville, British destroyers sunk since the outbreak of war were the Blanche and the Gipsy, both victims of mines, and the Duchess, lost as the result of a collision. The destroyer Jersey was damaged by a torpedo .

The Grenville, leader of the "G" class of destroyers, was built at a cost of £335,900 (1,494,755) and carried five 4.7-inch guns, seven smaller guns and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes.

Missed Four Ships

The Royal Air Force came "within a few yards" of making up for the loss of the Grenville when one of its security patrols spotted four German patrol vessels off Heligoland Bight Saturday.

Bombs fell within a few yards of the Nazi ships but they escaped direct hits. Despite a hail of anti-aircraft fire the planes of the R. A. F. were undamaged.

The four German ships may have been part of the Nazi "air raid precautions fleet" whose duty it is to signal the approach of British patrol planes. The vessels are really signal stations which Germany is using as a counter-weapon against British air patrols over the seaplane bases in the Heligoland Bight area.

OVER-ICE ATTACK

Foreign military observers speculated today on the chances of success for such a thrust, but Finns said they were well prepared to meet it.

The coast, in some sections at least, has been fortified and barricaded with barbed wire. The frozen beach at Hangoe (Hanko), for example, is laced with barbed wire.

Hangoe, southernmost Finland, lies at the tip of a Gulf of Finland peninsula, 55 miles northwest of Baltiski, Soviet Russia's Estonian air base.

Strike at Aviation Bases

Almost as though in anticipation of such a Russian move, Finland was reported to have struck at Russian aviation bases on one of the few occasions in which the small Finnish air force has challenged the Russian aerial armada.

The high command announced that Finnish warplanes, "in addition to carrying out reconnaissance flights and repelling enemy aircraft, successfully bombed certain enemy air bases."

(A Reuter's new agency dispatch from Helsingfors said Finnish airmen had bombed the Soviet Union's great naval base at Kronstadt in the Gulf of Finland and the Estonian port of Baltiski, where a Russian air base was set up by Russian-Estonian treaty.

Attacked by 20 Planes

(Press dispatches reaching Stockholm reported that Kronstadt and an Estonian coastal base were attacked by 20 planes which returned safely to Finland.

(An Oslo newspaper said a group of foreign volunteer fliers for Finland, including several Swedes, staged a one-hour raid on Kronstadt a few days ago.)

The Finnish command also reported shooting down an observation balloon and 11 Russian bombers.

The communique made no mention of fighting in the Salla sector above the Arctic Circle but an Associated Press correspondent with the Finnish forces there said the Russians had checked their retreat to engage the Finns in heavy fighting near Markajaervi, 50 miles within Finland.

One of the thrusts was said to have broken in the face of Finnish shellfire while the other was turned back by counter-attacking troops.

Heavy Casualties Inflicted

"Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy," said the Finnish high command.

It was in the same communique, issued Sunday, that the high command linked the announcement of raids on Russian bases with this statement:

"From information obtained from enemy airmen who fell into our hands yesterday (Saturday) it is clear that air bases situated in Estonia are being used at least for air raids on southwest Finland."

Whether because of cloudy skies or the reported counter-strokes, Finland yesterday found respite from aerial attacks.

The pounding from the skies reached its height on Saturday with perhaps 500 Russian planes in the air and more than 3,000 bombs dropped on cities and villages from the southern coast to the far north. Only three civilians were said to have been killed and 35 wounded.

The Finnish communique charged that a hospital "clearly marked with Red Cross emblems" was bombed.

BIRD LOVERS URGED TO THROW OUT FOOD

Huddled beneath overhanging eaves of buildings, winter birds sought refuge from the storm over the week end. Kindly housewives have been n the habit of throwing crumbs to the feathered little fellows, an act that must be appreciated by the birds.

However, bird-lovers of the city appeal to the public to feed the winter-locked birds with the crumbs that accumulate daily, for with the recent heavy fall of snow, food conditions for them have become increasingly difficult. Save those crumbs and feed the birds.

FALL GRAINS BENEFIT BY HEAVY SNOWFALL

It's an ill wind that doesn't blow somebody some good, agricultural officials said today commenting on the heavy fall of snow that blanketed the district over the week end. Fall grains will benefit immeasurably by the snow, which will prevent frost killing, besides providing fertilizer for the land. Farmers who hitherto have had wood hauling facilities minimized by the lack of good sleighing conditions in woods and swamps, will be able to convey the summer's supplies without difficulty while commercial woodsmen see additional business with the increased haulage facilities.

MARY ST. RESIDENT FRACTURES ANKLE

An accident case and a case of frostbite were admitted to Belleville General Hospital over the week end.

John Matt, Windsor, transient found outdoor travel a bit severe and was given treatment for frozen toes.

Woodlam Dininie, 69 year old resident of 173 Mary Street, slipped on a step and sustained a fracture of an ankle. Dr. Kennedy ordered him to hospital and is looking after the injured man.

VISITOR FROM ALASKA FOUND AIRPLANE TRIP VERY TRYING

Finding himself fifteen thousand feet from the earth in the highly rarefied atmosphere between Fairbanks and White Horse, H. W. Appleby, "dean of the Alaskan Hardware men," a native of Belleville fought against death from an asthmatic condition. His fight may have been a matter of moments or minutes but it seemed like hours before his pilot got the machine back to the ten thousand foot level.

Mr. Appleby, who has spent most of his life in Alaska, is now in Bancroft visiting friends, his first "trip out" since 1910. He will visit his sister, Mrs. E. A. Read, Toronto, before he returns to Alaska, "to grow up with the country."

"I am only 66," he smiles, "and that's what we youngsters do in Alaska—grow up with the country."

He arrived in Bancroft last week to spend the balance of the Winter with a sister, Mrs. Jack McInnes.

Highways Gradually Being Cleared After Saturday Storm

Twelve and One-Half Inches Snow Fell With High Wind Causing Much Drifting

MORE SNOW EXPECTED

Belleville and district wakened today with threats of a continuance of the two-day storm, that has held the city and its environs in its grip.

The worst blizzards during the current winter the storm wrapped the district in a mantle of snow estimated to be a general depth of twelve and one-half inches.

While the high winds that accompanied the storm on Saturday drifted highways and sideroads nearly full in places traffic was not totally suspended in this part of the county. County and city snowplows went into swift action at the beginning of the storm and by dint of continual operation succeeded in keeping the roads fairly passable. Reports from the northern part of the county today stated that highways are passable with county and township plows still working.

Weather reports today brought the more or less cheering information that snow-flurries are expected with the weather generally turning colder on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Prince Edward County especially along its southernmost parts was hit the hardest by the storm. Highways and sideroads leading into Picton from the south were totally blocked over the weekend as the brunt of the storm blew itself out in this section of the county.

County plows today were out in the southern parts trying to clear roads through to sections that have been isolated since Friday night. The highway from Picton to this city, however, is said to be in fair condition.

Tweed

Tweed—Miss Kathleen Barrett, teacher for the past ten years at Flinton, was recently married at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Barrett of Napanee. Prior to her departure from Flinton the friends of Miss Barrett gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Marisette where the friends presented her with a beautiful chime clock, accompanied by an address which was signed on behalf of the Flinton Community by Mrs. James Marisette, Mrs. Gerald Demore, Miss Cecil Casey.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR LIVER

It may be the cause of your troubles. Buck it up the right way, with Fruit-a-tives. Feel grand.

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It pours out bile to digest food, gets rid of waste, stores energy, allows the proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order food decomposes in your intestines. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. You feel "rotten"—headachy, backachy, dizzy, dragged out all the time.

Rid yourself of these miseries, as thousands have—with Fruit-a-tives, for 35 years Canada's largest selling liver remedy. Fruit-a-tives stimulate your liver, bring prompt relief—make you feel like a new person. Get Fruit-a-tives at your druggist's today, 25c, 50c.

WHAT THE CATBIRD KNEW

By CLARISSA MACKIE

"Went away and never has been heard from," asserted Captain Halliday, as he re-filled his pipe and pulled out a battered matchbox. "I always ask folks from the city if they know Robert Landis, but no one ever had up to the time you came to the village."

"It may not be the same person" said Mrs. Mently, as she knitted busily. They were sitting on the bottom of an upturned boat on the shore, and the captain had been relating many stories to the city boarder. "I have met a Robert Landis; he is a young newspaperman, and he lives in the same boarding house that I do in the city. I have often talked with him, but he never mentioned Shellbeach—in fact, he knew I was coming here, but he did not appear to be interested."

"Hum! Is he married?" asked the captain.

"Oh, no."

"Does he seem to like the girls?"

Mrs. Bently laughed. "I cannot say that he seems much interested in them; he seems like a rather grim, silent young man, absorbed in his work and not particularly happy."

"Sho! muttered the captain. "That sounds like he ought to be, but not how he uster be around here. He was just wild about my niece Sally—"

"The pretty, black-eyed girl who lives with you?"

"Yes. Five years ago she was eighteen, and prettier than she is now—more color, and her eyes were happy. She was engaged to Robert Landis. They quarreled about something and he went off; she's that proud she never mentioned his name after that—only she's wistful and never so gay and happy as before."

"I am so sorry," murmured Mrs. Bently. "Is there anything I can do to bring them together? It is a delicate situation. But it seems dreadful that they should miss their chance for happiness."

"My theory is that there is some misunderstanding," commented the captain. "There they were, happy as clams at high water, having a postoffice in a hole in a hollow tree in the orchard. One day not so long ago I was coming across the orchard at dusk—and there was Sally, leaning against the old tree, crying as if her heart would break."

"Don't!" cried Mrs. Bently, taking out her handkerchief.

"There's the case!" said the captain gruffly. "Thank you, ma'am, for listening—good afternoon." He trudged up the beach with his fishing tackle and string of fish and disappeared through a hole in a broken fence.

"The poor little thing," murmured Mrs. Bently, thinking of Sally and her sad love story. "I believe I will go home for a week-end, and I will carry with me some snapshot pictures; one must be of that old orchard and the postoffice in the tree, and one must be of Sally at her prettiest; I must catch her secretly. And then some odd ones of the beach and other parts of the village, but those two will be mingled in and he cannot help but see them."

So Mrs. Bently spent one busy day with her camera, and then she took the train for the city. Captain Halliday missed her pleasant companionship on the beach, and went fishing every day. Sally sang about her housework in a soft, sad little voice, and sometimes her eyes wandered out to the old apple tree where there was a mossy hollow in the trunk—that was always empty now. A tangle of bushes had grown up around the old tree and amid the sharp thorns of brier a catbird had built her loosely constructed nest. Brown twigs, leaves, bits of grass, a scrap of old newspaper all helped to build the home for the hungry brood. They had flown away, and the parent birds still clung to the old nest, uttering their clever mimicry of other songsters or making that strange, mewing cry so like a cat. Sally liked the beautiful creatures, for they had returned to the same old nest year after year. How often she had seen them on her fruitless visits to the old trysting place!

That afternoon there came a terrific windstorm, and all the fishing boats hurried into port just before the storm burst in its fury. Captain Halliday was among the first to arrive, and he put up his boat and hurried home to help Sally close the heavy shutters and make the old house snug against the gale.

"We're in for a bit of windy weather, my dear," said the Captain as he sat down to a hot, savory supper.

"It is raining Uncle Peter; listen," said Sally, pouring out his tea.

There was the steady beat of rain on the roof, the chink of water running through the gutter pipes, the sound of thrashing trees.

They awoke the next morning to a sodden world of soaking land, fallen trees, and a beach strewn with driftwood from Wreckers island.

Captain Halliday went down to the beach to gather some of the driftwood for the winter fires, and Sally wandered through her ruined flower garden. There were cries of distress from the catbirds who were perched in the old apple tree. Sally found their frail nest blown to the ground, but strongly tied to the thorn bushes was the bottom of the nest—of many nests, for each year the birds had reinforced the old home with new twigs, bits of string and paper. Now the ragged remains of the nest clung defiantly to the stems of the bush.

"You poor things!" sympathized Sally.

"Mew-w-w-w-w—" warned the birds as they flew away in a circle to return again. "Mew-w-w-w—"

Sally heeded the warning and turned. Someone was standing near by looking at her with an embarrassed smile. It was Robert!

"Sally," he said biting his lip, "I came back to ask you why you didn't answer my letter."

"Letter? What letter?" Sally was clearly amazed; her color rose and her eyes shone. "There was no letter here when you went away—nor since."

"Have you really looked for one, Sally?"

"Yes," she confessed.

"I left one three years ago—I asked you to marry me, and because I could not bear to have you say no, I told you not to reply if you didn't love me."

"I never received such a letter," quavered Sally.

"I put it in the hollow—and when I found no reply I went away without seeing you, dear."

Sally stood with downcast eyes and aching heart. How could she convince Robert that she had never received the letter? He was looking at Sally, then his gaze passed her and saw the remains of the old old nest. There was something familiar sticking out of the sticks.

He rushed forward and pulled the sticks apart. From the bottom he pulled out a wet and torn envelope—it was thin and weather beaten—the ink was faded and pale—but the agitated catbirds who had appropriated the letter so long ago saw it pulled from the old nest, saw two young heads close together, reading the long-delayed letter, and saw the happy ending.

NEW COAT

By KARL GRAYSON

"I'm sorry Julie. You'll have to make that coat go another year. Things are pretty bad. I just can't raise the money to get you another."

There was a note of bitterness in Norman Sander's voice. Julie saw that he wasn't looking at her, and she knew a pang of pity. It was the first time that Norman had had to deny her.

"But I saw just the coat I want at Neathersole's, only this morning," she said doubtfully. "We have a charge account at Neathersole's; you wouldn't have to raise the money for at least 60 days."

Norman gestured annoyedly. "You mean we had an account at Nethersole's. They dropped us yesterday." He hesitated. "Their last statement showed a balance overdue for three months!"

Julie bit her lip. But sight of Norman's disconsolate figure stirred her sympathies. She came across the room and placed an arm about his shoulder.

"That strikes me as being pretty poor business. The minute we get a little hard up, they drop us like a hot iron. Next year, if our income is back to normal, they'll fall over themselves trying to get us back. Somehow it doesn't seem quite fair."

Norman stood up and leaned against the mantel, staring gloomily into the fire. "Oh, you can't blame them. Conditions are pretty uncertain these days, and they have to protect themselves."

"Well, that's not the way to do it. We've been good customers of Neathersole's for more than ten years. We've always paid our bills promptly and given them all our business. I hope they don't expect us to come back when things pick up."

There were other thoughts running through Julie's mind as she talked. She hardly heard Norman's reply. And after a moment she said: "Norm, I'm coming in town tomorrow noon and have lunch with you. We could run around to Neathersole's and talk things over with the credit department."

"It won't do a bit of good. They've made up their minds, and whatever we might say would be a waste of breath."

Julie smiled brightly. "We can't do any harm. And, besides, I haven't come in for lunch with you for ages."

Neathersole's is located in the heart of Boston's shopping district. Shortly after one o'clock when Julie and Norman arrived, the usual crowds of shoppers were gathered momentarily before the great show windows. A bevy of painters were enriching the store-front woodwork with bright colors.

Julie tugged at Norman's arm and led him up close to one of the displays. "The coat that I spoke about is in here," she told him blithely. "I'd just like to have you see it."

Norman glanced sideways at his wife, shrugged resignedly and followed.

"Isn't it a beauty! It's that dark green, with the wolf collar!" Julie clasped her hands together and stared enraptured.

Norman's brow puckered as he squinted through the glass. "Can't see a thing. The light's wrong. All I can make out is a reflection of the street."

"Well, you must be blind. Here, move down this way."

Julie edged along, tugging at his arm, until she was standing directly beneath one of the painter's ladders. Its shadow on the window made visibility clearer in that particular spot.

"Trouble is," Norman explained, "they haven't got the awnings down. Suppose they can't, while the painting's going on." He glanced up at the man on the ladder. And at that exact moment someone jostled against Julie. She was pushed back against the ladder.

"Hey! Look out!"

But Norman's warning came too late. A can of paint, suspended from a rung of the ladder by a wire, got loose from its moorings and came tumbling down. It struck Julie on the shoulder, spilling its contents over her back.

Julie let out a little squeal and jumped away in dismay. But the damage had been done. A wide streak of bright red had hideously discolored her coat.

Norman swore beneath his breath and looked up at the painter, who was regarding the disaster apathetically, two rungs above them Julie began to expostulate in no uncertain terms about the carelessness of a store management that would permit the possibility of such a thing.

A crowd began to gather, expressing its sympathies. Norman feeling a bit silly about the whole business, tried to get Julie away, but he looked at him angrily, seemingly on the verge of tears.

"It's ruined," she wailed. "My brand new coat is absolutely ruined! Now whatever shall I do?"

Norman was on the point of uttering surprised protest, when the crowd parted to permit the passage of a bald-headed man, who, by his attire and demeanor, was connected with the store. At sight of him Julie renewed her wailing with a vehemence that stirred the sympathies of the crowd to a greater degree.

Norman was spared further embarrassment when the bald-headed man invited him and Julie into the store. They were ushered graciously into the manager's office, where Julie ruined a perfectly good chair by sitting on it. Unperturbed by the manager's exclamation of alarm, she sobbingly explained once more about how her brand new coat had been absolutely ruined through the carelessness of the store. Twice Norman was in the act of giving vent to the honest urge that surged through his blood, only to be interrupted by Julie's wails.

The manager drummed on his desk and finally wondered if Julie would be satisfied if they replaced her coat with a new one. Julie declared she wasn't particularly taken with any of the styles they were showing that year, but there was a dark green with a wolf collar.

Later, in a tiny restaurant, Norman looked sternly at his wife and said: "Julie, you did that on purpose. You brushed against that ladder because you knew the paint would spill on your coat!"

"Why, Norman!"

Norman gestured angrily. "Don't try to lie out of it. I know you did!"

"How? How could you know such a thing?"

"Because the coat you tried to point out to me in the window wasn't there at all. I looked in when we were inside the store. There was nothing at all in the show window."

"Oh, Norman!" Julie dabbed at her eyes. "Please don't be angry. We've been good customers of Neathersole's for ten years. I—I don't think what I did was unjust."

Norman considered. One thing he was sure of. He wasn't going back to that store and try to explain things. He'd been embarrassed enough for one day. "All right," he said, smiling faintly. "All right, I'll have to admit you did some quick thinking."

Julie beamed. "Quick thinking. Why, Norm, I've been thinking about it for days. Any woman will tell you you can't see into Neathedsole's windows between 1 and 1.30 o'clock. And yesterday when you told me about them dropping us from their books, I remembered they were painting and—" She broke off. Norman had ceased to smile.

That Mr. Smith

By SYDNEY FELL

"Now—you've got it all straight?" Ann Barrington leaned from the opened window of the car, her hands already on the wheel preparatory to starting.

"Yes, ma'am," she said. "Let me say it to you. When Mr. Smith comes I'm to show him into the par—living room. And give him his lunch on a little table in front of the fire. And make him comfortable till you come home."

"That's right, Susie," said Ann, as she started the engine. "And I'll be back about four."

And off she went, the loud purring of her engine falling away to a blur, and then to silence, as Susie watched her wind up the road and over the hill.

Susie was almost completely happy.

She had come to work for Ann Barrington straight from the orphan asylum that had always been her home. She had been with Ann two weeks, the two most interesting weeks, by all means, that she had ever passed.

Her life at the orphan home had not been unhappy. Indeed, it had been definitely happy. But it had been institutional. The freedom she enjoyed in Ann's kitchen and in the small, cheerful third-floor bedroom which she called hers at Ann's house was heaven to Susie.

Just one thing sometimes bothered Susie.

John Barrington, Ann's husband, was Susie's ideal of perfect manhood. To be sure, Susie's acquaintance with men at the home had been limited. Old Peter, the handy man—and occasional visits of inspection by members of the board of directors.

Susie's acquaintance was certainly limited.

Her idea of the perfect man had been formed largely from the heroes and villains she had seen on the once-a-week visit the home children made to the movies. And John Barrington certainly was nothing like those heroes or those villains.

At eighteen Susie had become acquainted, for the first time, with a real man. John was not good-looking, not glamorous in any way. Abut thirty, hard-working, rather solemn; but kind and considerate. He was devoted to his pretty young wife. And to Susie it seemed as if his devotion, his considerateness, his loyalty and attention must be enough to make the world a perfect place for Ann.

Yet sometimes Susie thought Ann was not quite as appreciative of her husband as she might be.

Today, Mr. Smith was coming, at Ann's invitation, to lunch.

Ann had invited him by telephone.

Susie had heard her.

"Do come for lunch," she had said. "My husband won't be home till dinner time. If you come for lunch that will give us five or six hours."

Then, at half-past eleven, there had been a telephone call for Ann. And a few minutes later Ann had come into the kitchen, dressed in her smart tweed coat and skirt, all excited and upset.

"Susie," she said, "I've just had a telephone call—my sister's little boy is ill and she's got to go away this afternoon. She has to go to court—some sort of suit she and her husband are involved in about his father's estate. So I've got to stay with the boy. And you'll just have to take care of Mr. Smith till I get back."

She had left the lunch all ready for Susie to serve, and had told Susie just what to do. And now, as Susie heard the last of Ann's motor as her car went up the hill, she was planning to do a little missionary work on Mr. Smith—work for Mr. Barrington.

Perhaps she'd tell Mr. Smith Ann had gone to lunch with another man—get rid of him before Ann came home.

So engrossed was she in her thoughts that she did not hear the car coming from the opposite direction.

Suddenly she was startled by a voice right at her side.

She looked up. There stood a young man—hatless, coatless, grinning.

"Oh," she said, startled. "Are you Mr. Smith?"

"Sure!" said the young man. "That's me. You Miss Barrington?"

"Mrs. Barrington's been called away. She couldn't help it. It's her sister's little boy—he's ill, and she has to stay with him. But she told me to tell you to come right in."

And Susie smiled, a smile that made her plain face radiant, and led the way to the house. She liked Mr. Smith—and she couldn't lie about Ann, when the chances really came.

"You go right in there and sit down," she said at the door of the living room. "And I'll bring your lunch right in. Mrs. Barrington said you'd be hungry."

"Well, sure, I'm hungry. Haven't had a thing since seven. Mrs. Barrington's swell, isn't she? But say, if I'm going to have some lunch, I'd a heap rather eat with you. You eat in here?"

"Oh, no," said Susie. "I eat in the kitchen. You see, I'm Susie." And before she knew it she had told the strange Mr. Smith of her life at the home and of her present blissful existence as Mrs. Barrington's maid. A real home—real money—and the kindest people in the world to work for.

Mr. Smith gave Susie flattering attention. And in the kitchen he helped her set the oilcloth-covered table for two and, when she had the coffee ready to serve, and the salad and sandwiches, the cup cakes and shredded pineapple all daintily spread out—she tried to follow Ann's good taste in setting the table—he stood and held Susie's chair while she was seated.

Susie was thrilled. Never in her quiet life had she been so thrilled. She didn't blame Ann for being a bit interested in this jolly and very courteous Mr. Smith. He passed things to Susie, insisting that she help herself first. He said, "One or two—or maybe three—lumps?" and dropped them into her cup. He jumped up and went to the stove for more coffee. And he talked of the things that interested her.

"You look pretty in that pink dress," he said as they ate their dessert.

Susie blushed with pleasure.

"Like it?" she murmured. "I put on a white dress every afternoon—sort of a stiff one, like linen. And a cute little apron."

"Well," said Mr. Smith, through a mouthful of cake, "you'd look good to me even if your dress was mud-colored."

And they both laughed, as if at a great joke.

Then the doorbell rang and Susie went to the door.

A good-looking man, about Mr. Barrington's age, stood there. "Is Mrs. Barrington home?" he asked.

"No said Susie, "she isn't."

"Not home?" said the man. "When will she be home?"

"I don't think that's any of your business," said Susie and slammed the door. "Fresh thing," she said. explaining to Mr. Smith in the kitchen. "Thinks just because I'm young I'll tell him all our affairs. Probably he's a burglar, come to pry around. I'm sort of glad you're here to protect—"

Mr. Smith beamed. "Sure, I'll protect you—always," he said. That was a swell feed you gave me. Sure Mrs. Barrington won't care?"

And then Mrs. Barrington herself burst in at the kitchen door.

"Oh, hello Sam," she said. "Come to fix the only faucet upstairs? You're the only plumber I ever knew that could be depnded on. Susie, wasn't it nice I didn't have to stay? The trial has been postponed—and anyway the baby's better. Mr. Smith come?"

And then between tearful apologies on Susie's part and half-exasperated explanation on the part of Ann, the thing was untangled, while Sam Smith, the young plumber, stood by very red of face and uncomfortable, ready to defend Susie if need be.

Mr. Smith—the Mr. Smith who should have eaten lunch in the living room—was an old friend of John's a college classmate, stopping at the house for a visit with Ann before he went on to town for dinner with John.

"And," said Ann, "I suppose he's the burglar you slammed the door on! Oh, well—"

Another ring at the door.

Ann answered it.

Sam and Susie heard her laughing, explaining. In a minute she came back to the kitchen.

"Hurry up, Susie," she said. "Let's scrape up some lunch for Mr. Smith—the other Mr. Smith—and me. Sam, you run upstairs and fix that leak. And—oh, Sam! Busy this evening? Well, why don't you invite Susie to go to the movies? I'm going to town to have dinner with my husband and the other Mr. Smith, and I don't want to leave Susie to a lonely evening. Have her home by eleven."

And as Sam's quick and cheerful acquiescence came down the back stairs as his noisy footsteps went up, Ann said: "He's a nice young man, Susie. You'll like him, lots."

"I do," said Susie, "already."

DANCE TEAM

By NED O'DOHERTY

The stage door of the only theatre in Hilltown swung open and the dance team of Elaine and Edmund stepped out into the glistening rain swept street. With hunched shoulders and lowered heads, they hurried towards the hotel.

The girl entered her unpretentious room followed by the man who slowly removed his coat and hat and, with a gesture of disgust, threw them into the farthest corner.

The girl, from force of habit, it seemed, picked up his discarded clothes and carefully hung them up.

"Elaine," the man said finally, "I'm completely fed up. For three years now I've been playing these one-horse towns, working like a Trojan, and what's the result? We all but break our necks doing difficult tap routines which brings us a lot of applause, but you can't eat applause!"

He turned to face the girl.

"Where's this break?" he shouted. "Where's this real money? Where's this mythical Broadway one hears about?"

Elaine came over and put her arm about his shoulders.

Blonde, silken hair fell down in waves about her neck.

Soft eyes filled with moisture which was somewhat prevented from becoming tears.

"Don't Ed," she urged. "Don't take it like that. Let's fight just a little longer."

He lifted her chin and brushed the tip of her nose with his lips. Just a peck it was; just a friendly, brotherly peck. Too brotherly, Elaine thought.

"O. K. kid," he mumbled, "I'll see you tomorrow."

And taking his coat and hat he left the room.

Elaine was sitting in the lobby when he came down next day.

He saw her, waved, and stopped to talk with the coquette who reigned supreme behind the cigar counter. Elaine smiled. Strange why she cared so much for him. Well, she did, and that was that.

A few minutes before they went on the stage, Eddie came to Elaine's dressing room for the usual limbering up. While they were in the midst of their intricate dance, someone knocked loudly upon the door and entered without the formality of waiting to be asked in.

Eddie was irritated at the interruption.

"Who are you?" he demanded angrily of the newcomer.

The man smiled.

"I," he began, "am the answer to a hoofer's prayer. My name is Lyons, which is beside the point, so I'll get to the point. I was sent down here to prevail upon you to pack your duds, and prevail further upon you to rush to Harrison's office in New York. Well here I am prevailing but you don't seem to be packing. How come?"

Eddie glanced about the room as if in search of something with which to tie up the lunatic. Not finding anything, he asked instead: "What, my good man, are you talking about?"

The man laughed:

"I forgot. Dear me, I forgot to tell you Harrison is producing a new musical comedy and the old fool is laboring under the delusion that he needs a hoofer. And you're elected."

With some effort he searched for something in his pockets.

Eventually he found what he was looking for.

"Here's your railroad ticket," he said, and dropped it carelessly upon the dressing table.

When Lyons had gone, Eddie grabbed Elaine and danced her round the room.

"I'm made," he shouted. "I've got a break at last! Broadway!"

Eddie danced that night as he had never danced before. Elaine was in a daze. She had never before been so heavy on her feet and she wondered, vaguely, if it was the weight of her heart that was holding her down.

Later in his hotel room, Eddie rushed about packing his clothes.

Elaine lay back in an easy chair and gazed intently at the discolored ceiling.

"Eddie, if you are sure they don't want me, too, what....well, what shall I do? I mean I can't do the act alone."

Eddie ceased packing.

He frowned, but only for a moment; then he smiled.

"Listen, Beautiful," he laughed. "A swell looking little dame like you would have only to lift her little finger and she would have a thousand partners."

Elaine arose quickly and hurried from the room.

She hated herself for crying, but she couldn't help it. At any rate it would be the last time. Never again would he be the cause of her tears.

People do not cry for those they no longer love.

Eddie arrived in New York next day and went directly to Harrison's office in the Strand building.

Harrison came from behind his desk and shook hands.

"Glad to see you, Eddie," he said, "but where's your pretty partner?"

"My partner?" Eddie frowned.

"Speak up, man!" he growled. "Where's the better half of your act?" Eddie fell back with a bewildered look in his eyes. "The better half? Oh! Why, I left Elaine in Hilltown."

Harrison chewed on his cigar ferociously.

"Listen, son," he said, tapping Eddie on the chest, "you get that pretty dancing partner of yours here in a hurry if you want to work in my show. Without her, you couldn't have a seat in the gallery." And he walked away.

Five minutes later Eddie had the Hilltown hotel on long distance. "Where's Elaine?" he shouted. "Yes, the cute little girl with the blonde hair. Where? Hollywood? When? Oh!...."

Then after what seemed like ages, waiting for the operator to put through a person to person call to Hollywood, Elaine's sweet voice on the other end:

"Hello?"

"Hello, Elaine, dear. This is Eddie. You know, your old partner. Listen, honey, could you come to New York right away? I have a swell proposition for you. You and I are going to dance together in the big show. I fixed it all up. What train will you take? I'll meet you."

Minutes ticked by before Elaine's cool, collected voice answered. Then:

"I'm sorry, Eddie, but I'm afraid you're too late. You see, for the past year I've been holding an option on a movie contract. Of course I wasn't interested while you and I were together, but when you decided to step out for yourself—well, I had no alternative. So I've signed a contract for a year at two hundred a week. But you should worry, Eddie. A handsome fellow like you need lift only his little finger, and ....but you know the rest of it."

For a long time Eddie remembered the final click of that telephone.

A World for Two

By OSCAR WALES

Rita hurried out the Spruce street door of the great store and made her way through the crowd of home-seekers to the motor bus. She had spent her noon hour window shopping and had decided to buy the stunning sports suit that had been reduced because of a small spot on the blouse. She knew that she could embroider a black flower on the black knitted silk—something formal that would not spoil the tailored effect, perhaps a symbol of cubistic square.

"I'm just agraid that Ed thinks me too shabby to take about," she told herself sorrowfully wishing she could stretch her small salary to the point where she could indulge in the frills that all girls love and especially those girls who work in the downtown stores and see the latest novelties.

For three weeks she had heard nothing from the young radio salesman and she had grieved until she had lost four pounds. And, when one weighs a scant 100 pounds, four pounds is important.

She loved Ed and she was not ashamed to admit it to herself.

He had been taking her about for some months and his manner had become increasingly tender until that last night at the theatre. The heroine, a dreamy girl with golden curls and babyish mouth, had spent her last $50 for dozens of roses because she expected her lover to call. He had arrived hungry and cold, and looking forward to a good meal, and Rosamond had told him gaily of her depleted finances.

It was at this point that Ed had turned to his companion saying:

"Isn't she wonderful? To be so romantic—so appreciative of the beautiful things of life."

Rita agreed that the scene was indeed lovely, but she had qualified this by mentioning the unwiseness of spending one's all in a moment.

"Suppose her lover had failed to reach that country house that night? What would she have done for dinner? The empty pantry was shown and there would be breakfast, too, to consider."

Rita had wondered at his sudden coolness that night, but had never connected it with the play except—and this had loomed big in her mind—except that he might have fallen in love with the exquisite Rosamond in her childish frock of expensive white lace. Rosamond, with her background of nodding pink roses was beautiful, and Rita had contrasted her own blue serge smartness with that dream of girlhood.

Rita made her own blouses and most of her sheer collar sets, often working until far into the night in order to make a bit of real lace that she could not afford to buy.

Passing a florist shop in Rosemont avenue, Rita glanced in.

She knew the girl who owned it.

Grace was in the far end of the small shop and she was bent over her tiny desk with a handkerchief in her hand. Rita stared in.

Surely Grace could not be crying.

There was no one else inside and Rita opened the door.

Grace bit off a sob and mopped her eyes. "Oh, thank goodness it's you Rita. I'm a sight."

"What's wrong?"

"I lost my purse and, my rent money was in it. The agent will be here by eight o'clock in the morning and what I'm going to do is more than I know. Where in the world can I get $60?"

Rita stood in stunned consternation. Where, indeed?

"He warned me when I rented this that he'd accept no excuses. 'Pay or go' he said. There won't be any important sales tonight. It's seven o'clock now. What in the world shall I do?"

Rita looked down at her purse.

In that she had the savings that she had withdrawn to buy her summer clothes. Sixty-three dollars. She needed the clothes but—another girl needed that money—it meant her living. If she were put out what would she do? She knew that Grace had no near relatives, none in the city. Still, there was Ed. He might want to take her out and that meant clothes.

Motors whizzed past in the wide street and gay snatches of song or laughter drifted into the fragrant shop.

Spring had come definitely and the world rejoiced. The scent of lilacs came with the soft breezes and the smell of earth and bursting buds could be detected even in the wilderness of bricks and stone.

Love meant so much and modern love seemed to follow the girls who wore the prettiest frocks.

An unconscious sigh burst from Rita's pink lips.

She seemed to see Ed's face before her above the nodding flowers.

Then she lifted her head gallantly.

She could not see another girl in need, when she had surplus money.

"Take this, Grace," she cried, opening her purse and unpinning the little packet of folded bills from the safe inner compartment. "I have it extra, don't have pay a thing with it."

Grace crimsoned.

"Good heavens, child, don't think I'd take your savings. I'll get through somehow. The shop is paying—it's just that my mad carelessness has left me strapped for the moment."

But Rita had made her decision and she dropped the packet into Grace's cash drawer and hurried toward the door.

"You can't leave the shop you know," she smiled and was gone.

Up in her fold-up flat she shared with a teacher Rita began preparing for dinner.

The teacher was out and she had the partment to herself.

The sharp tinkle of the doorbell sounded before she had finished eating and she pressed the button that released the street door.

She felt sure it would be Ed and her heart sang as she smoothed backq her hair and cast a glance into the hall mirror.

"Flowers for Miss Johnson," announced a small boy, almost buried beneath his load.

"Miss Grace sent me up with them."

Rita's eyes blazed with pleased excitement as she filled vases and jugs and pitchers with the long stemmed roses of scarlet. Grace had sent her very best blossoms and the shabby little room was turned into fairyland.

Again the bell.

Rita pressed the releasing button without anticipation this time.

"Hello, Rita," came Ed's voice, "how's everything?"

She tried to keep her tone careless as she greeted him; he must never guess her secret.

"How beautiful."

Ed stopped in the doorway, his eyes upon the roses. "I thought you didn't care about flowers. I got to thinking that maybe you were like these city girls who live only for clothes and jazz. Red roses. They beat any other flower there is. Smell them, Rita, they are like you, some way, glowing and fragrant, yet not showy."

Speaking, he put out his hand and drew her towards him, gently, reverently, yet with a strength that would not be denied. "I'd about decided to say 'good-by' tonight, but—"

The walls of the living room seemed to dissolve until she saw down a glorious vista of joyous scenes. A world for two.

"Rita who sent them to you," he cried abruptly, a sudden fear leaping into his eyes, "tell me."

She smiled mysteriously.

Another girl had opened the gates to happiness through her generous gift and Rita gave her postponed shopping not a thought.

The Bad Dream

GERTRUDE Von BERNUTH

It was a stormy winter night. The wind blew a gale, the rain came down in torrents, and Cynthia Blake was all alone in the Long Island house.

Cynthia didn't like being alone, and on a night such as this she hated it. Especially since it had recently been in all the papers that David had gotten a fifty thousand dollar executor's fee from the Dodge estate. That made her nervous. But she lighted a log fire and settled down beside it with her book, hoping against hope that the time would pass quickly. David would be home by 11.30 anyhow.

Eight o'clock, nine o'clock—surely that clock must be slow!—ten o'clock—and the telephone rang. Cynthia sprang to answer it.

"I'd like to speak to Mrs. David Blake." It was a man's voice, business-like, yet rather sauve.

"This is Mrs. Blake" said Cynthia.

"Oh! Well, Mrs. Blake, I'm afraid I have some disturbing news for you."

"Yes?" said Cynthia, striving hard for self-control. Something had happened to David! "What is it?" she asked faintly.

"Er—Mr. Blake has had an accident." Cynthia gave one cry of anguish and then forced herself to listen.

"Mr. Blake was on his way home in a taxi, and his car skidded on Queensboro bridge. I happened to be driving by and stopped to see what had happened. Mr. Blake isn't seriously hurt, but they insisted upon taking him to Bellevue for examination and treatment. His one worry seemed to be about his wife, so I told him that I'd phone you. In fact, I told him that I'd gladly take you in to Belelvue, if you cared to go."

"Oh, would you? That's awfully kind of you!" cried Cynthia. Her one wish was to get to David, darling David. That was all that counted.

"How soon can you be ready Mrs, Blake?" asked the voice.

"In five minutes! Oh you're sure that my husband's not badly hurt?" she implored. "You're telling me the truth, aren't you?"

"Mr. Blake is not badly hurt. He may have a broken rib or two, but—"

"Come on, come on, cut it out," broke in a rough voice. "We ain't got much . . ." then silence, as if a hand had been suddenly placed over the mouthpiece. Then:

"That was some one who wants this booth, Mrs. Blake. I'll be there inside of fifteen minutes. Good-by."

As Cynthia put the receiver back on the hook, she was puzzled. Her fear about David seemed to have vanished. She began to be her usual cool-headed self. That other voice, so rough and snarling. "Come on, come on, cut it out. We—"

Cynthia raced upstairs to the extension phone beside her bed.

"Pennsylvania-6-3500," she said speaking into the mouth piece again. "Hello, hello, is this the Bar association? Is Mr. Blake there this evening—Mr. David Blake? He was to be in conference with—"

"Yes. Mr. Blake is here. He's in room 510. I'll connect you with him if you wish."

"If you please," said Cynthia.

"Mr. Blake, please," said the voice. And then David's voice saying hello.

"Dave is that you?"

"Certainly it's I. "What's up?"

"And are you all right?"

"All right? Of course I'm all right. What's the matter with you? I'm just starting for home."

"O. K" said Cynthia, and hung up the receiver.

"Operator, I want the police," she said, taking down the receiver again.

"I'll connect you," said the operator. Her voice sounded excited.

"Po station, One Hundred and ninth precinct. What is it?" asked a man's voice.

"Officer," said Cynthia. "This is Mrs. David Blake, at 20 Weybridge road, Bayside, Long Island. I have just had a phone call from a stranger who tells me that my husband has had an automobile accident and wants me to come to him in Bellevue hospital. The man said he would be here in fifteen minutes to take me to my husband. I have since located my husband by telephoning and he's perfectly all right. But I thought, if the man comes, I'd like to have the police."

"Humph! A snatch! Well, have some one there inside of three minutes, lady. Don't be scared. Take it easy."

Cynthia hung up the receiver with fingers that trembled. That was that. Now what? She sat tense listening for sounds outside, and finally heard a car coming up the road. Which is it, she wondered, the 'snatcher' or the police? She shivered a little.

Just then the telephone rang again.

"This is Dave again," said her husband's voice. I'm phoning from the Long Island station. Is anything wrong out there? I'm worried."

Suddenly Cynthia heard a commotion outside, and a shot rang out. "'S all right, I dropped him," shouted a voice. "Where's the other one? Did he get away?"

"He won't get far. I blew his front tire, and the other boys are just coming up the road. They'll get him."

"Cynthia!" shouted David. "Is anything the matter? You're acting awfully queer. Why did you all me at the Bar association?"

"Oh, I fell asleep by the fire and had a bad dream," said Cynthia. "Tell you about it when you get home."

WINDSOR FIRE CAUSES $200,000 DAMAGE

Night Watchman Trapped in Flames, Critically Burned

William Aitchison, 69, Aflame From Head to Foot When He Finally Breaks Through Wall of Fire

CLOTHES TORN OFF

Warehouse Contained Large Stock of Hardware, Plumbing and Mill Supplies—Neighboring Buildings Saved

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 20—((CP)—Fire early today swept through the three-storey warehouse of G. G. McKeough, Limited, causing property damage estimated at $200,000. William Aitchison, 69-year old night watchman, suffered critical burns when trapped on the top floor of the building.

The watchman was aflame from head to foot when he finally broke through the wall of fire and dashed out the front door. Two neighbors and a police officer beat out his flaming clothes. Hospital officials said Aitchinson's condition was critical. His injuries were described as third-degree burns.

Building Destroyed

The fire destroyed the building, leaving only four brick walls and a pile of smouldering debris. The warehouse had contained a large stock of hardware, plumbing and mill supplies.

Origin of the fire was not known. It broke out about 3 a.m. E.S.T. Six fire companies answered two alarms and firemen pumped water on the flames at the rate of 2,000 gallons a minute. Flames leaped 50 feet in the air and sparks and pieces of burning wood shot above the flames as the roof and two floors collapsed.

A Jewish school, Talmud Torah, and several frame houses were threatened for a time by sparks and leaping flames.

First arrivals at the scene said they found the flames centred in the southwest corner of the first floor. Company officials said that that portion of the building was occupied by the boiler room as the warehouse had no basement.

Thrown in Snow Bank

Bert Jones, Don Ruckle and Constable Tancred Renaud were credited with saving Aitchison's life. Shoeless and clad only in his underwear, Jones ran from his house across the street to meet the night watchman as he dashed from the building.

Jones, aided by Ruckle and the police officer, threw the flaming watchman into a snowbank and tore the burning clothes off his back with their bare hands. Ruckle, describing Aithison's condition, said, "I touched his head and his singed hair came off on my hand".

Paint Adds Fuel to Fire

Constable Jim McLaughlin, who was with Renaud, rusned to the firebox as the others attended the watchman. He turned in a first alarm. Less than three minutes later firemen arrived and found the flames out of control. The entire first two floors were enveloped in fire and the firemen were unable to enter the building to combat the flames.

Thousands of gallons of paint stored in the second storey added fuel to the blaze, several muffled explosions being noted as the drums became ignited.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Jan. 23 (CP)—The weather has been cold in northern and eastern districts of Ontario and light snow has occurred in the lower Lake Region, while in the Prairie Provinces it is cold with light snow in some districts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

Lake Superior: Moderate winds, shifting to northward; partly cloudy and somewhat colder tonight and Wednesday with snowflurries. Thursday, cold.

Manitoba: Northerly winds; partly cloudy and colder tonight and Wednesday with snowflurries. Thursday, cold.

Alberta: Partly cloudy and cold today and Wednesday.

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen

Science Service Meteorologist

Climate and energy! Studies show that climate is intimately associated with man's energy, development and resistance to disease. Human growth is accelerated under conditions of stimulating climate and when and where the body readily loses heat. Statistics show that human weight, per inch of height, is greater in cool, stormy regions. The decline in human development during the Dark Ages in Europe is attributed to the warm conditions then prevailing; while, on the other hand, the same warm conditions acted as a stimulus to people farther north. The Vikings, for example, relieved of their long hard winters, went far afield to settle other lands.

'KING MUST GO' CLAIMS COL. DREW

States Canada Should Adopt This Slogan and Oust Prime, Minister

Hamilton, Ont., Jan. 23—(CP)—Fuel was added to the Ontario Government's criticism of the Dominion's war effort today by the declaration of Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew, Provincial Conservative leader, that Canada should not have to "wait until a general election to get rid of" Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Col. Drew, who last week in the legislature joined Premier Hepburn in a vote criticizing the "so little" war effort of the Federal Government, suggested to a public meeting here last night that Canada adopt the slogan "King must go." He said it would be on the theme of "Asquith must go," the cry that led to the resignation of the Prime Minister under whom Great Britain entered the first Great War.

Asquith's resignation was termed the turning point for success in the last struggle by Col. Drew, who said he was hopeful history would repeat itself in the case of Canada and Mr. Mackenzie King.

TO SUPERVISE EXPENDITURES

Ottawa, Jan. 23 (CP).—B. J. Roberts, former assistant deputy finance minister, has taken over the duties of supervising expenditures in connection with the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, Defence Minister Rogers announced yesterday. The three-year, $600,000,000 project is expected to entail expenditures of $90,000,0000 by September.

His selection followed consultation with the United Kingdom, Australian and New Zealand governments who participate in financing the undertaking.

FRENCH REPULSE GERMAN RAID IN VOSGES SECTOR

Number of Enemy Left Dead in "No Man's Land" According to Communique

GERMAN SUBS ATTACKED

In Absence of Positive Proof British Admiralty Has Not Claimed Subs Destroyed

(By Axel De Holstein, Havas Writer)

Paris, Jan. 23—(CP-Havas)—Repulse of a strong German raid in the Vosges sector of the western front and an attack on two German submarines by British warships were announced today.

Well-informed French naval sources reporting the U-boat attacks did not divulge the scene of the engagements. In the absence of positive proof, the British admiralty has not claimed the submarines were destroyed, it was said.

Sub-zero weather along the western front paralyzed air operations but did not prevent continuation of routine overland patrol work. Most activity took place in the Blies River zone, on the western wing of the war theatre, and in the wooded sector immediately to the west of the Vosges foothills.

Brief Communique

According to the brief announcement in today's war communique, "an enemy raid to the west of the Vosges was repulsed with losses." Military sources said an unusually strong German patrol, swinging into action without the usual protection of an artillery barrage, attempted to storm a French outpost. The Germans were turned back without any trouble, however, and left a number of dead in "No-man's Land."

No reconnaissance or other flights by Allied or German squadrons were reported from the front, where the temperature dropped to five degrees below zero.

Land patrols were particularly active in the Blies zone, where there were minor artillery duels. In no case, however did the army operations extend beyond purely local character.

LIST OF MISSING ON BURNED LINER REACHES SEVENTY

500 Survivors Aboard Liners Conte, Biancamano and Colombo Arrive at Genoa

FIRE UNDETERMINED

Genoa, Italy, Jan. 23 (AP)—The Italian liners Conte Biancamano and Colombo arrived here today with more than 500 survivors of the burned Italian motorship Orazio.

At the time of the rescue ships' arrival, the list of missing stood at 70 of which six were believed passengers.

The Italian Line, owner of the Orazio, reported 561 persons had been saved. The French contraband control reported it took 12 Germans off the ship before the fire in the Mediterranean Sunday. The original passenger and crew lists totalled 643.

U. S. Finding Isolation Policy Wreaks Havoc on International Trade

New York, Jan. 23 (CP)— The New York Times conceded today that the United States "cannot have it both ways in International trade."

Discussing editorially the effect upon United States trade with Great Britain as a result of the war, the Times said the United States is "discovering with a vengeance that neutrality and isolation cannot protect us from the dislocation that war inevitably brings."

Pointing out that Britain has suspended imports of American tobacco, a trade worth $70,000,000 annually, has curtailed imports of United States apples and pears, worth $15,000,000, and is turning to Empire countries and Argentina for grain and meat supplies, the newspaper added:

"We cannot expect the British to make immense war purchases in this country—the figure of $1,000,000,000 was mentioned yesterday as their possible total—and at the same time demand that Great Britian keep up her peacetime imports unimpaired.

"After all, Great Britain is at war. . . . to keep supplies from Germany she is buying Balkan products at uneconomic prices, and to keep foreign exchange from Germany she is dumping exports in many parts of Europe where her naval blockade cannot operate.

;"Under pressure of military and diplomatic necessity she is adopting trade practices utterly at variance with (state) Secretary Hull's ideas and with Britain's own peacetime conceptions of free international trade. . . .

."In these circumstances a protest from us would stand on shaky ground."

Paderewski Elected President of Poland's National Council

Impressive Ceremony in Polish Embassy in Paris as Former Premier and Famous Pianist Again Heads Government of His Country in Exile

Paris, Jan. 23 (AP)—Ignace Jan Paderewski, world famous pianist, today was unanimously elected President of Poland's National Council—the parliament of the Polish government in exile.

It is Paderewski's first return to politics since he resigned as Premier of Poland in 1919 after leading his country's long fight for independence.

In a colorful ceremony in the grand ballroom of the Polish Embassy the former Premier was acclaimed successively by Polish President Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz, Premier Wladyslaw Sikorski and the council.

In replying the aged musician brought tears to the eyes of his assembled countrymen with a call for Polish freedom.

After the defeat of Poland by Germany last fall, the Poles set up a government in exile at Angers, France.

Paderewski was prominently mentioned for the presidency but was believed to have declined nomination for that post because of his health. He is 79. He recently journeyed to Paris from his home in Switzerland to take a more active part in the government in exile.

A heart attack cut short the famed pianist's last north American tour last may and he sailed for home shortly afterward.

Paderewski assumed the presidency of Poland's National Council—the Polish Parliament in exile—with a ringing pledge to deliver Poland from "captivity" and "raise her from the ruins."

Paderewski's hands trembled as a secretary helped him to his feet after his unanimous election as council president, but in a strong voice he moved his hearers to tears with the declaration:

"Poland is immortal. We will deliver her from captivity and will raise her from the ruins. We take this engagement before God."

Paderewski thanked the Polish population of America "to whose generosity we owe a great part of our power to aid the Polish refugees and population in distress."

HOUSE TO RECESS AFTER ADDITIONS TO ACT PASSED

Legislature Unable to Draft Budget Until After Dominion Budget Brought Down

CHALLIES ALARMED

Toronto, Jan. 23 —(CP)— Silence from the Conservative benches is the chief feature of the Throne Speech debate as it is carried on these days at Queen's Park. The opposition is following the same policy as last year. Conservative Leader George Drew spoke for them in the Throne Speech debate. The result is the Liberals have the forum to themselves.

Under ordinary circumstances, it is probable the debate would have been wound up by now. But there is not sufficient other business to keep it going. As it is the House will recess after amendments to the Succession Duty Act are passed.

Premier Hepburn told the House yesterday it was hoped to have the amending bill ready for the House tomorrow or Thursday. When it passes third reading the House will recess and not resume earlier than is necessary to have an Easter prorogation.

Can't Draft Budget

Drafting of a budget now is impossible, said the Premier. Adverse exchange rates on provincial obligations that are payable in Canadian, United States or sterling funds are a complicating factor.

BRITAIN, FRANCE WARN RUMANIA

Attempt to Coerce British and French Oil Companies May 'Lead to Complications'

Bucharest, Jan. 23—(AP)—Great Britain and France today warned the Rumanian Government that any attempt to compel British and French oil companies operating in Rumania to furnish oil for Germany might "lead to grave complications."

.The warning followed a Rumanian decree creating a national petroleum commission with authority to control production, refining and export of all Rumanian oil "in conformity with the interests of the state."

The decree gave the commission sweeping powers, including the right to take over companies not submitting to its orders.

In some foreign circles the Rumanian decree was reported due to German pressure to obtain all the oil possible from Rumania.

GERMAN TROOPS DEPLOYED ALONG POLISH RAILWAY

Viewed by Diplomats as a Potential Means of Nazi Pressure on Rumania

NO CONCENTRATION

Bucharest, Jan. 23—(AP)—The deploying of German troops along a Polish railway leading into Rumania's oil and wheat fields—ostensibly to curb rebellious train crews—is viewed by some diplomats here as a potential means of Nazi pressure on Rumania.

The soldiers were stationed by agreement between Germany and Soviet Russia, Poland's partitioners, because the 200-mile section concerned runs through Russian-occupied area of Poland. (Authorized sources in Berlin denied that Germany had troops, police railway men or engineers at the Rumanian frontier and said Russia alone was administering that area).

The railway reaches from German Silesia through Lwow and Jaroslaw to Cernauti, in the northern Rumanian province of Bukowina.

Official sources said Russia consented to the policing after Germany complained that shipments of grain and oil to supply her war machine had been delayed and sometimes lost because of rebellious and inefficient crews.

Linked with the Russo-German arrangement, these quarters added, was a provision for German technical supervision of oil fields in Russian-occupied Poland, near the Rumanian border, and a withdrawal of some Red army troops.

No Concentration Intended

It was understood Rumania had been assured the arrangement would not mean a big concentration of German troops near her border. Some diplomats, nevertheless, insisted Germany might be able to use the troops for leverage against Rumania, even if they were there only to police the railway.

Arrival of German military police and train crews last week at Lwow gave rise to rumors a new territorial division of Poland was impending, with Germany to occupy a section up to the Rumanian frontier.

Rumanian officials contended these reports were groundless and that the arrival of the Germans was connected only with occupation of the railway and supervision of Polish oil fields.

Accused of Encirclement

By coincidence, perhaps, the Russian army organ Red Star yesterday accused Great Britain and France of planning to "encircle Germany's Siegfried Line" with a flanking movement through the Balkans.

The article, according to a Moscow dispatch, said French and British troops are concentrated in Palestine, Syria, Egypt and elsewhere in the near east. Red Star professed to find significance in the fact Britain and France have not given guarantees to Bulgaria and Hungary as they have to Rumania.

SOVIET RUSSIA DETERMINED TO CRUSH FINLAND

Trying to Win Before Finns Receive Great Aid From Western Powers

WANTS TO WIN EASILY

New Air Bases Established to Enable Fliers to Make Many Flights a Day

By WADE WERNER

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Helsingfors, Jan. 23 (AP).—Cost what it may, Soviet Russia apparently has decided to crush Finland this winter despite the springtime promise of easier going by land and air.

Impelled by a desire either to save military face, or win before Finland can get great aid from the west, or both, the Russian command is risking costly equipment on mid-winter bombing raids and appears to be pressing to attack in force on the Karelian Isthmus and north of Lake Ladoga.

Although longer daylight hours and better flying weather is just around the corner, such as would serve both land and aerial offensives better than the present bitter cold and short days, Red strategists seem unwilling to sit back and take gradual advantage of Russia's numerical superiority.

New Reconnoitring Flights.

(The Leningrad military headquarters last night announced new "reconnoitring flights", general skirmishing by land patrols and, "in a number of areas, artillery fire".)

Dispatches from Estonia, across the frozen Gulf of Finland from this beleaguered country, also indicate the Russians are straining every nerve to win before winter ends.

New air bases, it was reported, have been built to enable Red bombers to fly to Finland and back several times daily. Russia gained an Estonian base at Baltiski in one of Baltic treaties that preceded the war with Finland.

Left Idling All Night.

Supplies of aviation gasoline, said to have been imported many months ago from the United States, were reported rushed to the half-finished bases. Because of insufficient hangars, Russian plane motors are left idling all night to keep them warm.

A Finnish tabulation shows the Russians last week dropped 6,667 bombs which killed 18 civilians, in-

Nephew and Heir Deprived of Title

Singapore, Jan. 23 (CP). — The Rajah of Sarawak, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, by proclamation today deprived his nephew and heir, Anthony Walter Baybell Brooke, of his title and authority as Rajah Muda (Crown Prince).

The Rajah said his nephew's powers, conferred upon him in March, 1939, were cut off because he was "not yet fitted to exercise the responsibilities of his high position."

The white Rajah, one of whose daughters is Baba, who married the British wrestler, Bob Gregory in 1937, withheld further explanation of the family difficulty in his 50,000 square-mile Borneo kingdom.

The nephew passed through Singapore last month en route to England for war work.

Britain Blames American Shippers For Delays at Control Stations

London, Jan. 23 —(CP)— A spokesman for the Ministry of Economic Warfare said today that reluctance of American shippers to cooperate in supplying advance information and guarantees concerning their cargoes was responsible for delays in passing United States ships through British contraband stations.

Referring to complaints by the United States Government that American ships were being detained at contraband control points an average of 12.4 days—three times as long as Italian vessels—the spokesman said these additional points figured in the situation:

Italian ships for the most part carry bulk cargoes, whereas American cargoes often include as many as 300 items, thus requiring a longer time for examination; American ships usually touch at various ports all around the Mediterranean, whereas the Italians are going only to Italy.

The American objection applied especially to the Mediterranean areas and the Gibraltar control point.

Concern Expressed

Cordell Hull, United States Secretary of State, in a diplomatic communication addressed to the British Ambassador, the Marquess of Lothian, last Saturday objected to "discriminatory" treatment of United States ships in the Mediterranean. Mr. Hull expressed his government's "serious concern" over the situation.

Today the British spokesman cited the cases of two American ships. He said the Examalia arrived at Gibraltar Sunday without any advance information on the cargo having been submitted and added that none had been received up to today.

Similarly, said the spokesman, the Ministry of Economic Warfare had not received a "hold back" guarantee—a guarantee by the shipper to hold the cargo at the destination until it has been examined by British agents or until assurance has been given that it is not going to Germany.

The United States liner Washington, on the other hand, arrived at Gibraltar Saturday and sailed in 12 hours as a result of a "hold back" arranged through agents the day before her arrival, the spokesman said.

More Light to Guide Pedestrians Through Blacked-out Streets Sought Due to the High Fatality Rate

Greek Freighter Torpedoed by German Sub Off Portuguese Coast — Press Calls Week in Parliament "Grumble Week"

London, Jan. 23.—(CP)— More light to guide pedestrians through blacked-out streets was sought today in parliament.

Traffic fatalities far surpassing Great Britain's war death toll were the basis of the blackout debate scheduled for the House of Commons.

At the same time, neutral and British losses of life and property as a result of the war at sea mounted further.

The Greek freighter Ekatontarchos Dracoulis, 5,329 tons, was reported sunk off the Portuguese coast by a German submarine. Six of the crew of 28 were believed killed.

Sunk Without Warning

The admiralty today asserted this Greek vessel and the 1,469-ton Danish steamship Tekla were torpedoed Sunday "without warning" and that "in neither case did the submarine make any attempt to save the lives of the crews."

One of the Greek ship's lifeboats containing 10 of the crew who yesterday were reported missing reached the Portuguese coast today and 12 of the crew were rescued by an Italian ship, the Nino Padre. Eight of the Tekla crew were rescued by the Norwegian steamship Iris.

The 1,569-ton Norwegian steamship Maurita was believed lost after a naval vessel picked up two men's bodies from a raft in the North Sea. They were believed to have been Maurita crewmen.

The Admiralty announced the 250-ton naval trawler Valdora was overdue and presumed to be lost with nine men.

"Grumble Week"

The stage was set in the House of Commons for criticism of the blackout. Newspapers joined in the declaration of a "grumble week".

Those who complained against the rigid blackouts said 4,133 persons were killed, mostly, on highways during four months of the blackout, compared with 2,466 in the eight months preceding the war blackout. These sources said more than 2,500 British soliders, sailors and airmen had met death in the war.

JAPAN TO INSIST THAT BRITAIN RETURN GERMANS

Foreign Office of Japan Gov't. Calls Seizure "a Serious Unfriendly Act"

BLOCK DEMONSTRATION

Tokyo, Jan. 23 (AP)—Backed by the Japanese cabinet, Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita said today he would "insist" that Germans taken from the liner Asama Maru by a British naval patrol be returned to Japan.

Police blocked an attempt today by members of the Rightist political party, Tohokai, to demonstrate in front of the British Embassy against removal of the 21 Germans by a British warship.

A delegation, however, presented a resolution remanding a British apology and return of the Germans who were taken from the liner Asama Maru last Saturday 35 miles off Yokohama.

The Japanese government already had protested the incident, reserving the right to demand return of the seamen and reuqesting a "full, valid explanation." The Japanese Foreign Office note called the seizure "a serious unfriendly act."

The resolution presented by the Tohokai delegation said the "British warship's action so near Yokohama constituted a maximum insult to the Empire of Japan and pollutes the soul of the Japanese people."

Three hundred Tohokai members had assembled at the Yasukuni shrine, burial place of Japanese war dead, intending to march to the British Embassy. Police, however, permitted only a small delegation to carry the resolution to the Embassy.

OBITUARY

STEPHEN D. LAZIER
(Toronto)

Stephen Dunbar Lazier, a former prominent resident of Belleville passed away after a brief illness in the Western Hospital, Toronto, on Monday evening, Jan. 22nd.

The late Stephen Dunbar Lazier, who was in his 72nd. year, was born in Belleville, being the son of the late S. A. Lazier, who conducted paper mills and grist mills at Cannifton for many years. He attended the public and high school in this city and eventually graduated in law at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and was called to the bar. For some time he practised his profession here and later entered the business field in promotion and finance. During a considerable period of time his business necessitated absence from Belleville and he lived in many of the larger cities of the Dominion and in Ottawa he took up permanent residence for some years. Later he returned to his native city and resided here for some time and a few years ago he returned to make his home in Ottawa; of late he was located in Toronto. In Belleville and throughout the Dominion he was popular and well esteemed by many friends who will regret to learn of his death.

The late Mr. Lazier, who was a nephew of the late Col. S. S. Lazier, was twice married, his first wife being Miss May Lingham, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lingham of this city. Some years after her passing he married Mrs. Gertrude Walker Dennison of Erie, Pa.; she died in Ottawa less than a year ago.

Surviving him are two daughters, Mrs. Alice Carman and Mrs. Gwen McCaughey, both of Toronto; two sons, Mr. Fred Lazier, Toronto and Mr. Stephen Lazier of Northern Ontario; one half sister, Miss Kate Lazier, Toronto, and one stepdaughter, Mrs. Harrison Williams of Ottawa.

Interment will be made in the family plot in Belleville cemetery; funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

FRANCIS SMITH
(Madoc)

Madoc, Jan. 23 (Special).—Madoc citizens will regret to learn of the passing of Francis (Fran) Smith at Ottawa Sanatorium Monday evening, January 22. Francis Smith was the son of Ezra and the late Mrs. Smith of Arnprior and was born in Madoc 26 years ago. He received his early education in Madoc, later moving to Arnprior with his parents. Four years ago he returned to Madoc to accept a position with his uncle, Mr. Frank Smith. Last year he was taken ill and was a patient at the Ottawa Sanatorium. He was a popular young man and a favorite among the young folk of Madoc. He took a keen interest in sports and was a member of Madoc hockey team for some time. He is survived by his father, Mr. Ezra Smith of Arnprior, one brother, Stanley; two sisters, Miss Ruth of Arnprior and Mrs. Jack Baker of Coppercliff.

His mother, formerly Miss Lulu Jones, passed away about six weeks ago. His funeral will take place on Wednesday at Arnprior.

Motion to Increase Membership Of Fire Committee Withdrawn After a Lengthy Discussion

Alderman Logan, Mover of Motion, Makes it Clear There is No Lack of Confidence in Present Committee

OTHER BUSINESS

A Number of Tag Days Granted to Various Organizations of the City

"If the Aldermen think my motion to increase the Fire Committee from three to five members is a vote of want of confidence in the committee as now composed I will withdraw my motion with the consent of the seconder," said Alderman Logan after a lengthy discussion had taken place on the motion in the city council on Monday night, every member in the council but one expressing his opinion on the subject before the chair. Alderman Graham, who seconded the motion told the council, that he had no thought of lack of confidence in the committee but rather, that the committee would function more confidently with a larger number and the council as a whole would be more directly responsible to the people, who elected the members, if the increase was made.

Alderman Allin opened the discussion after Ald. Logan had read his motion. There was no need for a vote to suspend the rules for the introduction of the motion as Ald. Logan had given notice of motion at the last regular meeting.

Ald. Allin: "This motion strikes me as suggesting a want of confidence in the committee, a committee, which has never had a chance to function and I think we should give them a chance to function before we begin to criticise. I am certainly opposed to the motion at the present stage of the proceedings."

Admits Confidence

Ald. Graham: "I have absolute confidence in the committee but I think it should be larger in numbers for the simple reason, that there may be time, when the three members now composing the committee could not be present and the other two could and the work would go on just the same."

Ald. Kennedy: "I am strictly opposed to this motion. I know for a fact that the Fire Chief solicited one alderman and possibly two aldermen of this council not to have me appointed as Chairman of the Fire Committee. I have nothing against the Fire Chief and at the meeting the other day I told him so. I told him and the members of the Fire Department there was a by-law respecting the department and that each and every member must live up to it. The Chief has had the "knife" into me for some years and the trouble was started when I opposed the extension of the Number one fire hall at a cost of $10,000 and further when I opposed the purchase of a pumper. I have nothing against any fireman on the department and I want that understood and I don't feel that the motion is fair to me or the rest of the committee."

Answers Criticism

Ald. Logan: "Well, if Ald. Kennedy is referring to me respecting the pumper I will repeat what I said when the matter was up last year, "that if a pumper was to be purchased the cheaper pumper was backed by three of the best business firms in Canada." I will say what I said last year that the council felt the chairman caused a lot of the trouble and, probably with the chairman of this year the same trouble will arise again and my idea in the motion to increase the number on the committee to five was to get away from this trouble.

Ald. Armstrong: "The Fire Committee has been in existence for a long time and there has been little trouble under the set up of the committee. I think the trouble can be summarized down to the dismissal of some men last year."

Mayor Thompson: "There was trouble all last year."

Ald. Armstrong: "I don't think that three members of this council should have the power to fire and hire members of the Fire Department without the full consent of council. If we are the elected representatives of the people we should have a full say as to the hiring and firing of any civic official. I think the by-law should be amended to give the council power to hear the appeal of any man dismissed."

Agrees With Speaker

Ald. Clarke: "I am satisfied with the committee as now constituted and I agree with Ald. Armstrong that no committee should have the absolute power to hire and fire at will. The whole council should be responsible for that action."

Ald. Kennedy: "I don't see where Ald. Logan gets the idea I am going to cause any trouble in the Fire Department."

Ald. Logan: "Ald. Kennedy has been a good Alderman but that is not the argument before council at the present time."

Ald. Butler: "I would be in favor of amending the by-law to take away some of the power granted this Fire Committee. I am of the opinion that a large committee would function more satisfactorily."

Ald. Kennedy: "I think I know why the Chief is mad at me. One day I came down street and saw the Chief's car parked in front of a hydrant and a ratepayer of the city stopped me and asked if that was a proper thing to do and I told him the Chief had no more right to park there than any other citizen. The ratepayer went to look for a policeman and not being able to find one called the police station and an officer came up and put a sticker on the Chief's car."

Ald. Pringle: "We are only washing a lot of dirty linen by this discussion. I would like to ask Ald. Kennedy if he considers this motion as a want of confidence in the committee?"

Ald. Kennedy: "Yes, I do."

Mayor Resents Motion

Mayor Thompson: "I resent this motion very much."

Ald. Jeffery: "After the meeting at the Fire Hall the other afternoon with the members of the committee and the Fire Department members, one member remarked it was the best meeting that had been held in years."

Ald. Rollins: "I am very sorry, that this matter has come again to the floor of this council. Last year the council thought, that the Fire Committee did not act in the proper way in some respects. I think the committee has too much power but I never like to judge persons until they have had an opportunity to function and at the present time I am going to give the committee a chance to function before I pass judgment on their work. I am inclined to agree with Ald. Armstrong that the by-law should be amended restricting the power of the Fire Committee to some degree."

Ald. Logan: "I do not lack confidence in the committee and I didn't over the committee last year. I think the members have me wrong about this motion. I am only trying to clear up a bad situation and make it better for everybody concerned."

Agrees With Motion

Ald. Pringle: "I am inclined to agree with the motion. The most important committee in the council is one of the smallest in number and I think the committee has too much power as now constituted. They should not be allowed the privilege of hiring and firing civic employees without a full vote of the council. I think there would be more discretion used in a larger committee."

Ald. Haig: "I am sorry this discussion has got down to personalities. I think Ald. Logan is absolutely sincere in his motion but I think the purpose would be better served by the suggestion of Alderman Armstrong. If I was the chairman of the Fire Committee and this motion came in I would feel offended as Ald. Kennedy does. When we were drawing the by-law covering the comptroller being appointed the members opposed very strenuously the clause giving him the permission to hire and fire, the members believing that right should remain with the council and I am of the opinion, that the same should apply in the Fire Department. I remarked to Mayor Thompson earlier in the evening how well the council was functioning but this motion if it is put will divide the council and probably a repetition of last year will be seen, when the council was very widely separated on certain questions. I would like to see Ald. Logan withdraw his motion."

Mayor Makes Statement

Mayor Thompson: "I have been appointed to this committee by the by-law and I intend to act in the best judgment possible on every question brought before the committee for its consideration. I bear no malice toward any person on the Fire Department and every question is going to be judged strictly on its merit by me. There will be important things to be considered in the very near future in the Fire Department but I am not going to shirk my duty as I see it. I would be very pleased if I was not on the committee this year."

At this point Ald. Logan asked that the motion be withdrawn and with the seconder's consent this action was taken and the council proceeded to other business.

Delegations Heard

A delegation of Ex-Ald. Laurie Lewis and Jack McIntosh appeared before the council asking that some consideration be given by the council in the matter of better lighting for Front Street. Mr. McIntosh told the council that Belleville has one of the finest front streets in the Province but that the lighting was very poor. "I think the council will agree with me on this point," said Mr. McIntosh.

Ex-Ald. Laurie Lewis also addressed the council and said the percentage of people visiting Belleville theatres were from outside the city and they received a very bad impression of the city through the poor lighting system of Front Street.

Ald. Allin asked that a committee be appointed from the council to meet the Retail Merchants on this question.

Ald. Rollins told of his tour of the Province, when he was Chairman of Light and was impressed with the lighting at Orillia, but believed it would cost too much for Belleville but that the system at Brampton would meet the needs of all. "I was told by merchants of Brampton that night business was considerably increased with the new lighting system and that merchants were wholeheartedly behind the scheme", said Ald. Rollins. The system was put in on a ten-year basis with an added service charge to each merchant and the scheme was working most satisfactorily. Mayor Thompson appointed Alderman Allin, Chairman of Light and Aldermen Rollins and Clarke as committee to meet the Retail Merchants.

Ald. Pringle—"It is just a matter of dollars and cents."

Ald. Clarke—"If it will please the merchants and it is their wish that facilities be made better I am in accord with any proposal that can be adequately handled."

School Rinks Wanted

Jack McVeigh, member of the Kiwanis Club and representing the four service clubs, requested that the council provide caretakers for four rinks that will be established at the four schools of the city.

"The clubs are willing to pay for the extra water and the extra cost for insurance if that should be required. The Chairman of Public Works, Ald. Rollins, and the City Engineer were authorized to meet Mr. McVeigh and talk over the proposition, and report back to the council.

W. H. Panter Ex-Mayor of this city and a large property owner protested strenuously against the appointment of a tax collector for this city, when as he stated there were plenty of officials to carry on this work. Ald. Haig, as Chairman of Executive stated the motion to appoint a tax collector would not be brought in at this meeting, but that since the appointment of the Comptroller on October 1st last, the City had saved $600 alone in purchases made for the city.

The Alderman also showed that Mr. Stock as treasurer required to be in the City Hall from nine in the morning to five in the afternoon and that by law Mr. Chamberlain, the Auditor, was prohibited from having anything to do with finances of the Corporation Miss Hawley is an efficient employee, but she is only a tax receiver. "What we want in the city is a tax collector, that will go out and make arrangements with those in arrears of taxes to pay according to their means and thus keep the finances in a better condition" said Ald. Haig. The Alderman explained there was due from last year rents to the amount of $2,000 and if a tax collector had been available most of this money owing the city could be collected. "I am not asking for an increase in the staff but am going to ask for an official that will fit into the set-up already started in the City Hall and which I think will make for more efficient management."

Offer Not Accepted at Present

An offer of $800 by the A. Safe and Company for the property known as the Mott Lumber Yard was read to the council and no action was taken at the present time. The Central Ontario Cheesemakers' Association again requested the use of the market building and City Hall for the holding of the Empire Cheese exhibit and the request was referred to the committee for further consideration. The Beaches Association asked for a date nearest June 15th for the holding of their annual Carnival and the request was granted. Tag Days were granted to St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. and the National Institute for the Blind. A grant of $200 was requested by the Belleville Yacht and Athletic Club and this was referred to the Estimate committee. A piece of property owned by the city at 113 Cannifton Road was ordered sold for $900 while another piece at 16 Water Street was sold for $30, both parties agreeing to pay the 1940 taxes.

Members Seek Information

Ald. Harvey asked under the head of inquiries if the account of $669.00 passed for Haig Brothers was all right and Ald. Haig replied that the Company was incorporated under Statute of the Province at considerable expense to the firm. "The reason these insurance accounts go through in the name of Haig Brothers Ltd., is because the council on recommendation of the Belleville Fire and Casualty Agency Association appointed Mr. W. L. McDougall as City Broker. The commission on all city business is divided at the end of the year among the members of the Association. The City insurance business has been consolidated and is a considerable saving to the city and is working out to the entire satisfaction of the agents" said Ald. Haig. Ald. Harvey stated he did not think it was right that any person being a member of the council, whether the person was incorporated or not should sell to the city. Ald. Clarke requested information as a member of the Hospital Board about some clause in the Agreement between the city and the Board of Governors of the institution. He wanted to know about the wording "the east wing and part of the basement", and Ald. Haig, a member of the board explained the part of the basement meant that part required to carry on the work of the isolation unit. He also told the enquirer that the $200 per month paid the hospital was separate from the $20,000 given outright to the Hospital for which the Governors erected the unit but that the city would have to pay the regular $1.75 per day extra for all indigent patients. The $200 per month—paid to the hospital was for all hospital services connected with the unit.

Widening Requested

Ald. Allin requested that the bridge at North Front Street on Highway 14 be widened so as to prevent a serious accident. "It is almost impossible for two cars to pass on the bridge with any degree of safety," said Ald. Allin.

Ald. Eddie Logan asked if something could not be done to eliminate the noise of musical machines in the city after eleven-thirty at night. Mayor Thompson promised that the matter would be taken up with the Police Commission. Aldermen Rollins and Allin were appointed as a committee to meet with the Harbor Commission to discuss certain questions regarding the city.

A lengthy letter from the Beaches Association was referred back to the committee for consideration without comment. The letter follows:—

Belleville, Ont., January 22, 1940.
To the Mayor and Council,
City of Belleville,—
Gentlemen:

I have been instructed by the Directors of Quinte Bay Beaches Association to write to you again, bringing the matter of this project to your attention.

You will note from your file that for the past two years considerable co-operation from the council has been received by the association with the result that the work has steadily progressed along the general lines agreed upon by the council and the association when the matter was dealt with by your special committee.

The re-arrangement of sewage disposal from the Mead Johnston and Stephen Adamson plants is perhaps the most urgent in view of the great and growing use being made of the beach in summer. This particular work has been developed to the point where very little would be needed to complete the tile beds for these two factories and if the matter receives proper attention in the next few months, the beach will be free from contamination from the sewers of the plants above named.

Specifically the association asks the following:

1. A grant of $100.00 to buy the necessary materials and in this respect please note that the two companies above named have stated that cheques are available for the association for a total of $100.00 any time the city contributes an equal amount.

2. Relief labor to be used to take out the balance of rock needed to finish the excavations to required depth.

In other words a total of $200.00 cash plus relief labor will make the beach safe from pollution and we believe eligible for approval on that score by the Department of Health.

The association also asks that the dumping of garbage be continued together with refuse materials from the Public Works Department. If this is directed it is believed that the marsh and mosquito swamps near the beach will be completely eliminated during the coming summer. The association also asks that the matter of the exchange of properties with Stephen Adamson Company be completed as soon as possible and that the lease already approved of in general terms be drafted to permit the operation of this project for the period agreed upon. The directors feel that it is advisable to have the legal position of the association and the city clearly defined so that no misunderstandings may arise during future use of the beach.

May we respectfully ask your immediate consideration of these matters?

Yours very truly,
QUINTE BAY BEACHES ASSOCIATION, Per D. L. Fleming
David L. Fleming, Secretary

Special Committee Reports

The report of the special committee to meet with Raymond Arnott, lesee of the City Market was received and carried and is as follows:—

Belleville, Ontario,
January 22nd, 1940.

Report of Special Committee

Your Committee, consisting of Chairman of Market and City Property and the City Comptroller appoint for the purpose of conferring with the Lessee of the City Market begs to report as follows:

1. The Committee met with Mr. Raymond Arnott in the office of the Comptroller on Thursday, the 11th day of January, A.D. 1940. It was noted that a great number of market tolls have been paid in advance until April 1940 and it was therefore agreed that the Lessee of the Market, Mr. Arnott, obtain from his own sources a list of the paid tolls and the names of the persons so paid in advance and turn the same over to the Comptroller for the purpose of having these amounts checked and properly credited to Mr. Arnott on and after the first day of April, A.D. 1940.

Respectfully submitted,
E. O. BUTLER, Chairman.

Under by-laws the Industrial Commission was set up. The Commission will meet the first Friday of each month and the annual meeting will be held the first Friday in February of each year.

GOODWILL CODE GIVEN ROTARY

Dr. J. C. Cochrane of North Bay Told Members "Canada Must Not Bow God Out"

A "Code of International Relationships for Peace and Goodwill" was placed before the Rotary Club of Belleville at its weekly luncheon meeting yesterday by Rev. Dr J. C. Cochrane of North Bay, Superintendent of United Church Missions for Northern Ontario and Quebec. Explaining, that he already had delivered two addresses in Belleville and expected to deliver another on Northern Ontario, Dr. Cochrane asked the indulgence of Rotarians for speaking on another subject. With ready wit and thought-provoking analogy, he took as the basis of his address a quotation from a poem by Dr. Henry Van Dyke:

"To think without confusion clearly,
To love one's fellow men sincerely,
To act from honest motives purely,
To trust in God and heaven surely,"

Dealing with the first line, Dr. Cochrane said that there never was a time when clear thinking was needed more than now. Hitherto he had thought that it was fundamental, that to have a good society we must have good people. But conditions prevailing showed that something more was needed. Good people must learn to think and act without prejudices. Prejudice stood as the greatest hindrance to understanding.

Must Have Men of Goodwill

"If we are to achieve goodwill in the world we must have men of goodwill," asserted Dr. Codhrane, in dealing with the second line of the poem. There was no such thing as a war to end war, he declared. Settlement of conflicts must come from a different spirit, that of "To love one's fellow men sincerely."

Referring to the third line, Dr. Cochrane said that it was a good thing for any man to search his motives in his daily pursuits.

"I always have marvelled at the anxiety to serve the needs of his constituents of the man seeking election, as revealed by his utterances on the public platform," observed Dr. Cochrane, "but when a government is elected their main objective appears to be to perpetuate their own existence."

There was need for purity of motive in service to the nation, he added.

Dr. Cochrane said he would offer no apology for religion in presenting the final line, "To trust in God and heaven surely." The principal factor leading the present disastrous conditions, he asserted, is the lack of religion. The two nations which present the greatest problem and are the deepest enigma in the world today are Germany and Russia who had "bowed God out." "The continuing power which makes for integrity, uprightness, brotherly love and peace has been forced out of those countries," said Dr. Cochrane. Justice, truth, mercy and freedom had disappeared. Our own country should exercise care that we did not also bow God out. "If we do, the results will be just as disastrous," concluded the speaker.

Dr. Cochrane was introduced by J. R. Pickering, P. S. Inspector, and the thanks of Rotary was fittingly voiced by P. C. McGuire.

Several guests were present, and were introduced by A. M. Haig.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was pushing crooked things strate and strate things crooked and pop was smoking to himself in his private chair and I was looking at the maps in the paper showing where different countries were attacking each other, and I said, When I grow up I want to travel all over the world and see how different things look for themselfs instead of on maps.

Not a bad idea, pop said. If you travel far enough and look hard enough, I understand you're apt to see genuine scenery just as pritty as picture postcards, he said, and ma said, Such a comparison for land sakes, do you want the boy to lose his faith in the broadening effects of travel?

On the contrary, pop said. I wish I could take him by the hand right now and lead him through the mysterious Orient, he said, and ma said, Well that's more like it.

Absilutely, pop said. If he could see those millions of Orientals living on a handfull of rice a day and washing it down with 2 or 3 tea leaves, it might teach him to stop more gracefully at his 2nd helping of dizzert, he said, and ma said, I hope there are more instructive things than that in the world.

Well naturelly, pop said. I'd show him the happy people in Germany and Russia and Italy who never read any bad news in their papers because there's nothing there but good news even if the government has to make a little up for them, so for instants if they happen to feel a trifle chilly they can read that the so called coal shortage is just a democratic lie, and they can get warm without any artificial heat at all by hating the democracies till they feel a nice warm glow, he said, and I said, O well, anyhow, maybe things will be diferent by the time I get old enough to see them.

Wich I hope so anyways.

Chatham, Ont., Jan. 23.—(CP)—Basketballs equivalent of Roy Riegels, who ran the wrong way in football, is Bob Smith of the Leamington High School Juvenile team.

Playing against Chatham Vocational here, Smith got the ball in a scramble beneath his own basket, pivoted and tossed the ball perfectly through the hoop for two Chatham points.

"I just forgot myself it was so hot in there", he explained.

The basket scarcely mattered in the end for Smith's team was beaten 23-11.

DECISIVE FACTORS IN LIFE OF RACE

"Very few wars have been won by numbers alone!" With this sentence Winston Churchill the other day pointed the moral of history. He said it was nothing new in British history to face numerical odds, and added "quality, will-power, geographical advantages, natural and financial resources, the command of the seas and above all, the spontaneous surging of the human spirit in millions of human hearts, these have proved to be the decisive factors in the human story."

Mr. Churchill drew a picture of the rise of man from his humble origin in the face of gigantic obstacles. "If it were otherwise, how would the race of men have risen above the ape? How otherwise, would they have conquered and extirpated the dragons and monsters of the brine? How would they have evolved the moral scene? How would they have marched forward across the centuries to broad conceptions of compasion, freedom, and of right? How would they have discerned those beacon lights which summon and guide us across the rough dark waters and presently will guide across the fading lines of battle toward better days that are beyond?"

Man's triumph in his rise throughout the ages and especially in his moral triumph is the great hope of the world. Without it there would be nothing.

In this great hope and confidence the Allies fight. In the spirit of retrogression from man's high estate, Hitler would lead the race downward.

It is the rise of man which vestiges of prehistoric civilization and history reveal, that cheers the Allies. They have also the strength, manpower, power of materials, while on the side of the enemy "we see many remarkable signs of psychological and physical disintegration . . . We feel the hesitancy, the pursuing doubts, which assail and undermine those who count on force and force alone."

In a ringing tone which heralds the victory which is to come, Mr. Churchill spoke of the people's determination to give the Empire the fullest service of devotion, and added "Let the great cities of Warsaw, of Prague, of Vienna, banish despair, even in the midst of their agony. Their liberation is sure. The day will come when the joy bells will ring again throughout Euprope, and when victorious nations, masters not only of their foes but of themselves, will plan and build in justice, in tradition and in freedom, a house of many mansions, where there will be room for all."

'THE SMEAR OF HITLER'

"The smear of Hitler" was a phrase used by Right Hon. Winston Churchill in his latest broadcast address to the Empire. Mr. Churchill possesses the finest gift in the use of his mother tongue and is the greatest master of English in British political life. He lights up every phrase with living quality.

Dictionaries define smear as a blot, blotch, daub, stain, blur, spot, splash. But the word "smear" seems to suit best in this instance. Smearing implies a crude or wantonly destructive hand has been at work. A painting, or a wall, or a work of art that is smeared is something beautiful that has been the victim of vandals. There can be no greater offence against the world than to smear the path of humanity, which is greater than a work of art, a treasure, or any material thing.

But Mr. Churchill goes farther than merely defining Hitler's actions as a "smear," he speaks of the days in the future "long after the smear of Hitler had been wiped from the human path."

The world has now the task of removing that "smear" from off the face of the society of nations. There is the assurance that underneath the "smear" the world, so offended against, is beautiful, and will smile again when the "smear" is washed away.

THE SITUATION SUMMARIZED

Many men have praised Finland for her heroic defence against overwhelming odds. To these are to be added the words of praise of Mr. Winston Churchill. "Finland, superb, nay, sublime, sublime in the jaws of peril, Finland shows what free men can do. The service rendered by Finland to mankind is magnificent. There, exposed for all the world to see, is the military incapacity of the Red army and of the Red air force. Many an illusion about Soviet Russia has been dispelled in these few fierce weeks of fighting in the Arctic circle. Everyone can see how Communism robs the soul of a nation, how it makes it abject and hungry in peace and proves it base and abominable in war."

SNOWSTORMS AND SNOWPLOUGHS

The cold snaps and the storms which have marked the past week have in no way disturbed the calm judgment of the people. Few or no predictions are heard as to the sort of winter which is to come, there are no impossible statements as to the temperature's depths. Altogether the people seem to be quite calm about it.

They may feel that they have seen far worse storms, and have experienced colder weather, though January 1940 has been possibly colder than the average for the month.

In case of disagreement about temperature one can take the thermometer to task, for it is known that there are many thermometers which are not accurate and are really very unreliable in certain weather. These are those of the cheaper kind, it is said.

As winters pass more and more modern means of preventing tie-up of traffic are developed. Belleville found little difficulty after the past snowfall because the streets were ploughed out, men put at work clearing crossings and householders cleared their walks, the result being greater convenience to the motorist and to the pedestrian. It is true that during a blizzard or a gale following a fall of snow which has not had time to settle, side roads are easily blocked by the snow and that even highways may be closed but this condition soon surrenders to ploughs and men. In the meantime there may be instances of vehicles and their passengers being marooned but to be marooned today is not like what it was to have been marooned years ago.

All in all, a storm is not so great a hardship as it used to be.

Many recall days when snow was piled as high as the old style fence tops. Often too in those days snow was allowed to accumulate on walks where it had fallen and drifted to the depth of three feet or more. One does not find in towns such habits today because the streets are kept cleared. Modern days demand open roads and cleared sidewalks.

But it is clear that several decades ago there were heavier falls of snow.

Seaway Lives Again as Talks Reopen on Canada-U. S. Scheme

By R. K CARNEGIE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Ont.—(CP)—Since almost the beginning of the century governments at Ottawa and Washington have been moving in the general direction of a St. Lawrence development which would enable ocean-going ships to steam to the head of Lake Superior and provide for development of enormous additional electrical power for Canadian and American industries.

Since the New Year Prime Minister Mackenzie King confirmed the report that good progress was being made in the project negotiations between Canada and the United States, and also between the Dominion and the province of Ontario. A delegation from Washington is in Ottawa to discuss the treaty provisions.

Supporters of so ambitious a project have met many reverses and delays, but 1940 starts off with bright prospects that negotiations between the two governments will result in a treaty that both countries will be willing to ratify, and will provide not only greater transportation facilities, but more than 2,000,000 more horsepower from hydro development.

Costs of the proposition to be borne by Canada amount to about $271,000,000 but $132,000,400 of this is represented in the already built Welland Canal. Ontario as a province would pay for a large part of the power construction sections and the Dominion's share, still to be paid, would be $44,000,000. Costs assess the United States total $272,751,000.

38 Years' Discussion

The history of the St. Lawrence waterways negotiations dates back to 1902 when Congress asked the United States President to invite Great Britain to join in an international commission to report on levels water diversion, navigation and improvement of lakes on the boundary and the St. Lawrence. The invitation was accepted in 1903.

The first international commission on the subject was finally completed in 1905 and was occupied with study of upper lake problems until it was succeeded by an international joint committee set up under a treaty between the United States and the United Kingdom in 1909.

Early in 1914 the International Joint Commission was instructed to report on the advantageous use of the boundary waters from the head of the lakes to the Atlantic Ocean.

The First Great War intervened and in 1920 the International Joint Commission was further instructed to report on the feasibility of making the St. Lawrence from Montreal to Lake Ontario navigable for ocean-going traffic and to apportion the cost of such a project as between the United States and Canada.

In 1921 Col. W. P. Wooten for the United States and W. A. Bowden for Canada made a report on the project to the Commission. The same year the Commission recommended the United States and Canada enter into a treaty combining the St. Lawrence development and the new Welland Canal.

In 1923 United States secretary of state notified Canada to his country's readiness to enter into negotiations for a treaty based on the report. Canada replied, agreeing to start the negotiations by having a more thorough study made of the engineering difficulties of the undertaking by an enlarged engineering board. The engineering board was organized in 1924.

The same year Canada appointed a national advisory committee consisting of Hon. George B. Graham, Thomas Ahearn, Hon. W. E. Foster, E. D. Martin, V. L. McDougald, Sir Clifford Sifton, Maj.-Gen. J. W. Stewart and Hon. Adelard Turgeon to aid the government in reaching a decision.

It was another year before the terms of reference to the joint board of engineers was agreed to and the board reported back to their respective governments on Nov. 16, 1926. Hon. Herbert Hoover was chairman of the United States advisory committee which passed the report on to President Coolidge.

The United States government in 1927 intimated its acceptance of the report, but in Canada a delay occurred because of the uncertainty as to whether the Dominion or the provinces owned power rights in navigable waters and particularly in international boundary waters.

Power Ownership

The matter of power ownership was referred to the Supreme Court of Canada in 1928 which the following year gave a judgment that the general questions submitted to it, involving provincial rights, could not be definitely answered except through test cases.

No definite answer has ever been obtained as to the ownership of waterpower on the St. Lawrence, although after a Dominion-provincial conference discussed the question in 1929 the Dominion has not disputed the claim of the province to waterpower ownership.

The report of the joint board of engineers, confined to the International section between Prescott and Cornwall, was not unanimous, the United States engineers recommending a single dam near Cornwall, whereas the Canadian engineers, while agreeing a single dam would be more economical, contended it would endanger Canadian communities along the river shore above Cornwall and recommended two dams, one at Crysler Island below Morrisburg, and the second below Cornwall.

During the session of 1928 a committee of the Canadian Senate made an exhaustive study of the engineers' report but had not completed the hearings when parliament prorogued. The inquiry was not continued the following year.

Decision to go ahead with the project remained in abeyance until President Herbert Hoover and Prime Minister R. B. Bennett went to work on it in 1931.

In 1932 the Welland ship canal, a part of the seaway project started in 1913, was completed. The cost, approximately $132,000,000, was borne entirely by Canada.

In the same year Canada completed its share of deepening the channels in the Thousand Islands and United States completed its share the year following. This completed a 27-foot channel from Prescott to the head of the lakes with certain works to be done at Sault Ste. Marie.

About the same time the Beauharnois Power Canal, so constructed as to be used as a navigation canal between Lake St. Francis and Lake St. Louis, was completed, but no navigation facilities have been installed. This will be part of the new work.

An areement was signed on July 11, 1932, between the Dominion and the province of Ontario, setting out the terms under which the Canadian portion of the power developed in the inter-section rapids section at the dams at Crysler Island near Morrisburg and Barnhart Island below Cornwall—approximately 1,000,000 horsepower—would be turned over to Ontario.

The Dominion was to bear the costs chargeable to navigation and Ontario the costs incidental to power development. Ontario's payments were estimated at $27,115,700 for the Crysler Laland development and $35,846,800 for the development at Barnhart Island. Premier George Henry signed for Ontario.

An agreement was signed on July carry out the project was signed for Canada and the United States in Washington.

Ratified and Vetoed

On two or more previous occasions, treaties signed by Canada and the United States were ratified by the Canadian parliament and turned down by the United States senate, so the understanding was that the St. Lawrence treaty should not be presented to the Canadian parliament until it had been ratified at Washington.

On March 14, 1934, the United States Senate rejected the treaty. The same year the Hepburn government came into power in Ontario and soon expressed opposition to the treaty and to the Dominion-Ontario agreement. It contended Ontario did not need the additional power and Canada did not need the additional transportation facilities the seaway would provide, so the expenditures could not be justified.

On Feb. 28, 1936, Prime Minister Mackenzie King tabled in the Commons correspondence with Premier Hepburn in which Mr. Hepburn asked the Dominion to propose to Washington that a treaty between the two countries be entered into to provide for diversion of water from Long Lake to Lake Superior, the diverted water to remain the property of the province for power purposes and also to provide for exporting electrical energy in greater quantities from Ontario to the United States. On March 17, 1938, the United States rejected Ontario's proposal.

On May 31, 1938, the United States submitted the draft of a new St. Lawrence waterways treaty which would make provision for diversion of water from Long Lake and steps to protect the scenic beauty of Niagara Falls.

On Aug. 18, 1938, at the opening of the Thousand Islands bridge, President Roosevelt expressed the hope the seaway project would be brought to a successful conclusion.

Three days later Prime Minister Mackenzie King, speaking at Woodbridge, Ont., said the new draft treaty afforded a practical basis for the discussion of the whole situation. On Sept. 22, 1938, Premier Hepburn declined Mr. Mackenzie King's invitation to have technical men of the provincial and Dominion governments confer on power features of the St. Lawrence seaway plan. Premier Duplessis of Quebec congratulated Mr. Hepburn on his opposition to the seaway.

On Nov. 1, 1939, Premier Hepburn announced that because of the war and the need of Ontario industries to be geared up to wartime production, requiring more electric energy, he had withdrawn his opposition to the seaway project and the same day it was revealed in Ottawa negotiations had been in progress for a month between the two governments.

Split New Power Between Nations

Ottawa—(CP)—Engineers' estimates indicate that the power development in the Internation section of the St. Lawrence River, that section from Prescott to Cornwall, if the Seaway project is completed, would be about 2,200,000 horsepower. New York State would get half and Ontario hydro electric the other half. The peak production would be somewhat higher in the summer than in the winter.

Beauharnois, in the Soulanges section of the project, between Lake St. Francis and Lake St. Louis in Quebec province in now producing about 320,000 horsepower. If the seaway project goes through the Beauharnois power canal would also be a navigation canal. The increase in power production at Beauharnois, owned by a private company, would depend on the amount of water it was permitted to use. If the entire flow of the river passed into an enlarged canal, it would be possible to produce about 1,8[illegible]0,000 horsepower. In the Lachine section, engineers say there is no immediate plan for increasing power production if the seaway becomes a fact.

This May be The Answer

The mystery of the disappearance of millions of passenger pigeons from the North American continent in the eighties of the last century has never been solved. Oldtimers, and there are few of them now, used to tell of flocks of these pigeons that were so large as to darken the sky. In Michigan, where they nested, limbs of trees were snapped off by their sheer weight. The early settlers lived on these birds, and needlessly slaughtered them. Came the time when they were no more on this continent. It was believed they had died of disease or had been decimated in a storm at sea.

However, Adventure Magazine of the latest issue contains a letter from a man in Chile who claims that he has just shot two bagsful of passenger pigeons. According to this man, the pigeons do not leave South America and number hundreds of thousands.

Ornithologists are now expected to study the Chile claims of passenger pigeons in that country. They may learn that the passenger pigeon has not disappeared at all, but that it has gone to another continent. —Trenton Courier Advocate.

The Romans Knew it

For a century now the Earl of Sandwich has been credited with one of the most satisfactory inventions in human history. Because he used to call for a slab of meat between two pieces of bread when he was too busy to leave the gambling table for dinner, the sandwich was named after him, and his name was immortalized. It was a queer sort of immortality, but better than none.

Now it appears the National Geographic Society has been investigating the noble earl's claims and finds them spurious. It finds that the Romans ate meat between bread two thousand years ago. They didn't call them sandwiches, never having heard of the noble lord, but they knew them under the name of offula, the diminutive form of offa, meaning a bit or morsel.—Vancouver Sun.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Epilepsy and Heredity

Although attacks of epilepsy can be prevented entirely in many cases and can be reduced in number and severity in others, there are still some cases in which attacks occur despite the usual, routine treatment. This treatment is the cutting down on all starch foods and on all liquids, increasing the amount of fat foods, and the daily use of phenobarbital in the dose prescribed by the physician.

The fact that a great many cases give a family history of epilepsy—father, mother, uncle, aunt, grandparents—has made many young men and women hesitate about getting married because of attacks of epilepsy in themselves or relatives.

Physicians are often asked to advise young men and women whether it would be wise to marry when there is a family history of epilepsy. This is often difficult because epilepsy is sometimes caused by injury, and there may be the history of but one case as far back as the family history can be traced.

Dr. W. G. Lennox, Dr. F. A. Gibbs, and Erna L. Gibbs, Boston, in the Journal of the American Medical Association state that although the opinion that heredity is an important influence in epilepsy is widespread, only one epileptic person in five is able to name any relatives who had or has epilepsy. By means of electric equipment they were able to record on paper the brain waves of 128 persons, parents or children of 78 persons with epilepsy, and 50 healthy persons.

"Definitely abnormal records of tracings were obtained in 54 per cent of the relatives of epileptics against 6 per cent in the 50 healthy persons (control group), who were not related to epileptics. In forty six of the 78 families, records were made of both parents. In 28 per cent both parents and in 94 per cent at least one per cent had abnormal records."

From the above records, these research workers believe that the abnormal rhythm or regularity of brain waves is "inheritable" and may represent a predisposition to epilepsy or similar ailments.

This information, together with other information regarding the nervous or mental condition of young people should help the physician when asked to give advice regarding marriage.

How a Low Death Rate in Appendicitis was Obtained

"The 1800 deaths every year in the United States from appendicitis are quite unnecessary. Early diagnosis (discovery of cause of symptoms) and prompt treatment for appendicitis should reduce the deaths to almost nothing."

I am quoting Drs. J. Shelton Horsley, J. Shelton Horsley, Jr., and Guy W. Horsley, Richmond, Va., in the Journal of the American Medical Association. When we think of the continued high death rate despite greater knowledge now available regarding appendicitis, the above statement by Drs. Horsley should be carefully considered.

Why is the death rate still high?

A large percentage of patients with a ruptured or gangrenous appendix operated on at St. Elizabeth's Hospital have had a purgative for indigestion or abdominal pain. An "early" appendicitis with a purgative or an enema becomes "late" and gangrenous in twenty-four hours."

Yet, as we think of the great number of individuals with a pain in the abdomen, who for years have obtained relief from this pain by the use of purgatives or enemas we may wonder if this warning about the danger of purgatives is justified. The results obtained by the routine treatment at St. Elizabeth's Hospital do justify this warning. Since January 1st. 1931, routine treatment has been:—

1. Immediate operation is done as soon as appendicitis is proven, no matter what the stage of the disease.
2. The appendix is always removed; not one has been left in.
3. The tissues are handled gently, suction used instead of gauze sponges.
4. Stump of appendix is tied, removed and disinfected.
5. Rest for digestive tract is effected by cutting down on food by mouth.

In the period January 1st., 1931, to May 1st., 1939, 872 patients have been operated on. Every patient with acute appendicitis or peritonitis from appendicitis was operated on immediately. Of the 972 cases, there were 621 cases without peritonitis, 119 with peritonitis, and 231 chronic cases. Of the 972 cases there were only six deaths.

When we realize that there were only six deaths in nearly one thousand cases of appendicitis — two of every 3 cases being acute it makes a great case for early operation in appendicitis.

Notwithstanding the above, there are still some cases in which waiting treatment must be used.

LIST OF MISSING

Representatives of the Line and of companies which had insured the Orazio went aboard the rescue vessels to talk to survivors and question Captain Schiano on the cause of the disaster.

Enrique Forero, a survivor, disclosed that he and his wife and two children had been rescued from The Netherlands liner Simon Bolivar when it was sunk by a mine in the North Sea last Nov. 18, and expressed joy that their luck still held.

Cause Undetermined

Line officials, still without information on the cause of the fire which enveloped the 11,889-ton Orazio Sunday as it proceeded from Genoa en route to Barcelona and Valparaiso, Chile, were hopeful that survivors aboard the Conte Biancamano could shed some light.

The Orazio's second officer Giorello, among 46 survivors landed at Marseille by a French warship, said the fire followed an engine room explosion.

"I think about four or five men were trapped in the engine room," he said.

Giorello said he was not sure what had become of one lifeboat which hte French warship was unable to pick up and which was reported to have carried Renato Firenze, Italian Minister to Panama. The French Admiralty at Toulon, however, advised the Italian Consul General that all lifeboats had been found and all passengers saved.

Not Able to Confirm Report

Line officials said they were unable to confirm French reports that only some of the enginemen were missing.

(In Paris, French officials denied a dispatch by the German News Agency DNB, which they said implied the French were guilty of sabotage on the Orazio.

(The French statement said, "DNB asserts that the fire of which the Italian boat was a victim broke out almost immediately after she had been boarded by the French Control Commission. This odius interpretation, coming from a country whose naval war methods systematically violate international laws and human feelings, has provoked a contemptuous indignation in Paris.

("In reality, it was not at that moment when the fire broke out, but 24 hours after the Italian boat submitted to the right of a normal visit practiced on all ships).

Daily War Survey

By The Canadian Press

The reserve with which Winston Churchill's blunt speech on Saturday was received in some neutral capitals may spring in part from fear of the influence it may have in Nazi Germany. Churchill warned the neutrals the war would extend in both northern and southern Europe and their hope for security lay with the Allies.

No doubt many neutrals are as well aware of this as Mr. Churchill but if they admitted it frankly they would simply be inviting immediate German aggression. The Nazis would no longer have a motive for respecting their neutrality.

So far no neutral state has called a man to the colors, raised a single fort, bought a single gun because of fear of Great Britain or France. All the expensive preparations Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Norway and Sweden are making for the defence of their territory is due to fear of Germany or Russia.

Their security so far as the Allies are concerned rests primarily in the principles of International law and simple justice which guide the governments of Great Britain and France and secondly on the fact that neither Great Britain or France could gain any appreciable advantage by attacking them.

The Nazi regime frankly operates on the principle that the advantage of the nation should be pursued regardless of the rights of either individuals or other nations. So does the Communist regime in Moscow. Because it was considered of advantage to Russia to control certain points on the Gulf of Finland, the independence of the Finnish nation was attacked and thousands of individual Finns and Russians killed.

The unrestricted application of that principle means destruction for any small nation which may be or contain anything of any value to a large nation. It is against that principle that the Allies are fighting. The immediate cause of the present war was the application of the principle to Poland. A contributing cause was its application to Czecho-Slovakia and no neutral state wants to suffer the fate of Poland or Czecho-Slovakia.

CANADIAN YOUTH TOLD OF PROBLEMS FACING THEM

Principal Wallace Urges English- and French-Speaking Peoples to Know One Another—Obstacles Are Emotional Rather Than Economic—Much Thinking to be Done by Nations Including Canada After War is Over

The Quinte Winter School held its first evening session last night in Bridge Street Church. President H. A. Mellon was in charge and devotions were conducted by Rev. Gordon Maxwell. Students of the Winter School were ushers, and the choir of the church with Alec Gordon at the organ and Miss Leona Riggs, conducting, sang A Prayer of Thanksgiving" by Kremser.

As a tribute to the speaker of the evening, Principal R. C. Wallace of Queen's University, with which Albert College is affiliated, Principal Dr. Bert Howard, staff and students, about 100 altogether, attended in a body from Albert.

Principal Wallace was introduced by Rev. Dr. James Semple, pastor of the church as one who "had distinguished himself as an Educationist, a geologist, a reverent scholar in pursuit of truth, and a devout churchman of whom the United Church was justly proud."

Principal Wallace took for his subject "Canadian Youth and Their Relationship to Religion." In a graphic introduction, depicting the glories of the regions across Canada, he said older Canadians who knew their country had a great advantage over youth. One Educator from Scotland, after seeing Mt. Robson had said, "You Canadians who live under such grandeur, cannot fail to have good thoughts." He urged the young folk to rise to the grandeur of Nature in their own lives.

Racial Contributions

He added that the contributions made by racial elements in Canada, French, Welsh, U. E. Loyalists, and folk from Europe were a weaving together of many colored strands of great intrinsic worth. It was from the north country, however, that the soul of Canada would in the main derive its sustenance, he believed.

Canada was a country to be proud of, but it had problems, youth would have to face. Nature had made the grain run North and South, and it was hard to run against Nature. The Fathers of Confederation had planned for East and West. After 40 years, Goldwin Smith is seen to be wrong and Principal Grant right. The path of Canadian progress does not lie with the United States because the temper of the people has triumphed over physical difficulties of geography.

Three Problems

The Principal then presented to the Young People three main difficulties they would have to look at straight in the face. First, the English and French haven't mixed! We do not know them nor their exquisite literature. "We ought to know it." We cannot solve the problem, or work more cooperatively together, until we know each other better. The obstacles are 'emotional' rather than economic, he said. The second problem he would have youth face was the finding of a common ground in economic interests rising out of various zones in Canada. Tariff Zones were not feasible, so it 'must be a compromise.'

The last problem arose out of over-expansion in pre-depression days because of which Canada would go forward very slowly. Canada is becoming more and more conscious of the part it had to play in the Commonwealth of Nations. "It is my judgment," he said, "that whether the U. S. A. goes finally to war or not, it must play a great part in the final peace." "Canada would play a considerable part in moulding opinion across the line." "I can think of no greater challenge than this Canada of yours."

He concluded a moving appeal for the "Civitas Dei"—'the City of God.'

'A nation is made greater by the publicity of its vision than by its material possessions.'

Religion means a great deal at this time. We can't establish peace without its 'good neighbours' ideal. It's your task not so much to make peace as to remove the cause of war."

Hitler had to go—because his word could not be trusted. After that what next? he asked. We must sit down and see how far it was possible to go in meeting their demands."

There'll be a lot of thinking to be done after the war is over.

He told the Young People that their function in this Canada was to go forward, in the Spirit of the Christian Religion, looking beyond the physical need and skill, to the ultimate 'end' of this country of ours, which is to be a leader of peace among the nations that the Kingdom of God may come on earth. He warned them that it would come slowly.

Leslie Pickering is South Hastings Choice For Boys' Parliament

Stirling — On Thursday evening last about fifty boys representing organizations and classes in Foxboro, Wallbridge, Marsh Hill, Springbrook, Belleville and Stirling gathered at St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, for the purpose of reviving interest in Hastings County in the activity of Tuxis Square and Trail Ranger work. An interesting program was provided followed by classes in gymnastic and basketball tournaments in the gymnasium of the Stirling high school under the direction of Mr. Mundy.

Elected by acclamation Leslie Pickering of Belleville, will officially represent South Hastings at the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament. Mr. Roy Juby, of Stirling, ex-member for this constituency, presided over the meeting which included addresses by Rev. W. J. Scott, Rev. W. H. V. Walker of Stirling, and Rev. Harding of Springbrook. An interesting display of Tuxis Square work and Trail Ranger activity was performed by a group from Bridge Street United Church, Belleville, under the leadership of Mr. D. W. Moore, who also addressed the gathering. Vincent Massey, a Trail Ranger from Belleville, capably recited the Tuxis code and promise and presented the Scripture reading during the service.

Basketball Tournament

At the close of the meeting the group took part in a basketball tournament on the floor of the new Stirling high school gymnasium with the boys of the local group proving themselves the best in the play. Other interesting items on the program was the Trail Ranger report on Parliament and musical numbers offered by Morley Clark and Don Francis.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Scott spent Sunday visiting friends in Peterboro, where the former occupied the pulpit of St. Mark's United Church to enable Rev. E. W. Rowland to be present at Stirling.

Swiss Statesman, G. Motta, 69, Dies

Berne, Jan. 23—(AP)—Switzerland's elder statesman, Giuseppe Motta, 69, died early today.

Five times president and a member of the Government since 1911, Motta was chief of the Swiss Political Department at his death.

One of Switzerland's most widely known leaders, he also served the country abroad as foreign minister and league of nations delegate. He headed the league assembly in 1924.

The son of a hotel keeper, Motto was educated at Friborg, Munich and Heidelberg universities. He had guided the country's foreign policy since 1919 as political department head and served as president of the federal council, national government body, in 1915, 1920, 1927 and 1937. He was vice-president five terms.

Motto successfully opposed all attempts at Swiss recognition of the Soviet union.

St. Thomas Church Holds Annual Vestry Meeting

The annual meeting of the vestry of the Church of St. Thomas was held in the Parish House Monday evening. The vicar, the Rev. Rural Dean A. Beauchamp Payne, presided and Mr. Norman E. Edwards acted as vestry clerk. The report submitted by the people's warden, Mr. W. E. Burrowes, showed that progress had been made during the year and the reports of the various organizations in connection with the parish were very satisfactory.

The vicar re-appointed Mr. L. C. Pattrick as his warden and the vestry re-elected Mr. W. E. Burrowes as the People's Warden. The following were elected to compose the executive council: Messrs P. W. Geen, F. W. Potter, G. A. Beare, H. A. Singer, Frank Codling, F. A. Cory and R. P. Cretney. The wardens and the six representatives to Synod are also members of the executive council. Mr. J. G. Skelcher and Mr. Wilson Bird were elected representatives to the Diocesan Synod for a term of three years; the other representatives to Synod whose terms have not expired are Lt.-Col. E. A. Geen, Lt.-Col. T. Y. Wills, Mr. Norman E. Edwards and Mr. W. E. Burrowes. Miss Amy Wallbridge was appointed envelope secretary. Mr. J. W. Davison and Mr. Norman E. Edwards were elected auditors.

Votes of thanks were passed to all the parish organizations.

Railwaymen Present Memorandum to Hon. W. L. Houck at Niagara

Of interest to the large membership of the local affiliate railway employees in Belleville and district is the following which appeared in the Niagara Falls Evening Review of January 18th., in connection with a deputation from the Central Executive of the Affiliated Railwaymen's Organizations of Ontario who met the Hon. W. L. Houck.

"Hon. W. L. Houck met a deputation from the Affiliated Railwaymen's Organizations of Ontario and they presented a memorandum in reference to a report of the Royal Commission on Transportation of which Mr. Justice Chevier was chairman.

The spokesman, W. J. Meagher, vice-president of the organization, presented an able case and after listening to the submissions, Mr. Houck expressed himself as convinced of the justice of the recommendations contained in the report. Messrs. Huston of London, Wigglesworth of Stratford, Brackner of Toronto and Ford of Brockville, completed the deputation."

ST. ANDREW'S Y.P.S.

The Presbyterian Young People held their weekly meeting in the Sunday School room of St. Andrew's Church last evening.

The meeting opened by singing "Unto the House of God", followed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Walker. The Scripture lesson was read by Robert Aman.

A quartet made up of Jessie Cunningham, Dorothy Carre, Albert Hillman and Robert Kidd, from the Glee Club, favoured the society with a beautiful selection entitled "Saviour Thy Dying Love".

Miss Lenna Ewenson gave the secretary's report on the work the Young People had attained during the past year and the achievements they hope to make in 1940.

An interesting address on "The Mead Johnson Company of Canada Limited" was given by Robert Kidd. His address was divided into three groups, namely:

1—The history of the company.
2—Ethical Policy.
3—Infant feeding.

The Company being founded in 1909 by Edward Johnson, a lawyer, of New Jersey city. In 1922 the company first established its Canadian post in Toronto, and in 1925 it was in Belleville.

The quartet again sang "Jesus calls us o'er the Tumult". The meeting closed by singing "God save the King" and repeating The Lord's Prayer.

REV. DR. RICHARDS RECEIVES CALL TO LONDON CHURCH

Minister of Grace United Church, Napanee, Unanimous Choice

OFFICES IN CHURCH

Graduate of Albert College, Dr. Richards Has Held Many Posts in United Church

Napanee, Ont., Jan. 23 (CP) — Rev. Dr. R. T. Richards, Minister of Grace United Church, Napanee, for the past six and a half years, has received a unanimous call to the Centennial United Shurch, London, to succeed the Rev. W. B. Craw who has been invited to Brantford.

A native of Northumberland county, he received his high school education in Brighton and attended Albert College, Belleville, winning the Governor General's silver medal in his final year.

He then attended Victoria College and Toronto University, graduating in 1914 and was received into the Bay of Quinte conference of the Methodist Church at Oshawa in 1915. He has held charges at Thomasburg, Castleton, Cavan, Peterborough (Mark St.) and Port Perry.

Former President of Bay Conference

In 1923 he received the degree Bachlor of Divinity from Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, and in 1938 was honored by Victoria College with the degree of Doctor of Divinity. He was elected President of the Bay of Quinte Conference in June 1936 and is also a Past President of the Bay of Quinte Summer and Winter School and was treasurer of the conference for 10 years. He has served on the Executive Council of the United Church and on the National Executive of the Missionary and Maintenance Fund also on the Board of Publications of the United Church and for the past eight years has been a member of the Board of Regents of Victoria University.

Netherlands' Protests Sent to Belligerents

Amsterdam, Jan. 23—(AP)—New Netherlands protests against violation of her borders by belligerent planes have been delivered to Germany and Great Britain.

Authorities said a Royal Air Force craft flew over Gorkum, 20 miles west of Rotterdam, yesterday afternoon. In London, the Air Ministry denied the charge.

The representation to Berlin was made after a Nazi plane was reported fired on by Netherlands anti-aircraft batteries and pursuit planes.

Negro Citizens Barred From Seeing Film

Washington Jan. 23 (AP) — A picket line in front of the theatre failed last night to keep Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the President from attending the premiere of the motion picture, "Abe Lincoln in Illinois."

The pickets, both negroes and white persons, protested against the theatre's barring negroes. "Negro citizens may not see the picture of the great emancipator," read one of their signs.

The management explained it always had been the practice of theatres here not to admit negroes.

"I'm sorry I have to go through a picket line," said Mrs. Roosevelt.

Four United States cabinet ministers also attended the premiere, starring Raymond Massey, Toronto-born actor, in the title role.

JAMES CROMWELL U. S. MINISTER TO CANADA ARRIVES

Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell Met at Ottawa by Large Delegation of Officials

HIGHLY HONORED

Couple Will Take Up Residence at the U.S. Legation in Rockcliffe Park

Ottawa, Jan. 23—(CP)—Smiling, youthful-appearing James R. H. Cromwell, wealthy husband of the richest girl in the world, came to Ottawa today to take office as the United States minister to Canada, a post which, except for three months last summer, has been vacant more than two years.

The new minister was accompanied by his attractive wife, the former Doris Duke. A large group of legation and government officials met the Cromwells at the railway station and the concourse was well filled with Ottawa people who warmly cheered the newcomers.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and members of his staff, Sir Shuldham Redfern, Secretary to Governor General Lord Tweedsmuir, and John Farr Simmons, Charge D'Affaires of the United States legation, were among those at the station.

Greatly Honored

"I feel greatly honored to have been appointed by the president to represent the United States at Ottawa in this momentous period in the history of our two countries," Mr. Cromwell said in a statement prepared for the press.

"In taking up my duties here, I am deeply sensible of the responsibility which rests upon all of us, whether in private or in public life, to preserve and wherever possible to strengthen the foundations upon which our enduring friendship has been built.

"It is inevitable that the war should affect many phases of Canadian-American relations, particularly in the economic and financial sphere. This process, which has already become evident, will give rise to many questions, but I am wholly confident that these will be determined in the same spirit of goodwill and understanding which has been the hall-mark of our relations for over a century."

Travelled First Class

The Cromwells travelled in an ordinary first class parlor car of the local train from Montreal where they arrived early this morning from New York. They stepped from the train into brilliant sunshine which somewhat softened the bite of near zero temperature.

Apparently indifferent to the cold, Mr. and Mrs. Cromwell, with the Prime Minister and Sir Shuldham, posed indulgently for many pictures and chatted with those who came to greet them.

An all-round athlete and well known amateur boxer, the new minister said he had never learned to ski but intended to start at the first opportunity. He is 43 years old and Mrs. Cromwell is 27.

No Press Comment

Mr. Cromwell said he would not discuss official matters with the press until he had time to acquaint himself with his new responsibilities.

The new minister and Mrs. Cromwell left at once for the United States legation residence in Rockcliffe Park which will be their home during their stay in Ottawa.

Mr. Cromwell is heir of the wealthy Stotesbury family and his wife is heiress to the $50,000,000 Duke tobacco fortune. The minister was first married to Delphine Dodge of Chicago from whom he was divorced. He was married to Doris Duke in 1935.

Dressed in Mink Coat

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—(CP)—Warm in a mink coat, mink-haloed hat and velvet goloshes with a heath-mixture scarf, Mrs. James H. R. Cromwell stepped off the train here today with her Minister-husband, the new United States representative to Canada, gazed at the snow-heaped capital and seemed indifferent to the near-zero weather.

The half-dozen women from the American Legation staff at the station to greet her shivered in the wintry cold but the blonde American heiress smilingly remarked, "It doesn't seem so cold here as in Montreal, it's terribly cold there". It was four below in Montreal.

Mrs. Cromwell is tall and very slight and walks with a swinging grace. Her blonde hair curls naturally around her face, falling to her shoulders. She wears a lot of lipstick and her complexion is very fair. Her ensemble was all-brown and she carried a plain alligator leather bag.

The famed "richest girl in the world", looks as though she would break into a chuckle any minute, but she says very little.

"I think one member of the family is enough to give interviews", she said.

VARIED PROGRAM BY SENIOR B.Y.P.U.

The Senior B.Y.P.U. of Victoria Avenue Church enjoyed a varied programme at their regular weekly meeting Monday evening. Slides depicting the work and aims of the Interprovincial Cabinet were shown and explanatory text read by Miss Edith Looker. The President, Mr. John Jury, made an appeal for better understanding of foreign missions and he gave a revealing outline of the work and hardships encountered at one particular station in Burma. Scripture reading was given by Miss Edna Jobson. Mr. Arthur Snare pleased the assembly with several elections on his piano-accordian. Closing prayer was offered by Mr. Alan Haw.

Ald. Eddie Logan Named Chairman Industrial Commission

At a meeting of the Industrial Commission held on Monday afternoon, Ald. Eddie Logan was unanimously elected as chairman of the Commission for the coming year. Robert Martin was named as vice president and J. O. Herity as secretary-treasurer. The members of the Commission are the officers and Jack McIntosh, P. H. Wills, George Reid, Arthur Young, with ex-officio members Mayor Thompson, Manager of Public Utilities, president of the Chamber of Commerce, chairman of Industries and the Industrial Commissioner. The Commission will meet on the first Friday of every month during the year.

WAR BRIEFS

Helsingfors, Jan. 23 (AP)—Soviet bombing planes approached Helsingfors today but were driven off by Finnish anti-aircraft fire.

An air alarm sounded at 2:30 p.m. (7.30 a.m. EST), but the all-clear signal came half an hour later.

Rovaniemi, in North Central Finland, had an air raid alarm about noon.

Berlin, Jan. 23 (AP)—The German high command communique today said:

"In the border region southeast of Primasens a scouting troop without any losses took several prisoners. Besides the captives, the enemy lost numerous dead.

"The navy also during the past week successfully conducted mercantile warfare in the North Sea, Atlantic and Baltic. Activity of minesweeping and patrol boat units also was carried out on schedule."

Montevideo, Jan. 23 (AP)—The council of Ministers approved today the Uruguayan government's bill to contribute 100,000 pesos (about $65,800) to the aid of Finland. The bill now goes to Congress.

London, Jan 23 (CP Cable) — Overseas gifts to the Lord Mayor's Red Cross Fund for the sick and wounded of the war today reached 201,000 pounds ($894,000).

Lord Huntingfield, Chairman of the overseas appeal section, announced the total does not include Canada's vote of $100,000.

Shanghai Jan. 23 (CP-Havas) —Leaders of Japan's several puppet governments in China met at Tsingtao today in an effort to agree on formation of a central regime under Wang Ching-Wei, while excitement over the Japanese terms allegedly accepted by Wang continued unabated.

The terms were published by two former subordinates of Wang who have since broken with him. They give Japan a large measure of control over essential services and provide for maintenance of Japanese garrisons in Chinese cities.

Brussels, Jan. 23 (AP).—Belgian police have searched the offices of two pro-German newspapers in Eupen and the houses of a retired policeman and a member of the pro-German organization, Heimat Front. This action was taken yesterday after a Flemish Nationalist was arrested in Louvain on charges of spying. He was believed to have lived in the house of the retired policeman at Eupen and been in close touch with the Heimat Front and the two newspapers.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Jan. 23 (CP-Havas).—A Berlin dispatch to the newspaper Politiken today said many German soldiers have been deprived of leave because of the disruption of railway schedules resulting from the intense cold and a shortage of coal.

Locomotives have been put out of service because of frozen brakes and numerous trains have been stalled along lines blocked by derailments, the dispatch said.

London, Jan. 23 (CP).—Capture of the 619-ton German steamship Phaedra by a warship last week was announced by the Admiralty today.

The Admiralty listed four British ships totalling 23,843 tons, 11 neutrals totalling 35,245 tons, and three German ships, as the week's losses.

The other German ships were the Albert Janus, 1,598 tons, scuttled Jan. 15, and the August Thyssen, 2,342 tons, sunk by a Swedish mine.

Helsingfors, Jan. 23 (AP). — The newspaper Helsingin Sanomat today reported that Russian naval forces in the Gulf of Finland had sunk three or four Estonian fishing boats which were attempting to bring volunteers to Finland.

28-Below Zero At Bancroft

Bancroft, Jan. 23—(Special)—Last night the temperature in Bancroft was 28 degrees below zero.

Mr. and Mrs. James Maxwell and family accompanied by Mrs. Wilfred Maxwell left this morning for a vacation in Florida.

Rev. and Mrs. T. A. Gordier motored to Guelph this morning to visit the latter's mother who is ill.

Mrs. John Kelusky is confined to her bed through illness.

Earl Browder Also Fined $2,000 Terms His Conviction "a Great Honor"

New York, Jan. 23. —(AP) —The government, pursuing its drive against Federal Law violations that might have foreign implications, added to its list today the conviction of Earl Browder on passport fraud charges—a conviction the Communist leader said was "but one movement in the drive toward war".

Browder was silent yesterday as he left the courtroom where he had been sentenced to four years in prison and fined $2,000 but he went to Madison Square Garden Lenin Memorial rally a few hours later to lash out against the United States Government.

Browder, native of Kansas State and head of the American Communist Party, heard his verdict after a four-day trial and a 45-minute jury deliberation. He was convicted on each of two counts that might have brought him ten years in prison.

His bail of $7,500 was continued until tomorrow when he must appear for approval of new bond pending an appeal.

At the Lenin mass meeting Browder termed his conviction a "Great Honor".

"The verdict is but one movement in the drive toward war," he said.

Garden Filled to Capacity

The 20,000 capacity garden was filled to hear the man who served a prison term for draft dodging during the last war and who was his party's presidential candidate in 1936.

After his speech, the rally by a rising vote adopted a resolution declaring his conviction was "a verdict not only against Earl Browder but against all Americans who cherish peace, freedom and well-being".

It pledged, also, an "uncompromising struggle to keep Earl Browder free—free to work for peace, for well-being, for the Socialist reorganization of Society".

At his trial, the defence offered no witnesses and Browder, calling himself a correspondence-school lawyer, argued his own case.

He was warned several times from the Bench to stick to evidence and it was this he referred to when he told his Garden audience that he was "prohibited from speaking except within the limits laid down by the judge. Above all, I was prohibited from discussing the motives of the prosecution."

2-Mill Tax Increase Indicated in Toronto

Toronto, Jan. 23—(AP)—A two-mill increase on the tax rate, establishing the mill rate at over 36 mills —an all-time record—was indicated by Mayor Ralph Day today.

"Unfavorable factors aggregate an almost two-mill increase," the mayor declared. "There are certain offsetting favorable features such as reduction in debt charges of more than $600,000.

"It is nevertheless true that the unfavorable balances are much in excess of the favorable factors. Board of Control and Council, therefore, have a real task ahead of them."

MAIL PILOT CREDITED WITH SAVING LIFE

Leamington, Ont., Jan. 23—(CP) —Thomas Higgins, mail pilot on the run from Leamington to Pelee Island, was credited today with saving the life of Bert Hooper, suffering from appendicitis.

Higgins flew Hooper back to the mainland yesterday through a blinding snowstorm, the plane being the only means of transport over the straits at this time of year. Hooper, taken to hospital and operated on, was reported in good condition.

St. JULIEN CHAPTER, I.O.D.E. SPONSORS CARD PARTY

St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E., held a very successful bridge and euchre party on Monday evening, at the I.O.O.F. Temple with a very large attendance. The proceeds were entirely for the war work of the chapter. During the evening delicious refreshments were served. The officers and members of the chapter express their thanks to those who helped to make the event so marked a success.

ITALIANS INTEND TO INCREASE EFFICIENCY

Personnel of Army, Navy and Air Force to be Improved

PENSION SYSTEM

Number of Officers to be Increased for Modern Warfare

Rome, Jan. 23 (AP) — A series of measures intended to increase the efficiency of Italy's army, navy and air force personnel while improving their economic condition has been adopted by the cabinet.

In its last three meetings, with Premier Mussolini presiding, the cabinet has approved provisions for improving the pension system and increasing the number of officers trained for modern warfare.

Approval was given to a draft law for increased training of reserve officers who would serve in the front lines in case of war.

Recruiting of second lieutenants for the army under another draft law would be restricted to men with actual war experience or special preparation.

Airmen were promised further pension benefits and more rapid promotion.

An honor roll was created for soldiers wounded or ailing as a result of any military service instead of actual warfare as heretofore.

Gunman Sought After Failure to Holdup Bank

Monday's Attempt Followed Less Than Two Weeks After $900 Robbery

Baden, Ont., Jan. 23 (CP) —Provincial police today led an extensive search for the gunman who failed in an attempt to hold up the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce last evening, less than two weeks after the bank was robbed of $900 in a daring daylight robbery.

The armed bandit entered the manager's apartment above the bank and forced the manager L. E. Miller, to bind his wife, then took the manager downstairs at the point of a gun and forced him to open the bank vault.

While the two were down in the bank, however, Mrs. Miller freed herself and attracted the attention of Postmaster H. E. Schumm across the street. He sounded the village fire siren and as the fire reels and a crowd of villagers rushed up the bandit fled on foot.

The villagers caught up to the bandit as he reached his car, parked some distance from the bank, but the thug fired a volley of shots and then drove away at a fast clip.

Three cars set out in pursuit of the bandit but failed to catch him, and police warned highway points to be on the lookout.

Woman's Return From Germany Echoed in Commons

London, Jan. 23—(CP)— The furore over the recent return of Unity Freeman-Mitford, English admirer of Adolf Hitler, from Germany echoed today in the House of Commons.

War Secretary Oliver Stanley in response to questions said only normal wartime precautions were taken at Folkestone Jan. 3, except for two extra sentries, when she was brought back on a stretcher.

As far as the military authorities were concerned no special expense was involved, Mr. Stanley said.

Miss Freeman-Mitford, daughter of Lord Redesdale, had a bandaged neck when she arrived at the channel port. There were unconfirmed reports she was suffering from a bullet wound.

RED CROSS SHIPS 100 BALES FOR C.A.S.F.

Toronto, Jan. 23—(CP) — The Canadian Red Cross Society today shipped 100 cases and bales of clothing and medical supplies to Great Britain for distribution among Canadian Active Service Force units and wherever else required. In addition 17 bundles of clothing were dispatched for evacuated British children.

The Red Cross also announced that large shipments of clothing and medical supplies will be shipped to Poland and Finland within a week.

WEDDINGS

BOWLER—POTTS

Knox Presbyterian Church, Ottawa, was the scene of a quiet wedding at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon of Winnifred Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potts, to Mr. Frank Harry Bowler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bowler, of Trenton, Ontario. Very Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by her sister, Miss Florence Janet Potts, as bridesmaid. Mr. Gordon Campbell Macdonald was best man.

Miss Lilian Jeans presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register played "The Prayer Perfect" very softly.

A two-piece Redingote costume of rust shade was worn by the bride, with a matching hat. She wore brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of rust shade orchids.

The bridesmaid was in mist green shade, with a black feathered hat, and wore crimson roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception for the immediate relatives only was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Bowler left on a short wedding trip. The bride wore a Hudson seal coat over her costume. They will take up residence in Ottawa upon their return.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects, this should be a very busy day. There may be many tenacious obstacles, probably delays and disappointments. These may best be side-stepped by diligence and determination, and the use of tact or subtlety in handling dangerous and difficult opposition. This applies especially to deals with employers, superiors or those in power. The dubious situations may have reactions on the personal life, where something is likely to "split open" suddenly. Be guided by intuitions and read papers cautiously.

Those whose birthday it is may be ready for a lively and challenging year, with much of a stubborn or thwarting nature to stimulate hard work and good judgment. Keen impressions or intuitions might serve better than orthodox promptings. Also be cautious with papers. The dubious conditions also react in private affairs.

A child born on this day, although deep, studious, reserved, secretive and mistrustful, may succeed through its native intuitions or possibly "psychic hunches." A training in strict integrity would not be amiss.

An Eye For Line And Color

By HELEN FOLLETT

THAT WOMAN who is blessed with the artist's eye for line and color is not likely to make mistakes in get-up or dress. Not for her is the fire engine lipstick, the blazing cheek rouge or hair whose off-shade advertises hazardous contacts with the dye pot. Her clothes will be friendly because the colors are flattering. The shape of her hat will edify the profile. Stockings and shoes will be suitable; dark if measurements of legs and feet are too ample; of lighter shades if they are small.

Women who can't get away from drab tones are cursed with color fear, which they should make every effort to overcome. They belong to the age when the melancholy beauty was every novelist's delight and gay dressing wasn't quite respectable. More colorful clothes would make them younger and happier; dress has an effect upon spirits.

Soft blue atop a golden crown brings out vividly the beauty of blue eyes, as old rose makes brown eyes deep and velvety. Blue is a happy choice for the white-haired sisters, as is cerise; all too often they cling to grey and mauve. Black gives the blonde beauty a cameo-like quality; it is also favorable to the appearance of the redhead who can wear jade green with splendor.

Navy blue, the most practical color of all, is suitable for all ages, all types.

Blondes whose locks have tarnished flirt with the idea of bleaching their pretty heads. Our advice is to seek a reliable, experienced specialist who knows about proper timing and the best mediums. It is next to impossible to treat oneself to this presto-change process. There is the danger of over-bleaching, which has a deplorable effect upon the hair shafts, causing them to become dry and easily broken.

Once the bleaching is done, frequent touch ups are necessary to brighten the darkened growth as it pushes forth from the scalp. Only the new growth must be treated. When applications overlap, the color is not uniform.

ANNE SHIRLEY .... exercises an eye for line and color in make-up.

W.C.T.U. Notes

The W.C.T.U. met at the "Y" on Friday, January 19th., with the President, Mrs. Moore, in the chair. Prayer was made for our nation followed by The Lord's Prayer. Mrs. Cole led the devotional reading her lesson "Put on the whole armour of God" from Ephesians. Mrs. S. W. Lloyd, 280 Coleman Street, reported the collection of 14,000 stamps for the Bible Society and requested any persons in the habit of burning stamps, save the same for this cause.

The President then spoke of the address made by Dr. Little in Galt on October 5, 1939, quoting from Shakespeare, as follows "O, thou invincible Spirit of Wine if thou hast no other name to be know by let us call thee the Devil". "O God, that men should put an enemy into their mouths, to steal away their brains, that we should with joy revel and applause, transform ourselves into beasts".

Quotations from the Clip Sheet were—"Only 10 per cent. of the value of beer represent labour, whereas other trades have 60 per cent or 70 per cent. of their value represented by labour".

"In war time personal liberty and personal business is restricted for the sake of the state. Alcoholism is one of the Empire's worst enemies and restrictions are being petitioned."

Mrs. Gartley was made Secretary to receive contributions for Red Cross work.

Mrs. Coulson closed the meeting with prayer.

Fashion Flashes

COVER UP fashions go for the beach too this year. Very new is a costume of deep bright blue slacks with a matching blouse in jersey with long sleeves and high, round neck.

THE SOUTHERN MOON lights up the evening scene and discloses lovely gowns. A wide skirt of blue net with a bodice of blue flowered silver lame makes a lovely dress. The bodice has draping on either side of a very wide V neckline and there are elbow-length sleeves.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Talk to Your Daughter as Woman to Woman

When I get a letter like the following, I sigh for the good old days when Lillian Russell was the leading glamour girl, and daughter spent her evenings at home entertaining her best young man in the back parlor, and about nine o'clock mother sent in a plate of ginger cookies and nice red apples for daughter and her "steady."

But "gone with the wind" are those days, and daughter now is likely to betake herself to a roadhouse to dance and the ginger cookies are replaced with dry martinis or old-fashioneds, or maybe three fingers of straight. Nerve-racking as it is, mother has got to talk to daughter not from the high plane of maternal experience to the young bud unfolding to womanhood, but as woman to woman. And her talk must be straight goods, the facts of life not overlooked.

Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I've been a reader of your column for twenty years or more and am bringing my problem to you, hoping your advice will help me. I have two children, a boy 21 and a girl who will be 20 next month. I've a hard time making my daughter come home on time wrenever she goes out with her boy or girl friends. I allow her five or six hours in which to have a good time, to which she answers: "If you didn't tell me what time to come home, maybe I could make it.".

"The young man she goes out with is twelve years older than she is and has been used to going out with older women. My husband is the children's stepfather, but he is better to them than their own father ever was. In fact, my daughter has seen her own father only once, as we separated a month before she was born. She was reared by her grandparents and has a nice home with her stepfather and me.

"I realize that my own mother and father were pretty strict with me and I couldn't go out very often, but we are not that way with my children. We always welcome their friends at our home, because we want to know who they are. We take them on trips and to good cabarets, so that they may feel hospitable toward their young friends.

"So you see, my husband is really an exception when it comes to being a stepfather. I hate the word. He is so thoughtful and good and wants them to have everything and be happy. He has his own business, and is sending my boy through college.

"My son and daughter have never caused me any serious worry, but if you have any suggestions about my daughter staying out so late, I will be glad to follow them to the leeter, because I trust you.

Anxious Mother"

It's difficult for women of our generation, yours and mine, to keep our daughters from doing what all other girls of her age are doing. You can't set her apart and make her different without doing her more harm than going with her own crowd. But you can talk to her as you would to a woman of your own age.

There is a wide difference between letting a girl go with her own crowd and giving her some personal liberty than denying her the privilege of having any dates at all. The wise modern mother, if she is shocked at the hours her daughter keeps, must try to conceal it, and do her best to teach the girl how to take care of herself in following this new pattern of life.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Party Entrances and Exits

We all know of some of them — the girls and women who "stage an entrance" at parties. They make a great point of thus dramatizing their beauty or their personality or their clothes. We are supopsed to be impressed when these "queens" enter. Maybe we are impressed. Maybe we aren't.

In any event, very often these queens make such a poor exit that it is this awkwardness that remains in our memory. Suddenly they remember that they "must go"....and away they dash with a swish that leaves the hostess and host breathless. Or they start to go....the hostess leaves her guests to go with them to the door....and there the allegedly-departing guest dawdles, begins a long conversation with the hostess....lingers and lingers.

Is it the dramatic entrance or the bad exit that is remembered?

Use Full Title and Name

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I'm going to be married in March. My fiance received his degree of Doctor of Medicine last June. What title should I use before his name on the wedding invitation.... Mr. John Smith or Dr. John Smith?

R.

On your wedding invitation use the title of Doctor before your bridegroom's name. But do not abbreviate this title...spell it in full: Doctor John Allen Smith.

Duties of Groom's Mother

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My daughter is being married soon, and is to have a home wedding in the afternoon. 1. She is wearing a long white dress, with finger-tip veil. Would it be proper for the bride's mother to wear an evening dress of lace? Would the same type dress be suitable for a close friend who will assist with the refreshments afterwards? There will be about fifty guests.

2. Should the groom's mother be asked to assist at the reception? Our family has not yet met her.

Mother.

1. It would not be appropriate for the bride's mother to wear an evening dress at an afternoon wedding even though the wedding is to be a house wedding. But a two-piece ensemble would be appropriate: floor-length lace dress and a short jacket or bolero, either of the same material as the dress or of a harmonizing material, such as a lovely lame or transparent velvet. So if you already have the lace evening dress you wish to wear, you could either have a jacket made of the same lace, or you could easily find a harmonizing jacket.

The friend who is to assist with the refreshment would more suitably wear what the other women guests will probably wear, day dress, street-length.

2. Yes, the bridegroom's mother should be given the honor of being asked to be a member of the receiving line. The fact that you have not yet met her makes no difference in the fact that you should extend her this courtesy You, the bride's mother, the hostess, stand first in the receiving-line. with your husband standing next to you. Then comes the bridegroom's mother (maybe his father too), then the bridegroom. at his right the bride, at her right, her maid or matron of honor, and then the bridesmaids.

Remember that the bridegroom's mother should be given this honor of being in the receiving-line, because, as the bridegroom's mother she is the woman guest of honor of the wedding. (This is also why she and her family and the bridegroom's other relatives and friends stand at the right of the ceremony-place in the house wedding.

Caroline Chatfield Says Today

Wife Can Fight Way to Contentment Although Husband is Frequently AWOL.

I know a woman whose husband deserted her—so to speak—soon after her marriage. Oh! he hung his clothes in the home closet and occasionally had his hat on the home rack. But he was AWOL when she wanted him to take her to a party or help her give a night party or participate with her in the sort of life she would have preferred to live. She realized early in the game that she couldn't count on him when she wanted him most.

Instead of barking her shins and butting her brains out against his selfishness, she struck out to make a life for herself and did. She wouldn't be sold short. She plunged into the community life. She became active in church and civic affairs as well as in social life and she kept abreast of the times by constant reading.

You've guessed the end of the story. As her husband got older he began to value his comfortable home and he stayed in it more and more. He became acquainted with his wife and discovered that she was an entertaining companion. Naturally, if she had sat at home and kept quiet during his absence she wouldn't have been entertaining nor would she have been in a mood to receive him when he came.

Don't suppose her heart didn't ache when she was faced with the disappointment every wife knows when her marriage doesn't pan out perfectly. No doubt her pillow was wet with tears in lonely hours. I know she was agonized with embarrassment when she went to a party alone or phoned a friend to pick her up. But the point is she went, and saw, she conquered. She made friends, worked furiously at her pet charities, informed herself about the doings of the world. And she was rewarded with a rich life and finally with seeing her husband toast his toes by the home fire.

That true story is the answer to the following letter:

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD:

Married fourteen years to an unbearable husband who makes only a fair living, I've had plenty of heartaches along with hard work. My husband gets out about noon and two or three nights a week has pinochle games which consume half the night. I could go on for hours explaining that he is the family playboy and I the family servant. Despite the fact that I am six years younger than he I look years older. Every now and then he wants me to go out and spend the evening but I haven't anything in common with his friends and I don't enjoy the things he enjoys. The truth is I am tired of living and haven't any friends to console me. Just writing about my sorrow gives me relief and I am hoping you can offer me some advice that will help me take hold of life again.

Lamb Neck Slices with Vegetables
Orange and Onion Salad
Dixie Pecan Pie
Coffee

LAMB Neck Slices with Vegetables—Ingredients: four double lamb neck slices, two tablespoons flour, two tablespoons lard, four carrots, one can green beans ,three potatoes, one small head cauliflower, salt and pepper. Have double lamb neck slices cut three-fourths to one inch thick. Dredge these with flour and brown in hot lard. Add one cup water, cover and cook slowly for one hour. Cut carrots, green beans and potatoes in match-like pieces and place in buttered casserole dish. Season. Remove the bones from the neck slices, if they are sufficiently loosened, and place tho slices on top of the vegetables. Pour the liquid from the meat into the casserole, cover and put in a slow oven (300 F.). Cook until the vegetables are done. Cook the cauliflower in boiling water until tender. Before serving place a cauliflower floweret in each cavity made by removing the bones from the neck slices.

Dixie Pecan Pie — Mix pastry dough, roll on board or cloth which has been slightly floured; line pie tin and crimp edges with dough. Pour in following filling made with: three eggs, one tablespoon sugar, two tablespoons flour, two cups dark corn syrup, one teaspoon vanilla extract, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup whole pecan meats. Beat eggs until light, mix sugar and flour, add to eggs and beat well. Add syrup, vanilla, salt and pecans. Bake in moderate oven (375 F.) for 50 minutes.

In Defence of the Tight Lacers

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Have tight corsets proved harmful.

When the present corset fad came in, a wail went up from the crepe hangers and dire results were predicted for this generation as a result of tight lacing.

As I remember it, tight corsets began to be fashionable almost a year ago. Enough time has, therefore, gone by to give us a chance to find out whether these predictions have any real basis. I saw in a magazine this week a long, sad story about the effects which it had on women, with pictures of young girls tightly laced, and showing by the expressions on their faces excruciating anguish.

In a clinic which admits nearly 100,000 patients a year, I find that not one such case has been observed. In two large, fashionable hospitals in New York and one large, fashionable hospital in Chicago, (I emphasize "fashionable" because the alleged victim of the tight-lacing fad would be more likely to terminate here) my inquiries revealed also no real grounds for the fears that had been expressed.

During my professional career I have gone through one other panic of this kind. In an earlier day I used to be requisitioned to pull the strings of my mother's corsets. My father always predicted that this would bring her to an untimely grave. She died at 83.

I once saw, at autopsy, a real lobulated liver—a liver almost cut in half—undoubtedly from the effects of tight lacing. The body was that of a woman of 91 years.

"BEING TICKLISH"
IS A MYSTERY

What does "being ticklish" mean?

This is, indeed, a mystery. The problem consists in explaining why a person will be extremely sensitive to the intrusion of the fingers of another party, while not feeling any discomfort from rubbing himself on the ticklish spots with his own fingers.

The learned Journal of the American Medical Association says, "Most people have what is known as a deep tickling reflex, which is brought about by peripheral stimuli not self-induced and results in laughter. It is elicited by stimulation to the end organs of certain large tendons or aponeuroses, or of the periosteum of certain bones, especially the ribs. The areas in which such pressure produces laughter are the lateral walls of the thorax, axillae, abdomen and iliac fossae."

Laughter seems to be the real crux of the matter because it temporarily diminishes the tonus of all the voluntary muscles. You do not become ticklish unless you laugh. Physiologists have explained that the reason laughter does not occur when the stimulation is self-induced is due to the fact that the individual is not prepared to laugh. Which amounts, I suppose, to saying in non-technical language, that some people are ticklish and some people are not.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

D. M.: " How can I remove nicotine stains from my fingers and lips?"

Answer: The brown stain which occurs on the fingers of chronic smokers is not due to nicotine, which is colorless, turning brown only on aging. Any tobacco when chewed or handled will produce a brown liquid. This is an oily substance and easily becomes embeded or rubbed into the skin. I do not know why such staining occurs more often with cigarette smokers than with cigar smokers. I don't think I have ever seen it with cigar smokers. The best way to avoid it is to wash your hands after each cigarette. The use of petrolatum or wax pomade is about the only way to prevent it, except by pumice stone.

Special Services Of Rededication At Stirling Church

Stirling (Special) — The auditorium of St. Paul's United Church was filled for both morning and evening worship on Sunday when Rev. E. W. Rowland of Peterboro. former pastor of the Stirling church conducted special services of re-dedication which marked the conclusion of reconstruction work on the church building.

Steeple Destroyed by Storm

When the wind storm of last Fall partially destroyed the steeple on the church the construction of a new tower to replace it was undertaken by the congregation and recently this work was completed by Mr. Fred Elgie, local contractor, working to specifications planned by Mr. J. Arnold Thomson of Belleville.

The services Sunday with Rev. E. W. Rowland, former minister as guest speaker, included a brief ceremony of re-dedication conducted by him. Two splendid messages were presented by the speaker who for eight years served the people of the Stirling district in a manner long to be remembered by many friends. The service included special musical renditions by a large choir under the direction of G. L. Clute, organist and choirleader, with solo work by Mrs. F. Jeffrey, soprano, and William Reynolds, baritone.

Choosing his evening text from the book of Haggai, chapter 2, verse 9, "the glory of this latter house shall be greater than of the former," the speaker said, "this was the day in which the glorification of the past and depreciation of the present was most harmful. In spiritual and material things we should look forward to historic days to come and dwell less on past accomplishment." The greatness of the Christian civilization shall never know defeat. "War and strife. Hitler or Stalin will not stay the progress of things Christian. The greatness of its being can only be based upon the viewpoint of those within it."

"Values of homes, churches, and schools are not measured in dollars and cents; any builders can supply figures to give you these costs. But associated with tiny chapels in isolated places are the lives of such men as Livingstone, Sturgeon, Wesley and others who pass on to others the fruits of their mental and spiritual beings, to generations yet unborn. How can mere men estimate the good they shall do? As we re-dedicate an edifice to God we should thank Him and re-dedicate our lives to the cause for which all Christianity is now fighting. May the church of our land ever be a place of Holy worship, a place of righteousness and never transformed to material museums such as exist in lands where Godly things have been placed in the background."

Special Musical Numbers

During both morning and evening worship a full choir rendered special music under the direction of Mr. G. L. Clute, who presided at the organ. Prelude, Offertory and Postlude offerings by Mr. Clute included the work of Schumann, Beethoven and Curlette. The choral numbers included portions from "Penitence, Pardon and Peace" (Maunder) and "Who are These in Bright Array" (Shanks), with Mrs. Frank Jeffrey soprano, and Mr. William Reynolds, baritone, taking the solo parts. During the evening service Mr. Reynolds offered as a baritone solo "Jesus Lover of My Soul" as arranged by MacDougall. Rev. W. H. V. Walker of St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, also assisted in the evening service as both congregations joined in worship on this special occasion.

One of the most important advances in child care in recent years has been the greater attention given to their teeth, and the increased understanding among the lay public of how much a person's health and even appearance depends on the teeth.

We are all aware that children have twenty "baby" teeth which drop out as the second, or permanent teeth come along. Many mothers pay too little attention to the first teeth, perhaps because of a mistaken belief that the fact they're going to drop out any way makes it useless and unnecessary to take care of them.

When a child becomes five and a half or six years old there is a development in the mouth that should be watched for. One day the mother will see that another molar has been added to one side or the other — the sixth year molars have made their appearance. Now, these sixth year molars are very, very important. In fact a dentist friend of mine calls them the cornerstones of the mouth. Too often parents don't notice these at all or simply regard them as some more baby teeth. Yet, if they are neglected and allowed to become bad through lack of care. great harm is done to the child's mouth. These four 6-year molars are just about the most important teeth anyone ever has.

When a child's mouth has grown big enough so there is room for the permanent teeth, the temporary ones become loose. Soon after each baby tooth falls out, the permanent tooth pushes through the

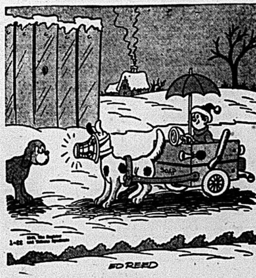
The Dionne Quintuplets are just going through this stage now. Marie lost the first tooth a few weeks ago and now the permanent tooth is showing through the gum. The other girls are going through the same oral change.

While these permanent teeth are coming through and the baby teeth are disappearing, the child still must go on eating and chewing his food. This is what makes the six-year molars so important. Nature provided them for just this emergency. While the sets of teeth are changing, these four molars are the grinders that chew up the food.

But this very important work isn't all these teeth do. They have another purpose in that they act as anchors to the rest of the jaw while the other teeth are developing. Dentists tell me that all too often these very important teeth are neglected until they have to be extracted. When this happens the proper balance and relationship between teeth in the upper and lower jaws is lost and so the whole arrangement of the rest of the permanent teeth is affected too. You can see why some dentists call them the cornerstones of the teeth.

All the baby teeth of every child should be brushed and cared for just as their permanent teeth are later on. I am pleased to note how parents today are making their children take better care of their teeth. I hope their tribe increases. Do you know, by the way, that Shakespeare gave parents a health precept for their children? In Coriolanus you find:

Bid them wash their faces,
And keep their teeth clean.



"Naw, I never bite anybody—He's just a nut on accessories!"

FIVE PASSENGERS

One of Lost Passengers is Leonard Learoyd Who Left London January 12

Batavia, Java, Jan. 23 —(CP—Havas)— Five passengers and three members of the crew were killed yesterday when the plane in which they were travelling from Batavia to Australia crashed into the sea off the island of Bali.

One of the passengers killed was Leonard Learoyd, director of Lustre Fibres Limited, subsidiary of Courtaulds Ltd., textile manufacturers. Learoyd left London Jan. 12 on a business trip to Australia.

Two others were identified as Harper Johnson and a Mrs. Mynlieff, both believed to be Britons.

Recruiting Unit of R.C.A.F. Begins Tour of Province

Ottawa, Jan. 23 ((CP)—A mobile recruiting unit of the Royal Canadian Air Force today began a tour of the Ottawa Valley extending south to the St. Lawrence to provide enlistment facilities for outlying towns and rural districts.

The National Defence Department said 20 R.C.A.F. recruiting centres have been established in key cities throughout Canada but there is no desire to confine applications to commissions or enlistment to urban centres. If the mobile recruiting unit is satisfactory, it is likely similar units will be organized to tour the country.

The Defence Department said: "With the British commonweath air training plan being geared to a higher ratio, every opportunity is being extended to those Canadians who may feel an urge to serve their country in the R.C.A.F. Although many applications have been received, this should not discourage others from coming forward."

Increase in Price Of Cigarettes Predicted

Toronto, Jan. 23—(CP)— Increase in the price of cigarettes is expected by tobacco dealers, the Toronto Evening Telegram said. The dealers expect an increase in the excise tax will be made in the next federal budget.

"The expectation is that cigarettes will be sold in packages of 10 for 15 cents, the prices which prevailed during the last war," the paper said. "Present large packets may cost 35 cents.

The paper said an increase in the excise tax from $4 to $5 per thousand on cigarettes is expected. The last tax increase from $3 to $4 per thousand was made about three months ago and brought about a reduction in the number of cigarettes in each package.

"When the tax was raised last autumn, from 20 to 25 cents pe pound, the price of smoking tobacco went up accordingly," the paper said. "Wholesalers in some instances absorbed this advance, but in the event of further excise increases smoking tobaccos will advance proportionately."

Roslin

Roslin—The January meeting of the Women's Institute took the form of a pot luck supper and ecuhre party in the Anglican Church Hall on Thursday evening, January 11th. There were about thirty present. All enjoyed a delicious supper and later joined in playing progressive euchre. The president has secured some sewing to be done for the Red Cross.

The school re-opened on Thursday after being closed for several days as the teacher was ill.

Effort to Negotiate New Treaty For Waterways Project Made

Canadian and U.S. Experts Gather at Washington to Discuss Project

WELCOMED BY HULL

Washington, Jan. 23—(AP)—Canadian and United States experts went into conference today in an effort to negotiate a new treaty for co-operative development of the long-debated St. Lawrence-Great Lakes project at an estimated cost of $500,000,000.

Emphasizing the magnitude of the proposal of an inland waterway for ocean-going vessels with huge power plants along the Canadian-United States border, one of the experts described it as "the greatest engineering undertaking since the Panama Canal."

State Secretary Cordell Hull, greeting the Canadian delegation, pointed out that as a result of objections raised to the treaty offered in 1932, both nations had decided "to reopen negotiations on a new basis," but he gave no hint of whta changes were contemplated. The 1932 treaty was rejected by a close vote in the United States Senate.

"In a world in which so much of international relations arise out of unhappiness," Hull said, "it is gratifying to be able to take up a project which is constructive, and whose object is to improve the economic well being of the peoples of both countries."

President Takes Part

President Roosevelt, for many years an advocate of St. Lawrence-Great Lakes development, conferred with the American delegation before it resumed negotiations with the Canadian experts.

The United States is represented by A. A. Berle, Jr., Assistant Secretary of State; Leland Olds, Interior Department, and John Hickerson, State Department specialists in Canada.

The Canadian mission, led by Dr. O. D. Skelton, Under-Secretary of State for Internal Affairs, includes J. E. Read, Guy A. Lindsay, T. H. Hogg and Oliver Lefebvre. Loring C. Christie, the Canadian Minister, is aiding the Canadian group.

Two Major Questions

The negotiations take up today where the delegations left of fafter a conference in Ottawa on Jan. 9-10. A joint statement issued at that time said the discussions had resulted in 'clarification' of engineering and financial problems involved.

Two major questions to be decided, it is reported, are: The share of the cost to be borne by the United States, and whether the international section should be developed by a single dam or two dams.

Since Canada already has expended funds on the proposed project, including the Welland Canal, it is understood that the United States will assume the greater portion of the cost of New York. No figures, however, have been made public.

Enjoyable At-Home Sponsored by Bancroft Badminton Club

Bancroft — The Bancroft Badminton Club held their Annual Bridge, Euchre and Dance in the Community Hall last Wednesday evening. The hall was gayly decorated with streamers and balloons. Music was furnished by the Troubador Orchestra and an enjoyable evening was reported from those attending. Cards finished about ten-thirty and dancing commenced. After lunch novelty dance arrangements added to the merriment in the form of a streamer dance, balloon danse, lucky spot dance, during which noisemakers were distributed among the dancers.

Bancroft seemingly missed the heavy snowstorm and high wind which struck the southern portion of the county Saturday. Light snow fell during the day but of no consequence.

PLANS TO EXPAND NAVY LEAGUE

Through League Men of Royal Navy and Merchant Marine Will be Encouraged in Great Task

Toronto, January 23—Succeeding sensational events at sea have widened the interest of citizens generally in the activities of the Navy and Merchant Marine. This is reflected in the active support by public-spirited men and women in the work of the Navy League of Canada.

The War Service Board of the Ontario Division, under the Chairmanship of Colonel A. E. Kirkpatrick, Toronto, is engaged on plans to expand the Navy League in this province, to carry on its work on an increased scale of assisting seamen and their dependents. One of the particular activities of the League will be to send aid to shipwrecked sailors, victims of submarine torpedoes and mines.

Through the Navy League of Canada the men of the Royal Navy and Merchant Marine services will be encouraged in their great task of facing hardships and dangers. So far, the heavy brunt of this war has been borne by the men of the sea.

It is pointed out by Colonel Kirkpatrick that during the last war, the Navy League of Canada was organized and raised upwards of two million dollars to help disabled seamen and their dependents, as well as promote the establishment of Sea Cadet Corps. Through the Navy League, 15,000 Ontario boys have been given training and today 1,500 of them are serving King and country on the high seas.

The Navy League of Canada has urged for a number of years that a larger proportion of seamen on British and Canadian vessels should be Canadian-born. Though an inland province, Ontario should play an important part in defending Canada's shores, according to the General Secretary of the Ontario Division. This has been re-emphasized now that the Merchant Marine has been recognized as an integral part of the Empire's defence force. As the richest Canadian province, its agricultural and industrial produce have enjoyed the protection of this defence service and will, therefore, be foremost in helping the Navy League in its efforts to aid the men of the high seas.

'KING MUST GO,'

Men at Top Responsible

"If an organization is not succeeding in its effort, one man must accept the responsibility and he is the man at the top," the Conservative leader declared. "If present conditions justify action, then the place to start is at the top. I do not suggest a Dominion general election, although I think one should be held in the near future"'

Col. Drew defended the legislature's right to take a lively intérest in prosecution of the war, charging that "one would think that this was a private war and that only King and a few selected friends should take part, and that the only place it could be discussed properly is in the House of Commons."

Winning War Paramount

"The paramount thing before us is the winning of the war," he said, "and some would have you believe that Premier Hepburn and I had no right to discuss the prosecution of the war. When I think Mr. Hepburn is on the right track I am with him, and I shall be against him when he is on the wrong track.

"I have no intention of playing politics. It's time for patriotism. Liberals in Ontario are no less Liberals because of the fact they expressed disapproval of the misconduct of our war."

HOUSE TO RECESS

It is also to be seen what effect Federal action may have on provincial revenues.

Leopold Macaulay (Con. York South) asked the Premier if he knew when the report of the commission on Dominion-Provincial relations would be presented at Ottawa.

"What will the mechanics be," asked Mr. Macaulay. "Will it be filed at Ottawa and then sent to the provinces. Will it be kept at Ottawa and legislation based on it and then the provinces informed of the legislation?"

"I know as little as my Honorable friend does regarding the procedure to be adopted," said Premier Hepburn.

Mr. Challies Alarmed

The House heard yesterday from George Challies (Con. Grenville-Dundas) an expression of alarm over reports that the contemplated Canada-United States agreement on the St. Lawrence seaway contemplates a single-stage development. Earlier draft treaties were for a two-stage development.

Mr. Challies said inundation of an addition 20,000 acres of land at historic spots in eastern Ontario would be required by the single-stage development.

Premier Hepburn said he could not answer questions while agreements were in the process of being drafted. He expressed confidence that Dr. T. H. Hogg, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, would look after the engineering problems from Ontario's viewpoint.

May Set Up Board

Setting up of a board in Ontario to regulate hours, wages and tariffs in the highway transport industry, both freight and passengers was urged on the Minister of Highways by Ian Strachan (Lib. Toronto-St. George).

"One of the chief difficulties in the present set-up is that there is no control whatsoever of rates, which works a hardship, not only on the legitimate, reputable transport operators, but also on the railroads which, goodness knows, need every support they can get to maintain their existence," said Mr. Strachan.

"I would urge upon the Minister of Highways that every consideration be given to the recommendation of the Chevrier report to set up a transport road in Ontario with powers, duties and jurisdiction with reference to transportation by trucks and buses, similar to those of the present board of transport commission for Canada.

Establish Hours of Work

"This board should have power to deal with applications for the issue, renewal and transfer of licences to public commercial vehicle operators and particularly to establish reasonable hours of labor and rates of pay and also to set a tariff of freight rates for this very important industry".

Mr. Strachan suggested some method of appeal be set up for brokers and securities salesmen whose licences are suspended by the Securities Commission. Giving to one man of power to take away another's livelihood was undemocratic. The same criticism could be made of the insurane department, though the act here provided for an appeal to the courts but didn't bind the insurance superintendent to accept the court's verdict.

J. Frank Kelly (Lib. Muskoka-Ontario) urged Ontario undertake a drive to bring tourists from the United States. The increased tourist influx to be expected from the cutting off of European travel for Ontario States citizens, would demonstrate fully the wisdoms of keeping the Dionne Quintuplets at home instead of letting them go to the New Yok World's Fair.

Heenan May Go to Senate

A rumor that Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Lands and Forests, may be appointed a senator, was mentioned by Mr. Kelly. No one was more deserving of the distinction.

"He has notably served the Province and the Dominion long and well", he said. "Perhaps his greatest single achievement has been tireless campaign in and out of season, often in adversity, for the establishment of proper old age pensions, for those whose life-work has been the common task of increasing the stature of our Dominion."

SMALL INVESTORS GETTING CHANCE TO HELP IN WAR

Finance Minister Working on Plan for Investment of Small Savings

CANADIANS THANKED

Ottawa, Jan. 23—(CP)—Canadians of modest means, many of them unable to invest in the first loan of the second Great War because of the heavy over-subscription, are going to get a chance to play their financial part in the Dominion's war effort.

Finance Minister Ralston, in thanking Canadians for the overwhelming support given last week's $200,000,000 loan, gave small investors this assurance.

He was not sure just what form the new program would take. But he said the flood of small orders for war loan bonds that rolled total subscriptions to $374,576,850 showed the need of some plan in which the small investor "could at any time put his savings into some sort of a war loan security of suitable small denomination."

Urges Regular Savings

"It has been decided to institute such a program," said Col. Ralston. "What the plan will aim at is to encourage regular savings by giving the citizen of modest means an opportunity at any time — not just when a war loan campaign is on—to invest those savings in Dominion war savings securities of small denominations."

The Finance Minister said the plan might be along the lines of the war savings certificates of the last war. As soon as details are worked out they will be announced.

Col. Ralston spoke over a national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and was joined in his thanks to the Canadian people by representatives of the allied governments and the nine Dominion provinces.

Many Speakers Heard

"Fellow Canadians — this Dominion thanks you all," he said, but he warned against letting satisfaction lead to complacency.

"After the heartening experience of last week's striking success, the orders for all of us are — not 'halt and rest' but 'carry on,' "Col Ralston declared.

Col. Ralston spoke from Ottawa as did Sir Gerald Campbell, British High Commissioner to Canada; Count Robert de Dampierre. French Minister to Canada; and Victor Podoski, Polish Consul General in Canada.

Deanna Durbin and Helen Parrish appear as rivals in the new romantic drama, Universal's "First Love," the next attraction at the Capitol.

GILEAD W. M. S.

The January meeting of Gilead W. M. S. was held at Mrs. Wilfred Clare's with an attendance of thirteen. In the absence of the president, the vice president, Miss Florence Huffman read the call to worship. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Gerald Swan. Several members led in sentence prayers. Roll call was answered with a verse of Scripture.

Mrs. E. Yorke gave a chapter from the Study Book "Moving Millions". Mrs. W. G. Badgley in her reading stressed the fact that it is possible to serve the Lord and do His will while engaged in the menial tasks of everyday life. ie, washing dishes or serving meals. Miss Annie Clare gave a piano solo in fine form. Mrs. Wilmot Clare sang as a solo "God is Love".

Letters of condolence are to be written to Mrs. Hubel and Mrs. A. Balcanquel in their relent bereavements.

Miss Huffman closed the meeting with prayer. Collection amounted to $1.25.

HALLOWAY W.M.S.

Halloway Women's Missionary Society held their first monthly meeting of the year 1940 on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Ernest Wilson. The fifteen members and visitors present did ample justice to the delicious dinner served at noon, after which Mrs. Earl Snider presided over the meeting. The opening devotions were conducted by the president assisted by Mrs. Arthur Wilson.

The roll call verses of scripture contained the word "Prayer."

Programs for the new year were discussed, meeting places arranged and each member was asked to be responsible for one worship service during the year.

The following were elected officers of the War Service Unit: President, Miss Bessie Spencer; Secretary, Mrs. Harold Wilson; Treasurer, Mrs. Harry McMullen.

Reports on last year's activities were heard. The secretary, Mrs. Coleman Townsend reported twelve members and twelve meetings last year. The treasurer, Mrs. Harry Townsend sent away fifty dollars as our allocation. Mrs. Arthur Wilson reported seven subscribers to the Missionary Monthly. Mrs. Ed Emerson, Baby Band secretary has enrolled five members since the formation of the Band in September.

Five members paid their membership fees for 1940.

A dramatization "Clinging to a thread" which summarized chapters two and three of the Study Book was capably presented. the following taking part: Mrs. E. Wilson, Mrs. H. Townsend, Mrs. H. Wilson, Mrs. E. Snider, Mrs. C. Townsend, Mrs. E. Emerson.

The meetings was closed with prayer by Mrs. Herbert Townsend.

AIKEN'S W. A.

The Women's Association of Aiken's United Church met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harley Hubble. A few men from the neighborhood added to the numbers, coming to enjoy the hot dinner served by the ladies of the society at the noon hour.

The afternoon meeting opened with the new president, Mrs. Selburn Westover in the chair. After the theme song, prayer and hymn, the nineteenth psalm was read by Mrs. H. Hubble and the reading on the scripture, "Sign posts of 1940" was given by Mrs. Cyril McMullen.

The roll call was answered by New Year resolutions.

It was decided to continue the attendance contest for the coming year, with Mrs. Fred Moon and Mrs. E. Hubble as leaders. "Others" is to be the motto of the society for 1940.

Mrs. Stanley Spafford, Mrs. Ken Bush, Mrs. Fred Westover, Mrs. S. Westover and Mrs. Harley Hubble were named a committee to look after the Red Cross work and buy the necessary materials.

An "At Home" was planned with Mrs. Earl Bush, Mrs. Sam Marshall and Mrs. Fred Westover on the program committee; Mrs. Wm. Bush and Mrs. Wm. Wheeler to act on the "eats" committee.

A welcome was extended to Mrs. John Orr and Mrs. Edwin Adams, members of Centenary W. A. who were present. A letter of appreciation was read from Mrs. Chas. Kenney for a remembrance sent at the time of her recent bereavement.

The program consisted of readings "The End" by Mrs. Earl Bush; "Keep your grit" by Mrs. S. Spafford; "Ten ways to kill a society" by Mrs. Ken Bush and "As you go through life" by Mrs. E. K. Hubble and a solo by Mrs. Leon McMullen.

The new president expressed her appreciation for the work of the past year and asked for the continued support of the members. Rev. Scott, who was present, moved a vote of thanks to the officers who had carried on during 1939. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Westover.

Flyers Move into Group Tie With Petes as Result Of 6-3 Win Over Redmen

Close-Checking Game Seen as Redmen Force Issue and Open Scoring

GOALIES STAR

With close checking dominating the pastime for the greater part and the Redmen setting the pace, the Air Force "Flyers" took the breaks to win 6-3 last night's intermediate O.H.A. game before a scant 500 fans at the Hume Arena. The win elevated Toots Holway's "birdmen" into a tie with the Peterboro' Club in the district O. H.A. group race.

Following a rather tame initial period that saw Belleville lead for the greater part, the frame ended at two-all after the Air Force had been awarded a goal when Gathercol booted the rubber into the Redmen's net via the football route for a counter. In the middle session, however, penalties dominated the play that saw the Air Force score two goals by three-man combination plays and the Redmen click for a singleton. Break-aways gave the Air Force two more goals in the last two minutes of play as the Belleville team had moved five to the offensive in an effort to even matters. Although not altogether a rough game an even dozen penalties, including a misconduct to Lemieux of the Air Force, were meted out by Referee Armstrong, eight going to the "Flyers."

Goalies Star

Both goalkeepers stood out as both Gibson and Hinton made continued sensational saves. Irvine carried the bulk of the Air Force defence work with Coach "Speedy" St. Louis playing the full sixty minutes for the Belleville team and adding to his prowess with many fine rushes aside from his blocking efforts. Team-mate Harry McCreary played 55 minutes of steady hockey. Along the front lines Gathercol, McNab and Lemieux looked the best for the winners, as the Jacksons, Yates, Barriage and Windsor turned in good performances for the losers. It marked the fourth consecutive loss for the Redmen. Legris was the only player to get more than one goal, two counters going to the veteran Air Force forward, as the result of an assist from Goalie Hinton, who left his cage to pass directly onto Legris' stick for the final goal.

The shots on net by periods were:

Belleville	9	9	15	33
Air Force	5	12	9	26

The line-ups: Air Force — Goal, Gibson; defence, Deryer, Irvine; centre, McLeod; wings, McNab, Lemieux; subs, Higgins, Cameron, Legris, Baldwin, Gathercol and Dunning. Belleville—Goal, Hinton; defence, St. Louis, McCreary; centre, C. Jackson; wings, Barriage, W. Jackson; subs, Levesque, Yates, Windsor and Storms.

Referee — A. W. Armstrong, Oshawa.

Summary:

1st Period

Belleville, C. Jackson (Barriage)	.44
Air Force, Gathercol (Legris)	6.25
Belleville, Yates	7.00
Air Force, McNab (Lemieux)	15.03

Penalties — Lemieux, Levesque, Cameron and Gathercol.

2nd Period

Air Force, Legris, (Baldwin, Dunning)	4.31
Belleville, W. Jackson, (Barriage)	7.29
Air Force, Lemieux, (Baldwin, Irvine)	16.06

Penalties — McCreary 2, Yates, Lemieux and Cameron.

3rd Period

Air Force, Irvine	17.05
Air Force, Legris	19.21

Penalties — Cameron, Irvine and Lemieux, (misconduct).

DEAN MUST PROVE ARM IS ALL RIGHT

Famous Pitcher Must Deliver for Cubs or Take Salary Cut

Chicago, Jan. 23 (AP)—The salad days are over for the once-mighty Dizzy Dean until he can prove on the pitching mound that he isn't just another has-been.

Phil Wrigley, who signs the cheques of the Chicago Cubs, made this clear yesterday on receipt of Dean's unsigned contract for the second time. Accompanying the document was a long letter which attempted to explain to some extent Dean's ineffectiveness in 1939.

"We aren't paying out anymore on past performances," said Wrigley. "We're paying Dean for what we expect in the future.

Dean collected $41,000 for winning 13 games the past two years—seven in 1938 and six in 1939. The big right-hander asserted in Dallas recently that the Cubs have offered him $10,000 for 1940.

Wrigley wanted it understood that there was no bitterness in the club's negotiations with Dean.

"Dean's letter was swell," Wrigley said. "He gave me several reasons why he thought he would be okay this year."

Wrigley left the impression that he would probably work out an agreement with Dizzy whereby his salary could be upped during the season if Dean regains his winning form.

Ambers Picks H. Armstrong To Retain Title

New York, Jan. 23.— (AP)—On the theory that the way to find out who will win the Henry Armstrong-Pedro Montanez welterweight championship fight at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night is to ask a fellow who has fought them both, Lou Ambers is hereby given the floor.

Lou holds the lightweight championship, which he lost to Armstrong in 1938 and won back from him a year later. He also has tackled the Puerto Rican Puncher twice losing a non- title bout in 1937 but winning when the Crown was at stake.

Ambers, picks Henry the hammer to retain his title. There are a lot of other opinions floating around, including some that Armstrong is slipping and that he never has had a really tough fight in defence of his 147-pound crown even though he'll be putting it on the block for the 15th time in tomorrow's 15-round scrap. But the lightweight champion agrees with the odds-layers who have made Hank a 1-3 favorite.

GLEN ROSS WINS FIFTH STRAIGHT IN RURAL LOOP

Defeat Zion Hill 2-1 in One of the Best Games of the Season

IVANHOE BLANKED

Foxboro Turns on Power to Beat Ivanhoe by 4-0 Count

Stirling, January 23—(Special)—Popularity of players and the determination to win are features, that are drawing increasing crowds to Stirling Arena these evenings to attend the double feature bills provided by the Central Hastings Rural League. Last night saw another bumper crowd on hand to see the "Fighting Irish" from Zion Hill hold the league leading Glen Ross "Riversides" to a slim 2 to 1 victory giving the leaders their fifth straight win in five starts. In the second fixture of the evening the "Foxes" from Foxboro got away to an early start on the way to victory rapping home three counters in less than five minutes against the short-handed Ivanhoe crew. The league trailers tightened down in the next two periods, but Foxboro won the tilt by a final score of 4-0.

From all parts of the Central Townships of the County the friends, supporters and players come on two nights a week to see these fast improving squads of home-brew hockey players do their stuff. The absolute reverse of professional hockey these kids pay for the privilege of playing the game but give all they have to get a win. The fans are not treated to real flashy hockey but they know all the kids out there and that means something," and the general admission is as the "English would say only sevenpence 'a-penny'" fifteen cents for a double-header, which is pretty cheap fun. What's more startling the league is paying its way at that rate.

The Games

In the first half of the evening show the husky Glen Ross team who have yet to be trimmed this year had to hustle to hold their record as the "Fighting Irish" from Zion Hill held them to the slim margin of 2-1 in a game that could have been anyone's all the way. After a scoreless first period, Martin got the first tally early in the second with Armstrong assisting. After three minutes of the final period Brough clicked for the tying goal assisted by Dickey and Tummon. Midway through the final period which was crammed with speed "Gerry" Pyear scored the winning goal on a pass from Martin. Playing with only one sub the winners had plenty of strength in the regular lines, with Martin, Armstrong, Pyear and Fraser looking the best. Hagerman played one of his best games of the year in the Glen Ross nets. For the "Irish" Brough, Dickey, Ketcheson and Bedford were the stalwarts with Simms starring as netminder.

The line-ups—Glen Ross—goal — Hagerman; defence — Brown and Fraser; centre — Doug Martin; wings—Armstrong and G. Pyear; sub—Brooks.

Second Game

In the second tilt the "Foxes" from Foxboro downed Ivanhoe 4-0 with the latter team being short the services of two of their best men, "Stew" Kirby and Dan Cook. Less than two minutes after the face-off Carl Thompson scored for the "southerners" and within five minutes Elder rapped home two more to put them three in front. Spencer got the final goal of the game early in the second period. There was no score in the final period which found the weakened Ivanhoe squad pressing all the way.

Ivanhoe have yet to click for a win with a tie being their best showing to date. On paper this looks as though they are the weak sister, but actually they possess some of the best material in the league with a little "juggling", and a complete turnout they could give any team in the league plenty of worry, and very likely will before the play-off teams are selected.

The line-ups—Ivanhoe —goal — Delve; defence—Reid and Tomlison; centre — "Chuck" Wright; wings—Thompson and Woods; subs —Fleming, Downey.

Foxboro—goal — "Norm" Guay; defence—"Noley" Guay and Gord Walt; centre — Elder; wings — Thompson and Spencer; subs — Wright, Gough, J. Guay, G. Gay and Dafoe.

Referee—Conley Ackers, Stirling.

RANGERS DEFEND LEAGUE LEAD AGAINST AMERKS

Team Has Served 316 Minutes in Penalties Yet Are Best Team in Loop

USE NEW SYSTEM

Send Every Man Up When Team is Shorthanded by Penalty

One of the most amazing things about New York Rangers' drive to the National Hockey League lead has been the way they have overcome the disadvantage of a terrific toll of penalties.

The Rangers defend their hold on the top in a game with the Americans at New York tonight with a record behind them of 316 minutes in penalties, or an hour and 35 minutes more than any other club and two hours more than the average. Toronto Maple Leafs are second in total minutes with 221.

Included in the big total are many misconduct sentences, which allow the playing of a substitute for a penalized player, but still the Rangers have gone short-handed considerably longer than any other team.

Dutch Hiller of Lester Patrick's Angels with Dirty Faces leads the league in penalties with 48 penalties, while Captain Art Coulter of the same collection is tied for second place with Captain Red Horner of Toronto at 45 minutes.

System Helps Team

The brilliant forechecking system devised by Patrick and Coach Frank Boucher to kill off penalties has been largely responsible for meeting the menace. Actually, it has brought them more goals than it has cost them.

When short-handed, the Rangers first get the puck from their own territory and then send every man but Goalie Dave Kerr down the ice. Usually the tactics leave the opposition milling about aimlessly around its own goal.

The night's other game involves the second-place Bruins and the third-place Maple Leafs at Boston, where Manager Conny Smythe of Toronto will be conspicuous for his absence. Smythe challenged the Hub fans to "come out and see a real team" in a newspaper advertisement the last time he took his Leafs to Boston and the league governors censured him for doing it. So Smythe has gone to New York, to await the club there, feeling there is no welcome for him in Boston.

FORMER BOXER HAS NEW HOPE

Harry Bobo, Negro Heavyweight, Tooted as Coming World's Champ

Pittsburgh, Jan. 23 (AP)— The little fellow who once fought the great Joe Gans to a standstill has tried just about everything since.

Fighter, violinist, dog fancier, manager of fighters and promoter of everything from prize fights to amusement parks—that's Eddie Kapphan. And just for good measure, he's half owner of a Pittsburgh piano store.

A fight manager at the moment, Eddie admits that he has "something good." The prize package is, Eddie tells without too much persuasion, a negro heavyweight named Harry Bobo who's practically playing hookey from high school.

"He's a good boy," says Kapphan, "and he'll kayo anyone he can hit—anyone who will stand up and fight with him. He's a comer. It won't be long before he's fighting for the championship."

Bobo meets Henry Cooper, of Brooklyn, next Thursday night and Eddie confidently predicts a knockout "if Harry's hands are in shape.

BELLEVILLE KIDS CHALK-UP FOURTH CONSECUTIVE WIN

Defeat Picton 12 to 7 in Wide-Open Junior O.H.A. Fixture

PLAY HERE

Picton Juniors Make Initial Bow to Local Fans Wednesday

Rolling up the score as the game progressed, the Belleville 'Quintes' chalked up their fourth consecutive junior O.H.A. victory at the expense of the Picton "Stars" when the Belleville kids rolled over the Prince Edward County kids 12 to 7. The game saw the largest score of the current season in the district junior group with wide open hockey featuring. Picton, in scoring seven goals on Cook, registered more counters than had been scored against the locals in the three previous games played. Picton come to Belleville for a return match at the Hume arena here on Wednesday night.

Juveniles Open

Prior to the Picton at Belleville junior O.H.A. game here tomorrow the Canadiens and Maple Leafs will play a game in the City Juvenile Hockey League for the entertainment of the early-comers.

Every player on the Belleville team participated in the scoring of the Quintes last night, except goalie Cook. Leo Goyer accounted for three goals and an assist while Jack Bundy notched a brace of counters and an additional assist. Storms and Clare counted two scoring points each also.

Referee Struck

Belleville led 6-2, 11-5 and finally emerged victors by a 12 to 7 score. Considerable slashing was seen and player Alfie Pike was banished from the game after an uncalled for attack upon Referee "Red" Townsend.

The lineups:

Belleville: goal Cook, defence Goyer, Hook, centre Storms, wings Ethier, Clare, subs, Bundy, Kiniski, Gerow, Butler and Clark.

Picton: goal R. Pike, defence Hicks, Roblin, centre Mason, wings VanuDsen, Platford, subs, Fraser, O'Neill A. Pike, Hafferty and Wannamaker.

Referee: Homer Townsend, Belleville.

MURRAY ARMSTRONG

N. Y. Americans

By Central Press Canadian

Murray Armstrong

Not eligible for the Calder trophy as the season's outstanding rookie in the N. H. L. because of participation in a few league games before this year, Murray Armstrong would catch a large share of votes for rookie - of - the - year on a broader basis. Playing his first full major league campaign, he holds down a centre berth with Red Dutton's five, 10 and 15 year Americans, after having previously been a champion commuter between Toronto Maple Leafs and their Syracuse farm. Even now he is still Leaf property, playing with the Amerks on option, becoming their property on payment of $7,500 at the end of the season. With the Leafs he was a hard-luck kid, going to training camp with the team three years in a row and suffering an injury that side-tracked him every time. Paradoxically he has never been seriously hurt during a regular season. Born at Manor, Sask., grew up in Regina, where he is a part-owner of a couple of billiard halls. Played with Regina Pats for a few years, including the team that was beaten in the Memorial Cup finals against Newmarket seven years ago. Was a recruit at Lester Patrick's first Winnipeg school, and although not accepted then, later was worked into the Patrick organization, from which the Leafs plucked him in the draft through a Ranger oversight.

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

with
Ken J. Colling

After watching last night's 6-3 win over the rejuvenated Redmen, Toots Holway had better charter one of those large Air Force bombing planes and streak for all points of the compass seeking additional playing strength, that is if the Flyers hope to triumph over the Petes in the group finals. True enough, the "birdmen" are now tied with the Petes, but their play last night failed to impress this corner. For the greater part of the evening the Redmen were the aggressors and not only carried the play, but with any amount of average luck might have emerged winners, as Coach St. Louis had the locals in a fighting mood. At times the game resembled disorganized shinny, despite the fact some good efforts at defensive hockey were seen in occasional spots.

Although Gibson in the Flyers nets had more shots to stop, Hinton for Belleville made more sensational saves. However there were two outstanding features last night, both of which should teach the players a lesson First, it is to be hoped Ab Hinton learned once and for all the folly of leaving his cage. Hinton actually gave the Air Force their last goal, after having turned in a fine effort for 58 minutes. Secondly, when player Lemieux, of the Air Force placed his hands upon Referee "Army" Armstrong, after a minor penalty had been given him, there was no other alternative than to tack on a misconduct penalty. Sooner or later players will come to realize they cannot man-handle sports officials the various associations behind these officials will not tolerate it. Lemieux was at fault simply because he well-deserved a minor penalty but what we are trying to bring home is the fact that right or wrong it is always a losing proposition to attack or even push an official and we hope last night's lesson will hit its intended mark.

It might be interesting to the fans to know that Coach "Speedy" St. Louis played the entire 60 minutes for the Redmen and was the spark-plug of the team. Harry McCreary played 55 minutes, taking a five-minute rest in the last session. Although the game was rather loosely played at times the goaltending of Gibson and Hinton stood out, both boys making splendid saves on what appeared to be certain goals. Belleville invades Peterboro on Friday night for their last road game.

Did you know that despite Charley Kellar's world series fame, the experts who voted on this year's most valuable played award didn't place him up among the leaders. But Ted Williams of Boston rated fourth.

Coach Larry Goyer's Picton juniors scored more goals on the Belleville Quintes last night than the local kids had seen scored against them this winter despite the fact President Bill Cook's local kids won by a 12 to 7 count. The fans went to the Picton rink to see goals scored and they left satisfied with everything, except the final result of a loss for the home team. Slowly Coach Goyer is teaching his Picton charges the value of teamplay, but there's still much work to be done regarding the elimination of this wood-chopping business. Incidentally the Picton kids make their initial appearance of the junior O.H.A. season at the Hume Arena on Wednesday night and the fans will be given an extra treat as a City Juvenile game will precede the O.H.A. fixtures for a double - dipper of hockey. Leo Goyer and Jack Bundy paced the locals in scoring last night, but if the fans are desirous of seeing unadulterated hockey — junior hockey is always the dish.

We observe where Point Edward, which really represents greater Sarnia with a population of at least 25,000 persons, is sponsoring only an intermediate "B" team in the O.H.A. this year. Three years ago Point Edward advanced to the finals in the Intermediate "A" ranks and with the large metropolitan area the Tunnel Town has to draw from, we see no reason why the Belleville Redmen shouldn't be considered in a lower classification. Both Peterboro and the Air Force are blessed with an abundance of reserve playing strength, while the Redmen have to utilize every last ounce of energy in order to ice a team. On ice the Redmen do not appear to be any stronger than Gananoque, who are making a runaway with the district intermediate "B" group to date.

Referee "Army" Armstrong tells us that O.H.A. officials in the future will have to be equipped with a tape measure or rule as the rule against over-size sticks will go into effect, which means strict enforcement of the rule limiting the length of a stick and the width of a blade. The rule is as follows: "Hockey sticks shall not exceed 53 inches from the heel to the end of the shaft and 14 3-4 inches from the heel to the end of the blade. The blade of the stick shall not exceed 3 inches in height, except in the case of the goalkeeper's stick, which shall not exceed 3 1-2 inches."

Members of the Toronto Skating Club took five of the nine titles for the 1940 Canadian Figure Skating Championships held at the Minto Club, Ottawa, over the week-end. The Minto Club captured the remaining four, leaving Winnipeg and Montreal without Canadian skating championships this year. Of those to win championships at this tournament, at least two of the newly crowned champions will appear in connection with the annual V.O.N. charity ice carnival at the Hume Arena on Friday night. Dennis Ross, Ottawa, won the junior men's singles, while Miss Shirley Halsted Toronto Skating Club, won the junior doubles while skating with Michael Kirby. Miss Halsted will appear here also, as well as Margaret Wilson and Peter Killam, runners up in the doubles and three other outstanding skaters from Ottawa who make up the "Minto Four." These are only the feature attractions.

Do you remember when Gene Tunney, who retired undefeated after taking the heavyweight boxing championship from Jack Dempsey in 1926, gained his first title victory 18 years ago tonight by outpointing Battling Levinsky in 12 rounds for the United States light-heavy crown? Tunney lost the title to Harry Greb four months later and after regaining it the following year, entered the ranks of the heavies.

Sport Spice — At least four teams were assured a volleyball league organized at the "Y" last night, including City Businessmen and Firemen, St. Michael's Academy and the Bata Shoe Company ....The R.C.A.F. and Albert College may also join the loop.... Rumor has a couple of good junior hockey prospects at Albert College, but seemingly school regulations will not permit them to turn out with the Quintes.... The Petes lost 7-1 to the Toronto Goodyears last night, Honey Tompkins getting the only goal after it was set up by Bun Kingdon....A goodly crowd saw the Goodies score four in the first and then give the crowd some sideshow business for good measure....See where Ken Begin former Trenton puckster, has been named as playing coach of the Niagara Falls 'Cataracts'.... Begin has gone places since he left Trenton, having played in England, coached in Holland and toured Europe....Major Panet, who inspected cadets here for years heads the R.C.H.A. hockey teams in England.

HEATING HINTS
by James Stewart

WHEN the heating season draws to a close, I'd like to suggest a few precautions to be taken when shutting down your heating plant.

First—be sure to leave a layer of ashes on the grates.

Next — close all the furnace doors and dampers. This will prevent the hot, damp air of the cellar from circulating through the furnace and causing the heating surfaces and smoke pipe to rust.

If your heating plant is of the steam or hot water type, I'd also suggest that you drain off all the water in the boiler. This will get rid of any sediment that may have collected in your boiler during the winter. But be sure to again fill the boiler to the normal level—do not let it stand empty during the summer. If you follow these precautions you'll not only save on repair bills but you will also prolong the life of your furnace. (23)

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from J. S. McKeown or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is highly recommended, is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Junior Champion To Skate in City At V. O. N. Carnival

President Harold Vaughan of the Y's Men's Club announced last night at the club's weekly meeting that Y's Man Newton Thompson had been in Toronto over the week-end to confer with executive officials of the Toronto Skating Club regarding the feature attractions to be presented at the Hume Arena in connection with the annual V. O. N. charity ice carnival. "The Toronto Club assured Y's Man Thompson that all advertised talent would appear in Belleville, headed by Miss Shirley Halsted, newly-crowned junior Canadian doubles figure skating champion," added President Vaughan.

In addition to the fancy and figure skaters a display of the latest sportswear goods by the Deacon Company will be featured, as well as an ensemble of rhythmic dancers from the school of Miss Mary Forster will also appear to add color to the show. President Vaughan also added the Hume Arena would be suitably decorated for Friday night's annual charity show.

Police Blotter

Considerable property damage resulted following two motor accidents on Belleville streets yesterday, but no personal injuries resulted.

Charles Kelly, Halloway, was proceeding southerly on Pinnacle street and stopped at the Bridge street intersection. Heavy frost on the windows of his vehicle, however, caused him to be unable to see an east bound motor car, driven by Arthur Cole, Belleville. Kelly's car collided with the left front fender of Mr. Cole's vehicle, resulting in fender damage to both vehicles. The matter was amicably settled, however.

Gerald Hall, R.R. 3, Belleville, complained to police that another motorist had collided with the side of his car and later drove away without revealing his identity. Mr. Hall was driving north on Front street when another automobile, which was backing out from the east curb, collided with the left side of Mr. Hall's car. The second driver continued his journey without remaining at the scene of the accident.

ALL IS BRIGHT

By Eleanor Browne

Star smiled. "On Christmas Day I can't feel unhappy. And I don't want to make anyone else unhappy, either. It's such a beautiful season. I've always loved Christmas. We used to make a lot of it at home. I'm only sorry you weren't downstairs last night. We sang Christmas carols and danced around the tree."

Gloria turned her face to the wall. "I don't want to see any of them again."

But Star was determined that this glorious Christmas Day should not be marred for anyone. She talked to Gloria about other Christmas celebrations she had seen in other parts of the world.

By the time they were dressed Star had persuaded Gloria that none of the other passengers was aware of what had happened the day before. That, indeed Gloria would be more conspicuous by her absence than by being present at the rest of the festivities. Gloria agreed to go to breakfast with her, but at the door she laid her hand hesitantly on Star's arm.

"I didn't know there was a girl like you anywhere," she said shyly. "I hope we can always be friends."

"Of course." Star assented eagerly. "I've wanted so much to know someone I could talk to and have fun with—as I can with you."

All the passengers seemed to have caught the Christmas spirit and the hours flew by. Although the tropical sun burned fiercely above them as the purple mountains of Haiti welcomed them once more, Star, who had never before known a Christmas without snow was exhilarated by the truly Christmas atmosphere that pervaded the ship.

She passed Elise and Barton talking earnestly together as they leaned against the rail. There was no need to ask why they were so happy, but Barton insisted that she stop with them while he told her all about it.

"I feel that I really owe my new happiness to you," he said to Star.

Elise added warmly, "I'm sure that I do! It frightens me every time that I think that you might not have been on this Christmas cruise."

Star kissed Elise and congratulated Barton and left them with a warm glow around the emptiness in her heart. She had been avoiding even in her thoughts the explanation she knew she must make to Kent. How could she tell him that she had come on this cruise not—as Elise had so sweetly told her—to bring happiness to others, but to make him suffer!

Worst of all, the unhappiness she had caused him was, she knew now, unfair. And she was not eager to confess it to him. To reveal that her silly mistake about his name had been the cause of it all. Any other girl would have thought twice before assuming that John Kenneth Barrett and Kent Barrett were the same just because they were both doctors. But she hadn't hesitated! Like a scatterbrained idiot she had jumped to a conclusion, and now it was up to her to acknowledge how wrong she had been.

CHAPTER XXX

Star shook herself mentally When Kent knew very likely he would never want to see her again. She would have to watch that tender eagerness die out of his eyes. She would have to see him turn and leave her, and make no move to hold him back.

Surely no man could go on loving a girl after he had listened to a confession such as she had to make, Star argued with herself. But she had the topaz ring. She had not dared to wear it. Such a lovely ring! She had slept with it under her pillow last night and this morning she had looked at it for a long time before putting it in a safe corner in her trunk. The sender's name had not been on the gift, but even before she had glanced inside the narrow band she knew that the inscription would read "To Star from Kent."

She saw Kent several times that day, but she took care to be talking to Mrs. Jenkins or playing with Stuart so that he had no opportunity to do more than wish her a merry Christmas. His expression as he said it was so stern that she wondered if he knew already what she had to tell him. She almost wished he did. But in her heart she knew that she would not escape that easily.

Finally the dinner gong sounded If she could just get through this day! Perhaps tomorrow she would feel more like acknowledging the truth. Meanwhile it seemed a shame to spoil Christmas. She was delighted when Gloria decided that she would come to dinner and, as she had expected, her cabin mate's presence kept Kent from saying anything more intimate then: "Don't you like your ring?"

"It's beautiful!" Star said sincerely.

"But you're not wearing it."

"I—I can't yet." Star avoided his questioning look.

He did not ask why, but he left before dinner was over, explaining that he had to look after some of the passengers who were not well. Gloria turned curiously to Star after he had gone.

"What's the matter between you two?"

"Nothing—really," said Star evasively.

"I didn't mean to pry," Gloria added, "but if it will help you any to know that Kent is madly in love with you, let me be the first to tell you."

Star blushed deeply. "I know And I love him. But I haven't any right to his love, not after what I've done." Star would say no more and Gloria knew that it was useless to press her.

Meanwhile, Kent had gone straight to the Underwood cabin and knocked on the door. Stuart called in surprise: "Star?"

Kent opened the door. "No, Stuart. Star is still at dinner. I just wanted to talk to you for a minute before she comes in."

"I'm not sick." Stuart was definite.

"I'm glad to hear that," Kent answered gravely, "but I didn't expect you were. I want to ask you to do a favor for me, if you will."

"What?" asked Stuart practically.

"You see—" Kent found that the child's eyes were embarrassingly observing—"Santa Claus left a message with me for Star."

"What message?"

"I can't tell you that; it's a secret. And I couldn't tell Star either," he added hurriedly, "because there were too many people around at dinner. But if you'll ask her to come to the top deck about ten o'clock, I'll be there and I can tell her then what the message is."

Stuart considered this request somberly while Kent's heart almost stopped beating as he awaited the verdict. At last the boy nodded his head in agreement.

"I'll tell her to come to the top deck at ten o'clock. But I won't say it till she tells my story."

Kent hugged him hard and said that would be all right. He went out quickly, leaving Stuart more than ever convinced that grown-ups were hard to understand. The doctor's hands had been trembly when they touched his shoulders.

x x x

Star went slowly up the companionway. In her hand she clutched the little box which contained the topaz ring. Stuart had told her of Santa Claus' message just before she kissed him good night and she had promised him that she would be on the top deck to receive it.

The outline of Kent's broad shoulders blotted out the moon as she looked toward the bow of the ship. Almost at the same instant he saw her and came rapidly along the deck.

"Star!"

She trembled at the new note in his voice and for a second she could not speak at all. Then: "You wanted to see me?" she said in a very small voice.

"I never wanted anything so much. I had to talk to you, you seemed to avoid me. Star—" desperately—"you don't love me, but there's something—I have to talk to you," he finished lamely.

Star took a deep breath. "Now!" she said to herself. "Don't say anything more." Her words came in a rush. "I have to tell you something that will make you hate me, Kent. Do you know why I came on this cruise?"

"It's enough for me that you did come."

"No." She could not look at him now. Half turned away and speaking straight into the darkness she began her sorry little story. "Have you ever heard of a John Kenneth Barrett?"

Kent seemed surprised. "John Kenneth Barrett? He's a doctor, isn't he? Someone once mentioned the similarity of our names. I remember now. He's in the service, too On the west coast, I believe."

"I thought you were he."

"But—but why?"

"I came on this trip for revenge" Star told him miserably. "John Kenneth Barrett neglected his father—walked off and left me to take care of him while he was ill and dying—" Kent did not interrupt while she told him how she had planned to humiliate her unknown foster cousin. "It seemed right when I started," she added in her own defense.

"Humiliate him? What he should have had is a good sock in the nose!" Kent cried warmly.

"No." Star shook her head. "I had no right to act as I did. And I—I hurt you. I'm sorry for that."

"Star!" Kent took a step toward her and then as if recollecting himself, stopped suddenly. Star noticed his action and flushed in the darknes.

"That's the kind of a girl I am," she said, "but I'm not the kind who would go off with Jack Coates. I mean, he only asked me to visit—"

"I've known Jack Coates' kind before," Kent said grimly. No matter how it looked, I knew that you wouldn't have left like that if he'd told you the truth."

They were both silent while they looked out over the water. Star reflected that it hadn't been so hard as she expected. And Kent didn't seem to hate her. But he did act reserved, withdrawn, as if he were thinking over what she had said. Suddenly she remembered the box she held.

"Well, I guess that's all then," she said with a sigh. "Except to return this to you."

Kent looked down at the little box as she held it out, and took it slowly. He turned it around in his hand before he said: "It isn't much, I know. I just wanted to—to wish you a merry Christmas. And I thought you might like it. But of course you have all the jewels you want."

He grasped her hands and pressed the ring back into them. "Anyway—keep it. You can look at it sometimes and remind yourself that a poor ship's doctor once dared to hope you might wear it."

John Garfield featured with the three Lane sisters and Gale Page in the Fannie Hurst story "Four Daughters," now on the McCarthy Theatre screen, with Bobby Breen in "Escape to Paradise."

"I don't know what you're talking about," Star said, bewildered. "I haven't any jewels. And you certainly can't be as poor as I am. I don't know if I'll even have a job when I get back."

Kent released her hands only to grasp her shoulders more firmly. "Then your uncle didn't leave you all his money? Oh, darling! Why didn't you say so right away? I've been afraid to tell you how much I love you—how much I want you!"

It seemed to Star that all the Christmas bells she had ever heard were chiming in her heart. With Kent's arms around her, with his ring gleaming in the moonlight as her hand crept up to his cheek, she felt that she had never known what happiness was before this.

The moon had climbed almost overhead before she stirred and said wonderingly: "I still can't believe that this is I. When I took this Christmas cruise I thought three weeks would be long enough—"

"Mmm—" Kent interrupted, his lips on the curve of her chin, "did I ever tell you how adorable you are? Why, you dear little idiot, a lifetime won't be long enough to hold all the happiness we're going to have. This is a cruise that's never going to end—for us."

THE END

AT THE BELLE

"Judge Hardy and Son"

Lewis Stone, Mickey Rooney and the rest of the Hardy Family are bringing new thrills, heart interest and comedy to audiences at the Belle Theatre where "Judge Hardy and Son," latest of the family series, is now showing.

This time, instead of traveling, the family works out its destinies at home in Carvel. Mickey becomes involved in complications with three new charmers and his sweetheart, played by Ann Rutherford. When the mother of the family becomes ill and is close to death, he turns from boyhood to manhood, inspires his worried father with a new courage, dares a raging flood to bring his sister to her mother's bedside and figures in gripping dramatic moments.

Lewis Stone as Judge Hardy has some of the most dramatic scenes ever written into the series of family adventures and becomes a compelling figure. Mickey Rooney's transition from boyish to adult psychology is a skilful piece of acting. Cecilia Parker acquits herself perfectly in the dramatic moments of the story. Fay Holden is the lovable mother who won't give up life and desert her brood. Sara Haden as the aunt has interesting moments with young Rooney.

Three new charmers enter Mickey's life in the persons of June Preisser, Martha O'Driscoll and Margaret Early. Outstanding character work is contributed by Maria Ouspenskaya of "The Rains Came," and Henry Hull. Egon Brecher, Leona Maricle, Edna Holland, George Breakston and Marie Blake are other principals. George B. Seitz directed with deft human touches.

Added pleasure on the same program includes the Belle News of the Day, a funny comicolor cartoon, "The Bear That Couldn't Sleep," and an unusually interesting MGM Passing Parade film, "Forgotten Victory."

AT THE CAPITOL

"FIRST LOVE"

Deanna Durbin gets kissed!

For the first time in her screen career, the radiant young singing star is the recipient of a screen kiss. The event occurs in Universal's "First Love" next on the program at the Capitol Theatre.

Priscilla Lane who is one of the cast in "Four Daughters," now playing at the McCarthy Theatre. Bobby Breen in "Escape to Paradise" is the big added hit.

The lucky man to draw the coveted assignment was Robert Stack, who makes his screen bow in this picture. Stack was chosen for the important role because Producer Joe Pasternak long ago determined that Deanna's first kiss would be delivered by an unknown player. He knew that would forestall any criticism of the youth selected for the role, criticism that would be certain to follow the selection of any prominent actor.

All through the production, Deanna and Helen Parrish, who plays a wealthy society girl, are rivals for Stack's attention. Deanna finally wins his heart—but relinquishes romance for a musical career.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Four Daughters"

Cast:

Kay Lemp	Rosemary Lane
Ann Lemp	Priscilla Lane
Thea Lemp	Lola Lane
Emma Lemp	Gale Page
Felix	Jeffrey Lynn
Adam Lemp	Claude Rains
Aunt Etta	May Robson
Ernest	Dick Forhan
Ben	Frank McHugh
Mickey Borden	John Garfield

Entertainment for the entire family is presented in the top-ranking hit, "Four Daughters", now playing a return engagement in Belleville, at the McCarthy Theatre.

Basically "Four Daughters" is a family story pointed to appeal to all over the teen age. Actually it is a homey, human story of happy humdrum lives, to be enjoyed by every man, woman and child.

Based on Fannie Hurst's Cosmopolitan Magazine story, "Sister Act" it simply, yet powerfully, brings into intimate focus a panorama of natural but startling events — experiences that might be the lot of the average family, right in this community.

Romance, melodrama, humor, pathos and tragedy, the sublime and ridiculous all are expertly blended. "Four Daughters" is a picture that brings to the screen exceptionally worthwhile entertainment. For all its theme of seriousness, the picture is not without laughter and many moments of exciting gayety. These qualities together with the quaint character sketches and the appealing beauty of life in the country where all is good and nothing is bad, are integrally a part of the compelling plot of frustrated sweethearts wandering in search of joy and happiness.

"Four Daughters" brings tears to your eyes, love to your heart and laughs to your lips. Ten times would not be too many times to see such a grand and perfect entertainment hit. Be among the audience at the first show and we know that you will not wish to leave your seat until you see it over again.

"Escape To Paradise."

Bobby Breen, Kent Taylor, Maria Shelton and Joyce Compton" are also presented now at the McCarthy Theatre in "Escape To Paradise", a swell companion feature offering, loaded with excitement, romance and dazzling fun. "Screen Snapshots" of movie stars at work and play crowds in ten minutes more of pleasing screen fare to the program to make it one of the best shows you could possibly plan to see.

VOLLEYBALL LOOP IS ORGANIZED

Eight Teams Represented in City Volleyball League Here

Eight teams will compose a City Volleyball League to operate at the Belleville Y.M.C.A. this season. The clubs composing the league met at the "Y" last night and elected Robert Brown of this city as chairman of the league.

The eight teams represented were: Bata Shoe A. C., Belleville Business Men, St. Michael's Academy, Ontario School for the Deaf, Albert College, R.C.A.F. "Flyers", the Y.M.C.A. "Seniors" and the Belleville Firemen.

A tentative schedule was drafted last night which brings together the "Y" Business Men versus St. Michael's in the opening game next week, O.S.D. versus the Firemen and finally the Bata A. C. versus Albert College. Later the "Y" Seniors and Air Force will meet.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Chairman, R. L. Brown; Secretary, J. E. Shortt; Executive, J. Rickaby and M. Becha.

The Bad Dream

GERTRUDE von BERNUTH

It was a stormy winter night. The wind blew a gale, the rain came down in torrents, and Cynthia Blake was all alone in the Long Island house.

Cynthia didn't like being alone, and on a night such as this she hated it. Especially since it had recently been in all the papers that David had gotten a fifty thousand dollar executor's fee from the Dodge estate. That made her nervous. But she lighted a log fire and settled down beside it with her book hoping against hope that the time would pass quickly. David would be home by 11:30 anyhow.

Eight o'clock, nine o'clock—surely that clock must be slow!—ten o'clock—and the telephone rang. Cynthia sprang to answer it.

"I'd like to speak to Mrs. David Blake." It was a man's voice, businesslike, yet rather sauve.

"This is Mrs. Blake," said Cynthia..

"Oh! Well, Mrs. Blake, I'm afraid I have some disturbing news for you."

"Yes?" said Cynthia, striving hard for self-control. Something had happened to David! "What is it?" she asked faintly.

"Er—Mr. Blake has had an accident." Cynthia gave one cry of anguish and then forced herself to listen.

"Mr. Blake was on his way home in a taxi, and his car skidded on Queensboro bridge. I happened to be driving by and stopped to see what had happened. Mr. Blake isn't seriously hurt, but they insisted upon taking him to Bellevue for examination and treatment. His one worry seemed to be about his wife, so I told him that I'd phone you. Infact, I told him that I'd gladly take you in to Bellevue, if you cared to go."

"Oh, would you? That's awfully kind of you!" cried Cynthia. Her one wish was to get to David darling David. That was all that counted.

"How soon can you be ready, Mrs. Blake?" asked the voice.

"In five minutes! Oh you're sure that my husband's not badly hurt?" she implored. "You're telling me the truth, aren't you?"

"Mr. Blake is not badly hurt. He may have a broken rib or two, but—"

"Come on, come on, cut it out," broke in a rough voice. "We ain't got much . . ." then silence, as if a hand had been suddenly placed over the mouthpiece. Then:

"That was some one who wants this booth, Mrs. Blake. I'll be there inside of fifteen minutes. Good-by."

As Cynthia put the receiver back on the hook, she was puzzled. Her fear about David seemed to have vanished. She began to be her usual cool-headed self. That other voice, so rough and snarling. "Come on, come on, cut it out. We—"

Cynthia raced upstairs to the extension phone beside her bed.

"Pennsylvania-6-3500," she said, speaking into the mouth piece again. "Hello, hello, is this the Bar association? Is Mr. Blake there this evening—Mr. David Blake? He was to be in conference with—"

"Yes, Mr. Blake is here. He's in room 510. I'll connect you with him if you wish."

"If you please," said Cynthia. voice. And then David's voice say-

"Mr. Blake, please," said the ing hello.

"Dave is that you?"

"Certainly it's I. What's up?"

"And are you all right?"

"All right? Of course I'm all right. What's the matter with you? I'm just starting for home."

"O. K." said Cynthia, and hung up the receiver.

"Operator, I want the police," she said, taking down the receiver again.

"I'll conect you" said the operator. Her voice sounded excited.

"Police station, One Hundred and ninth precinct. What is it?" asked a man's voice.

"Officer," said Cynthia. "This is Mrs. David Blake, at 20 Weybridge road, Bayside, Long Island. I have just had a phone call from a stranger who tells me that my husband has had an automobile accident and wants me to come to him in Bellevue hospital. The man said he would be here in fifteen minutes to take me to my husband. I have since located my husband by telephoning and he's perfectly all right. But I thought, if the man comes, I'd like to have the police."

"Humph. A snatch! We'll have some one there inside of three minutes, lady. Don't be scared. Take it easy."

Cynthia hung up the receiver with fingers that trembled. That was that. Now what? She sat tense listening for sounds outside, and finally heard a car coming up the road. Which is it, she wondered, the 'snatcher' or the police? She shivered a little.

Just then the telephone rang again.

"This is Dave again," said her husband's voice. "I'm phoning from the Long Island station. Is anything wrong out there? I'm worried."

Suddenly Cynthia heard a commotion outside, and a shot rang out. "S all right, I dropped him," shouted a voice. "Where's the other one? Did he get away?"

"He won't get far. I blew his front tire, and the other boys are just coming up the road. They'll get him."

"Cynthia!" shouted David. "Is anything the matter? You're acting awfully queer. Why did you call me at the Bar association?"

"Oh, I fell asleep by the fire and had a bad dream," said Cynthia. "Tell you about it when you get home."

Doctor Treats by Wireless

Ellis Bay, Que., Jan. 22 (CP)—An Anticosti Island wireless station intercepted yesterday an emergency message from Nottingham Island, 1,000 miles away in Hudson Strait, seeking medical advice for an Eskimo baby who suffered serious head injuries in a fall. Treatment was prescribed by an Ellis Bay physician and later the child's condition was reported improved.

The emergency appeal was broadcast shortly after the child fell four feet and landed on its head. The infant was knocked unconscious. Station officials here called Dr. Quesnel when they intercepted the message and instructions for treating the child went out over the air.

GAS CRISIS SAVED IN HAMILTON AREA

Hamilton, Jan. 22 (CP)—Industries consented to accept rationing of natural gas supplies to prevent private homes from being deprived of fuel for heating and cooking and this helped solve the gas crisis which affected Burlington, Dundas and Grimsby last week, T. Pates Pinckard, general manager of the Wentworth Gas Company, Limited, and the United Gas and Fuel Company, disclosed today.

Abatement of the cold weather also helped to reduce the demands on Haldimand County wells, he said. Residents of the area affected reported that gas pressures rose Saturday noon and there were adequate supplies of natural gas over the week-end.

UNUSUAL AD GETS RESULTS

Salt Lake City, Jan. 22 (AP) — For two weeks Miss Dana E. Jones hunted for a job. Then she put this want ad in a paper: "Incompetent, unoriginal steno needs a job. Cannot be secretary because she never passed ugly duckling stage." In two hours, she said, she got six bona fide offers.

GETS REFUND 61 YEARS LATER

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 22 (AP)—L. E. Fisher, insurance man of Edgar, Neb., sent Oscar Braungart, Wabash railway agent, an unused ticket from Fort Wayne to Huntington and asked for a refund.

"Hope I did not hold it too long to get my money," he said.

Braungart said he didn't. He sent the ticket, dated Feb. 19, 1879 to St. Louis for redemption.

WALL STREET

New York, Jan. 23—(AP)—Leading stocks played with a rallying idea in today's market but most failed to follow through to any great extent. Near the fourth hour although minus signs were plentiful dealings slackened.

Weakness of cotton tended to chill buyers. Other commodities were irregularly lower. Bonds were mixed.

Support was accorded stocks of U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Johns-Manville, Kennecott, Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit, Chesapeake and Ohio and Goodyear Loft was lively.

In the Canadian group International Nickel, McIntyre and Canadian Pacific improved fractions. Lake Shore Mines inched back while Canada 4s, in the Bond Market, rested unchanged.

TORONTO STOCK CLOSE

Toronto, Jan. 23.— (CP) — On Toronto Exchange today Mining shares were a bit heavy and the Industrials and Western Oils advanced moderately in the early session. Report of an increase of the proration in the Turner Valley Field sent the Western Oil leaders including Home, Calgary and Edmonton, Okalta, Foothills and Davies, up 2 to 5 cents.

In the Industrial section the Foods were strong and the Steels, Utilities and Papers were mainly firm. Senior Oils also posted moderate gains.

Butter Prices Show Improvement

Toronto, Jan. 23—Butter prices gained ground on the Toronto open produce market yesterday when fair trading absorbed offerings. Eggs maintained a steady tone.

Buyers were not keen at paying slightly advanced prices in morning trading on the butter market, but later dealings were reported as fair. Holders were not pressing offerings on the market, and available supplies were taken up. Ontario creamery solids moved at 27½c for No. 1 grades. Retail prices reflected the strength of the wholesale market as No. 1 grade prints ranged higher at 28½c to 29c.

The egg market opened the week at unchanged prices. Demand was inclined to lag, but fresh receipts arrived in about sufficient volume to satisfy local needs. Both sections closed steady.

Montreal Produce

Montreal, Jan. 23 (CP)—Produce market prices here as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

LONDON LIFE ENJOYS GROWTH

Record of Outstanding Achievement Reported by Company During Past Year

A record of outstanding achievement has been reported by the London Life Insurance Company covering the past year.

The story of the year, in so far as it can be told by figures, is as follows:

The people of Canada purchased $87,236,888 of new life insurance from the London Life last year. The total amount of life insurance in force reached $643,316,111, an increase of $35,694,817. This amount does not include business re-insured or annuities.

The resources of the company increased by $8,494,725 and now amount to $134,970,838. Each separate item in the portfolio of investments has been carefully selected and carefully scrutinized. The sum of $409,000 was written off security values and the company has a specific investment reserve of $4,400,000 to provide for any impairment in securities.

The liabilities of the company have been determined on the same exacting basis as in former years. The customary practice has been followed by setting up in 1939 the funds to pay all policy dividends earned to the policy anniversary in 1940. After making full provision for all obligations, the free surplus and reserves beyond legal requirements have shown an increase of $1,274,300 and now amount to $16,751,311, which sum does not include items mentioned above.

"The London Life has been enjoying rapid growth in insurance in force and at the same time a more rapid growth in surplus," declared Edward E. Reid, Managing Director, "which indicates that our basis of operation is thoroughly sound, both financially and actuarially."

"Although our report shows cautiousness, there has been a spirit of pioneering adventure in our activities. In the eighties of the last century we introduced an Industrial branch; we early introduced the Disability Benefit and have maintained it ever since; and to those have been added Group Life Insurance, Group Sickness and Accident, including Hospital and Surgical benefits, which enable us to offer a most complete and comprehensive service."

The Company's report marked the sixty-fifth year of public service. The president, J. Edgar Jeffery, K.C., gave a comprehensive review of the company's strong financial position and spoke in high terms of the contribution made by the sales organization to the progress for the year.

St. Paul's Church, Marmora, Has Annual Meeting

Marmora — The annual vestry meeting of St. Paul's Church was held in the Parish Hall on Monday evening, with Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell, rector, presiding. After the opening of meeting with prayer, R. G. Winters was asked to act as clerk for the meeting. The financial statement given by the rector showed receipts to be in excess of $3400. The rectory debt was reduced so that it now stands at five hundred dollars. The Mission Fund report presented by the rector showed that $82 had been raised and expended for that purpose. Rural Dean Caldwell also gave the report of the Rectory fund. The gratifying report of the Ladies' Guild was given by the retiring secretary-treasurer, Mrs. S. C. Boyd. Over $800 was raised with almost $700 going to parochial funds. Rural Dean Caldwell followed with the financial statement of the Sunday School, of receipts totalling $92.02, the Mission funds of the church benefited to the extent of $23.72, and the largest percentage of expenditures went for Sunday School supplies. W. J. Cottrell, secretary-treasurer of St. Paul's Laymen's Association reported receipts as $92.82 and the expenditures headed with $66.25 to the Rectory fund debt. The last organization to report was the A.Y.P.A., this being given by the rector.

The rector's report was as follows Services Morning Prayer, 53, average attendance 39. Evening prayer, 43, average attendance 32. Mid-day celebrations, 14, average attendance 31. Early celebrations, 6, average attendance 20. Mid-week services 19, average attendance 22. Easter Communicants 101. Private celebrations 4. Baptisms 12. Confirmed 10. Marriages 5 Burials 2.

At the conclusion of this report, S. B. Wright moved and Mrs P. Gray seconded a hearty vote of thanks to Rural Dean and Mrs. Caldwell for their work in the parish in the past year. The rector reported that the list of subscribers to the Diocesan Chronicle for 1940 had been increased to 103. He also took the opportunity to welcome Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Winters, who had taken up residence in the parish since the last vestry meeting. The naming of the church wardens was next on the agenda. The rector reappointed H. R. Pearce as Rector's Warden. The appointment of People's Warden, through no election, was left in the hands of the rector. W. J. Cottrell, retiring lay delegate to Synod was re-elected for three years. The other lay delegates are H. R. Pearce, 2 years, and C. H. Buskard, one year.

The following were elected as members of the Parochial Council: Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell, H. R. Pearce, C. H. Buskard, L. R. Rundle, R. E. Bonter, A. Burridge, R. G Winter, Mesdames A. B. Caldwell, P. Gray, and S. B. Wright, with the People's Warden-elect. Upon motion of W. J. Cottrell, seconded by A. Burridge, the Ladies' Guild were tendered a hearty vote of thanks for the splendid financial help given the parish during the past year. A vote of thanks was also tendered Mrs. L. R. Rundle as organist and the choir after the rector had expressed his personal appreciation of their services. The rector having briefly referred to the use of the duplex envelope this year the meeting then adjourned.

BLACKOUT DEBATE

Despite the complaints, observers doubted that more light would be permitted in smaller cities, or over London's 150 square miles.

The final ruling on the matter rests with the Air Ministry, Commons Members said, adding that nightly observations by airmen convinced authorities the blackout must remain.

Calling this "grumble week" in parliament, the Daily Mirror said: "Let us be thankful we still are allowed this ancient British sport. We must grumble or die."

Speech Still Discussed

Other newspapers continued to discuss Winston Churchill's speech of last Saturday in which he called upon menaced neutrals to unite in resistance to aggression.

The Times said that "the British attitude has been explained in many private conversations with responsible representatives of neutral states and clear in the work of the ministry of economic warfare which has already reached war trade agreement with others.

"In both sets of conversations, diplomatic and economic, the imputation of the desire to 'widen the battle front' is clearly refuted," the paper says.

"The neutral dilemma is well understood here. The low countries certainly were resolute against danger 10 days ago. Swedes are fighting in Finland, but it is true of most neutrals that after a period of robust warfare they have turned conspicuously to build a quiet and civilised way of life which does not at all times lie parallel to the way of military preparedness.

Hope Storm Will Pass

"War might destroy much of their handiwork. Submission to tyranny would certainly destroy it. Shrinking from both prospects, most neutrals cling to the hope that the storm will pass by them.

"Probably much of their future attitude will depend on what they see in Finland, and on whether really effective help to the defenders may be given. In the meantime allied speakers are fully entitled to dwell on the lesson of the past few years, that the only way to salvation lies in collective resolution to resist."

The Daily Mail said that neutral countries resent the warning "that only by joining with Britain and France can they hope to resist aggression".

"Of course they are mortally afraid of Germany and their fear is understandable. What is not understandable is that they should still seek by words to placate the implacable Hitler, while they refuse to support the allies, upon whom they should rely to save them from destruction."

Neutrals Warned

The Daily Herald warned neutrals to stand together against aggressors "if the collective system, had not been temporarily destroyed, Europe would probably never have been brought to war".

The News Chronicle said: "The truth is that while the old men who govern this country alternate between dragging complacency and timid caution, we shall suffer militarily and psychologically And, if we are lucky, the neutrals will remain neutral.

"How can anyone in the British Empire, in neutral countries, or in Germany, feel confident about a peace that would be made by men whose record in China, Abyssinia, and Spain showed so small understanding of the influence and power of an ideal on the common people?"

jured 109 and demolished several hundred buildings, mostly dwellings.

Observers calculate the cost of the bombs as about equal to the property loss Finland suffered—probably $1,000,000 at the outside. But the Russians are said to have lost 36 bombers, that is, two for each civilian reported killed. Moreover, the Finns say that in the same week Russia lost 108 airmen.

Many Prominent C. N. R. Officials To be Present at Annual Dinner

Outstanding officials of the Canadian National Railway have signified their intention of attending the annual Belleville Chamber of Commerce banquet scheduled for the Hotel Quinte Friday night. Appropriately named "Railway and Industrial Night", the banquet will be featured with an address by Mr. S. J. Raymond, Commissioner of Industry of the C.N.R. Many prominent local officials and chairmen of brotherhoods will attend.

Included among the prominent out-of-town guests are Major F. L. C. Bond, vice-president and general manager of the Canadian National Railway; J. F. Pringle, general superintendent; R. E. Perry, assistant freight and traffic manager; J. P. Pratt, regional counsel; B. Wheelwright, chief engineer; J. W. Wardlaw, general superintendent of traffic; F. G. Gould, divisional freight agent; E. R. Battley, general superintendent of motive power; S. O. Martin, general superintendent of express; and H. F. Tilley, district passenger agent.

Wing Commander J. A. Sully, officer commanding the Trenton base of the Royal Canadian Air Force, and Mr. S. Cekota, Bata Shoe Company, Frankford, representatives, have also accepted invitations to attend. The banquet is open to the public.

BAY OF QUINTE WINTER SCHOOL IS VERY LARGE

Attendance of Over 100 Delegates and Officers Makes it Largest for Years

METHOD COURSES

Mission Problems Are Discussed by Rev. Dr. J. C. Cochrane

The 18th Annual Bay of Quinte Conference Winter School for training in Bible Study Missions, Recreation and Young People's work opened its five day sessions in Bridge Street Church here yesterday afternoon. Despite bad roads, eighty delegates were reported by Mrs. D. Baxter, Registrar, to be in attendance for Young People's Societies in Hastings, Prince Edward, Northumberland and Durham and Lennox and Addington Counties and are billeted in local homes. The staff and officers make the attendance over one hundred, the largest school for years. Dean of Studies, Rev. Roy H. Rickard of Colborne, conducted the opening worship period and Acting-President, Rev. H. A. Mellow of Gore's Landing, welcomed the delegates.

Two 'method' courses began work in the afternoon: 'Recreation' by Miss Loretta McDougall; and 'Young People's Work' by Rev. Gordon S. Maxwell of Campbellford. Both these leaders are newcomers on the staff. Miss McDougall is Recreational Leader at George Street Church, Peterborough, and for that Presbytery as well as for the Conference Young People's Union, and at Oak Lake Summer School last summer was elected, "Torch-Bearer", the highest honour in the camp.

Rev. G. N. Maxwell succeeded Rev. H. B. Neal in Campbellford, and comes from Lachine, Quebec. Another group will begin a course tomorrow on "Youth and Marriage" under the direction of Rev. I. M. Wesley, Camborne, who was storm-bound today.

Mission Problems

The afternoon session heard the first lecture by Rev. J. C. Cochrane D.D., on the problems of Home Missionary work in Northern Ontario and N. W. Quebec. Having been introduced by a former classmate at Victoria College, Rev. Roy Rickard as being a builder by trade who had actually built many churches in the north, Doctor Cochrane said that "when preachers take their coats off, people took notice". It was a successful way to begin a Church project in a mining town. There were three kinds of work done under the Home Mission Board; first, rural: among those distressed areas where unsound land settlement schemes had left a demoralized people, utterly dependent. "As a church", he said, "we can't do much for them until they do something for themselves", so with Rotary Club assistance, a producer-co-operative plan is being attempted in the Cochrane area.

Secondly, work among non-Anglo Saxons. This was discouraging and presented many difficulties. The speaker suggested that as a corrective to a too nationalistic exclusivism the church must aim to establish them in fellowship with Canadians in joint worship.

The third division was the brightest spot in his superintendency: the establishment of new churches in mining areas. It was harder to get money for churches than for recreational clubs: and first services are often conducted in very inconventional places, but results had been pronouncedly successful. The North, was served by 'Young preachers and the Doctor said it kept him hustling to keep pace with them.

Warkworth Woman Driver Fined $19.95

Campbellford, Jan. 23 — Miss Evelyn Partridge, Warkworth, was assessed $15.00, and $4.95 costs, following her plea of guilty to a charge of careless driving. According to the evidence Miss Partridge had failed to bring her car to a stop before entering No. 30 Highway at Bradley's Corners, south of here, on January 6. Her failure to stop resulted in a collision with a car driven by Sergeant H. Thompson, Provincial Police, Belleville.

Police claimed an estimated $400 damage had been done by the collision. In giving judgment Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., Peterborough, warned the accused to obey the rules of the Traffic Act in future.

1000 BARRELS McINTOSH APPLES SHIPPED ON SATURDAY TO OTTAWA

District apples are still moving in heavy quantities, agricultural representatives stated this morning. One thousand barrels of choice McIntosh Reds, grown on the Harry Dempsey farms in Prince Edward County brought an attractive price on Saturday. They will be shipped to Ottawa. Other varieties are selling readily with the majority of shipments going to the Quebec market.

Sub-Zero Cold Wave Again Settles Down Over District

13.9 Degrees Below During Night — Many Roads in Prince Edward Are Still Blocked

21-BELOW IN EAST

Old Man Winter picked up his sub-zero efforts last night exactly where he left off the other day to bury the district beneath an avalanche of snow.

For this morning a shivering citizenry awakened to find the mercury hovering at 13.9 below the big "O" mark, the third lowest registration of the winter and an indication that Spring is yet far away.

In all fairness to the weather gods they gave residents a brief respite yesterday in order to clear sidewalks, roads and highways from blockading snow that swept down over the week-end, but towards evening the fickle winds veered around to the northward and the mercury began to fall.

Near midnight it touched the zero mark and by six a.m. today it flirted with the 14-below registration.

Householders who had relinquished the coal shovel for the snow implement, hastily retired to the cellar and again took up the heat-producing weapons, while coal dealers of the city smiled as they gazed at well-filled order-books that compare favorably with the lighter pages of those of November and December.

Meanwhile in the rural districts snow-plow crews battled against additional handicaps of freezing weather. The roads are opened to traffic but driving is hazardous and needs careful attention.

Prince Edward County's southern sections are still cut off from the county town and main roads, but plows are batting the heavy drifts and fence-filled sideroads in an effort to reach isolated communities that have practically been cut off, with the exception of telephonic communication from the remainder of the county.

Cold Wave General

Toronto, Jan. 23—(CP)—Temperatures reached 21 degrees below zero at Brockville today as severe cold continued over most parts of Ontario. Ottawa shivered in 15-below zero weather'

In northern districts the mercury tumbled to 17 below at Parry Sound and London in western Ontario had two below zero weather. Southern Ontario was considerably milder and at Toronto the mercury was still eleven above zero today after a drop from 25 during the night.

The forecast today was for continued cold with light snow in the Georgian Bay region and northern Ontario. For the lower Lakes the weatherman promised cloudy and cold weather with light snow in some districts.

The mercury's tumble to 21 degrees below zero set a new record for the winter at Brockville, the previous low being 14 below on Jan. 7 and Jan. 9.

Snowploughs worked all during the night in a snowstorm clearing heavy drifts around Stratford and all main roads in the district were open today. At least eight highways in that district were blocked yesterday.

BLAZING CHIMNEY

A blazing chimney on North Front Street, the result of a householder's efforts to raise the temperature, sent fire squads racing to that part of the city shortly after 7 a.m. today. Firemen battled in an atmosphere of 11 below zero, and succeeded in reducing the blaze that temporarily threatened the house.

JUVENILES ADMIT STEALING MONEY

City police tod[illegible] [illegible] three teen-aged school boys of this city regarding the breaking and entering of the vestry at Christ Church and the subsequent stealing of over $25.00 of church collection some two weeks ago. Chief Kidd and Rev. G. G. Wright questioned the lads after Detective Fred Isard had apprehended them for examination. The police authorities revealed later today, that the boys not only admitted stealing the church collection, but also confessed to another robbery of cash from one of the lad's private home. Two of the lads were members of Christ Church and this is accounted for the fact they had knowledge of the manner in which the morning church collection was held. Restitution will be made by the boys' parents, police added.

BICYCLE ABANDONED NEAR CITY SCHOOL

School children enroute to Queen Victoria School this morning found a bicycle abandoned in the snow bank near the bottom of the Albion Street hill today. The children informed Principal Wilkin of the incident, following which police Arthur Harman revealed the bicycle was the property of Edward Caswell, Read, and had been parked alongside of the Belle theatre, while Mr. Caswell attended the theatre last night. The bike was stolen during his absence.

FEW CALLS CAME IN FOR SNOWSHOVELLERS

The expected influx of odd jobs at shovelling snow from sidewalks and private driveways, following the heavy snowfall of the week-end, did not materialize, according to employment office officials.

"While an occasional call came in for men to shovel snow the number that formerly were received at this office was considerably below that of other winters," the superintendent stated.

The reason for the sudden decline in calls for labor of this type, was put down partially to ambitious high school students, who armed with shovels conducted a house-to-house canvass for jobs that netted them usually twenty-five or fifty cents.

ALL CITY STREETS IN GOOD CONDITION

City thoroughfares and other streets are now cleared of snow that fell over the week-end, city public works department officials said today. Trucks and men are now busy sanding streets, the icy surface of which constitute a dangerous hazard. Many sidewalks, however, are in a slippery condition, Engineer Charles Mott said, and with plenty of free sand available, residents are urged to make use of it in the event that sidewalks cannot be cleaned.

Kiwanis International Celebrates 25th Birthday

Detroit, Jan. 23 — Twenty-five years of Kiwanis service to community, state and nation was celebrated here last night. On January 21, 1915 the Detroit Kiwanis Club, recognized as the first club in Kiwanis International, received its charter from the state of Michigan.

Perhaps a mere quarter of a century isn't a very long span of years, as time goes, but back in 1915 the U.S. had little or no community club life at all. Back in those days groups didn't go to noonday luncheons every week. "Since 1915 we have had a rapid growth; there are now over 2,050 clubs with over 104,000 members in the U.S. and Canada," Bennett O. Knudson of Albert Lea, Minn., International president declared.

Coast to Coast Phone

Kiwanis was born just in time to listen in on the first transcontinental telephone call! New York in January, 1915 really began talking to San Francisco for the first time even though the telephone had been in existence for 40 years! Into national prominence were coming such newcomers as Jess Willard, Billy Sunday and Al Smith!

Henry Ford was busy getting his millionth automobile off the assembly line, and probably in a hurry, too, for he needed to get his 29th-millionth car into service early in 1940!

Everybody was going for the first time to see the film "Birth of a Nation." The U.S. began the new year, 1915, worrying over its neutrality for World War, No. 1, was going into its 7th month! A horrified world realized that modern warfare had introduced bombing of cities from the air! German zeppelins were attacking London!

Birth of Kiwanis

Kiwanis was born in 1915 without attracting very much attention. For over a year a group of Detroiters had been busy organizing a business-men's club. They adopted the name Kiwanis, a coined name whose verbal Indian ancestry suggests self expression.

The motto of this original group was "We Trade," the organization being made up of tradesmen and merchants. By 1919 this slogan was changed to "We Build" to exemplify the constructive and idealistic character of the organization.

By early 1916 some 20 other American cities wanted similar Kiwanis clubs while Canada, at Hamilton, Ont., got its first club in November, 1916. The organization therefore took on its international growth in 1916 and since then has always restricted its clubs to the U.S. and Canada.

Annual Convention

The first convention was held in Cleveland in 1916 with 15 clubs sending delegates and representatives. At that time a constitution was adopted and the official title for the combined clubs was designated as The Kiwanis Club. George F. Hixson, of Rochester, N.Y., became the first president.

A rapid growth in club building started immediately after the close of the world war. In 1918, Kiwanis International had 93 clubs with 10,500 members. In ten years clubs totalled 1,812 and membership was in excess of 103,000.

During the depression years membership decreased, but today it is in excess of the high peak membership of 103,000 in 1921. Today's membership is close to 105,000.

Canada Kiwanis

Hamilton, Ontario was the first club completed in the Ontario-Quebec-Maritime district. It was organized in November, 1916.

Other early clubs were: Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Windsor, Brantford, Galt, Kingston, Kitchener-Waterloo, St. Thomas and Ingersoll.

Winnipeg, Man., was the first city in the Western Canada Kiwanis district to have a club. It was organized in May, 1917.

Other early clubs were: Brandon, Regina, Saskatoon, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Edmonton, Port Arthur-Fort William, Swift Current and Prince Albert.

Vancouver, B.C., was the first city in Canada to have a club in the Pacific-Northwest Kiwanis district. It was completed in January, 1919.

In Canada there are 76 clubs with a membership of 5,000.

Each of these clubs is composed of two representatives from every business, professional and agricultural classification in the community and all are devoted to civic and social service.

Service Work

Today over 2,000 clubs are assisting under-privileged children, sponsoring playgrounds and giving aid to youth.

Over 1,200 are engaged in better citizenship activities and 1,100 have safety programs. Some 1,300 others have active agricultural projects, including sponsoring county fairs, 4-H farm boys and girls work and diversified farming experiments.

Health, sanitation and hospital work engage 598 clubs; while 1,281 are allied to definite community business improvement programs. All forms of general charity interest 1,248 in towns both large and small. Over 900 give vocational guidance help to youth.

Moira Resident Fractures Wrist In Fall on Ice

Moira — On Sunday morning after attending church and returning home Mrs. Frank Emerson had the misfortune of slipping on the ice and fracturing her wrist. She was taken at once to the office of Dr. H. E. Welsh, and later to the Belleville General Hospital where the fracture was reduced. Friends all hope for a speedy recovery.

Sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. George Dafoe in the loss they suffered recently when their home burned.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clare on Sunday were Mr. Kenneth Stewart of West Huntingdon and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Williams.

Mr. Cecil Scott, of Belleville, was the week-end guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton Foster and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Dickey of Bethel.

Moira W A.

The January meeting of Moira W.A. was held on Thursday, Jan. 18th., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Herity. The men of the community were supper guests of the ladies on this occasion. After the gorgeous supper supplied by the ladies the following program was presented with Mr. James Vanderwater as chairman: Community singing was indulged in and the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. James Hart. Some discussion followed relative to bringing in a play from Bethel in the near future. Mrs. Nelson Welsh then favored the gathering with a vocal solo, entitled "When You Come Home" followed by a reading by Mrs. Albert Clare. The special speaker of the evening was the school principal, Mr. James Hart, who based his discussion on the subject of "The Present War" and portrayed in his usual fine manner his theory of conditions at the present time. Donald McInroy favored the audience with a guitar selection, then Miss Dorothy Thompson gave a reading. The Misses June, Connie and Joyce Williams rendered a vocal trio. A vote of thanks was tendered to the hostess at this juncture. A closing hymn was sung and the meeting closed with prayer by Mr. Blake Ketcheson.

Hand is Mangled In Straw Cutter

Burr's (Special)—On Saturday while engaged cutting straw at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vancott, Mr. Oliver Edwards got his hand caught in the straw cutter and badly lacerated.

It was decided to take him to Wellington to the surgery of Dr. R. M. Sarles. Mr. Douglas Harnes volunteered to take him to the doctor and owing to the blizzard and the condition of the roads Mr. Kenneth Vancott, Mr. Clayton Carter, Mr. Floyd Huffman and Mr. Ewart Harnes accompanied them. When they arrived at Dr. Sarles' surgery the doctor examined the hand and said he would have to take him to Prince Edward County Hospital.

The Harnes' car accompanied the doctor as far as Bloomfield returning home by way of Highway No. 14 to Crofton, then up the fifth concession road On Highway No. 33 between Wellington and Bloomfield they passed seven cars and a truck stuck in the snow.

ORPHANED BY TRAGEDY

Aroused from her sleep by the sound of gunshots, five-year-old Joan Stephenson, of Bradford, Ont., ran into her parents' bedroom to find her mother and father dead. Police are of the opinion that Frank Stephenson shot his wife and then himself, but are at a loss to explain why as the couple were both popular and prominent in community affairs. Their deaths leave Joan and her nine-months-old sister Marilyn orphans. The children are shown here with their mother.

KING INSPECTS CANADIAN TROOPS AT ALDERSHOT

Flotilla Leader Carried 200 Crew; All Believed Lost

Fifth British Destroyer Sunk Since Outbreak of War on September 3rd—Exmouth 1,475-Ton Vessel Built in 1934

ON EVE OF LEAVE

Captain R. S. Benson, Commander of Exmouth, Who Goes Down With Ship, Received D. S. O. Last Month for Particular Bravery

London, Jan. 24—(CP)— Sinking of the destroyer Exmouth by a torpedo or mine in the North Sea apparently with the loss of all hands—close to 200 men—was reported by the Admiralty today on the 25th anniversary of the battle of Dogger Bank in the first Great War.

It was the fifth destroyer sunk since the war with Germany began Sept. 3.

In many homes of the Exmouth's crew, the news came as the men's arrival on leave was expected. The families had received letters only Monday.

One woman stayed up all last night, awaiting her husband's return early today. Instead she received the Admiralty's notice that he was believed dead.

Flotilla Leader

The Exmouth normally carried 175 men, but wartime crews usually are increased about 10 per cent. A 1,475-ton vessel, built in 1934, the Exmouth was a flotilla leader, carrying five 4.7-inch guns, seven smaller guns, and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes.

The Exmouth was the same class as the Grenville, destroyer which sank Saturday with a loss of 81 lives.

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Variability of rain! Anyone believing in weather cycles would be kept busy studying a long rainfall record trying to see cycles in it. For instance, the 100-year record of Washington, D.C., shows that the greatest yearly amount, 61.33 inches in 1889, is about 3.2 times the least yearly amount, 18.79 inches in 1826. The wettest month, 10.94 inches in June, 1900, is 219 times the driest, .05 inch in November, 1828. The heaviest monthly rainfall did not occur in the wettest year, neither did the lightest occur in the driest. The wettest month on the average is July but the heaviest monthly rainfall occurred in a June. The driest months on the average is November, in which month the lightest monthly amount did occur.

52 of Orazio List Unaccounted for

Genoa, Jan. 24—(AP)—A checkup of the number of survivors from the burned Italian liner Orazio left at least 52 persons unaccounted for today and Italian line officials expressed fear the total might reach 100.

The unknown number of survivors taken to Marseille by French rescue boats before the Italian liners Conte Biancamano and Colombo arrived here yesterday with more than 500 others led to uncertainty over the exact loss of life.

The Orazio's original passenger and crew lists totalled 643, but 12 German passengers had been taken off by a French patrol ship last Saturday, the day before a fuel oil blast turned the Orazio into a blazing hulk off the French Mediterranean coast.

WM. A. BISHOP CANADA'S AIR ACE, RECRUITING CHIEF

Victoria Cross Winner to Direct Recruiting for the R.C.A.F. in Canada

CRITICISM ANSWERED

Ottawa, Jan. 24—(CP)—Honorary Air Marshal William Avery Bishop, greatest of Allied aces in the first Great War, returned to active service today as an air recruiting chief.

Announcement of his appointment came last night from Defence Minister Rogers who named the 45-year-old Victoria Cross winner as director of recruiting for the Royal Canadian Air Force in connection with the British Commonwealth Air Training plan.

Air Vice-Marshal G. M. Croil, Chief of the Air Force and head of the training plan, recommended the appointment.

Bishop, victorious over 72 German fliers in the last war, previously had influenced recruiting. Back in 1917 this ace from Owen Sound, Ont., interrupted his daredevil sky-riding schedule long enough to make a short visit to Canada. His presence alone was sufficient to bring men to the colors in large numbers.

Competitive Bid

In announcing Bishop's appointment to the Press the Defence Minister touched also on other matters pertaining to the air scheme and said the Government bought the Eglinton Hunt Club in Toronto for use as an initial training school with a competitive bid of $55,000.

U.S. Military Experts Do Not Predict 'Spring Offensive' on West Front

Washington, Jan. 24 —(CP)— Spring may bring new aerial warfare over Europe and intensified war at sea, but it is difficult to find a military expert in the United States who will predict a "spring offensive" on the western front.

Military tacticians, analyzing every scrap of information from Europe, report that they "can't see" how either the Allies or Germany can launch an offensive, regardless of weather conditions, with reasonable chances of breaking through the Maginot or Westwall lines.

Good weather and good roads enable quicker movement of troops, but both the Allies and Germany apparently have almost evenly-balanced forces manning their lines. Transportation — except of reserves to meet an attack — is not a problem on the western front.

Intensified and bigger raids may be made with more favorable temperatures, but the stalemate on the western front (on the ground) will continue, most experts believe, even when spring sunshine melts the snow and ice.

Spring, however, probably will see more and larger flights of bombing and fighting planes winging over the western front to England, France and Germany, experts here believe. If intensified bombing should weaken or break the defence lines, it might be the prelude to an overland offensive.

CANADIAN GOV'T STOPS SHIPMENT WHEAT TO RUSSIA

Two Orders - in - Council Passed to Restrict Exports to Neutral Countries

EFFECTIVE AT ONCE

Ottawa, Jan. 24 (CP)—All the weight of Federal law empowering the government to restrict exports to neutral countries by means of licences bore down today to halt shipment of Canadian wheat to Russia.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced the arming of the government with this power last night after the passage of two Orders-in-Council.

The action followed closely on the buying of $1,000,000 worth of Canadian wheat in the open market at Winnipeg for Soviet account, a sale that aroused considerable criticism from various quarters.

FOUR KILLED AS PLANE HITS HILL

Two Members of Crew Escape in Parachutes as Machine Goes Into Spin

March Field, Calif., Jan. 24—(AP)—Four men died in the crash of a United States army bomber, trapped but a few minutes away from the safety of its base by a raging storm which played havoc with mass army air manoeuvres.

Two crewmen aboard the big bomber escaped in parachutes as the machine went into a spin and crashed into a hillside seven miles from here yesterday.

"We were flying high—about 9,000 feet, I guess—when the motors missed and the ship went into a spin, and all were ordered out," said Sergeant Frank Carroll, one of the survivors.

"Something apparently was wrong with the emergency door. Only two of us were able to get out."

Army records listed the victims as Lieut. Raymond Sumi, pilot; Lieut. Benjamin Holloway, Sergt. Gerald Wilcox and Private Leonard Riley.

FINLAND EXPECTS SOVIET AIR-RAIDS BY HUNDREDS

Russians Open Big Push Against Southeastern Defence

WEATHER MODERATE

19 Persons Killed in Air Raid Shelter at Nurmes, Many Wounded

Helsingfors, Jan. 24—(AP)—Russian attacks northeast of Lake Ladoga, scene of bitter Finnish-Russian fighting for weeks, were reported today to have been repulsed by Finland with "very heavy" losses to the invaders.

The Russian attacks came "in greatest strength" at Kollaanjoki and Aittojoki, a Finnish communique said, adding that bitter fighting continued throughout yesterday.

Seven Russian tanks were destroyed on other sectors of the war front, the Finns said, and an enemy advance across the ice of Lake Muola was beaten back, as were attacks on the Karelian Isthmus front.

Soviet air raids yesterday killed 21 civilians and injured 21 others in the Nurmes area, 40 miles from the central Finnish Russian frontier, the communique reported, charging that two hospitals were bombed there.

While civilians looked anxiously to the skies, military sources indicated that with moderation of subzero weather Soviet Russia had opened a big push against Finland's main southeastern defences, concentrating on the Mannerheim Line on the Karelian Isthmus and north of Lake Ladoga.

The heaviest death toll of any single bomb dropped on Finland in the eight-week old war was reported yesterday from Nurmes, rail centre 40 miles from the Russian border in Central Finland. Nineteen persons were said to have been killed as they huddled in an air raid shelter. Many were wounded.

7 Nurses and Doctors Victims

The Finns said rescue work was delayed as Soviet aviators followed up the bombing with machine-gun fire. Among the victims Finns said, were seven nurses and one doctor from a nearby hospital.

Four hospitals reported damaged in yesterday's raids over Finland.

Military experts feared the raids would be extended on a larger scale with the coming of longer days, giving the Red fliers more light and better flying weather.

(The Leningrad military headquarters of the Russian forces reported artillery fire and scout activity yesterday on the Karelian Isthmus and said "Soviet Aviation made reconnoitering and fighting flights.")

"Pub" Owners Call On King to Have Licences Renewed

London, Jan. 24 (CP)—Five London "pub" owners put on their Sunday-best clothes the other day and called on King George at Buckingham Palace—to have their licences renewed.

The five landlords are they only licencees in Britain whose houses are controlled by his Majesty. Each year they receive a summons to attend the "Verge of London" or Board of the Green Cloth, an ancient court which supervises the kitchen and domestic arrangements at the palace.

The Verge has jurisdiction in household matters within a radius of one mile from the Sovereign's residence.

Housewife Injures Hand in Wringer

West Huntingdon —(Special)— Mrs. J. C. Sills met with a painful accident on Monday morning when her left hand was drawn into the electric wringer of her washing machine. Due to her presence of mind the machine was released before much harm was done.

A SPEEDY DETECTIVE

Indianapolis, Jan. 24.— (AP)— A 16-pound impost did not prevent Detective Philip Miller from winning a race with a burglar. Miller, carrying a 16-pound bowling ball, was getting out of his car when he saw two men breaking into a parked automobile. Still carrying the ball, he chased the pair two blocks and caught one of the men. The other later surrendered to police.

So anxious to fly is Miss Paddie Naismith, of England, that she has travelled to New York in the hope she may qualify for a U.S. license as an aerial navigator. Because she lacks a few inches and pounds she failed to come up to the standards required for entrance into the British Air Force auxiliary.

NEEDY MOTHERS OF ENLISTED MEN GIVEN $20 MONTH

This Will be Paid Regardless of Whether Man Contributed Support Before Enlistment

Ottawa, Jan. 24 —(CP)— Needy mothers of enlisted men may be provided with an allowance of $20 a month after this, regardless of whether the son was able to contribute to their support before enlisting.

Up to now, to qualify for an allowance a mother had to show that the enlisted man had maintained her for six months prior to enlistment. This left the mother of an unemployed man dependent on relief even after her son enlisted.

Under changes in the regulations announced last night by Defence Minister Rogers the Dependents' Allowance Board now makes a special grant where it is convinced an enlisted man would have maintained his mother "if he had not been prevented by circumstances beyond his control."

CLAIMS WARSHIP HALTED JAP LINER

Captain Says Ship Allowed to Proceed on Night of Jan. 18 Off San Francisco Coast

Honolulu, Jan. 24—(AP)—Captain S. Ito of the Japanese liner Tatuta Maru said on arrival here today that an unidentified warship ordered his ship to halt at 10:55 p.m. Jan 18, and asked its destination and nationality by blinker signals from a distance of two miles.

The Tatuta was given authority to proceed at 11.05, Ito said. The incident occurred when the Tatuta was 710 miles out of San Francisco.

Ito said he was unable to identify the warship because of darkness. The ship asked whether the Tatuta carried any Germans, and Ito said he replied that five German civilians were aboard, two of them women.

Reservations had been made for 512 crew members of the scuttled Nazi liner Columbus, but were cancelled without explanation just before the Tatuta left San Francisco Jan. 18. The Columbus crew is still in San Francisco, housed at the Angel Island immigration station.

Passengers on the Tatuta included J. Reifsnider, Tokyo representative of the Commercial Pacific Cable Company. Reifsnider said he read the Morse code blinker message and confirmed Captain Ito's story.

German Passengers' Story

One of the Germans aboard, who would not disclose his real name or actual destination, said he was a captain of a united fruit company vessel and hoped to reach his family in Germany. He said ruefully that he still might be taken from the Tatuta.

While the Tatuta still was at sea a passenger who asked that his identity not be disclosed radioed the Honolulu Star-Bulletin yesterday that the ship had been stopped by a destroyer which inquired as to the liner's destination.

GERMAN ATTEMPT TO CROSS RIVER IS REPULSED

French Naval Authorities Report Possible Destruction of Two More German Submarines

NEAR-ZERO WEATHER

Germans Fail to Ambush French Patrol on Lorraine Front

(By Axel De Heistein, Hafax Staff Writer)

Paris, Jan. 24—(CP-Havas)— Repulse of a German attempt to cross the Lauter river east of Wissembourg was announced today as French naval authorities reported the possible destruction of two more German submarines.

The morning communique merely said "One of our posts on the Lauter repulsed enemy units which had made contact."

Military sources revealed that a strong German patrol, crossing the Lauter, attempted a surprise attack on a French outpost to the east of Wissembourg, where the river marks the Franco-German border. The enemy was quickly driven back to his own side of the river, however, leaving on the path of retreat a number of dead.

French naval circles disclosed one German U-boat was attacked yesterday by British naval units and another by the French. The same quarters divulged on Tuesday that two other submarines had been attacked by British warships in the past several days.

Scene Not Divulged

No information was given as to the scene of the engagements. It was said yesterday that the British admiralty did not claim the submarines' destruction since no absolute proof was available.

Military sources said the French outpost succeeded in capturing one prisoner before the Germans retreated from their unsuccessful raid to the east of Wissembourg. The sector is slightly to the west of the Lauterbourg "hinge" where the border swings sharply to the west after following in northeastern course along the Rhine.

The Germans also failed in an attempt to ambush a French patrol early today on the Lorraine front. Stiff fighting took place in the semi-darkness of dawn and the French unit escaped without losing a prisoner.

Near-zero weather continued to grip the fighting front, with fog and cold curtailing air operations. One German plane was sent out over Northern France and another over the eastern zone. No engagements were reported.

Boy Students At McGill Enjoying Sadie Hawkins' Week

Montreal, Jan. 24—(CP) — It's Sadie Hawkins week on the McGill University campus and the boys think it's just ducky.

And the girls....well, take, for instance, 22-year-old Betty Hagmeier of Preston, Ont. She says "It's fun" to make the dates and pay the bills. The other night five girls at the women's residence here took some boys out to a show and treated them to coffee and sandwiches.

She recounted that last night the campus girls took the boys to a tea-dance at a Toboggan and Ski Club on Mount Royal. On Friday night the Spinsters' Spree, a yearly dance, will be held in conjunction with Sadie Hawkins week.

"That's when it's better to leave the boy friend at home and go stag, with plenty of cut-ins," added Betty.

Asked how many dates she had made, Betty murmured something about being "broke—darn it." But from appearances, it didn't look as though she needed money to get a date.

From Russ Merifield, halfback on McGill's intercollegiate football team and president of the University's Students' Society, came the comment that it's a "great idea." Russ, who hails from Bedford, Que. said the girls are "holding their end of the line pretty well."

Hitler Assures Duce, Says Paper, Against Soviet in Italian Zone

Paris, Jan. 24—(CP—Havas) — The newspaper Le Petit Parisien said today that Fuehrer Hitler personally has assured Premier Mussolini that any attempt by the Soviet Union to violate the zones of interest of Italy and Hungary in Southeastern Europe would meet with German resistance.

A memorandum sent by the Fuehrer to Il Duce on Jan. 17 contained a formal guarantee to this effect, the papers said.

Italian interest would be safeguarded, the memorandum was reported to have said, even if the necessities of war led to "certain actions in the Balkans for purposes of security and prevention."

Speaks to Soldiers, Dines With Staff During His Visit

Intoxicated Army Captain Blamed for Sending False S O S

Boston, Jan. 24—(AP) — State police announced today that Byron Brown, 48, retired United States army captain who coast guard officers said relayed to them last night the reported SOS of a ship supposedly sinking off Cape Cod, had been confined in the Edgartown jail on intoxication charges.

The coast guard, when appraised of Brown's arrest shortly after 5 a.m. EST, immediately called off half a dozen vessels searching for signs of the reportedly distressed ship with 146 persons aboard. They had been patrolling the sea between Martha's Vineyard and Nantucket Islands more than eight hours.

The official report of Brown's arrest said that troopers went to Brown's West Tisbury home on Martha's Vineyard after receiving numerous queries from newspapers and other sources relative to the purported distress call and arrested him.

Brown had reported receiving the SOS on the lowest wave band of his special radio at 7:02 p.m. EST last night.

THRONE SPEECH DEBATE CLOSES WITHOUT DIVISION

Holly Acres Twits Hepburn About Failure to Draw Lawyer-Proof Succession Duty Act

LORD MARLEY HEARD

Toronto, Jan. 24 (CP)—A quiet day or so is ahead of the Ontario legislature. The Throne Speech debate wound up yesterday without recorded division, A. H. Acres (Con. Carleton) being the last speaker.

Mr. Acres twitted the premier about the failure of his Attorney-General to draft a lawyer-proof Succession Duty Act. But Premier Mitchell Hepburn told Mr. Acres that despite the failure of the investigatory sections of the act to be operative in the face of an injunction, he had collected $25,000,000 in succession duties, $5,000,000 more than he estimated.

The premier announced that the bill for an act to amend the clauses in the act that have been attacked in the courts, would be brought in Friday. The members could study it over the week-end and second reading debate, with no limits on it, could start Monday. As soon as this bill is passed the House will recess while the budget is prepared.

Criticism Offered.

Rene Morin, Montreal, Appointed Chairman Of the CBC

Ottawa, Jan. 24 (CP).—Rene Morin of Montreal has been appointed chairman of the board of governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation and Brig.-Gen. Victor Odlum of Vancouver vice-chairman, Transport Minister Howe announced today.

Since the retirement of L. W. Brockington as chairman of the board on Oct. 18, Mr. Morin, the vice chairman, had been acting as chairman.

The vacancy left on the board by Mr. Brockington's resignation has not been filled. Other members of the board are J. Wilfred Godfrey, Halifax; N. L. Nathanson, Toronto; Alan B. Plaunt, Ottawa; Adrien Pouliot, Quebec City; Canon W. Eastland Fuller, Campbellton, N.B.

Canada's Day and There is Much to Remind His Majesty of His Visit to This Dominion Last Summer

R. C. M. P. ON GUARD

Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner, Accompanies His Majesty —Staff Officers Presented

By SAM ROBERTSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Aldershot, England, Jan. 24 (CP).—The King today inspected his Canadian troops.

Throughout this chilling English winter day he drove for more than fifty miles about the Aldershot command and left his car frequently to review or walk past thousands of Canadians who are finishing their training before moving "over there".

His Majesty was constantly on the move for three hours during the morning, stopping scores of times to ask soldiers in the ranks about their well-being and to chat with officers.

After lunching with Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, Officer Commanding the Canadian Active Service Force and senior officers of the staff and the various units of the Canadian First Division at the Officers Club, the King spent another hour and a half completing his inspection.

It was Canada's day and there was much to remind the King of the Dominion which he visited with the Queen last summer when the world was at peace.

R.C.M.P. On Guard.

Men of the First Canadian Provost Company — Royal Canadian Mounted Policemen who had changed their scarlet for battle dress khaki—patrolled all roads used by the King and the accompanying official party.

The standard of the First Canadian Division, combining the Union Jack with the Maple Leaf and the Fleur de Lys, fluttered from the staff at headquarters.

Each unit doffed caps and gave His Majesty three cheers in rousing Canadian style. Even the wintry weather seemed distinctively Canadian.

When the King, wearing the uniform of a Field Marshal, drove up to divisional headquarters General McNaughton and members of his staff and officers of the Canadian military headquarters stood on one side of the drive. With them in civvies was Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner.

The opposite side of the drive was lined by off-duty members of the divisional headquarters substaff.

Staff Officers Presented

After a warm handclasp, General McNaughton presented his staff officers to the King. Then they moved away, followed by the official party of 20, to start the "walk past" and reviews.

His Majesty reviewed the Royal 22nd Regiment, the Royal Canadian Artillery and the Royal

OBITUARY

MRS. THOMAS S. STINSON
(Picton)

Picton, Jan. 24 (Special)—There passed away at her home in Wellington a well known and highly respected resident in the person of Estella Clinton, wife of the late Thomas S. Stinson. She had not been enjoying good health for some time.

In her 76th year, she was born 75 years ago on a farm on the Gore, a short distance from Wellington town line, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clinton. She resided on the farm until her marriage, then to the farm now owned by Leo Foster, and later to Wellington.

She was a member of the Anglican Church and organist for a number of years. Though confined to her home, she continued her interest in all activities and her host of friends always received a cheery welcome.

Rev. E. N. Grant conducted the funeral at her late residence on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 20, and during the service read the hymns "Abide with me" and "Lead Kindly Light". There were lovely floral tributes. Interment was in Wellington vault, awaiting interment in the spring.

Pall bearers were H. Suttaby, J. H. Rutter, L. P. Coxall, W. A. Davern, A. M. Thompson, A. McNeill.

Mrs. Stinson was the last surviving member of her family. She leaves several cousins to mourn her passing. Mr. Stinson died suddenly in 1905. Also predeceasing her were two daughters, Marion S. in 1936, Susie when young; a son, William in 1916, and a brother, Charles.

Among those attending the funeral was Mr. C. C. Spencer, Picton, a cousin.

LATE MRS. SARAH E. HEARNS
(Cannifton)

Tuesday afternoon, January 23rd, the funeral of Mrs. Sarah Eliza (Canniff) Hearns, widow of George Hearns took place from the residence of Mrs. Maude Cairns at Cannifton to the United Church in that village where service was conducted by the pastor, the Rev. A. Armstrong.

Interment was made in Cannifton Cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. Arthur Holgate, Frederick Putman, Denzil Collett, William Reynolds, Harry Boyce and Blake Bedell.

GROUSE ONLY STUNNED

Shelby N.C., Jan. 24.— (AP)—A hunter shot a grouse out of a tree and gave it to State Secretary Thad Eure, who placed it in cold storage. Figure Skating Champions to Appear At V. O. N. Carnival

Two Canadian figure skating champions, who won their laurels at the Minto Club in Ottawa last week, will appear in Belleville as feature attractions at the annual V.O.N. Charity Ice Carnival, to be held at the Hume Arena on Friday evening. The two recently crowned skating champions coming to Belleville are Miss Shirley Halsted, dainty skater from the Toronto Skating Club, who won the Dominion junior doubles title while skating with Michael Kirby, also of Toronto, and Dennis Ross, of the Minto Club, Ottawa, who won the junior men's singles title for 1940.

The "Minto Four" heralded as one of the best skating quartettes on the continent and made up of Miss Constance Choquette, Dennis Ross, Miss Andree Choquette and Arthur Nelles, will be included on the evening's program to thrill the spectators with their daring feats of rhythmic skating in unison. In addition to Miss Halsted, Margaret Wilson and Peter Killam of the Toronto Skating Club will appear in a doubles number similar to that they used as runners-up for the Canadian pairs skating championship last week.

Fun for the young, as well as the old, is being included on the program, which is being arranged by the sponsoring Y's Men's Club. School relay races will terminate a full 90 minute program of figure skating, while in addition a parade of winter sports apparel by the Deacon Company and lastly comedy skits by a battery of funny clowns on skates to round out a full two-hour program. The entire proceeds of the show will be available to the Victoria Order of Nurses, under whose auspices the carnival is held each year, at the Belleville Arena.

Letters From the Troops

Following is a highly interesting description of life of the Canadian troops now training in England, sent to friends in Belleville by W. J. W. "Army" Armstrong, former bond salesman who numbers a large coterie of Bellevillians among his friends:

"So far I like England very much except in the daytime and time at night. In the daytime you can't see anything for fog and at night (4.30 p.m. till 7.30 a.m.) when the blackout takes effect, you are really up against it, and "it" might be a fence, post, pedestrian or almost anything which is above ground or below."

"One of our boys went up to London last week and fell down an air-raid shelter entrance, broke two ribs and strained his wrist at 5.15 p.m."

"But the hospitality of the English just can't be beaten," Army says. "Three of us went to London on five days leave and we really had a marvellous time. On arriving at Waterloo Station at 4.45 p.m. it was pitch-black so we asked a policeman how to get to the centre of things. He put us on a bus for Piccadilly Square. We got off the bus and started to walk up the street, when we missed one chap, and well—to make a long story short—he stayed lost as far as we were concerned, for we did not see him until five days later in barracks."

"However we took in the principal sights of London, Buckingham Palace, Westminster Abbey and then to Petticoat Lane on Sunday morning. I have never in my life seen so many tough customers in one section of any city than I saw there. They will steal the shirt off your back and sell it back to you before you get out of the Lane."

Sunday afternoon we met some R.A.F. fellows and they invited us to their barracks for tea and to spend the night with them. They are stationed in a residential section of London, with a corps of London Auxiliary Firemen, and Royalty itself could not have treated us any better. Monday morning we had a cup of hot tea before we left our blankets and after a breakfast of sausages, eggs, toast and tea, we went to see what the airmen did."

"In an open space, really a schoolyard, they had a balloon, but somehow or other the darned thing got away from them and they are now merely guarding the space the balloon rested in."

"Later a chap came to the barracks, after hearing a couple of Canadians from the Toronto Scottish were there and asked us, in fact he insisted, that we have Christmas dinner at his home. We did and we had a marvellous meal. After thinking we had eaten enough for two days, we were served tea and cakes, nuts, candies, etc."

"At 5.30 some of the R.A.F. boys came back for us in a truck through the fog and blackout with lights showing not over ten feet ahead and took us back to the barracks where a Christmas party was being held."

"That night we had to make an appearance at four different parties and at each one we really tried to give the people a good impression of Canadians. At any rate we have enough invitations with which to spend our final leave even if it were six months long."

"We just received our first Canadian mail and there could not have been any more excitement if the King had arrived unannounced. One chap got a Toronto paper and by now at least 100 men have read it, although it is dated Dec. 6th."

"There is no war news in the English papers," is Army's opinion, "but you know there is a war on somewhere because wherever you are you must wear a gas mask, while signs point to air raid shelters, trenches, etc.

Sincerely,
"ARMY" ARMSTRONG.

KIWANIS ENJOY BIRTHDAY PARTY

25th Anniversary of Kiwanis International is Fittingly Celebrated

Two huge birthday cakes surrounded by lighted candles and cut flowers decorated the banquet tables at the Kiwanis luncheon Tuesday at the Queen's Hotel as the Kiwanis Club celebrated the 25th anniversary of Kiwanis International. The meeting was in charge of the Kiwanis Education Committee with Cliff Baragar, chairman, presiding after President Bill Anderson conducted the business of the meeting. Past District Governor, W. Y. Mills of Kingston gave a very timely address on the six objectives of Kiwanis, which the speaker stated, would endure for all time. The speaker was introduced by his old friend, J. O. Herity, and Kiwanis appreciation was expressed by Joe Imlah.

Past President Albert Boynton, a willing and hard working Kiwanian for five years in this club has been moved to Cornwall as superintendent of the Imperial Oil Company and the club members to show their appreciation of his work in the club presented him with a beautiful silver tray suitably inscribed. The presentation was made by Secretary George Griffin. Albert Boynton in replying stated that he always regarded Belleville as home and as soon as he retired from service he expected to return to this city to live in retirement. He thanked the club for their generous gift and invited all to visit him in his new home at every opportunity. Ralph Harris, also a member, had his last luncheon with the club as he is being moved by the National Cash Register Company to Kitchener and has joined that club. Ralph was personally well liked in the club and will be missed. In passing around the compliments Jack McVeigh was congratulated on his election to the presidency of the Retail Merchants' Association and Bruce Lattimer praised for his work in the same organization during the past year.

Secretary Given Honor.

The honor of cutting the birthday cake was given George Griffin, secretary of the club for seventeen years and first president and he in turn asked the president, Bill Anderson, to assist. It was a gala occasion and there was nearly a hundred per cent attendance at the luncheon. Ed Wilding acted as sergeant-at-arms with Harold Carruthers as song leader and Leo B. Riggs at the piano.

Jack Trudeau as chairman of the dance committee told the members it would be one of the best dances of the social season and that every member should be present as there will be amusement for those who do not care to dance. Morley Wyman, chairman of publicity, told the club there would be a Monte Carlo Night, an innovation never before introduced into the city. The dance will be held next Tuesday night and there will be a continuous flow of entertainment.

Billie Mills, as he is effectionately known among Kiwanians in this district, told the club of the fine achievements obtained by the Belleville club in the years of its existence. "Many can trace Kiwanis through the 25 years of its existence and all will say that the club was built without any selfish motives and that the organization can be compared with any organization of a similar kind in the world," said the speaker. He compared the Ku Klux Klan with the Kiwanis, both started 25 years ago, showing that the Kiwanis Club was still functioning for good, while the Klan movement had died a natural death. Mr. Mills stated that Kiwanis had not built a building, a castle, a monument nor a home but had built a spiritual house with the Golden Rule for the foundation, the moral law for the walls, lots of windows for Kiwanis work in an open book, a broad high roof shingled with peace and goodwill and large nursery to house all the crippled children in the world. "A large gallery was put around the house," said the speaker, "so that everyone might look on to see the work accomplished and a few dining rooms which can be used every week for fun and fellowship and a library filled with records of clean lives."

Looking ahead the speaker stated that Kiwanis in the next 25 years would assist in civic usefulness, vocational guidance and sponsor fact finding groups and organize community leadership. The meeting was one of the best held by the club in many years and the members were quite enthusiastic of the good times that are to follow in the year's work.

PICTON COUNCIL BUYS WOOD LOT

Mayor Casts Deciding Vote Against Granting Licence for Billard Parlor

Picton, Jan. 24—At a special meeting of the town council, Finley MacArthur and Howard Break were appointed as auditors to replace R. B. Small and Fletcher Webster, who were appointed at a previous session but who are unable to act.

The town has purchased a wood lot in Hallowell township for the sum of $700, it was reported by Jack Welsh, chairman of town property committee.

There was a lengthy discussion regarding the granting of a licence to William I. Harrison, who sought one for a pool and billiard parlor here. Some of the members argued that there were more than enough such places here and that the investment of the present licence holders should be protected. Those in favor argued that the applicant was recommended as a reliable citizen and that while the town could regulate and control, it cannot prohibit. The town clerk, F. L. Ward, K.C., stated that the matter was in the jurisdiction of council and the vote saw members evenly divided. Mayor N. McKibbon cast the deciding vote, against granting the licence.

A by-law was passed whereby after an application for a building permit had been voted on during the year that another application from the same persons or companies could not be considered during the year.

Permission was granted the Canadian National Institute for the Blind to hold a tag day in May. It was decided to investigate the matter of a toboggan slide on the school grounds for the children.

Retired Minister to Act

The Phi-Del-A-Tee Club met on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Maizie Carson, with Mr. Carson Hubbs as the guest speaker.

Rev. Dr. S. H. Roblin occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning and will continue to preach there until spring when a minister will be called. Dr. Roblin is a former minister of one of Boston's greatest churches and has been retired for some years. He accepted the invitation of the congregation and the presbytery to occupy the pulpit for several months.

Quite a number of young people from Prince Edward County are attending the Bay of Quinte Winter School in Belleville this week.

Three barbers who are brothers are now numbered among the members of Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, recruited at Picton. They are Ernest, Arthur and Frank Franklin, all sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Franklin of Picton. Frank has just become a member of the regiment, while his brothers are now overseas with their unit.

Short Course Held

The short course in agriculture at Ameliasburg hall is being well attended. The speaker at the session today (Wednesday) was Mr. O'Keefe of the Dominion Seed Branch. The course lasts for two weeks.

A wrist watch was presented to Mr. J. K. Patterson at the annual meeting of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene Monday evening. An address was read expressing appreciation of his services to the church.; Mr. Patterson has been transferred to Toronto as manager of a bank branch there.

No school was held at Wellington Consolidated School on Monday as only one of the school busses was able to make the trip.

The thermometer registered ten degrees below zero here Tuesday morning.

L.C.A. CHARGE LAID AGAINST WOMAN

Following a controversy with a Collacutt bus driver regarding the payment of her fare from Kingston to Belleville, Hattie Osborne of this city, was taken into custody by city police on a charge of breach of the Liquor Control Act last night. Miss Osborne was today lodged in the county jail awaiting trial. Today the accused woman produced plenty of cash to prove she had not intended to defraud the bus company. "I merely forgot where I had secured my money, but the driver wouldn't give me time to find it, I guess," complained the woman. The L.C.A. charge remained as laid, Sergeant Harman revealed at noon.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Mrs. Jennie Fox is in bed with a badly sprained ankle. All hope for a speedy recovery.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stewart in the sudden death of their granddaughter, Irma Barr of Mountain Grove.

There is a great deal of sickness due to flu in this vicinity.

Mr. Melvin Pulver has purchased a new radio.

FINLAND AND HER FREEDOM

"If the light of freedom which still burns so brightly in the frozen north should be finally quenched, it might well herald a return to the dark ages when every vestige of human progress during 2,000 years would be engulfed."

These were the words of Mr. Churchill regarding the heroic struggle of Finland against aggression and the part Finland has played in developing democracy.

But the light of Finland will not go out. Viscount Halifax has said that Britain's aid to Finland will not remain "an idle promise, a mere academic formality."

The Finns go on fighting against their gigantic foe. "The light of Finland which still burns so brightly in the frozen north" is one of the most amazing developments of history. Finns, always liberty-loving, though under the Czars, have of course in their blood the possibilities of what they have turned out to be—one of the brightest gems in democracy's crown. But even with the fact that in them, as in the Czechs, there has been kept alive the fire of freedom, the rapidity of the growth of Finland as a democratic state shows how the world at large really yearns for liberty so to develop as she would as a state in which there is liberty allowed to be their best for all or as Mr. Churchill puts it, "in a house of many mansions where there will be room for all."

One of the tragedies of internationalism today is indicated in Finland's case. She broke from her chains under the Czars and Germany gave her aid to sever her bondage and yet today she finds that Nazi Germany and Russia, the aggressor against Finland, are united under a pact.

That is the fate of one of the great nations of the earth. The world at large is certain that Adolf Hitler cares nothing for anything but domination and that Scandinavia, including Finland, would be a plum to his liking could he gain control there.

But Finland has the promise of League of Nation's aid. And Lord Halifax stated the other day that Britain's promise of aid will not remain an idle promise. Finland is securing aid from a number of nations, whose nationals have volunteered to serve in her armies.

It was said the other day that Finland requires 200 planes and 30,000 men and that this can stem the Russian tide.

CONTINUOUS INVESTMENTS IN CANADA'S EFFORT

The Minister of Finance for the Dominion has stated that a scheme is under way by which small investors in Canada will be able to put savings away in war-saving certificates. This will provide them with an opportunity to help the cause which is paramount in all Canadians' hearts—to bear their due share of the burden of the war in whatever field their opportunity may lie.

The success of the first war loan has been phenomenal and is an indication to the world of the faith that is Canada's in the justice of the Allied cause and in the Empire's security under the most trying circumstances of war. War has presented grave tasks and risks but in the words of the Right Hon. Winston Churchill, Britain (and the Empire) will have no fear of the ultimate triumph.

'LIBERATION' 'IS SURE'

Winston Churchill the other night placed Vienna among the capital cities of countries whose "liberation is sure."

It has been said before that Czecho-Slovakia and Poland were to be freed from German Nazi domination, but Mr. Churchill is the first Britisher officially to place Austria, whose capital is Vienna, among the states to be liberated, though there has been a general recognition that Nazi Germany must give up Austria.

So in the course of time will pass away the Hitler "empire," founded on aggression of his neighbors. Nazi No. 1 got away with the Austrian aggression though he upset the world's peace in mind. His seizure of Czecho-Slovakia first brought the nations to the fullest realization, and his incorporation of the republic's provinces into German protectorates in Moravia and Bohemia was the last straw. It showed him a world conqueror in the making. When he struck at Poland in spite of warning he made the fatal error. It was then in the nature of affairs for Hitler to act, for his whole policy had been built on aggression and conquest, boast as he did of his peaceful conquests of Austria and the Czechs. Hitler, when he had marched across the Rhine four years ago this spring took the first step on the slope towards the abyss into which he and his Nazis will tumble at last.

It will have a peculiar sting to Hitler to realize that Austria is slated by the Allies for emancipation from the Nazis when the war is over. Hitler is an Austrian by birth and became a soldier in the German army in the last war and after his climb to power in Germany became a German citizen. Then he seized his own country, Austria, in the 'anschluss" of 1938. But time will bring its changes. Then Austria, according to Mr. Churchill, will be free and the joy bells will ring.

BRITISH READINESS

Lord Halifax has indicated a belief that if Britain had not continued her rearmament program after the Munich settlement Hitler might have become the dictator of all Europe.

On that matter of rearmament the people of Britain and other lands are thankful that the Munich pact did not turn Britain from her course of preparedness. At Munich Hitler may have caught a vision of himself as universal head of the nations of the earth. But he must have soon been disillusioned when on Mr. Chamberlain's return to London, the British Prime Minister made it clear that Britain was continuing her preparedness. The course then that pleased the German chancellor was a race for an opportunity to grab more territory, Poland, but for months Britain and France blocked the way. At last the German Nazi acted. That was the height of his power.

Lord Halifax says that Germany's only chance would have been to have struck at once, and that like a bully, Hitler did not strike because he feared the intended victim might strike back and punish him.

Hitler's plan was clever enough. It required a callousness towards the rights of all individuals, it demanded absolute ruthlessness towards other states. But while he was planning his mad plans, sobriety and sanity of outlook led a democratic world in Britain and France to see what was working in that mad brain in Berlin. For that sane outlook, the world owes Britain and France a debt which can never be fully repaid. Had the Allies dawdled away in false security, Adolf Hitler might soon have looked down on the world. Then no single state could probably have held him back and the fate of the small neutrals in Europe who now are free of war, even though they have fears of Hitler's intentions, would have been doomed forever. They would have been helpless against Hitler's militarism.

Britain built all her forces against the day when Hitler should throw down the challenge by outraging Poland. She strove for peace but that plea was not listened to. His hesitation, whether caused by fear or by hopes against hopes that he might be able to woo a peace from the Allies, threw away his only chance, if he had any, of being dictator of Europe and in the course of time probable dictator of the world.

Today, Nazis led by No. 1, hate Britain because Britain has wrecked the most gigantic attempt to loot the world that humanity has ever seen. What a prize awaited Adolf Hitler could he have achieved what he aimed to do—the modern world at his feet! Richer than ever it was in history, the world would under the Hitler plan have had to acknowledge German Nazism as the supreme law of life, in morals as well as in politics.

Hitler must feel that Britain has frustrated his wild dream of an empire exceeding far that of Alexander the Great or that of Julius Caesar. He knows that he cannot drive Britain into a premature peace which would mean only a deferred war. He realizes that he must fight on until the crack of Nazism comes, hoping probably that something may turn up to save him and his associates from the doom he prepared for them. British steadiness has kept the world free, British citizens and resources stand with those of France and Poland for the downfall of a man who planned all for himself in the name of Nazism and Germany.

Lack of spleen or vengeance on the part of Britain must roil the visionary in the German chancellery. If he could only get the British to lose their temper and risk everything! But no, they are stalwart, they will not be vindictive against the foe, Hitlerism must go and be wiped out as a plan of policy among nations. Halifax said confidently, "Victory will be ours." That need cause no surprise.

The Rev. S. S. Bland, B.A., who will preach the anniversary sermons at Holloway Street Methodist Church next Sunday, is an old Belleville boy, the son of the Rev. H. F. Bland, who in the early 70's was pastor of Bridge Street Methodist Church.

At a meeting of the Belleville Athletic Club the following officers were elected: Hon. President, H. Corby, M.P.; Hon. Vice President F. A. Mitchell; President, William Carnew; Vice President, Dr. Dolan; Secretary, E. Gillick; Treasurer, W. J. Thomson; Managing Committee, Messrs. Trualsch, Beaty, Allen, McGinnis and Panter. Rooms have been secured in the Ashley Block.

50 YEARS AGO

Jan. 24th., 1890.

The ice on the bay is now in excellent condition for traffic. A large quantity of ice is being harvested.

Mr. William Smeaton has resigned the position of Secretary of the Bay of Quinte Agricultural Society.

At a meeting of the Mock Parliament in the council chamber at Shire Hall the member for Elgin introduced his bill which gives aldermen of cities the privilege of choosing the Mayor from among themselves. The Government anticipates that when this bill becomes law, it will induce a more capable set of men to enter our municipal councils as it will then be impossible to become Mayor except by first being elected an alderman. The aldermen will be elected for three years, one third retiring each year, thus leaving a sufficient number of trained members to conduct the affairs of the city in the most advantageous manner. The bill passed the house and will become law on July 1st., 1891.

U. S. Military Expert Gives Edge to Allies

Germany will attack the Allies probably in the spring, and attack them fast, with a submarine and air force that will blast the Allies to bits or fail so miserably that Germany will find herself asking for peace.

His Sole Prediction

This was the only prediction regarding the war to which Major George Fielding Eliot, foremost military expert in the United States today, would give voice in an interview with the Windsor Star.

He declared the United States had no intention of joining the Allies at the present time and he could not see that she would in the future. Opinion of Americans is definitely on the side of the Allies, but it is as definitely against taking part in any war. If the Allies should suffer defeats in the spring, United States would be even more in sympathy with them.

"But that would not make any difference regarding us going to war," declared the military expert, "for if the Allies should take a beating it would be so quick we couldn't do anything anyway. Germany would make a concerted attack with submarines and air force and it would be all over before we could get our supplies and men over there."

Gives Allies Edge

Whether Germany will win with the attack is another question. "Don't forget," he warned, "that all the operations so far on the part of the Germans have been merely experimental. These submarine raids and air raids don't mean a thing. The German military mind likes to reduce everything to mathematics; it likes to know how everything is going to work."

Major Eliot gives the Allies the edge on a victory, however, because Germany lacks oil to a great degree.

"But she does not lack food supplies," he said vehemently. "I have never read such balderdash as this stuff in the British press about Germany being near starvation. I was in Germany this summer and she has food enough to feed herself for years to come. There is no shortage of food."

At present the new English planes are better than the German, he went on to say, "but the air force of both countries are so close that the superiority is bound to fluctuate. One month the English will be better than the German. Then the Germans will bring out a new plane with superior power and the German air force will have the edge on Great Britain's. It was like that in the last war and will be like that in this."

England's Task Heavy

"Just now England is having a far more difficult time than Germany because she has to guard the Western front, while France catches up with airplane production, and she has to guard her own coast and country. Germany, on the other hand, can have all her force concentrated in the one place."

Major Eliot hurrahed the dismissal of Hore-Belisha as secretary of war.

"Watch this Sir Edmund Ironside," he said. "You can say I said that he is the big man in England today. He and Churchill are the men who will count in this war. I wouldn't be surprised to see him made secretary of war. Perhaps, as war goes on, Churchill will become prime minister and he will have some position next to him, supervising all actions. He has the name—Ironside—and the personality! He should be able to do anything. If he is not given the chance, it will be a bad blunder on the part of the prime minister."

Refutes Cooper

Major Eliot denied what the Right Hon. Alfred Duff Cooper said about Hore-Belisha being unpopular with the troops.

"I don't think that," he stated. "Duff Cooper may have suggested giving privates a chance, raising the pay and all that. But it was Hore-Belisha who put those things into effect. He was popular with the common soldier. But he was not popular with the general staff. The association of the secretary of war and the chief of the general staff is very delicate and Hore-Belisha was not the man to do his part to keep it friendly. He went against the chief and in war that does not do!"

The present secretary of war, he believes, will be wiser in his dealings with the chief of the general staff.

"He has a conservative background. He is the type of man to realize the importance of the chief. Hore-Belisha was not satisfied to have his finger in every pie; he wanted to have his whole fist in!"

Approves Scheme

The American military expert, who spent some time in Germany and also in England this summer and knows the military situation from both sides, openly declared that Canada was rushing men and ammunition as fast as possible.

"I think the Empire training scheme is being put into force as quickly as it can on a sound basis. Canada's capacity for manufacturing planes and ammunition is limited; I can't see how she can go any faster. We are putting out airplanes as fast as we can; our facilities are not so great for putting out the sort of plane wanted. We are all going hell's fire. We can't go any more quickly.

"If you rush things too fast you get into trouble. You kill off a lot of these kids and get into an awful mess", he concluded.

Scorns Russia

"The Finnish campaign certainly is proof of Russia's military ability," Major Eliot continued. "It shows Russia's true condition. No intelligent staff would have undertaken the campaign as Russia has."

The military expert shrugged his shoulders and blew smoke into the air to show disgust, with Soviet tactics.

"It is the best time of the year to stage the campaign. That's all right. The ground is hard and the troops can be moved over it. In March the ground starts to thaw and in the south it is nothing but bog and in the north the tundra is simply a sponge. By July it might be ready to go over. But that is problematical.

The problem is transportation. Russia has tried to use a single line railroad and she can't do it and get troops up there fast enough. What she should have done was to open up the Mannerheim line and then pour troops in there by the thousands. But, no, that wouldn't do! Russia wanted to put on a big, Napoleonic campaign."

Transportation Poor

Transport and supply have always been Russia's problems, Major Eliot went on to say.

"Transportation has always been lousy in Russia. It was in 1904 and again in 1914 and she hasn't learned anything since. And there isn't much that can be done about it, because the Slavic temperament thinks that way. Russia couldn't see pouring troops into Finland and taking the consequences of many casualties."

Again the military expert shrugged, "Well, that is the only way to conquer Finland!"

In the meantime, Germany plays with Russia as a cat plays with a mouse, in the opinion of Major Eliot.

"Whether Russia will be in the war in the spring depends on Germany," he declared, "for whether Russia wins in Finland depends on how much help she gets from Germany. I think it is Germany's intention to let Russia take the Baltic countries and then take them all back. For Germany is master in the Baltic and intends to remain so. Her attitude to Russia is the decisive factor and what it will be as time goes on, we don't know."

No "Nice Peace"

As for peace, Major Eliot laughed at the persons who talk about "a nice peace."

"France and England will divide Germany up into states as she was before the German Empire and keep her that way. And then," he concluded with a wry smile, "In 25 years we'll have this to do all over again."

And as for Italy, "It is insane to think of Italy doing anything at the present time. The report that she would be in the war shortly came from Communist sources for home consumption. It doesn't mean a thing. Italy will not involve herself in a war until she knows more about what is going to happen. She is vulnerable on all sides."

If Italy is vulnerable, the United States is not and Major Eliot wants to keep her with a navy up to the highest point possible and a small trained army. "We have no fear at all from any power or combinations of powers," he concluded, "we are absolutely impregnable."

THAT BODY OF YOURS

Relieving Mental and Physical Symptoms of the Menopause

It is certainly gratifying to read in medical journals and in the lay press of the great help now given to women at the menopause by the use of extracts of ovary. Almost every month one of the drug manufacturers is able to announce a new or purer form of ovary extract which has been given a real trial by hospital and private clinics. The picture is so different from the distress, embarrassment, pain, severe and dangerous mental symptoms which so often appear at this time.

"There is hardly a single form of disturbance of the whole organism which may not on occasion result from the lack of ovary extract in the body. The most distinctive mental changes are a "turning inwards" of the mind, with depression, lack of energy, and sleeplessness. There is present a state of nervous 'disharmony'."

Of the physical symptoms the commonest and most prominent is "flushing", hot flushes being present usually in about 2 of every 3 patients.

A report issued by the Medical Women's Federation states that in the great number of cases investigated, the flushing persisted off and on for about two years, in many cases for five years, and in a few cases up to ten years. A number of women even in their seventies and eighties said they had never been entirely free of flushes since the change of life.

The other physical symptoms aside from flushing, were in number, headache about 44 per cent. giddiness about 40 per cent, obesity (overweight) 34 percent., nervous instability 31 per cent, rheumatic pains about 24 percent, and bleeding (from uterus) 21 per cent.

As explained before, the action of the ovary extract is to make the "change" at this time so gradual that there is not the shock to the system which happens with the rapid loss of the natural ovary juice or extract.

Fortunately, the giving of ovary extract does not require the services of a woman's specialist—gynecologist—as the family physician is now prescribing the extract of ovary when necessary. He knows also which brand or type of ovary extract is best suited for individual cases.

Fortunately, ovary extract is just as helpful in those cases where the menopause must be brought on owing to cancer, tuberculosis or other diseases.

40th Anniversary Is Celebrated

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murney Grills on Jan. 17th when they celebrated the Fortieth anniversary of their marriage at their home on Sugar Island, Hungerford.

Mr. and Mrs. Grills were married on Jan. 17th, 1900 at the bride's home on the Third Concession of Tyendinaga by Rev. M. E. Sexsmith then the presiding Methodist Minister at Melrose. The bride was the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sherman and the groom, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Grills of Chapman, Hungerford. The bridesmaid was Miss Alberta Ross (now Mrs. C. MacFarlane, Melrose) cousin of the bride, and the groomsman was Mr. Willet Coulter cousin of the groom, now residing near Milton, Ont. Both attendants were present at the anniversary.

Immediately after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Grills took up their residence on their farm four miles south of Tweed where they have ever since resided. They have a family of two daughters, Mrs. Guy Bradshaw, Stirling and Mrs. D. W. Way, Peterboro, both of whom were present.

At about 6.30, the guests having arrived, all sat down to the table loaded with goodies and decorated with a three-storey wedding cake and a beautiful boquet of daffodils, the gift of Bethel W. M. S. to their president.

After dinner the evening was spent in visiting, games and singing.

The bridesmaid gave a short rehearsal of the original wedding in 1900, and spoke of the many changes that have taken place during that period of time. The aeroplane has become a reality and is so common that we take but little notice of one as it flies over.

The telephone has come into general use enabling farmers to talk to their friends in the far distant city. Electricity has been installed throughout the rural districts, giving the farmer all the advantages of city life; the radio that dispeller of loneliness to those living in isolated outposts of the world is to be found in nearly every home. Our friends Mr and Mrs. Grills are enjoying to the full all these inventions except the aeroplane which may come into service later on.

As a means of travelling the automobile has come into general use by leaps and bounds—in fact is a necessity.

The groom of forty years ago came to the wedding with a prancing team of well-groomed black horses before a cutter, which snowbanks could not defy, as they would the big car he now drives.

Mr and Mrs. Grills were the recipients of several beautiful and useful gifts and hearty congratulations and good wishes from many friends.

About 12 o'clock the company formed a circle around the bride and groom and sang the old familiar tune "Auld Lang Syne", and several other old songs. Miss Lucille Herrington presiding at the piano, after which the friends prepared to depart for their homes expressing the hope that they would all be prssent again in ten years at Mr. and Mrs. Grills' diamond wedding anniversary.

Cancel Church Services Because of Storms

3rd Sidney—Services were cancelled at Centenary and Aiken's Churches on Sunday owing to heavy roads caused by the snow storm of Saturday and Sunday.

The township snow plow passed over this road during the night Sunday, with traffic as usual on Monday. Many farmers who had gone to Belleville on Saturday for weekly supplies had difficulty in returning home through the storm.

Mr. Selburne Westover, who has been a patient in the Belleville General Hospital since Jan. 10th, suffering from an infected finger, is steadily improving and hopes to leave that institution soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Saylor were guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Tucker, Front Road.

Mrs. W. H. Kells is spending the winter in Belleville.

Mr. Clayton Herman is spending this week in Smith's Falls.

Several from here attended the gathering at Wallbridge last week, where the members of the official boards on the circuit, Scott's, Stone, Aiken's and Wallbridge Churches met for a social evening. This happy event was sponsored by the pastor, Rev. L. W. Scott and Mrs. Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sims are entertaining friends from Toronto, this week.

Miss Dian Kenny of Belleville is visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Latta.

Traveller Says Friday Lucky Day in United States' History

Blizzards like war make strange bedfellows—and throw together interesting conversationalists. During the blizzard that swept this district last week end travellers marooned in the city naturally sought the place most popular to their calling, where good fellowship always reigns and a body can get some to talk with and listen to.

And so it was that a reporter gently inserted himself into a group of commercial travellers in a city hotel lobby on Sunday afternoon and listened to various yarns, together with some highly educational facts.

The conversation drifted to Friday the thirteenth being an unlucky day. Many humorous anecdotes were related, both pro and con, and many stories of the antics of the famous "Thirteen Clubs" that are in vogue the world over were told.

However, by way of diversion, an American in the company produced facts in proof that Friday insofar as his country is concerned has never proven unlucky. In fact, if anything, to the contrary.

Columbus, he said, set sail from St. Malo, Spain, on Friday, Aug. 3rd, 1492. On Friday, Oct. 12, 1492, he sighted land. On Friday, Jan. 4th, 1493 he sailed for home arriving there on Friday, March, 1493. On his second voyage to Espanola he landed on Friday, Nov. 22nd, 1493 and on Friday, June 12th, 1494 he discovered the mainland.

John Cabot, the speaker said, received his commission to discover the North American continent, from Henry VIIIth on Friday, March 5th, 1496. Later Mendez founded the oldest settlement on this continent, St. Augustine, on Friday, Sept. 5th, 1565.

Pilgrims Arrive on Friday

The Pilgrim Fathers, too, were "Friday" people, the speaker said, pointing out from his statistics that the "Mayflower" reached a harbor known as Provincetown, and on Friday, Dec. 22nd, 1620, landed at the Plymouth Rock.

Turning to American history of later date, he said that George Washington was born on Feb. 22nd, 1732, a Friday; Bunker Hill was seized and fortified on Friday, June 16th, 1775; Burgoyne surrendered at Saratoga on Friday, Oct. 17th, 1777; Benedict Arnold was arrested as a traitor on Sept. 22nd, 1780, and on Friday, Sept. 19th, 1781, Lord Cornwallis surrendered at Yorktown.

The most important date in American history, he said, was Friday, July 7th, 1776, when John Adams rose in the continental congress and made his famous statement that "these United States are and ought to be, independent." Most people thought that occurred on July 4th. The paper was signed then, he said, but was not actually put into effect until the following Friday.

Incidentally the 1940 calendar carries two "Fridays the Thirteenth"—in September and December.

Pertinax Comments On Reference by Winston Churchill

Says Neutral Countries Know in Their Hearts That Allied Fleets Are Only Protection From Nazi Aggression

Paris, Jan. 24—(CP—Havas) — Neutral countries know in their hearts that the Allied fleets and armies are their only protection from Nazi aggression, Petrinax declared in the newspaper L'Ordre today.

The noted foreign affairs writer expressed surprise that neutral countries should have interpreted the speech made Saturday by Winston Churchill as a "pretention to dictate their conduct to secondary states, which have thus far stayed out of the conflict."

"The First Lord of the Admiralty simply said," Pertinax explained, "that neutrals are in a cruel and difficult position, that their lot would not become more agreeable if they surrendered to Stalin and Hitler; that if France and Great Britain should give up the fight before conquering, they would be exposed without defence to the violent enterprises of the totalitarians.

"That is all Churchill said. Why the outcry? To the detriment of our cause we respect their independence and sovereignty. Then why such protestations?"

Resentment was based on the Soviet attack on Finland, a country Canada already has aided by establishment of credit, together with the fact the wheat, once in Russia, might easily reach Germany because of close Russo-German ties.

The first order ruled "no person shall export any articles to any neutral country contiguous to territories under enemy occupation or control without having first obtained a permit issued by or on behalf of the Minister of National Revenue."

Orders Effective at Once

The order took effect immediately and, in connection with the Russian wheat order, it was learned no part of the purchase has been loaded or will be allowed a permit for export to the U.S.S.R. loading operations were due to start soon.

"Under the terms of this order, shipment of wheat to Russia or to any other country adjacent to Germany or to territory under its control can be prevented, including wheat sold recently on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to certain exporters and intended for shipment to Soviet Russia," said a statement from the Prime Minister's office.

At first, the statement said, there was no indication the wheat might be destined for Russia but as soon as it was learned there was such a possibility "the government took prompt and effective action, as indicated by the passing of the Order-in-Council."

The second order adopted adds a list of commodities which might serve a war purpose to the list of direct implements of war that need a permit for export.

THRONE SPEECH

Criticism that Ontario was not represented on the Federal Bacon Board was offered by Mr. Acres. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, had gone to Saskatchewan for the chairman when the chairman should have been either Hon. P. M. Dewan, Ontario Agriculture Minister, or his deputy.

Ontario would pay 48 to 50 per cent of war costs, said Mr. Acres, and Premier Hepburn and Lt.-Col. George Drew, Conservative leader, were well justified in criticising the federal effort. The allies were fighting for justice but Ontario hadn't had justice from the Federal Government.

'Run Out' Members Twitted.

Liberals who left the chamber rather than vote for or against Premier Hepburn's motion condemning the federal government for its "so little effort" in prosecuting the war, were twitted by Mr. Acres. Ninety per cent of the Liberals owed their seats to their leader.

"Twenty or more Liberals jumped up and rushed out like a lot of boys at recess," said Mr. Acres. Those Liberals who voted against Premier Hepburn on his motion 'should hang their heads in shame'.

"How are you going back to your constituencies and tell the people you ran out," demanded Mr. Acres.

As for Attorney-General Conant, Mr. Acres said he didn't appear to be a big enough man for the job. The legislature had been called into special session last fall to pass a new Succession Duty Act. Now it was found the Act was no good. Mr. Conant at the time had twitted Col. Drew about "barnyard law."

"But what kind of law did Mr. Conant put on the books," asked Mr. Acres.

Premier Hepburn denied Mr. Acres suggestion that only Liberal lawyers were consulted in drafting the Act. One was a Conservative and the other had no known politics.

Wants Farm Mortgages Studied

James Cooper, Liberal-Sudbury, urged that some body be set up to study farm mortgages in Northern Ontario, mortgages owing to the Province of Ontario on loans issued by the former agricultural development Board. There was no use chasing a man off a farm unless somebody else was going to use the land, said Mr. Cooper. It meant only that a farmer settler was added to city relief rolls.

"The government will take a licking on these mortgages," he said. "There's no doubt of that." He estimated $13,000,000 were owing in Northern Ontario on the government mortgages.

The northerner cautioned against neglect of highways and roads even in war time. Ontario couldn't attract tourists if her highways were not maintained properly. He praised the appointment of Douglas Oliver as Director of Tourist and Government Publicity and urged that Oliver should be given enough funds to make the department a going concern.

Tax Sales Criticized

Leslie Frost (Con. Victoria) criticized the conduct of tax sales in some Ontario municipalities. While not opposing passage of a bill to confirm tax sales, Mr. Frost said the legislature might be making itself "a rubber stamp for inefficiency, if not dishonesty."

Mr. Frost told of cases brought to his attention in which tax sales had been entered in the name of the wrong person. Tax sales should not be validated until three years after the expiration of the redemption period, he thought.

Before orders of the day were taken up, Lord Marley, Deputy Speaker of the House of Lords and Chief Labor Whip in it, spoke to the members. He told them if non-military objectives are attacked by German planes, Britain and France will not hesitate to bomb German industrial centres.

War Effort Appreciated

The British peer voiced appreciation of Canada's war effort. He said the training of Air Force pilots will turn out "perhaps to be the greatest contribution to the eventual, successful conclusion of military operations." A great factor in Canada's after-war industrial expansion would be the industrial development brought about by war.

Attorney General Conant announced that his officers were investigating a pamphlet titled "Soviet Russia and Finland," compiled by a Communist party committee under the chairmanship of William Lawson, Toronto school trustee. The pamphlet was brought to the notice of the House by Col. Drew.

FLOTILLA LEADER

Other destroyer losses were the Blanche and Gipsy, which struck mines, last November and the Duchess, which sank in a collision with another warship Dec. 13.

The Exmouth's Commander, Captain R. S. Benson, received the Distinguished Service Order last month for "successful action against enemy submarines."

Biggest individual British naval losses to date have been the 22,500-ton aircraft carrier Courageous, torpedoed Sept 18 in the English Channel; the 20,150-ton battleship Royal Oak, torpedoed Nov. 14 at Scapa Flow; and the 16,697-ton armed merchant cruiser Rawalpindi, sunk by the German pocket battleship Deutschland Nov. 25, near Iceland.

Says Losses Much Greater

Germany has acknowledged the loss only of the 10,000-ton pocket battleship Admiral Graf Spee Dec. 17, two 400-ton patrol boats and a few submarines, although Winston Churchill, First Lord of the Admiralty, declares the German losses have been much greater.

Just 25 years ago in the battle of Dogger Bank, a North Sea shoal off the English coast, the German battle cruiser Bluecher was sunk and three regular German cruisers were damaged, the Bluecher with a loss of 700 lives or more. Four British cruisers were damaged, including the Lion, flagship of Vice Admiral Sir David Beatty, before the German vessels fled.

Besides the Exmouth, losses of British and neutral merchant ships reported yesterday and today included the Norwegian steamship Sydfold, 2,433 tons, sunk by a mine or torpedoed off the Scottish coast with five of her crew missing; the 1,523-ton British freighter Baltangloa and the 1,596-ton Norwegian ship Pluto, both mined of the English northeast coast; and the Swedish steamship Foxen, 1,304 tons, sunk in undisclosed waters.

NEEDY MOTHERS

This new provision, amending Article 101, Proviso 9, applies to a dependent relative other than wife or child and the allowance will be granted only where needs is shown. The allowance for wife and two children is not affected by the change in regulations and continues to be paid as the right of the wife, regardless of her actual need.

Many Cases to be Considered

Several thousands of cases of dependent mothers remain to be considered and all such applications will be reviewed in the light of the broadened provisions, according to Arthur MacNamara chairman of the new board. Investigations will be made by extending the use of existing machinery of the Soldier Settlement and Pensions Boards, rather than by setting up a large new staff.

In his statement, Mr. Rogers said a survey by the board showed allowances are being paid to 23,000 family units dependent on soldiers in the Canadian Active Service Force and 7,000 in the Royal Canadian Air Force and that total expenditures up to Dec. 31, 1939, on allowances alone were $4,150,000, not including soldiers' pay, assigned or otherwise.

The navy has its own pay and allowance and further adjustments there must be made by the board, the minister said.

Mr. Rogers said every assistance would be given the board to dispose of the applications of dependent mothers and other relatives (exclusive of wives and children) still to be handled.

Adjustments will be retroactive to the date of the new provisions, Jan. 1, 1940.

WM. C. BISHOP,

Answering a suggestion from Premier Hepburn that purchase of the club was made to help the Eglinton Hunt out of financial difficulties, the Defence Minister said: "Our interest was solely in the acquisition of that property for an initial training school."

The Acting Deputy Minister of Defence, Col. K. S. MacLachlan, termed it "one of the happiest things we have hit upon." He said buildings and grounds are worth about $500,000.

Mr. Rogers also said the technical training school now in operation at St. Thomas, Ont., mental hospital building is progressing satisfactorily. Here, too, he was replying to criticism from Premier Hepburn.

"To suggest the training school at St. Thomas has failed to meet expectations because it is not at full strength is a mistaken conception," said Mr. Rogers.

Site Considered

When questioned about whether the offer of the Ontario government to turn over the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ont., to the Federal government for use as an air training centre would be accepted, Mr. Rogers said the site is being considered along with several others and no decision has been reached yet.

It was recalled to the Minister that Mr. Hepburn had said Ontario was not particularly anxious to hand over O.A.C. until more adequate use was made of the St. Thomas property.

Mr. Rogers said "the Ontario government and governments of other provinces have undertaken to co-operate in the development of the air training plan as well as in other features of the war effort of the country."

MINTO Y.P.L.

League was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clements, Minto, on Thursday evening, with a good attendance despite the cold weather. The meeting opened with quiet music and short poem read by the president, Miss Norma Sarles. All joined in singing a hymn. after which Mr. Delve led in prayer. Business was then discussed. Ivan Sarles took charge of the opening with a hymn, the Lord's Prayer and Scripture was read by Ethel Hagerman.

A reading was given by Ida Clements, entitled "So Big." Mr. E. Sarles conducted a quiz contest. A piano solo was given by Miss Norma Sarles. The topic was given by Miss Alta Hanna on Citizenship. Reading entitled "Work for Small Men", given by Mabel Twiddy. Meetng closed with Hymn 146 dy. Meeting closed with Hymn 146 was conducted by Miss Alta Hanna. Candy and apples were then served.

WEDDINGS

SWEETE—INSLEY

Point Anne, '(Special)—On Saturday, January 20, 1940, at St. George's Rectory, Trenton, there took place the marriage of Ruth Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Insley, Point Anne, to Pte. Leonard Charles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sweete of Trenton. Rev. F. Arthur Smith, rector of St. George's Church performed the ceremony. The young couple were unattended. The groom is with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment at Picton.

LEE—DRUMM

St. Mary's Church, Grafton, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday morning, January 20th., at ten-thirty o'clock when Marion Josefa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Drumm, Colborne, became the bride of Sgt. Patrick Frederick Lee, R.C.A.F., Vancouver. son of Mrs. P. J. Lee and the late P. J. Lee of Belleville. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Galvin.

Chrysanthemums and ferns adorned the church for the occasion. Miss M. Drumm, cousin of the bride, played wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a smart frock of stone blue crepe with brown accessories and corsage of Briarcliffe roses.

Miss Rita Drumm, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid wearing ashes of roses crêpe with black accessories and corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. Frank Lee of Belleville, twin brother of the groom, was groomsman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Lee, Colborne, aunt and uncle of the bride and groom. Mrs. Drumm, mother of the bride, wore black crepe with black accessories and corsage of American Beauty roses and Mrs. Lee, mother of the groom, was attired in black sheer with black accessories and corsage of American Beauty roses.

Later the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to Montreal and eastern points. For travelling the bride donned a brown coat trimmed with mink, with brown accessories. Upon their return they will reside in St. Thomas, Ont.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mrs. P. J. Lee, Misses Helen and Patricia Lee, Messrs. Frank and Edward Lee all of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Collins, Miss Andrews, Miss Lillian Earle, Mr. Almer Hannah all of Toronto.

STEENBURG—FRENCH

Picton, Jan. 24.—((Special)—The marriage of Gena Lorraine French, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman L. French, Consecon, to William James Steenburg, Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anson Steenburg, Trenton, was solemnized at Grace Street United Church, Trenton, Rev. Geo. Campbell officiating.

The bride was in Queen's blue sheer embroidered in gold sequins, street length. She wore a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Steenburg were the attendants, Mrs. Steenburg being in navy sheer over floral crepe with navy accessories.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents for the immediate families. Mr. and Mrs. Steenburg are residing at Trenton, R. 6.

The devotional exercises were in charge of Mrs. Erle Denyes, assisted by Mrs. N. Hall Sr., Mrs. S. Parks and Mrs. C. Beatty. The theme was "The World Outlook of Jesus." An inspiring talk on the life of N. V. Tilak, Indian Hymn writer was given. Mrs. Denyes closed with the words used by King George the VI in his Christmas message.

"And I said to the man who stood at the gate of the year,

"Give me light that I may tread safely into the unknown.

"And he replied, "Go out in the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God.

"That shall be to you better than light and safer than the known way."

Mrs. Ralph Wilder 1st group leader assisted by Mrs. N. Hall, Sr., Mrs. H. Palmer, Mrs. Erle Denves, Miss V. Prindle, Mrs. C. Hall Mrs. D. Hall presented the second chapter of the study book, "Moving Millions." Mrs. Arthur Hall, and Mrs. Bernice Moore rendered solos. A reading was given by Mrs. R. Wilder "The World's Bible."

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

BETHANY W. M. S.

The January meeting of the Bethany W. M. S. was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wm. Casey with an attendance of fifteen.

The President, Mrs. Osland opened the meeting. The installation of officers for 1940 was conducted by Rev. A. Armstrong.

Business was discussed and the Treasurer, Mrs. F. Walker reported the society had raised $164.00 during the year.

The Scripture lesson divided in six parts was read by Mrs. G. Sills, Mrs. Rits, Mrs. Casey, Mrs. O. Beer, Mrs. A. Miller and Mrs. Eggleton. While the offering was being received little Garnet Sills sweetly sang, "Hear the Pennies Dropping."

The Study Book on India was given by Mrs. Clarke in a very interesting manner after which all joined in singing a hymn. A reading "Peace, Peace When There is No Peace", was given by the Peace Secretary, Mrs. A. Miller at the close of which all the members read "A Prayer in Time of War," taken from the Missionary Monthly followed by another reading, "The Missionary Potato", by Mrs. Bradshaw.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. A. Armstrong all repeating the Mizpah Benediction. The offering amounted to $3.25.

WIN FIGURE SKATING HONORS

Norah McCarthy and Ralph McCreath paired and singly captured the prize plums of the Canadian figure skating championships held in Ottawa. Miss McCarthy and McCreath, both of the Toronto Skating Club, paired to win the senior pairs title, which they won last year. Miss McCarthy also walked off with the senior women's crown singles, dislodging Mary Rose Thacker, of Winnipeg. McCreath glided to an easy victory in the men's singles championship.

APPEARED IN BELLEVILLE

Miss McCarthy skated in Belleville last winter in connection with the V.O.N. Charity Ice Carnival and won loud praise for her gracefulness. This year Miss Shirley Halstead, also of the Toronto Skating Club and junior doubles champion skater of Canada, will skate at the annual V.O.N. ice carnival to be held at the Belleville Arena on Friday night. The "Minto Four" of the Minto Skating Club in Ottawa, as well as Dennis Ross, men's junior singles Canadian skating champion, will also appear at the Belleville V.O.N. show Friday night.

More Shine in the Eyes

By HELEN FOLLETT

LUBRICATING the eyelids is a part of each day's beauty duties. How many women do it? Not many. The majority powder the shutters of the soul windows and that should get them a black mark. Glitter on the lids puts shine in the eyes. Try it and see.

Use a light cream or cleansing oil for this purpose; massage cream of heavy consistency won't do because only a light film should be applied. This practice is grand to make the seductive eyewinkers thick and curly. Apply the oil to the roots, friction lightly.

As we are on the subject of face decorating, let us remind the clientele that you can't patch up a make-up design. This business of calcimining your nose every hour or so with a pad of uncertain reputation—it has that if it has been in use for even a week—is against the laws of good grooming. Make a synthetic face for yourself in the morning, remove the pigment before the dinner hour and lay on a new one.

See that the lip cream is applied smoothly with an even edge; that cheek rouge is not blobby, but skilfully blended with powder; that eyebrows are brushed and glossed with oil, ear lobes touched with faint pink.

These priceless aids show up at their best when the skin is in good condition. To have it that way you must eat wisely, exercise and bathe daily, drink plenty of water.

This preacher of pulchritude can't hand the dry shampoo anything but a sneer. It is poor makeshift; the only excuse for its use is the poor sick lady who can't get out of bed to have her hair washed. It belongs to long-ago days when women were not as well educated as they are now concerning the art of good grooming.

DOROTHY TREE . ..whose beauty duties include lubrication of eyes.

Equal parts of yellow cornmeal and orris root are used, fluffed over the head from a sugar shaker. The powder must be well distributed. It picks up oil and dust.

Brushing must be prolonged and thorough. A final grooming is given with a brush, the bristles of which are covered with absorbent cotton.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Domestics Who "Live In" Should Be Able to See Friends

Dear Miss Fairfax:

A girl friend of mine is a domestic and "lives in". She has no home in the city, where she is employed, and must entertain her friends in the home of her employer. Would it be permissible for her to have me visit her alone? She doesn't think it would look right. But I feel, since that is her home and the only place she has to see friends, it would be O.K.

It's not much pleasure, these cold evenings, visiting in a park traipsing 'round streets, or sitting in a parked auto.

Charles

It's distinctly proper in the case of a girl who "lives in" to receive her friends in her employers house, if they are willing for her to have company. And they would be unkind, not to say unhuman, if they objected to it. These days when kitchens and kitchenettes can be made so attractive, girls whose parents incomes are in the upper brackets often have kitchen parties for a lark.

In fact, one of the leading glamour girls, growing utterly weary of the constant snapshots, invited a dozen of her closest friends to a kitchen party. and to prove she could do more than look pleasant and be photographed, prepared a delicious chafing dish supper for them all. By all means, call on the girl friend. .

Engaged to a Man. in her .Home Town

Dear Miss Fairfax

I've fallen head over heels in love with a girl, whom I met at a party about three months ago. She has just informed me that she's engaged to a man in her home town. Although she claims to love me as much as I love her, she says she's going to keep her promise and marry this other fellow.

I'm not making enough to marry at the present time, as I have ob- fall occurred in a June. Tre marrying for money, because her fiance is making only an ordinary salary. If she'd only wait, I feel sure my prospects would brighten, as there is chance for advancement in my position. Why will a girl do these things?

Desperate

A girl who is willing to marry one man while she's in love with another is not keeping faith with either man, or herself.

Some girls, to get out of a difficult situation, say they will "always love" a certain man when they intend to marry someone else. Either her feelings are unstable or she's not quite truthful. Take a brace; the world is full of charming girls who will make a better wife for you than this one.

She Loves a Married Man

Dear Miss Fairfax

I've been in love with a married man for several months. His wife hasn't been well, and is just returning from a sanitarium. She will require much medical treatment before she is entirely recovered, but he is able to take care of her, although she has money in her own right.

I have tried to forget him, but it seems impossible. He tells me he loves me too, but will not leave his wife while she is ill. He also says he's going to explain to his wife about us, but what if she overlooks our affair, and dismisses it as an infatuation? Please help us solve our problem.

Wondering

Let's be literal. Suppose, when the married man tells his sick wife about you, that the effect of this disclosure makes her even more ill or costs her her life—how would you feel? If you read my column, you must know I don't hold with these married men affairs. I've had too many letters from girls telling me how the alleged woes of married men moved them "till they gave all", and then found themselves when most in need of protection that it was not forthcoming.

The best way to get over one of these married men crushes is to take an interest in an eligible man who is single.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Speaking of Husband and Wives

When a woman speaks of her husband to a friend, she speaks of him as "John". To an acquaintance she speaks of him as "my husband". In the same way, a man speaks of his wife as "Mary" to friends and as "my wife" to acquaintances. To servants or any other employees and to tradespeople a wife speaks of her husband as "Mr. Smith" and the husband speaks of his wife as "Mrs. Smith".

Anniversary Dinner

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

I am planning to give a dinner at a hotel for about twenty members of our immediate families, to celebrate our twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. I am turning to you for help. Will you please help me?

1—First, how should we invite our guests? Would a written note be all right?

2—Are corsages for the ladies and single flowers for the gentlemen necessary? When should they be presented . . . should they be sent to their homes or to the dining-room?

3—What service am I to expect from the hotel management when I make the engagement for the occasion I really don't know the first thing about such things, and I do so want to do the right thing. Thank you, if you will tell me.

I.

1—Since your guests are to be members of your immediate families, the most natural and convenient way for you to invite them is by word of mouth or by telephone. If some of them live too far away for this, notes of invitation would be suitable.

2—It isn't "neecssary" to have corsages for the women guests and boutonniers for the men guests, but these will give a delightful and gala touch to your party. The best thing to do is to have them sent, or take them, to the hotel, and just before the dinner have them placed at the places. Then they add first to the festive appearance of the table-setting.

To add another festive note to the table and to the occasion, I would have place cards. As symbolic of the twenty-fifth anniversary, you might be able to find some white cards with silver edging, and then write the names of the guests in silver ink. If you make a definite diagram of your seating-arrangements, you should go to the hotel dining-room before the party and place the place cards and the corsages and boutonnieres at the proper places.

3—I'm glad that you asked me this question, for if you do your party-planning and arrangements carefully and definitely beforehand, you will have a so much more relaxed and happier time during your dinner. When you go to the hotel, ask for whoever is in charge of the dinner arrangements. Tell him the number of guests, discuss with him his menu-suggestions, the number of waiters you want for your table, and (very important, too) the centrepiece. These attendants are so accustomed to making party arrangements that they will suggest or ask you about any other details that need discussing.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, January 25

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

WHILE this may be a day of excellent promise. with major interests moving at high pressure, there also aer signs of sudden disruptions and upsets of devastating force. The outcome will depend upon the restraint, sagacity and acumen brought to bear on critical situations in which high objectives and interests are at stake. Through carelessness, impetuosity and over-eithusiasm there might be sharp reversals, with domestic reactions.

Those whose birthday it is, although promised a year of excellent opportunity for high attainments and fulfilled ambitions, are also likely to defeat such favorable auguries by rash, over-zealous or too strenuous modes of attack, thus precipitating drastic reversals. These may have devastating effect on the private relations. Make changes with due consideration.

A child born on this day may be efficient energetic and ambitious. but restless or ratic tendencies may provoke its defeat. as its fine qualities may rate but mediocre success.

FRETFULNESS IS BABY'S CALL FOR HELP

FRETFULNESS is not natural. It is a sign of trouble. A warning alarm to which you must quickly respond.

Read how Mrs. George Mitchell responds: "I have found Baby's Own Tablets so helpful when my baby gets irritable and upset. I give him one or two tablets and in a short time he is relieved and sleeps so soundly."

And Mrs. Stewart McEachern says, "When my baby shows signs of fever or fretfulness I give her Baby's Own Tablets which change her to a good baby."

Baby's Own Tablets also bring quick relief from diarrhoea, colic, upset stomach, simple croup, colds, constipation, teething troubles, summer complaint and simple fever.

Fashion Flashes

NEVER ENOUGH dinner dresses. A beauty is in sheer woolen in a lovely shade that is a mixture of gray and beige. The neckline is embroidered in a wide band of coral beads and tiny rhinestones and there are embroidered peg-top pockets on the full skirt.

DISTINGUISHED is a nice adjective to apply to an evening gown made for the smart matron. A beauty is in black slipper satin striped with black moire. Full skirt and bodice has drapery in back.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Mental Health of Children

I have a letter from a parent who complains that in these columns I give too much attention to the pure physical side of the child's life, and neglect the mental and spiritual elements in his fundamental makeup.

Well, I am only a physician, an M.D. But I must admit that thirty years as a family doctor has shown me how great are the moral and mental factors in health problems, and I have had a lot to do with them.

I know that mental health of the child is frequently more neglected by parents than his physical needs and care. I know, too, that it is the height of folly for a parent to give so much attention to developing a fine physique in a boy or girl while ignorng the moral necessities. Physcians always keep in mind both the physical and mental factors involved. The latter is often the bigger problem. Keeping a child physically well is the doctor's job, but he can do a lot to improve mental health also. But he must be cautious about it.

A great many times I have felt called upon to go to parents with advice about the rearing of the family. Sometimes it has been welcomed, sometimes it has lost me friends.

I think the greatest assistance can be given toward building up the child's mental health and cultivating the cheerful, winning personality you want him to have is to maintain a happy, pleasant home life. A child whose parents are constantly quarrelling, always nagging each other, acquires their tenseness. If he sits through every meal, nervously awaiting for his mother or father to fly into a rage, an indelible mark is going to be made on his character.

There are some who, though they love their children deeply, unthinkingly involve the children in the family arguments and bid for their sympathies against the father or mother. Or they criticize a child to spite the other parent.

If such parents lose the respect of their children, if the children get warped viewpoints about human relationships from the constant bickerings they have to endure in their own homes, the parents have only themselves to blame.

It isn't sufficient for parents just to pretend to be getting along, to keep the explosions in check while the children are around. A child's senses are very acute. He can detect unhappiness in the home, and when he does he will react to it very quickly and very definitely.

There have been times in the nursery here in Callander, when some of the staff have had differences. You know you can't keep a staff of eight or nine people secluded in a hospital without clashes in personalities cropping up from time to time. Of course, these little differences are never shown in front of the children. Our nurses would never let such a thing happen. Yet they have told me themselves that when two members of the staff were at odds, the Quintuplets seemed to sense that there was trouble and to be depressed by it. I am glad to say that because our staff is aware of this sensitiveness to a quarrelsome atmosphere, they are careful not to indulge in any outbursts of temperament.

$30,000,000 Naval, Air Purchasing Program Outlined by Hon. C.D. Howe

NAVAL AND AIR PURCHASE PLANS ARE OUTLINED

$30,000,000 Program Outlined by Transport Minister Howe

46 ANTI-SUB BOATS

Ottawa, Jan. 24 (CP).—A broad purchasing program of naval units and aircraft involving well over $30,000,000 and taxing Canadian shipyards and aircraft manufacturers to their capacity, was outlined today by Transport Minister Howe on behalf of the War Supply Board.

Orders have been or are being placed for 46 steel anti-submarine boats of the "whale-catcher" design used in the Royal Navy, 28 minesweepers for which tenders will be opened next Feb. 8, and a large fleet of small aircraft salvage motor boats, lighters and loaders.

Parts For 4,000 Planes Ordered.

For the British Commonwealth Air Training Scheme in Canada, the parts for about 4,000 craft have been ordered in Canada, Great Britain and the United States.

It was estimated the 46 anti-submarine boats would cost about $25,000,000 but no figures were given for the other boats or the aircraft.

Other undertakings now in hand, the minister said, included the manufacture of a large number of machine gun carriers, a motorized vehicle with caterpillar wheels carrying machine guns, ammunition and crews for speedy action in the field. It was not indicated where these would be made but the minister said they would be "quite expensive".

The minister also said a large, privately-owned gun factory in Sorel, Que., would soon enter upon production of a British order for cannon of the 25-pounder class.

Air Training Plan Orders.

For the air training program the following machines and parts have been ordered in the United Kingdom; 854 Fairey battle planes, complete; 1,622 Anson fuselages without wings, for which wings will be built and added in Canada; 227 Rolls Royce Merlin engines; 227 air screws (propellers); 823 Cheetah engines and 509 de Havilland Gypsy Major engines.

The following orders for aircraft for the training scheme have been placed in Canada: 404 Fleet trainers; 404 de Havilland Tiger Moths trainers and 100 Noorduyn North American Harvard trainers.

In the United States orders for the air training scheme call for 509 Kinner engines and 517 Harvard trainers on which production has started and deliveries are expected shortly.

Worth of Bombers.

In addition to these air training scheme orders, placed in collaboration with the British government which, as its share in the scheme, provides the machines, the war supply board has ordered for the normal use of the Royal Canadian Air Force in Canadian defence operations, $10,000,000 worth of bombers and other types, of which about 75 per cent will be spent within Canada.

In connection with the plane orders, Mr. Howe emphasized that no motors are manufactured in Canada and all are being ordered either in England or the United States.

The Minister said also that these orders were all that could be efficiently accepted at the moment and that once production caught up with demand they would be increased. This was particularly true of the order for 100 Harvard trainers.

Arensal Greatly Enlarged

Mr. Howe described operations of the Supply Board in other directions. The Quebec Arsenal, he said, has been greatly enlarged and is working to full capacity.

The Inglis plant in Toronto which has an order for 12,000 Bren machine guns for the British and Canadian Governments is about three months ahead of production schedule and will start deliveries in April instead of July as called for in the contract, Mr. Howe said.

Considerable orders had been placed for both the United Kingdom and Canada for cartridge cases, fuses and primers and Mr. Howe said the Government looked for a large development in the manufacture of explosives.

$60,000,000 Orders Since July

Because the British Government had a large pre-war supply of ammunition and casings and because there had been little wastage so far in the war, orders for type of munitions had not been heavy but they could be produced on short notice when needed.

Reviewing the operations of the Defence Purchasing Board and its successor, the War Supply Board, the Minister said orders placed by both, from July 14, 1939, when the Defence Purchasing Board started operations, to Jan. 22, 1940, amounted to about $60,000,000.

The Defence Purchasing Board was transformed into the War Supply Board, under Chairmanship of Wallace R. Campbell, last Nov. 1. The total figures for the former organization were $41,000,000 and for the War Supply Board up to Jan. 22, $19,000,000 but these figures do not take into account numerous small orders under $5,000.

In addition there had been authorizations since Jan. 1 of $13,400,000. Orders for the 46 steel anti-submarine boats are being given progressively on the basis of an established price.

Ship Building

Mr. Howe said the question of building ships for war purposes was being worked out but he had no comment on the possibility of merchant vessels being built in Canadian yards. Canada would build what she was best equipped to handle, the others would be built in Great Britain.

Deliveries on the 46 anti-submarine boats would start late in the fall and be completed in 1941, the minister said. For the air service two ammunition lighters are now under construction, one for the Atlantic and the other for Pacific coast stations.

Two Provision Lighters

Two provision lighters are being built for the east coast and five refuelling scows for the west coast. In addition there will be eight 38-foot wooden motor "crash" boats for aircraft salvage operations, five for the Pacific and three for the Atlantic coasts.

Other units of this small boat fleet for which tenders are out include seven 18-foot aircraft tenders, six for the west coast and one for the east and 17 small boats of 18 feet to be used in loading bombs on seaplanes on both coasts. Total cost of these small boats for the air service is estimated at $300,000.

Deliveries

The Minister gave some indication of the speed with which manufacturers have been able to fill orders for personal equipment in the following figures showing type of equipment, quantity ordered and quantity so far delivered:

Battle dress trousers, 100,000 ordered and 46,356 delivered; Battle dress blouses, 100,000 and 48,190; Blankets, 235,000 and 195,596; Ankle boots, 120,000 and 113,235; Suspenders, 89,500 and 83,784; Button sets, 109,500, delivered in full-tooth-brushes, 129,500 and 94,000; Caps (comforters) 84,500, all delivered; Field service caps ,73,000 and 42,500; British warms (overcoats) 675, all delivered; Grey drab coats, 5,000 ordered and all delivered, and 15,000 subsequently ordered; Combs, 109,500 and 94,000; Field dressings, 42,000 and 35,000; Holdalls, 99,000 and 50,600; Housewives (clothes repair kit), 118,000 and 42,000; Kit bags, 59,500 and 32,000; Knife, fork and spoon sets 189,000 all delivered; Razors, 74,500 all delivered; Razor blades, 465,000, all delivered; Khaki wool shirts, 95,000 and 24,600; Socks 305,000 and 176,500; Towels, 139,000 and 130,000, and underwear suits, 183,600 and 168,000.

CANADIAN "LADIES FROM HELL" PRACTICE GOING OVER THE TOP AT ENGLISH TRAINING DEPOT

Undergoing extensive training in the various phases of modern warfare, men of the First Division of the C.A.S.F. are rapidly being whipped into readiness for the time when they may be needed for action in France. Men of the Toronto Scottish are shown here putting on a very realistic exhibition as they engage in field bayonet practice at their training camp in England. As in the last war, the Canadian troops will maintain their identity as fighting units during their training period and later in the field.

FIRE DESTROYS TRENTON HOME

Some of the Furniture in Lower Part of Home Removed

Trenton, Ont., Jan. 24—(Special)—Fire, originating from an overheated stove, completely destroyed the house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester McCoy on Leopold Street late yesterday afternoon. Only a few household effects on the first floor of the house were recovered from the burning building. Included in the loss was $70 of new clothes recently purchased by a daughter of the family.

Mrs. McCoy was alone in the house when flames suddenly breaking out, sent her to a telephone one half-mile away to summon help. This fact, it is believed, is one of the reasons the property was not saved, as the Trenton Fire Department which raced to the scene of the blaze immediately upon receiving the alarm were forced to lay 2,500 feet of hose in order to play water on the burning building.

The McCoy home is situated on the outskirts of the town and housed six of a family. The loss is estimated at $1,000.

GENERAL LAFLECHE GOES TO PARIS

Is Appointed Military Attache to Canadian Legation

Ottawa, Jan. 24 (CP). — Major-General L. R. LaFleche has been appointed military attache to the Canadian Legation at Paris and Air Commodore W. R. Kenny has been appointed air attache at Washington, it was announced today.

Owing to ill health, Major-General LaFleche has been on sick leave since September from his duties as Deputy Minister of National Defence. He has been granted extended leave to take up his new duties and will leave for Paris within a few weeks.

The nominations were made by Defence Minister Rogers and approved by the King. The appointments were made by order-in-council on recommendation of Prime Minister Mackenzie King as Secretary of State for External Affairs.

Major-General LaFleche and Air Commodore Kenny inaugurate a new phase in Canada's diplomatic relations. They will form part of the staff of the respective legations and will report to the head of the legation as well as to the Minister of National Defence.

The military attache at Paris will maintain contact with the French military authorities and with their co-operation will keep Canada's Minister of National Defence informed on military developments including new arms and equipment, mechanical transport, military organization, strategy and tactics and other phases of the entire war effort of France. His duties in France will take him from time to time to the front where he served with the Canadian forces in the first great war.

The air attache at Washington will report on the progress of aviation in the United States. He will study the technical developments, the availability of supplies of aircraft, replacements and munitions, the production of new types, new materials and all other matters pertaining to air defence, and in general keep the Minister of National Defence fully cognizant of air developments in that country.

Britain Has Plan To Halt Practice

London, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Ministry of Economic Warfare announced today it had a plan to halt German-American sympathizers cabling United States dollars to the Netherlands for food purchases to be shipped to Germany.

The ministry declared the food actually took about a quarter of the money and the remainder went into Germany's foreign exchange reserve.

Details of the plan to halt the practice were not revealed but officials said no representations had been made to the United States or the Netherlands.

In New York yesterday the Fortra Corporation said a system of "wirelessing" food to Germany had been set up in fifteen United States cities and was doing an annual business of $1,000,000. Under the plan, dollars are telegraphed to the Netherlands where butter and other foodstuffs are purchased and then forwarded to persons in Germany.

Bulgaria for Peace And Strict Neutrality Says Premier

Istanbul, Jan. 24—(CP—Havas)—Bulgaria intends to stay neutral but wants amends for wrongs it believes it has suffered in the past, Premier George Kiosseivanoff was quoted as telling the Sofia correspondent of the Turkish newspaper Tan today.

"The only goal of our policy is to keep peace," Tan quoted Kiosseivanoff as saying. "Our only object is strict neutrality."

Does Reorganization Mean More Oil is to Go to Germany, Britain Asks

Reports Heard in London of German Project to Lay Pipe Line Through Russian Poland to Rumanian Oil Fields — Normal Commercial Contracts Must Not be Interfered With, is British Attitude

London, Jan. 24—(CP)—Great Britain is consulting Rumania to determine whether the recent reorganization of the Rumanian oil industry means more oil is to go to Germany, officials said today. This development coincided with reports here that the Germans are considering a pipe line through Russian Poland to the Rumanian oil fields.

Rumania recently created a national oil control board with wide powers, and Britain and France yesterday warned her that any attempt to compel British and French companies in Rumania to furnish oil to Germany might lead to "grave complications."

The official Rumanian News Agency in London asserted today that the creation of the oil control board was aimed at coordinating production, consumption and export of oil and "should not give reason for apprehension aboard."

A British spokesman said that cases have recently been noted in which the Rumanian government failed to approve contracts covering oil bought from Rumanian companies by agencies of the Allies, and had failed to grant export licenses for such oil.

Britain, said the spokesman, is concerned and wants to see that Rumania does not interfere with normal commercial contracts with the Allies. Eighty per cent of Rumania's oil companies are foreign-owned, with British, French and American interests heavily represented.

Hastings County Receives Highest Proportion Cheese Bonus in District

Cheese Factory Patrons Enriched by $55,661.96 During Time Bonus Was Paid

TENTH OF TOTAL

Nearly fifty-six thousand dollars found their way into the pockets of cheese-factory patrons of Hastings County during 1939 through the medium of the bonus paid by the Dominion Government on cheese scoring 93 and 94, Chief Dairy Grader James Irwin stated today.

This amount, Mr. Irwin added, did not constitute bonus paid on the entire season, for it did not come into effect until June of last year. Evidence that Hastings County is one of the best cheese-producing counties in this district is seen in comparative figures released by Mr. Irwin's office.

Hastings County patrons received $55,661.96; Addington, $7,245.40; Frontenac, $26,230.51; Lennox $14,001.03; Northumberland, $15,493.19; Peterborough, $8,593.51; Prince Edward, $13,578.14 and Victoria $1,003.73.

Of the total of $506,677.41 bonus paid to cheese patrons of the entire Dominion, Ontario received, $482,106.00; Prince Edward Island, $1,998.93; New Brunswick $551.45; Quebec, $77,566.08; Manitoba, $2,718.87; Saskatchewan $461.47 and British Columbia, $1,274.61. There are no cheese factories in Nova Scotia.

Cold Brings Much Discomfort to South

Atlanta, Jan. 24 (AP)—Falling temperatures brought added hazards and discomforts today to a snow-blanketed mid-south section of the United States.

The snowfall, deepest of a generation in many areas, turned to a coat of paralyzing ice in sub-freezing weather and created hazardous conditions on highways and city streets.

Ranging from a depth of two to 20 inches, the snow covered an area from Southern Georgia westward through mid-Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana to Texas. It extended northward to Tennessee, the Carolinas and Virginia.

Louisiana reported seven deaths from cold weather, Mississippi, five.

Schools were closed in many cities and rural areas of Louisiana, North Alabama and Georgia, east Tennessee and Virginia.

Northern Florida shivered in freezing or near-freezing weather and citrus and truck growers further south, prepared for colder weather.

Two hundred and seventy Alabama National Guardsmen, on a training trip, were snowbound near Guntersville, Ala., and a truck carried food and tire chains to them from Montgomery.

2 Boys of Five Strip Covers Off Infant in Carriage and Pummel It

Iroquois Falls, Ont., Jan. 24.—(CP)—A three-months-old baby was recovering today from effects of cold and a beating after two boys, each about five years old, stripped the covers off the infant in below zero weather and attacked it with their fists.

The baby's mother had left the child in its carriage in the street while shopping and the two boys proceeded to pummel the infant, causing a severe nose bleed and inflicting bruises and a black eye. A passerby halted the attack and the boys fled. Although pursued, they escaped.

The baby was taken to the hospital and later home, where its condition was said favorable.

Women's Auxiliary of Y.M.C.A. Serves Turkey Dinner

The delicious turkey supper at the Y.M.C.A. last evening sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Y.M.C.A. was a most delightful event and well attended. The tables which were decorated with beautiful flowers and laden with tempting food presented a pleasing appearance to the guests.

There were several who took the opportunity of entertaining their friends by reserving tables. There was also a special table reserved for teachers.

Dr. J. Semple offered prayer. Rev. Cochrane of North Bay and Rev. McLachlin of Havelock, were also present as guests of Dr. Semple.

Mrs. Shortt, the president of the Association whose outstanding ability to cater to assemblies of this kind was very grateful with the results of her efforts.

Much credit for the success of the supper is due to Miss Forman and her committee of Mrs. J. Boyd, Mrs. Calnan and Mrs. Roblin, who with the assistance of other members made full arrangements and most capably carried them out.

A group of the High School girls carried out the duties of serving most efficiently.

WAR BRIEFS

London, Jan. 24—(CP) — Nine sailors from the sunken Swedish steamship Foxen clung to a wave-swept raft in the North Sea but only one lived to tell about it.

Stig Bergstrom, 27, Swedish sailor, was picked up by the Norwegian steamship Leka after four days. Eight fellow crewmen, including his brother, perished before help arrived, Bergstrom said when he reached here today.

The Foxen sank Jan. 18 after an explosion.

Berlin, Jan 24—(AP)—Adolf Hitler praised Frederick the Great and his soldiers as "examples of soldierly virtue" to 7,000 future officers of the army and air force in the Sports Palace today.

Hitler told the cadets about the "meaning and vital necessity of the battle the German people are waging."

Brussels, Jan. 24—(AP)—The 726 ton Belgian freighter Meuse with a crew of seven was feared lost today. The Meuse has not been reported since she advised Jan. 18 that she was enroute to Zeebrugge.

Melbourne, Jan. 24 — (CP-Reuters)—Five thousand men of the Australian Imperial Force in the State of Victoria marched in the streets of Melbourne today.

The troops, shortly to embark for service overseas, were cheered by an enormous crowd.

Shanghai, Jan. 24 (AP)—Repercussions of Japanese feeling against Great Britain for halting the Japanese liner Asama Maru and removing 21 Germans from it last Saturday were reported from Tientsin today.

British and other foreign employees of British companies were kept waiting in bitter cold at the entrances to the blockaded British and French concessions in Tientsin instead of being allowed to pass straight through the barriers as customarily.

London, Jan. 24 (CP)— The Queen, Commandant-in-Chief of Auxiliary Territorial Service, today visited the organization's staff headquarters at the War Office.

London, Jan. 24 (CP)—Alphonse Rio, French Merchant Marine Minister, arrived here today from Paris for a conference on wartime problems with Sir John Gilmour, shipping Minister.

London, Jan. 24 (CP)—The Japanese Ambassador, Manoru Shigemitsu, conferred with Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax today on the Japanese protest against British removal of German seamen from the Japanese steamship Asama Maru.

The Foreign Office was said to be preparing a reply to the protest, dealing with the legal phases.

London, Jan. 24 (CP Cable)—The stewards of the Jockey Club today announced the Kempton Park Easter race meeting and the Epsom spring and summer meetings will be abandoned.

This means the Derby will not be run at Epsom. It is likely that substitute races for both the Derby and the Oaks will be run at Newmarket, as was the case during the war years 1915-18.

Hong Kong, Jan. 24 (CP) — The Central News Agency, a Central Chinese Government Service, represented today Kwangsi Province troops had overwhelmed a Japanese division in Hupeh Province, killing 4,000 and wounding 7,000.

The Japanese force was said to have tried to advance northwest of Suihsien toward Laohokow, about 200 miles northwest of Hankow, when the Chinese swarmed out of mountain foothills to attack. A division is about 15,000 men.

London, Jan. 24—(CP)—The British trawler New Haven was reported lost today after being a week overdue, and relatives of the crew of nine advised officially that hope "no longer can be sustained."

LT.-COL. HARRISON ON SUPPLY BOARD

Resignation of R.C. Vaughan From Board Accepted by Government

Ottawa, Jan.; 24 (CP)—Lieut.-Col. Walter A. Harrison of Saint John, N.B., has been appointed to the War Supply Board, Transport Minister Howe announced today. At the same time the resignation of R. C. Vaughan from the Board has been accepted.

With Col. Harrison replacing Mr. Vaughan, the Board continues to have four members, one short of the five originally planned. Wallace Campbell of Windsor, Ont., is chairman and C. E. Gravel of Montreal and William C. Woodward of Vancouver are members.

When Mr. Vaughan, in charge of purchasing for the Canadian National Railways consented last fall to help out in supervising war purchases by becoming head of the Defence Purchasing Board he expressed the desire to be relieved by the end of 1939.

Later the War Supply Board took over the work of the Purchasing Board with Mr. Campbell as chairman and Mr. Vaughan as Vice-Chairman and Director General of Purchases.

Although Mr. Vaughan, after an enforced rest because of overwork, returned to his duties with the C.N.R. on Jan. 1, he has continued to assist the War Supply Board. His resignation from the board has been in the hands of the Minister for several weeks.

U. S. MINISTER CROMWELL MEETS GOV.-GENERAL

Presents Credentials to Lord Tweedsmuir at Rideau Hall

GREETINGS EXCHANGED

Co-operation of Two Nations in Preserving and Furthering Friendship Assured

Ottawa, Jan. 24.—(CP)— James H. R. Cromwell, new United States Minister to Canada, today presented his official credentials to the Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir.

Arrived in the Capital yesterday to take up his Ministerial duties, Mr. Crowmell today presented his letter of credence by which President Roosevelt accredits him as envoy extraordinary and Minister plenipotentiary to Canada.

In a brief meeting at Government House, official residence of the King's representative in Canada, Mr. Cromwell and Lord Tweedsmuir exchanged greetings and mutual assurances of friendship.

"The President has asked me to convey to Your Excellency the assurances of his friendship and sincere good wishes for the continued welfare and prosperity of the Canadian people", Mr. Cromwell told the Governor-General.

Mutual Greetings

Mr. Cromwell said he was "deeply appreciative" of this opportunity to represent the United States in Canada at such a momentous time.

"It seems hardly necessary for me to assure Your Excellency that it is my deep desire to assist to the fullest possible extent of my ability in preserving and furthering the unusually co-operative spirit which has so often and in so many fields of endeavour been demonstrated by the peoples of our two countries in dealing with questions of mutual interest", he added.

"To this end, I am confident that I can count upon the full co-operation of the Canadian Government which has been extended so wholeheartedly to all of my predecessors".

Lord Tweedsmuir voiced the welcome of the people of Canada to the new Minister and assured him of the wholehearted co-operation of the government of Canada "in preserving and furthering the friendship and understanding which has for so long existed between our two countries."

His Excellency reciprocated, in turn, Mr. Cromwell's wishes for the prosperity of the Canadian people.

Rangers Defeat Amerks 5-3 While Bruins Beat Leafs 4-1 Scoring 3 in Last Frame

Americans Unable to Beat Rangers in Five Contests So Far This Season

KRAUT LINE ROLLS

Jackson, Dumart, Schmidt Score in Last Period After Two Even Sessions

(By Robert Clarke, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Mervyn (Red) Dutton may or may not be a student of Shakespeare but, all in all, it certainly would be an appropriate time for the valiant warrior to burst forth on behalf of National Hockey League fellow-managers with the following paraphrase of a line by the bard of Avon....

"Double, double, toil and trouble who will burst the Ranger bubble?"

For the fifth time this season Dutton's New York Americans proved unable last night to topple their intra-city rivals, the Rangers, as the Blue Shirts sped to a 5-3 victory. But Dutton can find some consolation in the fact that Detroit Red Wings and Boston Bruins still have to gain a victory this season over the Patrickmen although the Bruins found it comparatively simple to defeat Toronto Maple Leafs 4-1 last night.

Rangers Still Ahead

Victory kept the Rangers in first place in the standing two points ahead of the Bruins.

Featuring the Rangers' attack was Manager Patrick's son, Lynn, and his linemates Clint Smith and Kilby Macdonald, Lynn plugged home three goals, Smith had a goal and two assists and Macdonald aimed in two of Lynn's scores and the tally by Smith. The remaining goal went to Bryan Hextall and made him, with 16, the top goal-getter in the league.

The victory also meant possession for the Rangers of the MacBeth trophy and the New York City title. The clubs play eight scheduled games against each other and in the five contests to date Rangers have won four and one was drawn.

Murray Armstrong and Buzz Boll paced the Americans' attack with a goal and an assist each. Harvey Jackson got the other score for Americans.

Kraut Line Swamps Toronto

The Kraut line of Milt Schmidt, Bobby Bauer and Woody Dumart had all the say in Boston's triumph over the Leafs. The Bruins, although weakened by injuries and forced to send out Bill (Flash) Hollett for duty both on defence and up front, came through with a powerful third period surge for three goals.

Toronto's only goal went to Gus Marker. The score, coming in the second period, wiped out Bauer's first period tally on a play with Schmidt. But the Bruins really rolled in the last frame as Art Jackson, Dumart and Bauer found openings to beat Goalie Turk Broda.

SCORES 100th GOAL

Starting with New York Americans in 1934-35, Dave "Sweeney" Schriner, currently billed with Toronto Maple Leafs, has scored his 100th goal in N.H.L. competition.

ROBT. E. LEE READY FOR RACES

Scrawny Little Gelding Shipped From England Has What it Takes

New York, Jan. 24—(AP)—The letter accompanying the scrawny little gelding from London, explained "he runs better than he looks." Major Tom McCreery, who's been training the good ones and the bad ones for 37 years, was willing to believe it.

No horse, he figured, could even get to the post, much less run and win, looking like the thin little fellow they unloaded from the boat last fall. And certainly not this one—for he's Robert E. Lee, the undefeated two-year-old champion of England in 1939.

The letter came along with the youngster from Fred Darling, England's No. 1 trainer, who has saddled five Derby winners. So that gave Major Tom all the more reason to tell himself there surely was nothing wrong with the horse that a bag or two of oats and some rest wouldn't fix.

That's what Major Tom did. Now Master Bob, although still a little fellow as three-year-olds go, is in winter training at Belmont Park with a view to taking a crack at the Kentucky Derby and American Derby.

Jacobs Will be Glad When Armstrong Climbs into Ring

(By Bill White, Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Jan. 24—(AP)—Mike Jacobs, the Mayor of Broadway's Mittville, usually can promote a prize fight without being bothered by a nervous breakdown—but for the last 24 hours he's been as shaky as a hula dancer. All on account of Henry Armstrong.

Henry, with only a single crown left of the three he once had balanced on his head, is going to battle Pedro Montanez in Madison Square Garden tonight in a 15-round defence of his welterweight title—if something doesn't happen to him beforehand.

The Negro champion has a faculty for getting into a mess just before he is supposed to climb into a ring. For example, Jacobs recalls, he dislocated his sacro-iliac the day before the Ceferino Garcia before the Lou Ambers bout. And once he hurt his hands in training and couldn't go through with another scheduled scrap.

"I never feel certain that I'm putting on a fight with Armstrong in it until I see him crawl through the ropes," Mike said today. "That's why I had to threaten to close the box office if he went through a planned training routine today. He'd have probably been hit by a falling cross-beam.

"Yessir, soon's I see Henry climb into the ring, I walk outside and take a good long drink."

The consensus is that Mike will get his drink tonight, because Henry seems perfectly well. Too well, in fact, moans Eddie Mead, his corpulent manager.

The bookies have made Henry the 1-3 shot to make a successful defence of his title.

Armstrong to Risk Title in Montanez Bout

Championship Fight This Evening

By FRANK MASTRO

Central Press Canadian Writer

Henry Armstrong will risk his welterweight championship for the fourth time in a 15 round bout against Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico in Madison Square Garden tonight. Two of these defenses were put on in the Garden and the other in London.

Henry Armstrong

By staking the title against Montanez, Armstrong will cause the National Boxing association to reconsider a decision to withdraw its recognition of Armstrong.

After Henry knocked out Joe Ghnouly in St. Louis last Jan. 4 in what was advertised as a title bout, Lieut. Col. Harvey Miller, N.B.A. president, said the champion had not complied with its six month rule for defending championships.

Armstrong Gets Extension

Under the association's rule, the Los Angeles fighter was required to risk his championship last Nov. 29 against a leading challenger. Armstrong was given an extension until Jan. 12, provided he agreed to oppose Milt Aron of Chicago, Charley Burley of Pittsburgh, or Montanez.

The Montanez fight will be Armstrong's 16th appearance since he dethroned Barney Ross in the Garden bowl May 31, 1938.

All except Armstrong's two encounters with Lou Ambers, in which he won and the nlost the lightweight championship, were called "title" contests, but the only ones given the status by the N.B.A. were against Cewerino Garcia and Davey Day at the Garden, and Ernie Roderick in London.

Other "Title" Bouts

Armstrong's other "title" bouts included:

1938

Al Manfredo, technical knockout (3), Cleveland, Dec. 5.

1939

Albert (Baby) Arizmendi, won (10), Los Angeles, Jan. 10.

Bobby Pacho, technical knockout (4), Havana, March 4.

Lew Feldman, knockout (1), St. Louis, March 16.

Jimmy Garrison, won (10), Los Angeles, Oct. 24.

Manfredo, technical knockout (4), Des Moines, Oct. 9.

Cowboy Howard Scott, knockout (2), Minneapolis, Oct. 13.

Ritchie Fontaine, technical knockout (3), Seattle, Oct. 20.

Pacho, technical knockout (4), Denver, Oct. 30.

Garrison, technical knockout (7), Cleveland, Dec. 11.

Second Title Chance

Montanez is receiving his second chance at a championship. After beating Ambers twice in overweight matches, Montanex lost a decision in 15 rounds to Lou in a rematch for the lightweight title in the Polo Grounds. All three fights were held in 1937.

Montanez was given a severe setback when Day scored an eight round technical knockout over him last May 23. Pedro has scored three consecutive victories since that embarrassment.

McCOY'S SERVICES IN GREAT DEMAND

Infielder Declared Free Agent Will Likely Get $40,000 for Signing

Chicago, Jan. 24—(AP)—A half dozen or so big league baseball clubs are engaged in a sociable, little game of "cutthroat" these days and Benjamin McCoy is very happy about it all.

The club that wins the game will get McCoy, 21, an infielder by trade, and McCoy probably will get close to $40,000 and a five-figure contract for the 1940 season.

Detroit mishandled the youth in its farm operations and Commissioner K. M. Landis made a free agent of him along with 90 other Detroit hirelings.

Now McCoy sits by a newly-installed telephone in his Grandville, Mich. home and carries on negotiations with would-be employers.

Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, said yesterday he wanted and needed McCoy so badly that he would top any other offer.

McCoy informed the Chicago Whitesox yesterday that he wanted in the neighborhood of $40,000 to sign and a three-year contract at $10,000 per season.

INDIANS ABSORB A 6-4 BEATING

Springfield Needs Inspiration of Their Manager, Eddie Shore

By the Canadian Press

The present would seem to be as good a time as any for Eddie Shore to turn loose some of his inspiration on his Springfield Indians of the International-American Hockey League.

The Indians haven't been faring very well of late and look as though they could use some of owner Eddie's brawn on the defence and inspiration up front. By absorbing a 6-4 beating by Philadelphia Ramblers last night Springfield came dangerously close to dropping to the bottom of the League's eastern division.

Shore, who has been granted permission to play for his club, was not in the lineup as the Indians got off to a bad start and then fell short in a third period comeback.

In another game last night, the close western division race became even closer as Hershey Bears moved from a last place tie to a second place tie by beating Cleveland Barons 3-1.

Tail-enders in the eastern section, the Ramblers moved to within four points of Springfield and still have two games in hand. They took a 2-1 lead in the first period and increased it to 5-1 early in the third before the Indians started to roll.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, Jan. 24 (AP)— Henry Armstrong who may fight him soon, will personally scout maine's Paul Junior against Chalky Wright at Portland next week.....Pennsylvania has denied Al Ettore, the old heavyweight, a licence for an attempted comeback....Larry MacPhail thinks Brooklyn Dodgers have the inside track for Bennie McCoy and Roy Cullenbine, cream of the footloose and fancy free Detroit farm hands....Madison Square Garden has cut hockey prices. Some of the three buck pews now go for $2.25.

Providence Reds of the International-American Hockey League are flying 2,000 miles on a four-game road trip....They collected $600 at a benefit for Jimmy Calleran, Piedmont League umpire, whose eyes were injured when a fanatic hit him with a pop bottle last season.

Remember the New Orleans sports writer who quit to become a preacher....Well, just to even matters, Rev. Gilbert Rogers, pastor of Kasson's Methodist Church, has signed up with the Dodge County (Minn) Republican — as sports editor.

LEADING SCORERS OF N.H.L.

DRILLON

SCHMIDT

For the first time this season the weekly N.H.L. scoring statistics issued on Jan 22, fail to show Gordie Drillon of Toronto Maple Leafs as sole occupant of first place. The latest list shows Drillon tied with Milt Schmidt of Boston Bruins for top scoring honors, with 27 points apiece. Drillon, however, has scored 15 goals to Schmidt's 14.

Pro Puck Personalities

Canadiens

By Central Press Canadian

George Mantha

Still one of the smoothest skaters in the N.H.L. after 10 years of major league puck-chasing is George Mantha, who has performed capably at left wing and centre during his National league career, all of which has been spent with Canadiens. Throughout his career George has been a victim of the injury jinx, something that never helped any player's scoring totals. He's broken his heel, instep, nose, ribs, thumb and various other sections of his person on different occasions, but has always come back just as effective as ever. Real name is Leon Georges. Born at Lachine, Quebec, 31 years ago. Played amateur hockey in Montreal, from which scene he was plucked by Canadiens at the end of the 1928-29 season. His scoring totals until the start of the present season read: 80 goals, 90 assists for 170 points, and he's sat out 142 minutes in penalties. Best season was two winters ago when he ran in 23 goals, his only 20-goal season, and had 42 points, fourth highest in the league. Biggest night came against Chicago Black Hawks, two years ago come the 28th, when he scored four goals. Still delighting in humbling the Hawks he got both his team's goals against them in the game this year that saw them end a nine-game losing streak.

TOMORROW: Des Smith, Black Hawks

CANADIAN SPORT MOURNS DEATH OF JOHN DeGRUCHY

Grand Old Man of Canadian Football Succumbs to Lingering Illness

HIGHLY RESPECTED

Served for 63 Years as Secretary of Langmuir Manufacturing Company

Toronto, Jan. 24 (CP)—Canadian sport today mourned the death of one of the most-loved figures in the sport history of the nation— John DeGruchy.

From all part of the Dominion, sportsmen paid glowing tribute to the 79-year-old leader they knew as "the grand old man of Canadian sport" who died last night.

Interested in all sport activities, football was Mr. DeGruchy's first love. He was President of the Ontario Rugby Football Union and Second Vice-President of the Canadian Rugby Union.

Funeral services will be held Friday and the venerable sportsman will be buried in Toronto, the city he adopted as his home since coming to Canada from the Channel Islands as a boy of 17.

Death ended his hopes of seeing the publication of a book on which he was working which traced the origin of football back to Athenian Greece in 200 B.C.

At the helm of the O.R.F.U. for a quarter of a century, Mr. DeGruchy was always boosting the game and endeavoring to better it. But he also succeeded in his business career, devoting 63 years of his life to a manufacturing firm of which he was Secretary-Treasurer.

Death Hastened by Growth

Mr. DeGruchy had been in ill health for seven weeks and his death was hastened by a tumorous growth on the lower part of the abdomen. He was taken ill while visiting a daughter in Cleveland but returned to Toronto when he gained sufficient strength.

He died with a record unbroken of never missing a Christmas at home. Two days before Christmas this year he was allowed to leave his hospital bed to spend the holiday with his family.

Besides his widow, he is survived by one son, Hal, Referee and former football star, and one daughter, Mrs. Gerald Clark of Cleveland, wife of a clergyman there.

Perpetuated Memory

To perpetuate the memory of his other son, Reginald, also a former football star, who died a few years ago, Mr. DeGruchy donated the Reg DeGruchy Memorial Trophy to be competed for by Toronto teams in a pre-season series.

Actively connected with a score of sports organiaztions at his death, Mr. DeGruchy starred at lacrosse in the '80's. During the first Great War he organized sports for the soldiers and he was starting similar plans for the current conflict when he became ill.

EDDIE SHORE IN TOUGH SPOT

Ordered to Play in Int.-Am. Games but Has Agreement With Bruins Not to Play

Boston, Jan. 24 (AP)—An unexpected hockey clash developed today when Eddie Shore, National Hockey League all-star defenceman, reported he had been threatened with drastic International American League action if he fails to play in road games with his Springfield Indians.

Shore notified the Bruins management, which has loaned him for home games with the Indians, that President Nathan Podoloff of the International - American Hockey League, had warned him the Pittsburgh club intended to protest last Saturday's Springfield-Providence overtime tie and every future home game he plays in if he failed to participate in tonight's game in that city.

"Shore is the property of the Boston Bruins and has permission to play only in his Springfield club's home games," the Boston management said. "If he plays anywhere outside of Springfield, except for Boston Bruins, we will be forced to take drastic action against him."

Under Shore's agreement with the Bruins, he can be called upon to play for the Bruins in emergencies.

The veteran, who has invested much of his hockey earnings in the Springfield Club, played in his first International-American League regulation game on Saturday.

CALLING 'EM Between the Lines

with Ken J. Colling

Although Toots Holway's Quinte Juniors have been bowling over their two opponents in the district junior O.H.A. group without much effort to date, one thing seems apparent—the Quintes' defence appears to be weakening as the season progresses. For instance in their last home stand the locals allowed their rivals one lone counter, the next game saw their opponents score two, while on Monday night the Picton juniors rammed home seven goals, although the Belleville kids whipped in an even dozen. To date the Quintes have scored 41 goals in four group games, or an average of slightly over ten per game. Defensively we find Trenton has scored three and Picton nine against the locals, for an average of four goals per game. The Picton kids play a wide-open style of game, as Coach Larry Goyer, former Belleville puckster, contends an open game results in more scoring. The Picton kids make their initial appearance at the Hume Arena tonight when the local fans will get a peek at Larry Goyer's coaching efforts.

We have been eulogizing the efforts of the teams in the Belleville Juvenile Hockey Association, (Belleville's future hockey stars) lately. Prior to tonight's Picton at Belleville Junior O.H.A. tussle the Canadiens and Maple Leafs of the City Juvenile loop will battle it out in an important league fixture, thus giving the fans a double dipper of puck-chasing. The Maple Leafs are tied with the Black Hawks for the league leadership, but a win for the second place Canadiens tonight would result in the "Flying Frenchmen" advancing into sole possession of the top rung of the loop ladder. The kids have a definite goal before them during these regular league games, as Belleville's juvenile team to be entered in the Ontario Juvenile Hockey Association will be selected from the four clubs composing the City Juvenile loop. Tonight's junior game is the only game scheduled to be played in Belleville for the remainder of this week and fans should avail themselves of boosting minor league hockey.

Do you remember when the European women's skating championship was retained for Britain against challengers from Switzerland, Scandinavia and Germany one year ago tonight when Cecilia Colledge outpointed Megan Taylor before a crowd of 9,000? Daphne Walker was third, giving Britain a sweep of the first three places.

The Kingston scribe feels that the Limestone City would have fared better than average had an intermediate O.H.A. team been entered from his adopted surroundings this season. There would be Gow, Nickolson and Stoness now playing with Gananoque, as well as "Chins" Drury, former R.M.C. star now soldiering at Kingston, and Captain Travers Rooney, who played with Queens and senior hockey at Brockville, as well as others now available, he laments. He further suggests that two referees be used in tonight's Air Force-Queens final Van Horne Memorial Cup game. "The boys were working up a few hates that may break out when they meet again," adds Scribe Walshe in reference to this game.

We understand that Billie Hughes, former Canadian bantamweight champion boxer and more recently connected with sports in Belleville, has been appointed as supervisor of boxing at the R.C.A.F. base near Trenton, which reminds us we haven't heard much ballyhoo regarding the return bout between "Hub" Smith and "Jiber" Ellis of late.

Did you know that Case of the Senators stole 60 bases in 127 games in 1939. The champion stealer in the National League, Lee Handley, had only 18. As a result of his base-running Case was able to score 103 runs.

With the exception that "Speedy" St. Louis will manage the team, the Peterboro scribe had the following to say in his column yesterday: "Skipper Eddie Thomas, long-time pilot of the 1-ton cruiser Belleville Redmen, gave up the ship last week and has retired to shore life. The rink management of Bella Villa has taken over the team for the time being and Goalie Ken Wait may or may not finish the season as manager. Thomas has been burned up like an Apsley guide (at the recent wolfless wolf hunt) over the O.H.A. action in awarding two of his star imports, Hastie and Gow, to Gananoque and following several defeats this season he upped and quit the club. Evidently the Redmen expect to finish out the season, regardless of Eddie Thomas."

Ron Bailey, No. 1 booster for the R.C.A.F. basketball squad in the E.O.B.A., dropped in to inform us the "Flyers" gained two new hoopsters from the Pacific Coast and are high in hopes of beating the Belleville "Y" quintette at the Collegiate gymnasium this evening. This will mark the initial O.B.A. contest between these two old rivals.

Considerable interest is being shown around the primary schools of the city regarding the annual public school relay race, which will be held in conjunction with the annual V.O.N. carnival at the Hume Arena Friday night. Already six primary schools have entered.

RUSSIANS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES

Terrific Punishment Inflicted by Finns as Reds Try to Break Defences

Helsingfors, Jan. 24 —(AP) — Russian troops trying to break through Finnish defences northeast of Lake Ladoga are taking terrific punishment, according to tonight's Finnish army communique.

Casualties were reported to have run into the thousands.

At one point alone, the communique said, the enemy has left upward of 1,000 dead in the past two days. This was at Kollaanjoki in the Loimola district. On the Karelian Isthmus front artillery action from both sides continued.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Shorty Judge were walking along talking and arguing, and we started to brag about who had the biggest mussles, and I said, I'll wressle you any day in the week and you wont have a chance, I'll put you down so flat you'll think you're a pancake.

That's what you think, but if you want to know the truth there wouldn't be anything left of you but a funny looking grease spot yelling for help, Shorty said, and I said, O is that so, well if that's a case you wouldn't know anything about it because you'd be in a hospittle wondering what hit you and asking the nurse to give you more ether.

Well I guess you ought to know because you'd be in the same hospittle begging the doctor to chloroform you and put you out of what was left of your misery, Shorty said, Proving he couldn't think of his own insults and had to use mine, and just then we noticed a buntch of tuff looking kids down at the corner and I said, Good night that looks like some of the Berks Streeters.

Being one of the tuffest gangs there is, and Shorty said, G wizz I hope they dont try to pick a fight or anything, hay what do you say if we pull our caps down and walk close together and pretend to be talking tuff to each other when we go passed them?

Wich we started to do, me saying to Shorty, Aw is that so, well who says so? and Shorty saying, I say so and you cant back it up or down, and me saying, O I cant heh, well for 2 pins I'd poke you one in the snoot right now.

Wich by that time we were passed them and the Berks Streeters didn't say anything on account of either being too surprised or too busy arguing themselfs, and me and Shorty felt so relieved we started to talk like friends again.

Proving small countries have to stick together.

"The Secret of Dr. Kildare"

"The Secret of Dr. Kildare," third of the "Dr. Kildare" series, with Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore heading the cast, is the attraction starting next at the Belle theatre.

The scientific detective romance, based on Max Brand's popular story, deals with a beautiful girl's strange secret terror and the detective work of Ayres, as Dr. Jimmy Kildare, to trace it down to the plot of a fanatical nurse and a quack doctor. In the dramatic climax, under the guidance of Barrymore as Dr. Gillespie, he cures her blindness by practical mental suggestion.

Lionel Atwill heads the supporting cast, with prominent roles also played by Helen Gilbert, playing her first role since her outstanding success as the dramatics teacher in "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever," Nat Pendleton, Loraine Day, Sara Haden, Samuel S. Hinds, Emma Dunn, Walter Kingsford, Grant Mitchell, Alma Kruger, Robert Kent and Marie Blake.

Harold S. Bucquet directed "The Secret of Dr. Kildare" in which medical marvels are seen as incidentals to the plot. Dramatic highlights of the picture include the amazing cure of a paralytic by Barrymore through the use of a new medical discovery. The comedy top spot is Barrymore's game of "craps" with George Reed in which the veteran doctor "loses his shirt" to his servant.

"Joe and Ethel Turp"

Damon Runyon's famous characters, Joe and Ethel Turp make their screen debut at the Belle theatre as the second feature attraction when "Joe and Ethel Turp call on the President" featuring Ann Sothern, Lewis Stone, Walter Brennan and William Gargan.

This homely, sentimental tale of the Flatbush, Brooklyn, couple who travel to Washington to see the President on behalf of Jim, the postman, who has lost his job, is in the same appealing vein that has made other Runyon stories such as "Lady for a Day" and "Little Miss Marker" remain in the memories of theatregoers.

"Drunk Driving" Gripping

A short of unusual interest to be presented on the same program is "Drunk Driving" another of the Crime Does Not Pay series that have met with such popular favor from Belle theatre screen lovers.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Four Daughters"

"Four Daughters," Fannie Hurst's greatest novel, adapted to the screen by Warner Brothers with a great cast headed by Priscilla Lane, Rosemary Lane, Lola Lane, Gale Page, Jeffrey Lynn and John Garfield is now on the McCarthy Theatre screen. The program also includes Bobby Breen in "Escape to Paradise," a musical-comedy that presents this young star at his best. We heartily recommend this entire show to all as outstanding screen entertainment which you will enjoy as one of the best you have seen.

"Blondie Brings Up Baby"

Blondie, Baby Dumpling, Dagwood and Daisy the pooch, the foursome of the Bumstead family, the screen's screamiest laugh-makers in their new riot "Blondie Brings Up Baby" opens next at the McCarthy Theatre and on the same program in his new action packed outdoor adventure, Charles Starrett, Belleville's favorite cowboy star, in "Western Caravans," is sure good news for the kiddies to know about to be able to plan a happy week-end.

AT THE CAPITOL

"First Love"

Deanna Durbin sings four songs in her new Universal production, "First Love," now showing at the Capitol with daily matinees.

The four numbers are "One Fine Day," from Puccini's opera, "Madame Butterfly"; "Spring in My Heart," an arrangement of Straus waltzes adapted by R. H. Salter and lyrics by Ralph Freed; "Home Sweet Home," the old favorite by John Howard Payne and Sir Henry Bishop and "Amapola," by J. M. Lacalle.

The aria from Madame Butterfly" will be sung in English, for the first time on the screen.

Miss Durbin's recordings were made under the supervision of Charles Previn, head of the music department at Universal studios, and Bernard M. Brown, chief of the studio's sound department.

IF IT'S ABOUT YOUR EYES . . . SEE McFEE

Mickey Rooney and the rest of your favorite Hardy Family are now at the Belle in their brand new hit, "Judge Hardy and Son."

Landing Gear Breaks Loose in Air, Young Pilot Lands Plane Safely

Brantford, Ont., Jan. 24—(CP)—A youthful pilot officer training at the Brant-Norfolk airport yesterday managed to bring his plane to a safe landing after the undercarriage broke loose in the air.

Nineteen-year-old Donald Phelan of Toronto, Provisional pilot officer, was in the air almost 45 minutes when the landing gear dropped loose for some unknown reason. A fire truck and ambulance were summoned by watchers on the ground, but Phelan finally attempted a landing and brought the ship down safely with no damage. Airport officials said that Phelan showed fine judgment in making the dangerous landing.

Daily War Survey

By The Canadian Press

While Great Britain and France appear willing to make the present conflict a "war of attrition" and rely on economic means to achieve victory, Nazi Germany so far has wavered between a frank acceptance of battle on the economic front and resort to the clash of armed forces.

The war aims of Great Britain and France lend themselves to fulfillment by a war of attrition but German aims could be better achieved by speedy victory on the field of battle. Circumstances, however, combine to force Germany to meet the Allies on their chosen ground.

The Allies reluctantly went to war to prevent Germany from seizing territory and dominating Europe. Their purpose is to stop the career of aggression carried on by the Nazi regime. This may be achieved without military victories.

Germany fights to hold its recent conquests in Austria, Czecho-Slovakia and Poland and to achieve such further domination on the European continent and elsewhere as may be possible. The shortest and most satisfactory route to Germany's objectives would be a smashing land victory which would destroy the armies of Great Britain and France.

With all the good fortune in the world, that cannot be accomplished in a single blow either by direct assault on France or by assault through neutral countries. And the greater the effort Germany might expend on such an offensive the less the chance of winning the long war of attrition.

A defeat would be a blow to the morale of the people; a partial victory would use up great quantities of sorely needed supplies and lessen German chances of holding out.

WINTER

Away! Why comest thou so near?
Where is thy home when south winds blow?
From out frozen ice-bound north,
Comest thou? with gales and frost and snow?

Our dreams of bliss and warmth and ease,
Thou hast dispelled and ruthless broke
Hast thou no pity or remorse
How can we bear thy heavy yoke?

Wilt thou pass by the home that feels,
The pinch of poverty and woe,
Thy presence is to them a cross
When tempest rage and north winds blow.

Wilt thou deal gently with the aged?
They scarce can bide thy presence now,
They once could hail thee as a guest,
To sport with thee were joy enow

God help the aged, poor, and weak
When winter with its blasts does blow
And help our boys in khaki clad
When they encounter frost and snow.

Blow gently o'er the fields of France!
Deal kindly with our soldiers there!
May they not feel thy stinging breath,
Oh, add not to their pain—despair

No more for them the joys of home,
And Canada's sport to youth so dear
In Flander's fields—where popples blow
No joy they find in carnage drear.

ACCIDENT VICTIM A BRIDE

After losing both her legs in a railroad accident two years ago, Jessie Simpson has fought against what appeared to be overwhelming odds and has made a great success of her life. After her accident, the beauty contest winner and photographer's model, opened a beauty salon, which she has operated successfully. Now Jessie has married James Steward, advertising man, and is shown leaving the church at Hackensack, N.J., with her husband.

Approach of Another Ice Age Forecast by Geological Survey

Washington, Jan. 24—(AP)—The approach of another ice age was forecast today by Wilmot H. Bradley of the United States Geological Survey. Its thousands of years off, however, and has nothing to do with the current cold spell.

Mud from the ocean bottom has shown a fairly regular sequence of hot and cold "spells" in the earth's history, Bradley wrote in the Scientific Monthly and the world is now in one of its summers of existence.

Dr. Charles Piggotm geophysicist of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, provided Bradley with cores of ocean mud, from two to six feet long, obtained by shooting a steel pipe into the ocean floor at various places of the Atlantic coast.

By analyzing the mud, washed down through countless centuries from the rivers and the melting glaciers which once covered much of the northern western hemisphere, Bradley traced the climate record for millions of years.

During the periods of the great glaciers, when life was possible only in areas near the equator, little sediment was washed into the oceans. When the ice melted, however, huge deposits of mud were swept down by floods.

From this succession of alternate dry and cold, and wet and warm periods, Bradley pieced together the world's weather history. The record indicated that 40,000 to 50,000 years ago the latest ice age ended and the glaciers retreated toward the Poles.

MINERS JITTERY, INQUIRY IS TOLD

Proximity of Colliery to Firth of Forth Bridge is Given as Reason at Probe Into Colliery Disaster

Edinburgh, Scotland, Jan. 24 — (C.P. Cable) — Miners of the Valleyfield Colliery of nearby Dunfermline are jittery due to proximity of the Firth of Forth bridge which has been the object of enemy air activity, an official disclosed today.

A. K. McNeil, agent for the Fife Coal Company, made this remark during testimony at an inquiry into the colliery disaster of last Oct. 28 which took 35 lives.

"It is the only colliery in Great Britain that has been in an air raid," he said. "During a raid October 16 shrapnel and pieces of (anti-aircrat) shell-fire fell on the colliery. After the raid the men refused to go down in the pit unless there was some rearrangement of hours if enemy airplanes were coming over."

The tragedy at the Valleyfield Colliery last October was the year's worst in Great Britain. The men who died were on the night shift in the diamond section of the Fife Coal Company's works. At the time officials expressed belief the disaster was caused by an explosion of fire-damp.

Sentry in Nova Scotia Accidentally Shot

Dartmouth, N.S., Jan. 24—(CP) —Private Urban Joseph MacDonald 18, of Cardigan, P.E.I., was shot to death yesterday while doing sentry duty at an industrial plant here. A coroner's jury decided it was an accidental death.

Corporal J. F. MacAulay testified at the inquest that MacDonald had asked him if he had any live ammunition in his rifle. "I opened the breech to show him," MacAulay said, "and as I closed it I slipped and fell."

The rifle discharged and the bullet entered MacDonald's neck and emerged from the back of his head.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Jan. 24 (CP). — Dull trading marked early session on Toronto Exchange today. Turnover was small.

Fleet Aircraft moved up to the 10 mark for a gain of ⅜ on the news that the company had received a big government order for planes. Other strong industrials were the Canada Steamship Lines Issues and Abitibi Preferred. National Steel Car firmed 2½ and other steel listings showed more gains than losses.

Pickle Crow, Sylvanite and East Malartic were firmer gold issues and in the base metal list Pend Oreille and Steep Rock posted higher prices. Western oils showed little change. Home, Calmont and Okalta were down 1 to 2 cents.

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, Jan. 24 —(AP)— The stock market shook off its drowsiness sufficiently today to get into a mild rallying stride. A number of issues were fractionally in arrears near the fourth hour.

Standing out on the advance were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, American Smelting, Douglas Aircraft, American Airlines, Montgomery Ward, Chrysler and Westinghouse.

Canadian issues were slightly improved. Dome Mines, Canadian Pacific and International Nickel advanced fractions. Canada 4s, in the bond market, gained 1-4.

Cotton joined the recovery trend but commodities generally were uneven. Bonds looked up with the share list.

Canadian Engineers. Each of these units was drawn up on the parade ground close to their barracks and in each case the King walked up and down the length of the ranks while the Royal Artillery mounted band played martial airs.

Lined Three Deep

The other units composing the division were aligned three deep along parts of the highways that wind through this command.

Despite the damp and coldness that chilled to the bone, the King's progress was unhurried. He walked more than five miles through khaki ranks.

The procedure was for General McNaughton to present the respective Brigadiers to His Majesty as each brigade was reached. Then the Briagdiers presented the officers commanding individual units making up the brigade.

All ranks from General McNaughton down wore the new battle dress—the first time the entire division has been clad in the so-called "ski suit" at a ceremony.

The Toronto Scottish was the first regiment through which the King passed. The Scots were drawn up on either side of the highway immediately outside the driveway fronting divisional headquarters.

Three Cheers for King

Colonel C. C. Thomoson walked the length of the ranks by the King's side. Then he ordered "remove headdress: present three cheers for His Majesty the King."

A thunderous roar rang out for the Sovereign and he was given the same informal soldierly salute wherever he went.

Drawn up alongside the Toronto Scottish were the Saskatoon Light Infantry under Lieut.-Colonel A. E. Potts and the First Division Signals, Royal Canadian Corps of Signals under Lieut.-Colonel G. E. Genet.

After passing through these ranks His Majesty drove to Stanhope parade where he reviewed two units of the Royal Canadian Artillery. While the band played the Artillery March the Sovereign walked up and down the ranks with Brigadier J. C. Stewart at his side.

Drawn up were the Third Field Regiment of the R.C.A. under Lieut.-Colonel R. A. Wyman and the First Anti-Tank Regiment, R.C.A., under Lieut. - Colonel G. W. F. Johnson.

The King then drove to Wellesley House general mess outside which stands the great statute of the Duke of Wellington.

PROJECT TO RAISE HUNGARIAN PARTRIDGE NOT SUCCESSFUL

Several years ago a covey of Hungarian partridge was loosed in the Picton area of Prince Edward County in the hope they would multiply and populate the swampy districts of the county.

Although perhaps the birds have held their own, their increase has been slight and has failed to justify the faith put in the venture by the sponsoring sportsmen. It is generally believed the partridge, released before one of the coldest winters ever experienced in the county, were killed by the cold before establishment could be made in the new habitat.

Delegates to Winter School Are Guests of Principal Morrison of O.S.D. and Are Impressed by Work Achieved by Instructors

Delegates and staff of the Winter School now being held in the Bridge Street Church were guests of Superintendent W. J. Morrison on a visit of inspection of the Ontario School for the Deaf, yesterday afternoon. Citizens of Belleville kindly provided transportation. Assembling in a body in the gymnasium, the delegates saw under the direction of Alec Gordon at the piano and Miss Helen Keeler, how Junior School pupils acquired a sense of rhythm. From the new arrivals at school who with hands on the piano top, lift them when playing ceases, to the rhythmic recital by 3rd year pupils who sang nursery rhymes and an action number from Sibelius "The Song of the Sower", the visitors were greatly impressed by skill of their instructors and the program of the pupils. Dr. Morrison explained the educational process involved in each group and cited some individual cases. The fifth year older girls and first year intermediate students gave an exhibition of tap dancing and sang "Jesus Loves Me", getting the rhythm from touching the piano. The plans for religious instruction of the pupils and vocational instruction were outlined by Dr. Morrison and the final item took all by surprise when a 12-year-old boy lifted the baton to conduct the Rhythm Band.

Dividing into two groups and led by the Superintendent and Miss C. Ford the visitors visited classes conducted by Misses V. G. Handley, E. Nurse and M. Heagle to watch lip and script reading, writing, conducting conversation, identification of pictures, and colors and the use of the hearing and acousticon in teaching. Time did not permit further visiting; but the sewing class, kitchen and dining room were inspected. Delegates were greatly impressed and count it a great privilege to have seen the fine equipment, competent teaching and good condition of the Junior School and the thanks to Superintendent Morrison extended by President H. Mellow were the wish of all.

None of the delegates will forget ten year old Margaret in Miss Nurse's room say The Lord's Prayer. Deep emotions were stirred in the hearts of all. Dr. J. C. Cochrane of North Bay, was also a visitor, from whose territory a good many of the pupils come.

Rev. Andrew McLauchlin recounted that he had recently married two former pupils of the O.S.D., who are new highly esteemed and competent with wide interests in their community and many friends.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH FRAUD

Wanted in Belleville on eight charges of issuing worthless cheques, Miss Anito Dellabough, Toronto, was arrested in her home yesterday by Toronto police following warrants issued in this city. Detective Fred Isard went to Toronto yesterday and returned the woman to Belleville, where she was remanded to the custody of the county jail awaiting trial.

Eight different merchants complained to the police they had been victimized by a woman who issued cheques for goods obtained here last week. Later the cheques were found to be worthless. The value of the cheques are said to have been between ten and fifteen dollars in each incident.

Valiant Attempt to Save Ship Proved Unsuccessful

Report Made Public for First Time Tells off Sinking of Freighter After Collision

STORM HINDERED WORK

By E. L. Williams Canadian Press Staff Writer).

Halifax, Jan. 24 (CP)—Story of a valiant attempt to tow a badly-damaged ship to a haven here—an attempt thwarted when she founderd only 17 miles off shore was told in a matter-of-fact towing company's report made public for the first time.

The ship was the 2,942-ton British freighter Chancellor, damaged in a collision with the tanker Athelchief off the Nova Scotia Coast early in December. The report was that of Captain Reginald Featherstone, Marine Superintendent of Foundation Maritime, Limited, whose salvage vessel Foundation Franklin attempted the tow.

The Franklin sighted the stricken freighter about 80 miles out and found her "deserted and abandoned." The Athelchief's bow had torn through the Chancellor's starboard side and deck plating up to the hatch combing. No. 2 hatch, No. 3 bunker and the engine room were flooded.

A lifeboat crew from the Franklin boarded the freighter, surveyed the damage and decided to attempt the tough pull to port, towing her stern first. Lines were set up and the party returned to the Franklin.

Attach Low Line

"Life boat drew alongside 'Foundation Franklin' but at this time the sea and wind was increasing and with the "Foundation Franklin' having tow line attached, she was unable to allow a lee side for her lifeboat, consequently in returning lifeboat to the 'Foundation Franklin's' davits in the rough sea the boat sustained damage," the report says.

"At times the lifeboat was swept as high as the bridge deck and then fell in the trough of the sea under 'Foundation Franklin's' bilge. However, the lifeboat eventually was placed on board without any injuries to the salvage crew, except for a drenching. . . the wind was increasing to strong southerly with heavy rain and increasing seas."

After towing the Chancellor about four hours at an average speed of four knots, it became evident her No. 1 hold was filling from the terrific beating she was taking. Heavy sea was crashing over the forecastle head and pounding on the fore deck.

By afternoon—the Franklin was only 17 miles away from land then —it was apparent the Chancellor was sinking by the bow. Reluctantly the Franklin prepared to pick up what she could of her tow lines.

Little by little her bow dipped farther under and her stern arose. Just before she plunged under her stern was almost perpendicular to the sea.

EARL. E. BONTER PRES. FAIR BOARD

R. H. Ketcheson, Secretary for 32 Years, Resigns His Post

Earl E. Bonter, Carrying place, was reelected president of the Belleville Agricultural Society at a meeting of the Society Directorate held in Belleville last evening .

At the same time R. H. Ketcheson, who for 32 years has served Belleville fairs as secretary and whose untiring efforts have seen the Belleville Fair rise to its present high category in the Dominion class "B" fairs, resigned his post as secretary after years of faithful service. The Directorate of the Belleville Agricultural Society, which was elected at the annual meeting of the society last week, met last night to elect its officers, two of last year's officials only remaining in office. Arthur Burke, was appointed secretary in place of Mr. Ketcheson.

The result of the election held last night was as follows:

President—E. E. Bonter
1st Vice President—Wesley Gray
2nd Vice President—John Walker.

The Board of Directors will be composed of—Messrs. C. Babcock, F. Denyes, J. Garbutt, J. Barber, G. Jarrell, A. Kennedy C.J. Symons, John Watson, Harry Ketcheson, T. W. Bamford, B. Bleeker, H. L. Fair.

Fred Chamberlain was reappointed treasurer.

Party of Delegates Has Difficult Time Getting to Conference

Threats of blizzard and snow-filled roads did not deter the Rev. H. E. Mellow, United Church Minister of Gore's Landing, thirteen miles north of Cobourg, and a party of young delegates, from attending the Bay of Quinte Conference Annual Winter School at present in session at Bridge Street United Church.

It was a bleak outlook that confronted the party on Monday morning when they set out for Belleville. A blinding blizzard was in progress. Roads were filled, and heavy drifts formed on highways. Traffic along the normal route from Gore's Landing to Cobourg wa sou tof the question. Nothing daunted, the party secured horses and a heavy sleigh, and with a driver bringing an automobile in the rear, set out to navigate a snow-drifted township road that connects the Gore's Landing-Cobourg road to the Port Hope highway. For hours they battled through heavy drifts, the sleigh breaking the road and the car struggling behind.

Finally they reached the Port Hope road where travelling conditions were better for auto traffic, and some time later the party arrived at their destination.

Reports from the district state the roads are now open, Mr. Mellow said this morning, but if strong winds prevail the party may be forced to once again arrange for transportation by Dobbin through the snow-filled regions of the district.

Anglo-French Purchases in U. S. To be Coordinated Under A. B. Purvis

Purchasing Board Will Do Away With Possibility of Conflict in Orders

TO DEAL DIRECTLY

(By Axel De Holstein Havas Staff Staff Writer)

New York, Jan. 24—(CP)—Great Britain and France in ordering supplies in North America will consult each other so closely that there is no possibility of conflict in orders, Arthur B. Purvis revealed as the new Anglo-French Purchasing Board which he heads began to get settled in new quarters here today.

The Allies have two commissions which have worked closely together. But it was decided that still more co-operation was needed so the formation of the board was announced yesterday under the chairmanship of Mr. Purvis and with the head of the French commission, Frederic Bloch-Laine, as vice chairman. The board now will be the supreme co-ordinating body.

Mr. Purvis told a group of newspapermen that the only limit to the amount of spending the board would control depended upon how long the war will last. He said care is being taken not to interfere with the preparedness plans and domestic economy of the United States.

He said the policy of both commissions is to deal directly with manufacturers and thus avoid taking up stocks bought by third parties for speculative purposes. Many intermediaries had approached them and had been "discouraged."

Technical Experts to Aid

In the more than 200 persons engaged in all the ramifications of purchasing are many technical experts of the Allied military machine.

The way the system functioned, Mr. Purvis said, was that requisitions would come from London and Paris for certain articles. The commission would call in its experts on the things required and they would draw up a list of manufacturers from whom tenders would be invited.

Before the tenders were given out experts would visit the factory to assure themselves that the plant was capable of filling the orders.

Mr. Purvis said experience had shown that the Allies were able to obtain supplies at market levels but in certain cases where special requirements were demanded the manufacturer was entitled to and received a premium.

The greatest single article of purchasing was aircraft. The aviation industry, he said, is doing everything in its power to fill orders from the United States, British and French Governments.

Asked if United States planes were being bought for the Empire Air Training Plan being set up in Canada, Mr. Purvis said it would be found that planes from Canada, the United States and Britain all would be used in the Dominion and that all the planes needed in the initial stages are already contracted for.

"Initial Difficulties" Overcome

Purchase of planes would last as long as the war did, he said. The movement of goods across the Atlantic is proceeding smoothly after "certain initial difficulties"—the closest he came to mentioning enemy activity—had been overcome.

Mr. Bloch-Laine said France did not intend to alter the present set up of purchasing in Canada where close contact was maintained with the War Supply Board. The question of buying Canadian remounts for France was under consideration he said. Both he and Mr. Purvis emphasized that large quantities of Canadian materials are being bought by the Allies.

Asked just what the commissions are purchasing, Mr. Purvis said the reporters could almost write their own lists. Then he mentioned raw materials, metals, foodstuffs, textiles munitions, gun linings, guns explosives and "a host of other things."

'Youth and Marriage' is Theme At Quinte Winter School

Rev. T. M. Wesley Says Better Preparation for Marriage Would Prevent Many Broken Houses

The Bay of Quinte Winter School held its first full day's program yesterday in Bridge St. Sunday School. Each day is opened with a worship period conducted by Rev. Dr. J. Semple under the general theme: "Pathways to the Abundant Life." In his first talk the speaker told of the amazing freshness observed in men like Kagawa and Dr. John R. Mott even amid great stress of duties. Waiting upon God meant renewal of strength.

"It would be a tragedy in the Church", he said, "if we produced Christian activities faster than we produced Christian Experience."

Incident quoted, showed how greatly prayer entered into the life and work of Jesus. Young People could not expect to enter into the abundant life without following His example.

An hour for Bible Study followed with two groups studying the 'Gospel of Mark' with Revs. J. W. Gordon and W. T. R. Delve as leaders; and two groups on "Finding a Religion to Live By' with Revs. Andrew McLauchlin and A. R. Cragg as leaders.

Dr. J. C. Cochrane gave another illustrated lecture showing the extent and development of Home Mission work in his superintendency, and giving personal glimpses of young missionaries and their work. Much interest was aroused by views of antiquated cars used by Summer Students; and of huge bales of Christmas presents being taken to remote places in Northern Ontario.

'Youth and Marriage'

In the afternoon the usual method courses were continued, and a new one offered on "Youth and Marriage" by Rev. T. M. Wesley. The Christian basis for marriage is worked out into situations that arise out of modern home life and economics and question invited. There was keen discussion from the opening moment as the fundamental "urges" or "hungers" of life were expounded as physical, emotional and spiritual.

The causes and effect of the declining birth rate; and the apparent shirking of parenthood by favored classes were freely discussed and the lesson on "Preparation for Marriage" opened up lines of discussion that will ensure deep interest throughout the whole course. It was claimed that a better preparation for marriage would prevent many broken homes, and that facing beforehand the adjustments necessary in married life would reconcile many who now find recourse to the Divorce Court their only solution.

Story of Building of the North

At the evening session Dr. J. C. Cochrane concluded his course in Missionary Education with a series of colored movie films of his own making covering practically every area of the northern work, from the skyline of new mining communities to the growth of a new home from forest to modern conveniences in four months. The marvellous story of churches built by free labor, assisted by ministers and for small outlay was ably depicted. The Young People were especially interested in the films of Camp Lomain held on the western shore of Lake Temiskaming opposite Ville Marie, where amid surpassing beauty of location and with splendid camp equipment, groups of young leaders are trained every summer; and in September each year about 50 ministers of the north hold a week's 'Retreat' and refresher course there.

Dr. Cochrane was thanked by the president, Rev. H. A. Mellow, and given a good ovation for his great service in the north and to the school. Rev. Andrew McLauchlin adding his appreciation said that he and Dr. Cochrane had pioneered in the north together 30 years ago, and this summer, his son, Robert, had been a student missionary at Kapuskasing under Dr. Cochrane. He claimed the record for low temperatures, 63 degrees below zero in Larder Lake in January 1912, when on a missionary journey. Dr. Cochrane left for Sudbury on the early morning train.

CARS TRAVEL ACROSS ICE AT GLENORA

Travel across the ice at Glenora officially started this week when Mr. Arthur Chilles cleared roadways at the ferry landings on both shores, and drove his car across the frozen gap in order to visit Mrs. Chilles' father, who is ill at his home in Adolphustown.

TRIBUTE PAID TO PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT OF CITY

Unsolicited tribute to the City Public Works Department was paid by two commercial travellers who halted in the city last night en route from Montreal to Toronto.

"If we hadn't seen evidence of the blizzard outside the city we would not have believed the storm had struck here" one told a restaurant keeper. "Your streets here are the cleanest of any city or town we have passed through since leaving Montreal, traffic is good, and there is no difficulty in making your way around. We can't say that about most of the towns we have visited en route. Your city deserves a lot of credit for its handling of the snow that blocked traffic in other parts of the country".

A. & N. VETERANS SEND CIGARETTES TO COMRADES NOW IN ENG.

Veterans of the last Great War of Belleville at present serving with the Canadian Active Service force, will smoke Canadian cigarettes, members of the executive of the Belleville Branch of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada decided the other night.

Shipments of cigarettes which will comprise one hundred "fags" each for the veterans will be sent overseas at intervals. The first shipment left Belleville yesterday for the "boys of the old brigade" in England.

The executive also discussed the installation of a "Golden Book" in which the names of all natives of Belleville serving their country will be inscribed. This matter will be brought up for final discussion at a future meeting.

Mr. Samuel Taylor Heard at Bethel Hall

At Bethel Hall a large audience listened with rapt attention to an address on "The Prophetic Future of Russia" on Sunday night. Mr. Samuel Taylor, Peterboro, was the speaker. He read portions of Scripture from Ezekiel, chapters 38 and 39.

Part of the discourse consisted of a presentation of the gospel and of earnest appeals to the "unsaved" to receive the Saviour. The meeting was the largest of the series so far.

Police Blotter

Richard Armstrong of the Trenton R.C.A.F., was apprehended in the Globe Cafe, following complaints from the management to city police and later taken to the police station by Constables Ellis and Taylor late last night. When apprehended Armstrong is said to have been in possession of eleven small packets and one large packet of cigarettes which he is alleged to have taken from the tobacco stand of the Globe Cafe.

When questioned, Armstrong stated he had merely been trying to play a practical joke on the proprietor. "No joke if I not see him come from behind counter", added Thomas Wong, the cafe proprietor. Armstrong was later released to report to Chief Kidd later in the week.

W. J. C. Carson, 45 John Street, reported to police today the loss of an 18 1-2 foot ladder. Mr. Carson was using the ladder in connection with his work on Catherine Street and left the ladder adjacent to his employment on Monday night. Yesterday it was gone, doublessly having been stolen, Mr. Carson assured the police. The ladder was painted red.

Eleven transients sought warm sleeping quarters in the police cells last night.

Robert Stack (right) and Lewis Howard, screen newcomers, appear with Deanna Durbin in her latest Universal production, "First Love," now showing at the Capitol with matinee daily.

FIVE MEN TRAPPED IN TORONTO POLICE NET

Soviet Mechanized Units Frustrated By Finnish Patrols

Responsible for Entrapment of Big Red Army Northeast of Lake Ladoga — Machines Sent in Futile Search of Tormentors

SOMETHING 'BREWING'

Russians in Neighborhood of Kitela Said to be in an Increasingly Difficult Situation and Are Eating Flesh from Their Own Horses

Helsingfors, Jan. 25 (AP).—Costly Russian attacks northeast of Lake Ladoga and the resumption of long-range shelling of Viborg (Viipuri) by Red army artillery were reported today by the Finnish high command's communique.

"Heavy losses" for the Red army were reported by the Finns to have resulted when the "especially heavy" attacks, continuing all day, were repulsed near Aittojoki.

The Soviet forces "again lost several hundred killed" by the time the attacks were turned back this morning, the Finnish communique said, reporting additional success in repulsing enemy thrusts in the far north.

Helsingfors, Jan. 25—(AP)—Hit-skip tactics of Finland's skiing sharp-shooters are frustrating Russian mechanized units and are in large measure responsible for the entrapment of a big Red army force northeast of Lake Ladoga, Finnish sources reported today.

Russian tank crews are so provoked by the white-clad ski troops that they often send their theoretically formidable machines barging about in futile circles in search of their tormentors, the Finns said.

Excitement is growing in Helsingfors, where Finns made it appear that something "big" is brewing northeast of the lake.

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen

Science Service Meteorologist

Climate and soil! Climate was always assumed to be a very important factor in explaining why centres of civilization were restricted to certain regions. Now, it is believed to be a determining influence with soil, for the reason that weather, through frost and wind, cause erosion and transportation and therefore mixing of soils. Areas which are frozen for long periods are found to differ from those of warmer regions, as the cold stops organic and chemical processes. The deep soils are near the equator and the shallower ones farther north. Climate also determines largely the kind of plant cover, and this in turn the amount of accumulated humus.

Netherlands Under No Obligation to Depart from Neutrality

The Hague, Jan. 25—(AP)—Foreign Minister Eelco Vankleffens declared today that the Netherlands is under no obligation to depart from her policy of strict neutrality.

Thus he closed foreign affairs debate in parliament without mentioning by name Winston Churchill, First Lord of the British Admiralty, who recently voiced the contention that safety of small European neutral states depends on "united action" with the British-French allies.

The foreign minister said:

"From the British side there has come a voice which declared that neutral nations have a juridical obligation as members of the League of Nations to go into the war.

"I strongly deny there is a juridical or a moral obligation for the Netherlands to participate in the war.

"Our task is no collaboration with others. That is a positive attitude and a positive policy and moreover, our good right."

PAPER REBUKES HOUSE MEMBERS

Daily Mail States Too Few Members of Commons Attend Important Debates

London, Jan. 25—(CP) — The Daily Mail today administered an editorial rebuke to members of parliament who neglected in large numbers to remain in the House of Commons during important debates during the past few days.

Several times, the newspaper said "only a handful of M.P.'s have thought it worthwhile to attend throughout important debates."

"The blackout is one excuse for early departure. It is a poor excuse. What would the M.P.'s think if their constituents blamed the blackout for neglect of duty. Something should be done to remove the deplorable impression that M.P.'s are bored, tired or indifferent."

The Daily Mail suggested again —although Prime Minister Chamberlain had turned down a similar proposal — that the House meet earlier and adjourn before darkness because of the blackout.

THREE ARRESTED AS SPIES

Brussels, Jan. 25—(AP)—Three members of the Fascist Rexist Party were arrested today at Charlerom on spying charges. They were Jean Perot, Chief of the Heste Rexists and a frequent visitor to Germany, Joseph Desmedt and Emile De Lattre. Belgian police Monday seized Flemish nationalist documents in a search of the offices of two pro-German newspapers in Eupen and the houses of a retired policeman and a member of the pro-German organization, Heimat front. The searches followed the arrest of a Flemish nationalist, also accused of spying.

Frost on Plane Wing Makes Flying Hazardous in Finland

(By Devon Francis, Associated Press Aviation Editor)

New York, Jan. 25 — (AP)—A phenomenon which has stumped United States aeronautical engineers for years is adding to the wartime hazards of air fighting in Finland's winter weather.

Airplanes left unprotected in the open overnight frequently refuse to fly at all or, if pilots do manage to get them aloft they are often vicious and untractable.

The trouble has been traced to film-thin deposits of frost, ice or snow on the wings which are not readily discernible. For reasons engineers have not been able to explain to their own satisfaction, such deposits interrupt the smooth flow of air over the wing in flight and rob it of its lift.

Mystery accidents, in which airplanes have failed to leave the ground and crashed at the end of airport runways, have been traced to the presence of light frost or snow on the wing.

The difficulties of winter flying, which Finnish and Russian airmen must add to the dangers of anti-aircraft fire and attacks by enemy planes, do not stop at that.

Three Hours to Warm Up Engines

For three hours prior to take-off engines must be nursed into temperature ranges where they will function. Almost the instant airplanes come to rest after the completion of a mission, oil must be drained from the engines to keep it from congealing. Fire pots enclosed in canvas tents must be put under the motors in exceptionally cold weather to raise the temperature of the metal to 75 degrees as a guarantee against power failure on take-off.

No better description of the work entailed in keeping an airplane functioning in below-zero weather has been supplied than accounts of flying operations in the interior of Alaska and in the northern reaches of Canada where hardy fliers have piloted planes through many bitter winters.

There not only the motors but the wings are sheathed when the transports are at rest to prevent accidents. A troublesome but less serious problem encountered aloft by these pilots is the frosting of the cockpit windshield inside during flight. They resort to the use of putty knives or razor blades to scrape off the frost.

PREMIER, ROEBUCK CLASH IN HOUSE; BITTER ARGUMENT

Joseph Atkinson of Star and Lewis Duncan Included in Criticism

ROEBUCK RETALIATES

Premier Says Duncan Lewis Paid $16,000 for Preparing Speech Delivered by Roebuck

Toronto, Jan. 25 (CP)—Scheduled today to come off the sidetrack where it was shunted yesterday while Ontario legislators sat back and listened to clash between Premier Mitchell Hepburn and Arthur Roebuck, his former Attorney-General, is the bill to extend to two years terms of persons elected to municipal office.

The local government Extension Act, as the measure to be effective Feb. 1, 1941, is titled, reached committee stage yesterday, but only one clause had been dealt with when Premier Hepburn, carefully prepared with files marked private and confidential, moved to the onslaught on Mr. Roebuck, Joseph Atkinson, publisher of the Toronto Daily Star, and Lewis Duncan, prominent Liberal lawyer who Jan. 1 last was candidate for the Toronto mayoralty.

Another Explosion

It was another of those explosions for which the Ontario House was unprepared—though the Premier was. Intensity of the attack took Mr. Roebuck by surprise but he matched language with the Premier.

Forgotten was the scheduled business of the House after the flareup started when Mr. Hepburn said he knew no one who could emulate Uriah Heep better than Mr. Roebuck. The Premier said he would recall several incidents in Mr. Roebuck's tenure as Attorney-General.

Mr. Roebuck was the sole judge when Lloyds, famous British insurance firm, was granted a licence to do business in Ontario, said the Premier. Shortly afterwards Mr. Roebuck, with his brother-in-law, Donald Walkinshaw, went to England "for the pay-off."

Canadian Designs Parachute Shell

Ottawa, Jan. 25—(CP)—A parachute shell, designed by G. D. Wright of Ottawa may become part of Great Britain's anti-aircraft defence system.

The shell, which will drop small parachutes with wires attached for trapping attacking aircraft, has been forwarded by the National Defence Department to the British War Office, it was learned today.

It is understood the new shell is more fully developed than a similar shell of American design now being tested in France.

TWO MOONS IN SKY

Philadelphia, Jan. 25—(AP) — Philadelphians saw two moons in the sky last night. What's more, I. M. Leavitt, astronomical expert at Franklin Institute, said there was nothing wrong with their sight. The second he explained, was a "mock" moon, caused by drifting particles of snow and ice, a comparatively rare phenomenon.

Few Can Answer How Long Germany Can Withstand Economic Blockade

(By Melvin K. Whiteleather, Associated Press Staff Writer)

Berlin, Jan. 25—(AP) — How long Germany, with raw materials constituting 40 per cent of her imports in peacetime, can hold out against the wartime Allied blockade is a question perhaps no more than a half-dozen individuals can answer anywhere near accurately. Guesses range from six months to eight years. Nazis say they are prepared for a war of several years, but what their reserves are and the amounts it is necessary to import are military secrets.

It is no secret, however, that the economic front is Germany's weakest. This point continually is hammered upon, although officials say the existence of food rations and exceedingly strict clothing allowances are a precaution, rather than a necessity.

That reserves are insufficient is indicated, nevertheless by the stress officials place on Adolf Hitler's peacetime edict to the country that it "must export or die."

Without gold or foreign balances the only way the Reich can import is through exports. The blockade has trimmed foreign trade 50 per cent—ruining overseas trade except in the Baltic.

Countries which the actual blockade can not touch — such as the Balkans, Scandinavia and Russia—have been delivering sufficiently to keep the war machine at its present slow speed. They could deliver more, but Germany hasn't enough railway cars, and the neutrals are refusing to permit their cars to leave home during wartime.

Depending on Back Door For Supplies

Germany is depending upon her back door entrance to the Reich—the Balkans now and Russia later. Hence a close watch is being kept on Allied moves like the British efforts to buy Balkan products for cash and the presence in French-mandated Syria of General Maxim Weygand's army.

Rumor here says the French first Great War hero's forces in Syria may be used to seize Russia's rich Baku oil fields. This and British cash purchases in the Balkans would combine to disrupt the flow of much-needed goods to Germany.

The Nazi dickering with Russia is divided into two parts, first, the exchange of goods, and second, collaboration on the exploitation of Soviet riches.

Negotiations with Moscow are slow, and the Nazis say they do not expect much the first year, but are looking to a long-range policy.

BRITAIN KEEPING SHARP WATCH ON ALL OIL FIELDS

Aim is to Dry Up Sources of Fuel Supplies for Germany's War Machine

CONTRABAND SEIZED

Any Attempt to Force France and British Firms in Rumania to Supply Germany Will Bring Complications

London, Jan. 25 (CP)—Great Britain is keeping sharp watch on the world's oil fields with the aim of drying up sources of fuel supply for Germany's war machine, authoritative sources said today.

Because one of Britain's greatest worries is the possibility of German air raids on a large scale to counter British sea power, the drive to buy gasoline that otherwise might fill the tanks of Nazi bombers is one of the chief problems of the Economic Warfare Department. It is working closely in this with the Foreign Office.

GERMANY CLAIMS DEUTSCHLAND HAS RETURNED HOME

Hitler Orders Name Changed to Luetzow to Reserve Deutschland for "Bigger Ship"

NO SPECIAL EVENTS

Berlin, Jan. 25 (AP)—The German high command claimed in its communique today that the pocket battleship Deutschland "returned home recently."

The communique said:

"No special events in the west.

"Air force units carried out reconnaissance flights over France and Britain.

"The armored ship Deutschland, which has been conducting mercantile warfare in the Atlantic since the outbreak of war, returned home recently."

It was also said that Adolf Hitler had ordered the Deutschland renamed the Luetzow to reserve the name Deutschland for "a bigger ship."

It was not disclosed whether such a ship was already under construction.

The original Luetzow, a heavy cruiser, also will be renamed.

The Luetzow, fifth of a new German series of 10,000-ton cruisers, was launched at Bremen July 1.

Ashland, Me., Jan. 25—(AP) — The thief who stole David R. Howe's brand-new $80 set of false teeth won't be able to wear them. Howe, sporting camp proprietor, put the teeth in a small cotton bag and placed it on a stump. A mischievous Canadian Jay flew down and away with the "choppers."

British Ambassador to Japan Issues Statement on Asmu Maru Incident

CENTRE OF PROTEST

Envoy's Action "Arrogant and Insulting" States Japanese Spokesman

Tokyo, Jan. 25—(CP-Havas)—Sir Robert Craigie, the British ambassador, attempted today to appease Japanese anger over the Asama Maru incident in a communique to the Press giving the British point of view on the incident in which a British warship stopped the Japanese liner near the Japanese coast Sunday and took off 21 Germans of military age. Japan formally protested the action the next day.

The ambassador's communique explained Great Britain considered the act entirely within her rights as a belligerent and had no thought of damaging Japanese prestige. A copy of the statement was sent to the foreign office.

KING PRESENTED WITH MEMENTO AFTER INSPECTION

Replica of Official Battle Flag of First Division Given His Majesty

KING SENDS MESSAGE

By EDWIN JOHNSON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Aldershot, England, Jan. 25—(CP—Cable) — A little piece of bunting, replica of the official battle flag of the First Canadian Division, was added today to the King's treasures at Windsor Castle.

During yesterday's royal inspection of Canadian troops at their camp here the King's attention was drawn to the novel flag fluttering at the staff of divisional headquarters.

He questioned Major-General A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian commander, about details of its origin and paid tribute to its designer, Colonel A. Fortescue Duguid.

As His Majesty took leave of General McNaughton at the end of the day's ceremonies the Canadian G.O.C. surprised him by presenting him with the miniature flag which had flown on the Canadian commander's own automobile.

"Will you kindly accept this as a small token of this historic occasion?" General McNaughton asked.

"I am delighted and shall cherish it as a most happy memento," the King replied.

SOCIAL PROGRAM ELIMINATED IN HOUSE OPENING

Opening Marked by Grim Seriousness of a Nation at War

AWAIT THRONE SPEECH

Expected Debate on Canada's War Effort Will be Long and Bitter

(By Carl Reinke, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Jan. 25—(CP)—Without the usual pomp and fanfare Canada's parliament swings into action today to begin the first full war session since 1918.

In keeping with the spirit of the times the traditional opening ceremonies have been pared to their historic essentials.

The social program has been eliminated. There will be no cannon salute for His Majesty's representative, no brilliant dress uniforms, no swords, no regalia, no mass of beautifully gowned women.

Instead, the opening of parliament will be marked by the grim seriousness of a nation at war, a nation bending every energy to the defence of its ideals.

Reveal Govt's Plan

Because of that, unusual interest will attach to the speech from the throne, read by Lord Tweedsmuir to members of both Senate and House of Commons assembled in the senate chamber. In it members and the nation at large may find revealed the government's program for the session, its plans for the future.

250,000 MEN TO BE REGISTERED

Today's Order Directs All Between 20 to 23 Years to be Listed for Service

London, Jan. 25—(CP)— The Government today announced 250,000 men aged 20 through 23 would be registered Feb. 17 for military service, which was considered likely to start about the middle of March.

The order, issued by the Ministry of Labor and National Service, was authorized by the New Year's Day proclamation placing at the disposal of military authorities all British subjects between the ages of 19 and 28.

Developments in the war situation will dictate the speed at which the conscription program is carried out. Men up to 28 years old will be called up at intervals during the year. The process will be speeded up in the event of severe fighting in the western front. Barring this possibility, it is believed the 24-year-old class will be ordered to register some time during April.

Today's order directed men between the ages of 20 and 23 to register Feb. 17 preparatory to being called to the colors.

The order applies to all men born between Jan. 1, 1916 and Dec. 31, 1919, inclusive. Many within these limits are already in the army, having been called under previous decrees covering youths of 20, 21 and 22. Each of these three age groups has produced more than 200,000 men.

Student Victim of Chemical Experiment That Went Wrong

Oceanside, N.Y., Jan. 25—(AP) —The Hans Kuck family (father, mother and son, Walter) came to America from Germany two years ago so that Walter, then 13, would have an opportunity for proper development.

Father Kuck got a job as a hotel cook. Mother Kuck found occasional work as a domestic.

Walter became an honor student at high school, showing brilliance in chemistry. He set up a "lab" in his basement and planned to go to college.

Yesterday, the father was in New York. The mother, leaving for work, kissed Walter, who was in pajamas.

He still was in pajamas and sitting on the kitchen floor when she returned at night.

Over his face was a rubber bathing cap, held in place by aviator's goggles. Tucked under the lower edge of the cap was a rubber bottle. From it, a tube led to an open gas jet.

Walter was dead.

In front of him was a book, Robert Louis Stevenson's eerie tale of how a physician accidentally found a way to transform himself into a depraved being, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

After examining Walter's "lab" and library on scientific subjects, Dr. Abraham Freireich, Deputy Medical Examiner, concluded the boy was the victim of a chemical experiment that went wrong, or that he had wanted to feel, as an experiment, the preliminary sensations of dying and had been unable to stop the preliminary stage.

38 Die When Ship Sinks in 30 Seconds

Amsterdam, Jan. 25 (AP)—Twelve passengers and 26 crewmen lost their lives today when the 1,752-ton Norwegian steamship Biarritz struck a mine and sank in 30 seconds in the North Sea.

The Norwegian steamship Borgholm rescued 12 passengers and seven of the crew, bringing the survivors to Ijmuiden.

The Biarritz went down at 2 a.m. 36 miles northwest of Ijmuiden after a tremendous explosion, which the first officer said was due to a mine.

He said the fact one lifeboat was hanging ready in the davits permitted the 19 survivors to get away. The Borgholm was nearby and rescued them.

NEW COLD WAVE BLANKETS U. S.

Sub-Zero Temperatures All Through Middlewest With Much Snow in East

New York, Jan. 25—(AP) — A new cold wave besieged the United States today and no immediate relief was in prospect.

The middlewest and Rocky Mountain regions again suffered the brunt of the frigid weather but few spots on the continent escaped the chill.

Sub-zero temperatures prevailed in Iowa, the Dakotas, Indiana, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Minnesota, Missouri and Illinois. The mercury sank to 28-below zero yesterday at Napoleon, N.D.

Fresh snow, swirled across some eastern states which still felt the paralyzing effect of the season's worst snowstorm yesterday.

The snowfall reached a depth of 21 inches in some sections of Virginia and 15 inches in southern West Virginia. Some schools in both states were closed. Snow and ice blanketed much of the east, south and middlewest.

Storm Misses New York

Some highways in Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Virginia and West Virginia were clogged with snow. Washington, D.C., was engaged in digging out from 9 1-2 inches of snow. The storm missed New York City.

A forecast of 45 degrees today sent Miami, Fla. residents scurrying in search of fuel and extra heaters. The price of firewood jumped $3 to $15 a cord in some Florida communities.

Record snowfalls disrupted traffic in much of the south. Jackson, Miss., was blanketed by a 10-inch fall and the snow measured 10.3 in Atlanta. Officials estimated the damage to North Carolina highways at more than $1,500,000. Carolina roads generally were ice coated.

"PIONEERS" NOW AT TAMPA

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 25—(AP) — Bound for an uninhabited island in the Bahamas, a party of 21 "Pioneers" has arrived here from Pasadena, Calif. They will charter a boat for the remainder of the trip. Richard Irvine, who heads the party, said its members planned an experiment in community pioneering on the 250,000 acre East Calcos Island.

One of Five Men Captured Suffering From Bullet Wound in Thigh and Taken to Hospital

LOOT RECOVERED

Series of Robberies Begun at Harmony, East of Oshawa, and Carried Out in a Stolen Car

Toronto, Jan. 25.—(CP)—After a whirlwind trail of crime blazed across the south end of Ontario County, five men, one suffering from a bullet wound in the thigh, were trapped in a Toronto police net early today when a squad of police raided a house on Miller Avenue.

The raid came as the climax to a series of robberies of service stations and garages at Pickering, Whitby, Oshawa and Harmony by a group of young men operating in a stolen car. A large quantity of loot, including radios, shotgun, batteries, tools and other merchandise was recovered by the police.

Under arrest are Dayton Platten, 19, the wounded youth; Bruce Rodden, 20; James Tomlinson, 20; Leonard Elonar, 18, and Robert Weir, 23.

Taken to Hospital

Platten was removed to hospital under police guard for a minor operation on the wound. Hospital officials stated that the wound was not of a serious nature, the bullet having passed through the flesh. All were booked on charges of shopbreaking, retaining stolen goods and theft of a car.

The car used by the men, according to police, was stolen from the garage of Col. A. W. Langmuir.

The series of robberies began at Harmony, just east of Oshawa, early yesterday.

Wounded Near Pickering

Platten was wounded near Pickering. Stopping about a mile west of the village, the thieves attempted entry at Ernest Cook's garage. Their

WINTER SCHOOL VISIT TO COLLEGE

Principal Howard Welcomes Officers and Delegates to Institution

The Winter School held its third day sessions yesterday with additional delegates registering. The program for the day opened with a devotional half hour led by Dr. Semple followed by study groups in the morning and method and demonstration courses in the afternoon. A devotional service each afternoon is taken by the respective groups. Those participating were: Tuesday, Rev. J. W. Gordon's group: Harry Marshall, Bloomfield; Clayton Thompson, Springbrook, and Grace Bonter, Marmora. Yesterday's meeting was in charge of Rev. W. T. R. Delve's group. Leaders were Thelma Way, Stockdale; Eileen McMullen, Mt. Pleasant and Rev. H. A. Mellow.

Delegates were guests of Albert College later in the afternoon, being welcomed by Principal Howard and shown around the college buildings. Group games were conducted by the Physical Director N. A. Beach and the swimming tank made available.

Kinsmen Club Formed in Marmora

On Monday evening, January 22, about twenty young men of Marmora and Deloro met at the home of Mr. R. H. Underwood for the purpose of discussing the organization of a branch of the Kinsmen Club in Marmora.

Mr. Underwood, a former member of the Montreal branch of the club, presided at the meeting and gave an interesting outline of the work of the Kinsmen Clubs across Canada as well as the history and development of the organization.

It was decided to form a local club for the balance of the season and if this appears to be a success a charter will be applied for in time to form a branch of the national organization when the fall season opens in September. The following were elected as provisional executive and committee chairmen to act until September:

President, R. H. Underwood; vice-president, James Shannon; secretary, W. H. Wright; treasurer, James Tayler; registrar, Vincent Lynch, directors, Norman Stover, Don Marett, Jack Reynolds; chairman of service committee, G. Aboud; chairman of entertainment committee, R. Smith; chairman of sports committee, William Salla; chairman of the ways and means committee, F. R. Wells; chairman of publicity committee, H. H. Sabine; editor of The Bulletin, S. Bulbuk.

The meetings will be held in the dining room of the Royal Hotel, it is expected, on the second and fourth Mondays of each month commencing at 6:30 p.m. with a dinner.

Stirling Agricultural Society Reports Activities of Past Year

Stirling, Jan. 25. — The annual meeting of Stirling Agricultural Society was held in the Stirling Agricultural Hall on Tuesday afternoon with President J. B. Thompson presiding. Reports of the various superintendents were received and the election of officers, directors and committees were important matters dealt with. In the president's address the head of the executive body expressed regrets the efforts of all faithful committee workers had not been as well rewarded by public support as in previous years. The fair of 1939 was of superior character and the added features which included the "black and white day" sponsored jointly by Stirling Agricultural Society, Hastings County Holstein Breeders' Association and the Ontario Department of Agriculture was responsible for one of the largest cattle shows in the history of Stirling Fair.

Secretary F. R. Mallory then presented his report on the last annual meeting and also the last meeting of the board of directors. The financial statement of the year was presented by Treasurer W. H. Patterson and adopted on motion of Mr. H. L. Fair, representing the auditors who also complimented the treasurer on the efficiency of his work. Mr. E. J. Pyear, past president and the society, expressed the belief that the dropping of horse racing from the program of 1938 had not been a good influence on the following year even if the event had been replaced on the list of events. It was evidently a mistake.

Committees' Reports.

Reporting on the feature event of the show, Mr. H. L. Fair stated that the "black and white day" had been successful from every standpoint. There were over 110 entries in the show which of course is based on the very highest health standard, Reports on other features of the fair were given by William Fitchett, C. F. Linn, E. J. Pyear, E. Carlisle, S. A. Murphy, S. L. Lucas and Ben Bleeker. During a discussion period set aside for the purpose of introducing new ideas for the coming years, speakers included Clifford Hatton, Ralph Campbell, Sam Holden, C. U. Heath, E. J. Pyear, S. L. Lucas. It was decided that field competitions in oats and barley would be continued as a project of 1940 It was also decided that the society by paying the necessary dues would become affiliated with the Central and Provincial Fair Associations with the president and secretary named as delegates to the annual conventions.

Veteran Member To Be Honored.

In recognition of long and faithful service, there is issued annually by the Department at Toronto an exceptionally well prepared membership diploma available to one member of the local society each year. For this honor the name of W. S. Martin, one of the original members of the Stirling Agricultural Society whose enthusiasm and loyalty in the early days of the Stirling Fair has been a large factor in the success of the event, was recommended for the year 1940. The name of C. U. Heath will be sent forward to the department in recommendation for the 1941 honor.

Officers For 1940.

President, J. B. Thompson; first vice-president, Ben Bleeker; second vice-president, Thos. W. Solmes; secretary, F. R. Mallory; treasurer, W. H. Patterson; directors, J. B. Thompson, Ben Bleeker, T. W. Solmes, C. F. Linn, Ralph Campbell, S. L. Lucas, E. J. Pyear, E. Carlisle, Gilbert Thompson, S. Holden and Arthur Duncan.

Honorary Presidents—R. D. Arnott, M.P.P., Chas. A. Cameron, K.C., M.P., Dr. Harold Welsh, M.P.P., Rorke Ferguson, M.P., Clayton Tucker, W. H. Heath, E. Carlisle, J. E. O'Donnell.

Honorary Directors—W. S. Martin, W. J. Whitty, W. C. West, Bert Bedford, Michael Shea, F. T. Ward, C. U. Heath, Thos. E. Fleming, J. P. Wilson.

Lady Directors—Mrs. H. L. Fair, Mrs. James Lagrow, Mrs. A. Pyear, Mrs. J. B. Thompson, Mrs. J. C. McGee, Mrs. M. Vandervoort, Mrs. Nina Morton, Mrs. W. C. West, Mrs. Alex Bush, Mrs. Gilbert Thompson.

Property Committee — J. B. Thompson, W. H. Patterson, Wm. Fitchett, E. J. Pyear, Gilbert Thompson.

Finance Committee—S. L. Lucas, W. H. Patterson, H. R. Tompkins.

Program Committee—S. L. Lucas, W. J. Whitty, H. R. Tompkins, T. W. Solmes, A. Duncan, A. E. Strickland, C. I. Hatton.

Auditors—H. L. Fair and J. S. Morton.

During the business period it was decided to give the program committee authority to make preparation for the annual ice carnival to be held early in February.

Oddfellows Entertain Ladies.

One of the most pleasant social events of the season took place in the Lodge Hall of the Stirling Lodge No. 239 of the I.O.O.F. when the officers and members of the organization entertained the ladies of the district at their annual ladies' night. The lodge rooms were well filled and the guests received at the door by a reception committee that in the promotion of their duties of the evening made every guest feel comfortably at home.

Bro. Kent, Noble, Grand, welcomed the ladies and other guests present in a brief and well worded address and then introduced Mr. Ralph Gordon, prominent Canadian entertainer who provided the main portion of the entertainment for the evening. Widely known for his originality and versatility this gifted artist presented a program wide in range and excellent in quality. His impersonations were exceptionally well done and his rendition of the famous Irish number. "The Ship That Brought Me Over" gave opportunity for a portrayal of ability in elocution difficult to eclipse. As a ventriloquist he also proved himself capable and his sketching with charcoal and further numbers in magic completed a lengthy program of entertainment that was thoroughly enjoyed by all. At the close of the program luncheon was served by the committee in charge and the remaining portion of the evening was spent at cards.

Annual Vestry Meeting.

The annual vestry meeting of St. John's Anglican Church was held on Monday evening in Memorial Hall with the Rector, Rev. A. S. McConnell, acting as chairman for the evening. Progress in the year's work of the church and congregation was revealed in the excellent reports presented. Reports of the various branches of the church were made by Mr. J. B. Belshaw, Mr. S. L. Lucas, Mr. A. E. Strickland reporting on the activities of St. John's Men's Club and Mr. Fred Houchin reporting on the progress in Sunday school work. Mr. Fred Houchin acted in his official capacity as clerk of the vestry. Owing to the large amount of illness in the congregation which to a large degree lessened the attendance at this important meeting, it was deemed wise to postpone elections and appointments to the various offices to a later meeting when a larger congregational representation could attend. The meeting was closed with prayer by Rev. A. S. McConnell.

Attend Winter School in Belleville.

On Monday evening transportation was arranged by the officers of St. Paul's United Church Y.P.U. to permit several of the members to attend the sessions of the Bay of Quinte Young People's Winter School at Bridge Street United Church. Those present for the Monday evening session were privileged to hear a fine address by Prof. Wallace of Queen's University at Kingston on the subject: "Canadian Youth". Among those present from Stirling were Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams, Mrs. Cecil Macklin, Mrs. Nora Wescott, Miss Greta Nicholson, Miss Marie McKee, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elgie and Donald Scott.

THIRTY CONTEST AMATEUR NIGHT AT WINTER SCHOOL

Contestants Represent Young Peoples Societies in Cobourg and Belleville Presbyteries

SKITS ARE CLEVER

The Bay of Quinte Conference Winter School Wednesday night conducted its second Annual Amateur night in Bridge Street Sunday School auditorium. About 300 heard thirty contestants representing Young People's Societies in the Cobourg and Belleville Presbytery in an open competition. Classifications of entries were abolished this year.

An opening broadcasting skit provided plenty of amusement with "Harf Harf Hatkinson" and his amateurs giving a program sponsored by a Dog Food firm on Station W.A.G.G. with Miss Doris Williams as announcer. The program proper was directed by the Pianist and Song Leader of the School, Miss Lucile Herrington of Thomasburg and Matilda Kitney of Albert College, respectively soloists, instrumentalists and novelty acts and elocutionists were among the offerings from which the prize winners were.

First prize—Miss Marion Waddell of Carmel Church, Cannifton, for an elocution number entitled "Jones Minor's Recitation." Second prize, Miss Lena Gordon of Plainville for a vocal solo, "The King of Love", in which she was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. H. A. Mellow. Third prize went to J. Blatherwick who was accompanied by Mrs. G. Snider at the piano in a Doll Novelty Act — dancing puppet.

The prizes were presented by Miss Lucile Herrington. The judges were: Mrs. Donald Williams, Stirling; Gordon Munn of Albert College; and Miss Loretta McDougall of Peterboro; timekeeper, R. Finney of Albert College.

In the second half of the program a Quiz competition between three sets of six contestants resulted in a tie for first place requiring a tiebreak .Winners were all men: 1. A'eck Allison of Melrose; 2. Ralph Campbell of Marsh Hill; 3. G. S. Martin of Wallbridge.

Assisting in the ballots was Miss Belle Gilmour of Rednersville. Community singing was led by Rev. Roy Rickard. Judges for the Quiz contest were R. Finney and G. Munn of Albert College.

Representatives were appointed Thursday by the students of the Bay of Quinte Winter School meeting at Bridge Street United Church as their representatives on the executive for the coming year, Jack Grant, Port Hope, for Cobourg Presbytery, Ralph Campbell, Foxboro, and Miss Jean Matthews, Belleville for Belleville Presbytery.

Letters From the Troops

Following is a letter received by Mrs. W. J. Smith, 368 North Charles street, Belleville, from her son, Pte. Gerald Douglas Smith of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, stationed at Aldershot, England. Pte. Smith gives a graphic account of the transatlantic voyage of the First Canadian Division, and its ultimate landing in a Scottish port. The letter is written in diary form.

Dec. 23rd. "Somewhere on the Atlantic"—Dear mother, here we are on our way at last. There is a stiff breeze blowing and it looks like rough weather ahead. We had quite a few sick cases thus far. I have got my old job back although I thought I was going to have a voyage without doing any work. I have to patrol the boat at night to see that nobody is smoking on the decks.

We had a route march after dark at Riviere Du Loup in Quebec before we took the train. The people at Campbellton, N.B., gave us a grand reception as we passed through. We pulled out of Halifax on Dec. 22 at noon.

Dec. 24th. We put our watches ahead another hour last night. This is the second time we have done that since we left home. There is a fair roll to the boat tonight, and several snow flurries. The whole convoy is doing a lot of zig-zagging. We expect to be met by a heavier naval unit later tonight. Tomorrow is Christmas and the boys are looking forward to the turkey.

Dec. 25th. Mother, I missed you so much today for this is Christmas. But what a feed we had. Last night Christmas Eve Shinny Shannon, Zippy, Mac Hudgin and Jerry Bassman and I bought oranges, potato chips, cakes, soft drinks, gum drops, and spent the evening together. For breakfast today we had liver and bacon, bread and tea. For dinner, roast turkey, plum pudding with sauce, a bottle of beer, oranges and apple pie. For supper we had pork sausages, Christmas cake, tea, bread.

The night before Christmas it was a bright clear moonlight night and I stood on the deck and watched the convoy. It was a sight I will never forget. I wish you too could have seen them. Good night, mother, and a Merry Christmas to you.

Dec. 26th. We change our time tonight instead of last night. We are now about halfway across the ocean.

Dec. 27th. We are now four hours ahead of your time. The sea is getting very rough with waves nearly half as big as the boat hitting us. At 4:30 I saw a large school of porpoises jumping as high as three feet out of the water. The part of the ocean we are in now is what is known as "The Devil's Hole".

Dec. 28th. We are still well out in the Atlantic, and as we have been six days at sea we should be getting somewhere pretty soon.

Dec. 29th. Everybody is excited for we hear we are in the danger zone. British sub-chasers are darting back and forth around us, while planes are flying over our heads. The water is very calm.

Dec. 30th. It is 4:30 in the morning, mother, and we are moving slowly into a Scottish port. We should have our feet on Scottish soil before noon. We are here and Britain has waved another red flag in Hitler's face.

Later. We are at anchor in the river. Right around us are the heather hills of Scotland and we are to stay on the ship until Monday morning.

Dec. 31. A lighter boat pulled alongside the ship this morning and took off kit bags, trunks and boxes and also our mascot, the big Indian Chief that used to stand on top of the old barracks in Picton. We get off this boat, I guess, the same way as we left Picton.

Mother, I wish you could see this country. It is one of the most beautiful sights I have ever seen. It looks like a beautiful picture. Along the shore are hills covered with green grass and small trees. Farmers are plowing. Back of the hills is a range of snow-capped mountains. When the sun shines on the whole scene it is absolutely marvellous to watch.

I wish you could see the boats here.

Jan. 2nd. We arrived in Camp Aldershot today and I saw Lorne a few minutes after I arrived. He was sure glad to see me. He has written you several letters but has not heard from you yet. I guess I will say goodbye for now. With all the love in the world—Douglas.

(Private Gerald Douglas Smith, C4041 H. and P. E. Regiment, C. A. S. F., Maida Barracks, Aldershot Camp, England.)

HELD IN TOKIO

James R. Young, American newspaperman and Tokio manager of International News Service, was taken, with his wife, to Tokio police headquarters for questioning. Mrs. Young was later released but Young is still being held.

Predicts Early Spring

Brantford, Jan. 25—Spring will come early. The husk on the corn last fall was thin. The willows are showing light orange and full buds. Hickory nuts were left on the trees by the squirrels before snow fell. Raspberries ripened again last October. There is no doubt about it, Spring will come early.

This is the prophesy of Chief Jerry Blueyes, 74-year-old Cayuga Indian of the Six Nations in a story appearing in the Globe and Mail. These are the things that he has seen with his own eyes, which were once blue as the sky, but have changed with the years.

"The corn knows," the old Chief, sitting beside a wary fire in his ancient log house, declared. "It knows as only nature knows. When the winter is to be long and cold, the husk on the corn is thick. When winter will be short, the corn husk is thin. It was thin last fall."

Last October along MacKenzie Creek, which winds through the reservation, Chief Blueyes found the wild raspberries ripe again.

"They spread out red. Red as a winter evening's sun. Red as the harvest moon. When the berries ripen twice in one season, the winter will be short," the old Chief said.

Hickory nuts were plentiful this year, but the squirrels didn't hoard them. Some were left on the trees. The squirrels know.

The willows that line the road that stretches away from the old Chief's log cabin are orange against a snowy background.

"See," the old Chief says, pointing out the low window, "the willows know. Their buds are full. Their color is already turning.

"Nobody can fool nature, and nature gives the Indian the signs of the seasons. These things tell me the snow will disappear early. The warm weather will fall quickly. It will be an early spring and a good spring for the Indian people."

Why Be a Bear about Winter?

THERE are a lot of men in this world who disappear about October and it isn't until next April that you see them chugging along the road again.

Gentlemen, why be a bear about Winter?

Today—right now—you can step into 17 feet of sunny loveliness that's called a 1940 Nash and thumb your nose at Winter from now on!

The incredible magic begins the moment you twist that "Weather Eye" dial and feel a gust of air so warm and balmy you'd swear you were basking in middle-May!

A hint to your hundred-odd horses, and you're off with the headlong rush of a skier down the chute . . .

When your Automatic Fourth Speed Forward clicks in, you're skippering the closest thing known to a silent-flying iceboat . . .

And when a laggard disputes your path, a nudge on the throttle gives you "Overtake" power that whips you out and around like a champion Olympic bobsled taking the turns.

Those frozen ruts and bumps . . . why don't you feel them?

You can't—because they never get past your dancing wheels. It's Nash's amazing new Arrow-Flight Ride . . . result of an utterly new springing combination.

Right down to its big Manifold-Sealed engine . . . that sends you singing on your way while your friends' cars are still coughing and sputtering at the curb . . . you've found a car built to take the headaches out of Winter.

Come on down today and see it. With figures and facts and a surprising automobile X-Ray, we'll prove that inch for inch and pound for pound of sheer, fine steel . . . no car costs so little to own and run.

And we'll explain why . . . with 18 sleek, luxurious, big-car Nashes . . . our prices go right down to a few dollars more than the lowest.

Why not see your Nash dealer—and put an end to this dull Winter now?

You'll be Happier in a NASH

PREMIER, ROEBUCK

Asked Secretary Be Moved.

Walkinshaw served at the time as Mr. Roebuck's secretary. After their return from England, said the premier, Mr. Roebuck asked him to transfer Walkinshaw to a post where he would have charge of Hydro insurance, though Mr. Roebuck knew that certain charges were to be made against Walkinshaw.

"I said then I had reason to believe that Walkinshaw was just as crooked as Drew (Col. George Drew, new Conservative leader) is going to paint him," said Mr. Hepburn.

Mr. Atkinson and Mr. Roebuck had a lot in common, said the premier. He accused Mr. Atkinson of being vindictive toward him after the Oshawa General Motors strike in 1937. He (Mr. Hepburn) wouldn't bow to Mr. Atkinson, but Mr. Roebuck had.

After Dick Merrill, trans-Atlantic aviator, was received in Toronto, the Toronto Star editorially criticized disregard of traffic laws in the reception, said Mr. Hepburn. He would tell some things about Mr. Atkinson's grandsons that the Star would not publish.

Read From Records.

Mr. Hepburn read from a memorandum from H. R. Polson, Deputy Inspector of Legal Offices, concerning a charge laid against Harry and John Hindmarsh, grandsons of Mr. Atkinson, and another youth, Harry Farr, for splashing red paint on the school at Oakville. Malicious damage to property was charged.

Harry Hindmarsh, Sr., vice-president of the Toronto Star, got in touch with Mr. Roebuck and then exerted influence on the Crown Attorney to have the trial held under circumstances which would not be generally known in Oakville. The charge was withdrawn and damages were paid.

"What do you think of that when you talk of justice in Ontario?" asked Mr. Hepburn.

Fined For Reckless Driving.

On Feb. 20, 1937, Harry Hindmarsh, Jr., was arrested on a highway and taken to Brampton jail on a reckless driving charge. Hindmarsh, Sr., got in touch with the Crown Attorney and guarenteed production of his son for trial. Influence was used to have the trial in the magistrate's office. Evidence was that young Hindmarsh was driving 80 miles an hour and he was fined $25.

Mr. Hindmarsh requested special consideration for his son and gave his guarantee that he would not drive anywhere outside Toronto city limits, the magistrate feeling sure Toronto police would stop reckless driving.

Influence Is Charged.

"He was quite free to kill anybody in Toronto, but he couldn't kill anybody outside Toronto," said Mr. Hepburn. "That shows influence."

The premier produced another memorandum—from the Education Department. It related to an application for special consideration for John Hindmarsh, in June, 1934 when John was unable to write certain examination papers. He was granted standing.

In 1935, John Hindmarsh failed in four Middle School papers. Again special consideration was sought, the memorandum said.

Mr. Roebuck labelled the premier's remarks an exhibition of meanness and smallness.

"This attempt to injure Mr. Atkinson through his grandsons because of a speeding record is cheap and contemptible," thundered Mr. Roebuck. The school painting episode was a boyish prank.

It was a disgrace that two youths shuold be held up and pilloried in formal debate in the legislature, said Mr. Roebuck.

No Objection Claims Roebuck.

In reference to Mr. Walkinshaw's appointment as his secretary, Mr. Roebuck said he had discussed it with the premier and there was no objection. The attack on Walkinshaw was Hepburnian at its worst—ruthless and brutal.

"Because of his record, the insurance department refused him a licence," said Mr. Hepburn. "If you want the record I'll table it."

"No doubt you'll blast his reputation," retorted Mr. Roebuck. "No doubt you will exercise all the ability you have to drive the knife in and turn it around." Mr. Roebuck said he took all responsibility for granting Lloyds an Ontario licence.

"This shows the lengths to which the prime minister will go in trying to injure a member who may not agree with him and who will not submit to his dictation," he said. "I was in politics when the prime minister was in short pants. If he carries on in the future as he has in the past, I'll be in politics after he's back to the farm."

Motion Withdrawn Is Claim.

Renewing the attack on Mr. Roebuck, Mr. Hepburn said his then attorney-general had persuaded him to have withdrawn from the order paper a motion asking information concerning fees paid Lewis Duncan by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission. The substance of the matter was that Mr. Duncan had been paid $16,000 for preparing a speech that took Mr. Roebuck in the legislature nine hours to deliver. He wanted $10,000 more.

"But we're protected from this graspy and greedy person by reason of legislation passed by the former attorney-general," said Mr. Hepburn. "He can't sue us without a fiat."

Not His Legislation.

Mr. Roebuck said that it was not his legislation that required a fiat to bring action against Hydro. If Mr. Hepburn's charge against Mr. Duncan was no more accurate than his accusations against Mr. Atkinson, there wasn't much truth in them. Mr. Roebuck said he was present when Mr. Atkinson was supposed to have threatened to hound and harass the premier, but he didn't hear it. The premier was reporting an interview without a "shred of truth".

"I rise to support the premier," said Provincial Secretary Harry Nixon.

"Mr. Atkinson did not tell him that on that occasion, nor was his voice raised," said Mr. Roebuck, inquiring of the speaker that he could stay within parliamentary bounds and yet speak the truth.

For Variety of Services

Mr. Duncan's bill was for a variety of services, said Mr. Roebuck. He earned every dollar of the $16,000 as a "most persistent, industrious and capable investigator."

He denied that Mr. Duncan wrote the nine-hour speech.

"The Premier will not annihilate me with this kind of chaff," said Mr. Roebuck.

"I wouldn't use a sledge hammer on a fly," said the Premier.

Reason for asking that the Duncan return be not tabled was to prevent private power companies, then engaged in litigation with Hydro, from obtaining information that would have been of value to them, said Mr. Roebuck.

Referring to the government's bill to provide a general one-year extension of the terms of persons in elected municipal offices on Feb. 1, 1941, Mr. Hepburn said fear of revenue losses inspired city newspapers and rural weeklies to oppose the measure, said Premier Hepburn. The city papers feared loss of advertising revenue and the rural weeklies would lose the revenue from printing voters' lists.

The imputation that newspapers opposed the two-year term for financial reasons was deplorable, said Mr. Roebuck.

Fine Newspapers

"No country in the world has a finer set of newspapers than we have in this province. They are just as high-minded, patriotic and sincere as you will find in the whole world. To try to intimate on the floor of the House that Ontario newspapers are actuated only by what is mean and venal is deplorable."

Hundreds of letters had been received commending him on his stand against the war policies of the Federal administration, Premier Hepburn told the House. He paid no attention to a series of meetings organized by Bart Sullivan, "a paid employee of the Federal crowd", professing to speak in the name of Liberals. The Premier read a letter from Hamilton saying that anti-Hepburn meetings there were not representative of Liberals generally.

JUVENILE HOCKEY LEAGUE ORGANIZED AT TWEED

The Juvenile Hockey League was organized on Monday with Mr. S. H. Connor as president. Four teams are entered in the league with Messrs. Gerald Quinn, Robert Sweetman, Geo. Geraldi, I. D. FOUR ARMED MEN STAGE DAYLIGHT HOLD-UP FOR FURS

Load of Furs Taken and Driver of Truck Bound and Gagged

VALUED AT $14,000

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 25.—(CP) — Police spread wide net yesterday in their search for four armed men who commandeered a truck loaded with 70 furs in a daring daylight hold-up near St. Thomas on Tuesday.

The truck was abandoned Tuesday night near Amherstburg and the driver was left, bound and gagged, in the rear of it. The furs, valued at $14,000, were missing when he was found and freed by Provincial Constable E. L. Harris and Police Chief J. G. Taylor of Amherstburg.

Richard Ward, 33, of Toronto, driver of the truck, described to them how he was robbed of his load. A salesman for the Hudson Fur Manufacturing Company, Toronto, he was taking the coats to a Windsor store when the men waylaid him near St. Thomas.

Ward said that he was accosted by the hold-up men while about four miles west of St. Thomas, travelling about 55 miles an hour. A car caught up to him and a fellow in the front seat waved to Ward to pull over, the car starting to crowd the truck at the same time.

Faced With Revolver

For Ward he said it was a case either of crashing into the ditch or stopping on the shoulder, so he chose the latter. The car pulled up and one of the occupants with a revolver in his hand ran over to the truck.

"Get into the back", he ordered Ward. The gunman followed Ward into the back, tied him up and gagged him, the truck starting to roll at the same time. Ward said he was kicked repeatedly in the side, but was not injured. His wrists and legs were swollen when he was finally freed, having been bound for four hours.

Ward said he did not have the slightest idea where the truck was headed during its 120 mile trip. After a stop when he presumed they loaded the furs into the car, Ward said they continued a few miles in the truck before finally leaving him.

It was only a matter of minutes from the time the men left him until the police found him, Ward said, adding that he made weekly trips to Western Ontario from the Toronto warehouse for the last four years and it was the first time he was troubled.

SOCIAL PROGRAM

The combination of war and an impending general election—involving, among other things, certain criticisms of the government's quiet conduct of the national war effort —is generally expected to provide sessional interest not exceeded since the first Great War.

Debate may be long and intense. It may, on the other hand, be short and intense — if the government suddenly decides to dissolve parliament and call an election.

In this connection, the expectation is widespread among members that the government's wartime minimum of legislation will include changes in the Election Act to make it possible to bring on an election with less notice than now required and also to provide for soldiers voting, including those already overseas.

Election Expected

Seven weeks' notice of an election is necessary at present, plus two or three days of grace. Rumors persist that this is to be reduced to 30 days.

Whether an election is called early this summer, it is generally agreed, will depend in part on the course of the war itself. If the present comparative quiet should burst into a dreadful fury, any election plans would undoubtedly be shelved for many months. Six new members elected since the last session of parliament will be introduced during today's brief and simple ceremonies. Even so the Commons still meets with four vacancies, the Senate with 13.

GERMANY CLAIMS

What its new name will be was not disclosed.

The Deutschland was one of three 10,000-ton pocket battleship which Germany had at the start of the war.

The Admiral Graf Spee, another of that class, was destroyed by its own commander Dec. 17 off Montevideo, Uruguay, four days after limping to that port following a running fight with three British cruisers.

The third, the Admiral Scheer, was reported widely active in the first months of the war, but the Admiral Graf Spee's crew said they frequently masqueraded as the Admiral Scheer.

One Badly Damaged

British aviators said that in a raid on Kiel Sept. 4, the day after war was declared, they badly damaged a vessel believed to have been Admiral Graf Spee. When the Admiral Graf Spee showed up in Montevideo, it was presumed that the pocket battleship which the airmen mentioned may have been the Admiral Scheer instead, since it never has been located beyond doubt on the high seas.

The Deutschland broke into the headlines first when it captured the American merchant City of Flint, subsequently taken from the German prize crew by Norwegian authorities and released. On Nov. 25, the Deutschland sank with shellfire the British armed merchant cruiser Rawalpindi near Iceland.

OBITUARY

LATE G. L. OSTRANDER

(Picton)

Picton, Jan. 25 —The funeral of George L. Ostrander was held in Picton United Church this afternoon and was very largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. J. F. Reycraft conducted the service and interment was in Cherry Valley cemetery.

Mr. Ostrander died after a short illness. For more than twenty-five years he conducted a grocery store in the village of Milford and was prominent in the life of that community where he resided most of his life.

He was born in South Marysburgh township 68 years ago and all his life was spent in Prince Edward County. Following his retirea member of the United Church ment from business a few years ago he moved to Picton where his circle of friends was increased. He was and served on the Board of Elders of the Picton church for three years. He is survived by his wife.

JEAN DASKEY

The death occurred at the Belleville General Hospital on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 24th., of Jean Daskey age three and a half years. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Daskey of R.R. 4, Tweed and died shortly after being admitted to the hospital.

George Thomas Pickell

Trenton, Jan. 25 —(Special)— The funeral was held for the late George Thomas Pickell, 66, who died here suddenly on Saturday. The service was under the auspices of L.O.L. No. 206 of which the late Mr. Pickell was a member. The Rev. Earl Whitmore officiated. A well known figure in the town, Mr. Pickell served as a section man on the C.P.R. for 17 years and retired from the service in 1939. His only surviving relative is a niece, Mrs. Norman Hickerson of Trenton.

Pallbearers were: W. Patison, H. Allison, N. Hart, E. Donaldson, R. Roy and J. Nancarrow.

Installation of Refrigeration In Cheese Factories of District Is Gaining in Popularity

Installation of mechanical refrigeration to replace the old-fashioned method of ice and ice-houses is gaining in popularity with cheese-factory owners and companies of this district, according to Chief Dairy Grader James Irwin. A large number of factories have already availed themselves of the provisions of the Cheese Factory Improvement Act in which the government subsidizes factories fifty per cent of the cost of installation of curing equipment, while others have already signified their intention of falling in line.

Insulation of entire plants is being advocated among cheese factory companies, Mr. Irwin said, in that high-grade cheese cannot be manufactured in cold weather. While insulation of each and every factory is out of the question for the time being, one factory in each district which could handle the milk supply of its immediate section could be insulated until other factories found it possible to instal the facility.

Referring back to the installation of mechanical refrigeration, Mr. Irwin was of the opinion that many benefits could be derived from it. It insured an even temperature at all times, besides removing the cost of ice, erection and maintenance of ice houses. In many cases, he said, these buildings had to be replaced after a few years service.

It has been discovered in several instances, he said, that the cost of installation of the mechanical form of refrigeration through the medium of the fifty per cent government subsidization, would be returned to the factory owner, in that the removal of costs of the former natural ice methods, would naturally revert to payment for the new equipment. In other words the new method would pay for itself over a period of a few years.

TIED-UP BOATS TELL STORY

Throughout the world for the eyes of all nations to see is a familiar scene which paints in its true colors the exact situation in the war between the Allies and Germany.

It is the sight of German merchantmen in port after port of neutral nations lying at anchor or tied up, while on their keels the barnacles gather.

It is these same ships, which were said a few weeks ago to have received orders from Adolf Hitler to make a dash for German ports with their cargoes.

So far as is known, none has attempted the race to the Fatherland for the reason that Britain with the help of the French navy holds the seas free from German merchantmen and raiders.

These boats tell a story that is more graphic than words, showing the futility of Hitler's struggle.

NOW FAMOUS POEM TO BE AUCTIONED

The poem which was quoted in part by His Majesty the King in his Christmas message to the Empire has not only become famous because the King recited the words but also because for a day or so the name of the poetess was not known and because the original manuscript has been presented to the Lord Mayor's Red Cross Fund in London to be auctioned at Christie's with an autographed copy of "The Desert" from which the words are taken. These words are those which the King quoted—

"I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year, 'Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown,' and he replied, 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than the known way.' "

These words written twenty-five years ago by Miss Minnie Haskins, now serve the Empire in a day of testing and trial. The quiet confidence of the words and the simple faith they express have a messag in a time of war.

Great fame has come to the poetess and great is the service her words can render to the people of Britain, led by their King.

Fame has come posthumously to many poets, some have achieved immediate fame, but that of Miss Haskins and her words has come because their merit and truth have conquered obstacles, for they have been quoted by writers even though their author was comparatively unknown for years. Her late fame is greater many feel than fame won on the moment.

PROOF OF BRITISH HUMANITY

Lord Marley, Deputy Speaker and Chief Opposition Whip in the British House of Commons gave a hint the other day when in the Ontario Legislature he was discussing the possibility of German air raids attacking women and children. He pointed out that Britain had refrained from bombing strategic industrial centres because children and women have not yet been evacuated from them. "But if the Nazi government attacks our women and children," he declared, "we will not hesitate to attack — not their women and children — but their great industrial centres, which in some instances are but four or five minutes' flight from our advance air stations."

Germany has a disadvantage in the air attack. She has to go many miles to attack Britain but Germany is within easy range of British planes, four or five minutes only, as Lord Marley said, separating advanced British stations and the great German plants. What an advantage this means to British fleets in the air is easily recognized.

This very fact is proof of British humanity, fairness and desire to save civilians. The British people refuse to take advantage of the nearness of great German industrial centres because such would endanger civilian lives.

INVENTION TO MATCH THE NEEDS

British ingenuity is shown by the invention of a steel wire web choking the air from the ground level to a height of six miles which according to a Canadian Press cable may defend Britain's big towns and vital production centres against Nazi raiders.

Authorities are considering a "shell" which is fired from an ordinary anti-aircraft gun, but, instead of exploding on reaching the ceiling, releases a number of small parachutes, each trailing steel wire.

Three London engineers, who are the inventors, make the claim that anti-aircraft guns could put up an impenetrable rain of 25,000 shells every few minutes. Such a shell would cost but $1.78 each as against $45 for each existing anti-aircraft shell.

The wall or screen of captive balloons which Britain has in her defence plan still holds the confidence of the people. This is a peculiarly British device and nothing has yet shown that it will not do all that has been claimed for it.

Even in the rush and absorption in war effort, inventors can find new means adding effectiveness to gun fire and also effectiveness to defence.

A new type of war has been waged on the west front and there are many devices there in use which ought to save many lives. If war is determined on destroying the effectiveness of the enemy it has also this to be said for it, it tries to add to the effectiveness of defence so that the most terrible engines of death, if adequate guard is taken against them, do not reap the harvest they might otherwise take of men, women and children. There are many means of saving lives. It too is a part of military policy. Raid shelters and evacuations are some of these means besides the mechanical engines of defence.

Daily War Survey

By The Canadian Press

Several hundred German technicians and instructors are reported at work in the southern part of Polish territory now occupied by Russia. This is the region to the north of Hungary and Rumania and the object of the Germans is said to be to assure the transport of goods from Rumania and Soviet Ukraine into Germany.

German economic experts are confronted with a serious transport difficulty in the southeast, owing to the prolonged tie-up of water communications on the Danube. The winter has been unusually severe and the Danube which should be floating hundreds of barges northwest into Germany is still ice-bound.

Moreover the Russians, despite German pleas are showing little haste or efficiency in getting railways into a condition which will permit regular and continuous service through the section of Poland now under their control.

Although the transport situation provides ample reason for the presence of the German technicians in the area, the fact that certain movements of a more or less military character are occurring in Slovakia, revive earlier suspicions a joint German-Russian move may be in process of organization.

The Soviet government never has concealed its intention of recovering the province of Bessarabia from Rumania sooner or later. Germany needs oil, metals and agricultural products from southeastern Europe in order to continue the war.

Military operations in conjunction with Russia, designed to obtain effective control of the sources and means of transport of the desired product would be an attractive prospect if they could be assured of a speedy success.

Der Fuehrer In His Nest

The veil of official secrecy which covered the dramatic visit of Andre Francois-Poncet, once French Ambassador at Berlin and now Ambassador at Rome, to Fuehrer Adolf Hitler on Oct. 18, 1938, in Der Fuehrer's eagle's nest retreat high atop a Bavarian Alp has now been lifted with the publication of a French "yellow book."

Francois-Poncet was the first foreigner ever to cross the machine-gun-guarded threshold to Hitler's mountain eyrie, writes Tonfa Long in the New York Herald Tribune.

His report of his pilgrimage reads like something out of "The Thousand and One Nights." Written with supreme command of the French language—full of poetic fancies and allusions—it is like few reports submitted by a diplomat to a European chancellery. The author does not attempt to disguise his amazement at what he saw; on the contrary, he skillfully conjures up for the reader the sensation of awe and wonder that assailed him as he first caught a glimpse from below of the eagle's nest perched in the sky.

"Hitler," Francois-Poncet said to a friend after the visit, "is playing at Wotan." (Wotan, or Woden, is one of the highest dieties in the Germanic mythology; he was credited with a special skill in magic.)

x x x

Extracts of Francois-Poncet's report of Oct. 20, 1938 to Georges Bonnet, Minister for Foreign Affairs, for France, follows:

"In inviting me on the evening of Oct. 17 to go to see him as soon as possible, Chancellor Hitler had placed at my disposal one of his private planes. I, therefore, left for Berchtesgaden by air next day in the company of Captain Stehlin. Arrived there, an automobile took me not to the Obersalzburg Villa, where Der Fuehrer lives and where he had already received me, but instead to an extraordinary spot where, when the weather is good, he loves to spend his days.

"Seen from afar, this place appears to be a sort of observation or hermitage, perched 1,900 metres (about 6,000 feet) on the crest of a ridge of rock. One arrives by a winding road about 15 kilometres (eight miles) long, hewn boldly out of the stone, its daring construction paying tribute to the talent of the engineer Todt, as to the intensive labors of the workmen, who, in three years, completed this gigantic task." (Fritz Todt worked on Germany's western fortifications.)

"The road ends at the entrance to a long tunnel, which thrusts into the earth; heavy, double brass doors guard the entrance. At the further end of this tunnel a large elevator with copper walls awaits the visitor. Rising up a vertical shaft of 110 metres cut out of rock, the elevator ascends to the level of the Chancellor's abode.

x x x

"Here one's surprise reaches its highest point. In effect, the visitor sees before him a squat and massive construction, consisting of a gallery of Roman pillars, an immense glassed-in, circular chamber with a vast chimney in which burn enormous logs of wood and a table surrounded by about 30 chairs, as well as of several side rooms furnished elegantly with comfortable arm chairs.

"On every side, looking through the bay windows, one's gaze, as from a high, speeding 'plane, passes into an immense panorama of mountains. In the distance, one sees Salzburg and its neighboring villages, above which rises, as far as the eye can see, a horizon of mountains and peaks and of pastures and forests which cling to their slopes.

"Close to the house, which appears to be suspended in the void, and almost hanging over it, an abrupt wall of naked rock rears itself. The whole, bathed in the glow of an Autumn evening, is glamorous wild, almost eerie.

"The visitor wonders whether he is awake or dreaming. He would like to know where he is. Is it the castle of Montsalvat, inhabited by the Knights of the Grail, a Mount Athos sheltering the meditations of a cenobite, or the Palace of Antinea, rearing itself in the heart of the Atlas?

"Is it a realization of one of those fantastic designs with which Victor Hugo used to decorate the margins of the manuscript of 'The Burgraces,' a millionaire's fantasy, or only a hideout where brigands take their rest and accumulate their treasure?

"Is it the product of a normal mind, or that of a man tormented by delusions of grandeur, haunted by a desire for domination and solitude, or simply the prey of fear?

"One detail attracts attention and for those who seek to determine the psychology of Adolf Hitler, it is of no less value than others: the roads of access, the entrance to the tunnel, the immediate surroundings of the house, all are organized along military lines and protected by nests of machine-guns.

"The Chancellor welcomes me amiably and with courtesy. His face is pale and tired looking. He is not in one of his excitable moods; rather, he seems to be in a state of relaxation. At once he drags me towards the bay windows of a large room; he shows me the scenery; he enjoys the astonishment and admiration which I do not seek to hide. Then he expresses his regret at my approaching departure. We exchange some courtesies and phrases of politeness. At his command, tea is served in one of the side rooms, where he conducts me with M. von Ribbentrop (Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop) while the Nazis of his entourage remain separately in the other rooms....

"....For nearly two hours M. Hitler listens with good grace to my questions; he answers them without the least embarrassment, with simplicity and, in appearance at least, with frankness. But the moment has come to return him his freedom. The Castle of Antinea is now drowned in the shadows which fall upon the valleys and the mountains. I take my leave. Der Fuehrer hopes that I may some day return to Germany and visit him as a private person. He shakes my hand several times. At the exit of the elevator and of the tunnel I find a car which has been awaiting me; it takes me via Berchtesgaden to the airport whence the 'plane carries me through the night to Berlin."

Cod Liver Oil for Ulcerative Colitis

I write often about mucous colitis—an inflamed condition of the lining of the colon or large intestine. In this condition there is loose stools, diarrhoea, and mucous coats, the wastes from the intestine. The cause of mucous colitis is believed to be nervousness and emotional disturbances such as worry, anxiety, and mental conflicts. By trying to acquire calmness of spirit and eating soft foods that will not irritate the lining of the colon, many of these patients obtain relief from their symptoms.

What is called ulcerative colitis greatly inflamed and ulceration present, the symptoms may be so severe that surgery is necessary to obtain relief. For years, mild antiseptic enemas have been used once or twice a day, and sometimes oil enemas, which were left in the colon overnight. What may prove of much help in severe cases is enemas of cod liver oil.

For years cod liver oil has been used as a body builder and to fight infection in the body. Lately it has been used with great success in deep wounds and also in infection of bone.

Dr. H. Gainsborough in The Lancet, London, reports his results of using cod liver oil enemas in six cases of ulcerative colitis. The patients were given foods rich in food value and containing little bulky waste or fibrous material. Meat and eggs are examples of these "high calorie, low residue" foods.

Before using the cod liver oil enemas, patients were given complete rest in bed and starch and opium enemas to reduce the diarrhoea and irritability of the colon. These starch and opium enemas kept the colon so quiet that the patients were able to hold the cod liver oil enemas in the colon all night. This gave the cod liver oil all these hours to help the ulcers and raw surfaces. At the beginning of the treatment the patient was able to hold the cod liver oil enemas only a short time and they were given duing the day. Later they were given at bed time and held by the patient till morning. The beginning dose was 2 ounces at a time, gradually increasing up to 8 ounces.

Three of the six patients whose illness had lasted 3, 6 and 18 months respectively, were cured and have remained cured for past two years. One patient suffering for 12 years remained well 15 months and then relapsed; another suffering six years relapsed after 16 months but was cured after further use of the cod liver oil enemas. The sixth was not helped.

Trailer Travel

By ARTHUR JONES

Miami, Florida, Jan. 22—With the temperatures ranging from 37 to 40 degrees all parochial schools are closed today because of the wintry winds blowing down the Florida peninsula. South of Miami twenty miles in the low lands frost is expected with no indication of an immediate change seen. At daylight this morning your deep-South reporter stepped out of a warm trailer into a brisk October duck-shooting morning in Ontario. Warm clothing was necessary to be comfortable and smoking hot, sour milk pancakes with Ontario maple syrup touched the spot for breakfast. To the natives this is real winter. To many up state visitors, here for a holiday of a limited time many complaints are heard. Only the most hardy will attempt bathing in the ocean although the temperature of the water tempered by the Gulf Stream is around 70. The last day or two, especially in the evening many furs made their appearance. In fact downtown in Miami the fashionable women all sported furs throughout the day. Men mostly wore top coats. We noticed a few northern fur coats on the men with the collars turned up. As one wise native said, "the only thing you can do about it, is to make a fire."

Social Items

At Jacksonville at Trailer Village an afternoon tea was given at the trailer of your Trailer Travelling correspondent, an all-Canadian afternoon tea at which four Belleville ladies attended. That grand old trouper Mrs. J. W. Pearce poured while Miss Gertrude Nightingale assisted. Mrs. Willis J. Campbell served the cake while Mrs. R. S. Hart supervised the proceedings being of great help to the host. The table was set under the immense green live oaks. The ladies were pleased with the good quality of the tea served and the bakers cake. After refreshments tea cup reading was the outdoor amusement. Many astonishing future happenings were seen by the Fortune Teller in the ladies' cups. The cup of Mrs. J. S. Hart especially, foretold of further travelling. Next day we took our separate ways, the ladies to Bradenton on the West Coast. Mrs Pearce does the driving, pulling the trailer and has made many trips. Our hope is that she will make many more trips to the Sunshine State by trailer.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Spencer were callers in the park. They are very comfortable in the Alhambra Hotel in the heart of the Magic City (Miami). Their large room overlooks Biscayne Bay.

Several Ontario trailers are now or have been in this park. Toronto, St. Thomas and Belleville represented while Quebec is represented from St. Johns by a French family. Father and mother and two small girls speaking only French. Meeting up with a Frenchman at a downtown cafeteria he told me he fought with the French troops in the last Great War. In the same breath he excitedly told me if he should hear of anyone speaking well of the Mad House Painter he would proceed immediately to "sock him one" on the nose no matter where it should happen. This man comes from the State of Conn. and is now an American citizen. He is of the opinion, knowing the fortifications of the French on the Western Front these fortifications will never be smashed.

BRITAIN KEEPING

The effort to shoulder Germany out of oil markets supplements the two-way blockade of Germany's commerce in which, informed British sources have disclosed, a wide variety of "contraband" was seized from 25,000 parcel post packages from the Americas examined between Oct. 12 and Jan. 12.

Anxiety Centred In Rumania.

British anxiety momentarily is centred on Rumania and in Iran.

In Rumania, formation of a new oil control board has created the possibility of an increased flow to Germany. The new Rumanian commission has authority to take over companies that disobey its orders and the allies have warned that any attempt to compel British and French oil companies operating in Rumania to furnish oil to Germany might "lead to grave complications".

In Iran, Germany has been reported making a determined campaign for a trade increase.

Britain, however, was said to be in contact not only with the governments of Iran and Rumania but also with various other oil-producing countries—Mexico, for instance.

Ronald Cross, Minister for Economic Warfare, said in a broadcast yesterday that "Germany is practically self sufficient if the Nazis use their plentiful foodstuffs to feed their people, not their guns."

Challenge Arguments.

Mr. Cross was challenging arguments that the Birtish blockade of Germany is inhuman and affects women and children rather than men at the front.

"I am not for a moment suggesting that any methods are justifiable against barbarians, and I do not want to bother you with the legal aspects of our case but I would like to put before you certain considerations to show that there is nothing in our policy of which you or I need feel ashamed," he said.

"We must realize that Germany is a totalitarian country and that each German has his place on that economic front. To relax our attack would merely prolong the war and increase loss of life. What's more you cannot separate foodstuffs from industrial raw materials. Not in these days. Why bakelite is made from mild sugar; high explosives from fats, alcohol is motor fuel, and I could give you many more examples.

"Above all I want to make absolutely clear that there need be no starvation in Germany no matter how long the war may last."

Germany Is Blamed.

Mr. Cross continued:

"Fats to feed the people or fats for explosives to feed the guns? That has been a real and painful choice and we have had to make it. It is they and not we who starve German women and children.

"As for Russia, from which the Nazis hope to supply some of their greatest needs, particularly oil and food—Russia has now encountered difficulties of her own.

"The Finnish war will have decreased Russia's exportable stocks of oil, never very large, and put a great strain on her railways, never her strong point. I do not suggest that any economic collapse in Germany is to be expected.

"An economic weapon by itself can only hope to force a decision after a long period. On the other hand, in co-operation with the armed forces, it can hasten victory. It can save countless lives. Signs there are already—good, solid signs, that our campaign is beginning to take effect."

Tweed

Tweed — East Hastings Rural Hockey League, the newest league in Eastern Ontario, got under way on Tuesday night at the Arena in Tweed with a double header. Four teams comprising the league: Roslin, Tweed, Plainfield and Farnsworth, saw action in two spirited games. The quality of the hockey would probably not satisfy the critical fan but the boys had a lot of fun and so did the fans.

Roslin and Tweed tangled in the opener and put up a spirited contest. The former opened the scoring in the first minute when H. Hart took D. Chisolm's pass and beat McIlroy clearly. Doran evened the count a few minutes later. The teams were deadlocked until the three-quarter way mark was reached when Jimmy Sinclair in a burst of speed that carried him through Roslin defence beat Mills with a shot to the corner. Woods, who starred on defense put Tweed well in the lead as he counted on Sinclair's pass.

The speed of the opening period was sustained pretty well through the second frame. Thompson scored the only goal of the period to make the score Tweed 4, Roslin 1.

The withering pace of the first two periods took its toll and play slowed to a walk in the final frame. Roslin kept the play around Tweed net for the greater part of the period but failed to beat McIlroy. Hart and Chisholm were the pick of Roslin team. The final score Tweed 4 Roslin 1.

Roslin—goal —Mills; defence — Chumley, Slingerland; centre— H. Hart; wings— D. Chisholm, G. Tracey; subs— C. Hart, A. Alford, W. Barker, W. Chisholm.

Tweed—goal—McIlroy; defence—Hall, Sherry; centre — Sinclair; wings—Cronk and Thompson; subs —Woods, Emerson, Gabourie, Doran, Gilroy.

Referee—Sayers.

The fastest hockey of the evening was furnished by Plainfield and Farnsworth. Erle Denyes' boys proved too much for their opponents and nosed them out by a 4 to 3 count. Platt of Plainfield was the most effective player on his team, scoring three of the goals, one in each period. Harrison and the two Denyes played well, while Pennington starred in goal.

Platt opened the scoring for the ultimate winners in the first period for the only goal. Three penalties were handed out in the opener.

McCaw tied the score in the second period, only to have Platt break the deadlock on a pass from Denyes. Plainfield was never headed after Platt's second goal.

Four goals, evenly divided were rung up, with Platt notching his third counter and Harrison scoring the winning goal. Lapore and McCaw combined for Farnsworth's second goal and the latter made the count 4 to 3 as the gong sounded to end the period.

The game was keenly contested, and cleanly played .

Plainfield— goal — Pennington; defence — Moore and Dunning; centre—Platt; wings—D. Denyes and G. Denyes; subs—Harrison, Gray, W. Carleton, Emerson, C. Carleton.

Farnsworth—goal—R. Palmateer; defence—L. Gunning, A. Tufts; centre — McCaw; wings — Ross Palmateer, G. Dunning; subs—Don Palmateer, A. Palmateer; N. Thompson, G. Jones, S. Bateman, Laurason Gunning, R. Rattan, J. Lajoie.

Referee—Sayers.

Following the game an organization meeting was held. Mr. S. R. Curry, editer of Tweed News was elected president. The executive is composed of one representative of each team. Mr. Erle Denyes, Plainfield; Mr. Brett, Roslin; Mr. Harold Emerson, Tweed; Mr. Bob Palmateer, Farnsworth.

Mrs. John Brown is seriously ill at her home on Arthur Street.

Mrs. A. C. Blakely who has been ill for some time is convalescing at her home.

A mild case of Scarlet Fever is reported in the village.

The Young People's Union of Tweed United Church to the number of about twenty-five motored to Madoc on Monday evening where they were the guests of Madoc Young People's Society. Tweed members gave an interesting program after which they were royally entertained by their hosts and hostesses. The program was as follows.

Mountain View

Mountain View—The Mountain View Young People held their weekly meeting on Monday night in the Sunday School rooms with a good attendance of members and a few visitors. Rossmore Young People were invited to this meeting to debate but didn't come. The meeting was opened by singing hymn 19 followed by prayer. Mr. Murray Black read the Scripture lesson. Business was discussed for a few minutes and Miss Betra Fairman was chosen as delegate to attend the Winter School in Belleville. Mr. Andrew Harris read the weekly issue of the club paper. Mr. Warren Chase, County President, was called on and declared Mountain View the winners of the debate. Mr. Lewis Wight led in a sing song. The singing of hymn 3 and the benediction brought the meeting to a close. Misses Frances Wallbridge and Barbara Wilson conducted games. The Mountain View girls then served refreshments.

Mr. Stirling Stewart held a factory meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the cheese factory. Owing to the cold day the attendance was not as large as expected.

Mrs. John Black, Mrs. Ben Anderson also Miss Lillian Sprague attended the Past Patrons' Club held at the home of Mrs. Harry Brown, Wellington on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Lillian Sprague was the winner of the prize for playing euchre. At the close the hostess served a dainty lunch.

Misses Hazel Minaker and Madeline McKittrick spent Tuesday afternoon with Miss Bernice Minaker.

Mrs. McCutcheon accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hubbs of Belleville to Picton Tuesday and were dinner guests with Mr. and Mrs. Carson Hubbs.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rikley of Wallbridge were Tuesday supper guests at the home of Mrs. Everett Minaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Chase of North Lakeside accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague and spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Toronto.

On Tuesday evening the annual meeting of the Mountain View Church and Sunday School was held in the Sunday School rooms. Rev. Smith was the chairman and the meeting was opened with Mr. Keeble leading in prayer. Reports were read of both the church and Sunday School activities and also the financial report of the year ending 1939.

The election of officers for the new year then took place. Mrs. Ben Anderson on behalf of the church presented Mrs. Clarke Sprung with an electric hanging lamp in appreciation of her many years of service as secretary and treasurer for the church. Mrs. J. Black presented Mr. J. G. Sprague with a gift in appreciation of his services as caretaker for the church and Sunday School. Mr. Sprague does the work all year without making a charge. Mrs. Sprung and Mr. Sprague expressed their thanks for the gifts received. Mr. J. G. Sprague and Mr. John Black were chosen as a committee for the looking after a partial new floor for the basement. The meeting was brought to a close with Rev. Smith pronouncing the benediction.

The Mountain View Young People attended the Prince Edward County Young People's annual skating party held in the Wellington Arena on Wednesday night. Skating was enjoyed from eight until ten. Then all went to the United Church and recreation was enjoyed under the leadership of Mr. Frank Brimley. At the close refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wood of Victoria are spending a time with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood.

The Vanity Sewing Circle held their meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Misses Miriam and Joan Keeble. A busy afternoon was spent in working on the project. At the close Mrs. Keeble served refreshments.

The Mountain View Young People's Hockey team played with the Consecon team in the Wellington Arena on Thursday night. Mountain View were the winners 4-1.

Miss Hazel Minaker spent the week end at the home of her brother, Mr. Everett Minaker.

Owing to the heavy snow storm and blocked roads there was no church or Sunday School here on Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. R. Cragg and son of Northport, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Clare, Trent Road.

Friends of Mr. Bean of the Fish and Chip store will be sorry to learn that his mother passed away in England this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Brown of West Lake, are visiting the latter's daughter, Mrs. Rowsome, Foster Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Moher, Anna and John Moher, Messrs. Stephen Garvin, Thomas and Michael McCauley, Bert McQuaid, and Don Cicori attended the funeral in Napanee this week of the late B. R. Napolis.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Gift spent Monday in Lindsay with the latter's sister, Mrs. Barnett.

Friends of Mrs. James A. Barclay will be sorry to learn of the death of her father, Joseph Laurie, in London, Ontario. He is survived by four sons and four daughters. Mr. Laurie's wife predeceased him ten months ago.

Mrs. Donald Baxter of Wellington is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Denike, 308 Ann Street, during the sessions of the Winter School of which she is registrar.

Rev. Roy Rickard, dean of the Winter School now in session at Bridge Street United Church, and Mrs. Rickard of Colborne, are the guests of the latter's parents, Alderman and Mrs. H. J. Clarke, Foster Avenue.

A marriage of interest to Belleville took place at the Church of All Saints, Toronto, of Miss Emily Alexander Stewart of New York City, daughter of the late D. E. K. Stewart, barrister and Mrs. Stewart of Madoc, and Mr. Fred Stuart Wilson of Belleville. Rev. T. W. Murphy officiated. The bride is a sister of Mrs. Edward Cross of this city.

A large attendance of the members of the Young People's Society of St. John's United church, Brockville, assembeld in the Sunday school hall on Tuesday evening, to bid good-bye to Miss Lillian Hunter, who leaves this week for Belleville. The meeting opened with the regular devotional service, conducted by the President, William McKeever. After the devotions, the young people spent a very pleasant evening playing various games. As a token of their appreciation of the services rendered the society by Miss Hunter, the president on behalf of the members, presented her with a lovely Luray breakfast set. At the close refreshments were served.

Spring flowers and matching tapers made a dainty setting for the tea held yesterday afternoon in the Parish House by members of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Thomas' Church. A splendid crowd attended and the tea was a marked success. The guests were received by Mrs. E. R. Logie, president of the W.A., and Mrs. George N. Gorman, convener of the tea. Miss Ida Thompson poured tea and the assistants were Mrs. J. Tilley, Mrs. J. C. Lancaster, Miss Ethel Gorman and Mrs. J. Chant. The home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. George Tilley and Mrs. B. G. Wilkinson. Mrs. John R. Cummings was treasurer for the afternoon.

On Tuesday, January 23rd., a very enjoyable party was held in the Liberal Club Rooms, which were beautifully decorated in light blue and mauve, by members of the Metropolitan Store staff and friends, dancing to the merry tunes of Tommy Mason and his orchestra, from nine-thirty to two. A delicious lunch was served at midnight and many prizes were given for Novelty dances, Spot dances, door prizes and lucky drawings. Prize winners were as follows—Misses Margaret Smith, Maureen Cannon, Phyllis Rawson, Anne Doran, H. Smith, Lillian Courneyea, Ruth Brough, Elena Westfall, D. Rose, Eileen Williams, Bland McBrien, Laura Keene, Joan Marsh, Mrs. Russel Weese, Mrs. Frank Cowan, Messrs. Dick Burnes, Ted Follwell, Cliff LeSauvage, Leonard Hall, Bill Lewis, Don Wood, Russel Weese, Gordon Griffon, Archie Duffield, Ron Lynch and Dick Rayner. To the pleasure of the guests Miss Joan Marsh obligingly and gracefully complied with the wishes of the orchestra leader and gave a novelty tap dance. Mr. Ron Steele, manager, ably performed his duties as Master of Ceremonies and all hands joined in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow". The evening was brought to a close by singing "God Save the King".

Miss Norah McCarthy, Canadian championship figure skater, who appeared in Belleville last year, came under the auspices of the Quinte Skating Club and not the V.O.N. Carnival as mentioned yesterday.

Under the auspices of Christ Church A.Y.P.A. a successful dance was held last evening in the Parish Hall.

'Citizenship' Theme Of Address to Home-School Club

The regular monthly meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held Wednesday evening, January 17, in the Teachers' Room. The President, Mrs. R. Ashbury was in the chair. The meeting opened with "O Canada" after which the President welcomed the members and guests.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne was then introduce by Mrs. W. Harrison. His topic was "Citizenship". Home and School work is an effort to build good citizens. Home duties are not sufficient for a real spirit of Citizenship but true perspective is lost when wor is performed halfheartedly, or passed on to some one else.

A firmness in the performance of tasks and a spirit of willingness and cheerfulness are important factors in development.

Canada is a comparatively young country, not fully aware of its possibilities of future citizens. There are various duties to be performed, loyalty to country and environment, to projects we undertake and to responsibilities we assume. In good performance of tasks one must learn the true spirit of citizenship.

On behalf of the club a vote of thanks to Rev. Mr. Payne for his interesting address was moved by Mrs. Bankey, seconded by Mrs. Quinsey. The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem after which refreshments were served. Miss Wedden's room won the attendance award.

DINE WITH PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Raymond Massey, Canadian-born actor who has won fame through his portrayal of Abe Lincoln, and Mrs. Massey, were forced to take to the air to get to the White House in time for dinner with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. They were en route to the capital by train but were delayed by an accident to the train preceding theirs and had to complete the trip by air to get to the White House in time. Mr. and Mrs. Massey are shown getting flowers from Jean Purucker, air-line hostess.

COMRADE CLUB HOSTESSES TO SCHOOLDELEGATES

140 Sit Down to Splendid Banquet at Tabernacle Church

The Comrade Club of Tabernacle Church were hostesses to the Winter School delegates and friends last night when 140 sat down at gaily decorated tables to a splendid supper. Rev. D. T. McClintock welcomed the visitors and the President complimented the Comrade Club to which its president, Mrs. Edith Irwin replied.

Community singing of new songs was led by 'Roy' Rickard and a comedy stunt song "Donkey Ride' led by Rev. Dewey Stinson.

Greetings from other schools and members were read and reciprocated. Delegates were called to make two minute impromptu speeches on foolish questions which provided lots of merriment to the rest. Rev. J. W. Gordon of Port Hope closed the gathering after a talk on "The Place of Laughter in Religion." Delegates proceeded to Bridge Street Church for the Amateur Night Program.

Molasses Has Nutritive Value

Nutritive Value of Molasses

"has molasses any nutritive value other than its carbohydrate content?"

Molasses, even in January when it is supposed to be very slow, is a quick form of nutrition. A dietetic research group at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology reports that "molasses supplies abundance of organic iron of greater value than the chemicals usually injected into blood of anaemic persons, and the poorer and darker grades are richer in iron than the more refined kinds".

The iron in molasses is in the form which is available for building up the red coloring matter of the blood. Molasses is about six parts of iron per unit, while beef liver stands second with five. Oatmeal is third with four. Apricots, eggs and raisins have only two-thirds, one-half and one-third as much iron as molasses. Spinach is only one-half of one part of iron.

Molasses, often called sorghum, long has been known to carry much of the vitamins of the green cane growth from which it is made. Buckwheat flour is high in vitamins A, B, G and E and a good content of minerals. Add yeast and butter, and a stack of buckwheat cakes, well covered with molasses, is a highly revitalizing food for winter weather.

Presentations

On Monday evening, January 22, a few of the friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Bradley, Madoc, to show honour to their youngest son, Michael, who has recently donned the uniform for his King and Country. A quiet and very pleasant social evening was spent together, before Mr. R. N. Broad, who acted as chairman called the gathering to order and Allan Diamond read an address which was signed on behalf of his friends and neighbours by John Henry and Allan Diamond.

After a very fitting reply from Pte. Bradley and the singing "For he's a jolly good fellow", the Rev. Father Hyland gave a few well chosen and much appreciated remarks. A bounteous lunch was served by the ladies and then the friends quietly dispersed to their homes.

District Meeting of C. W. L. Members is Held in Belleville

Representatives of seven sub-divisions of the Catholic Women's League were present in the K. of C. Council Chambers, yesterday afternoon for a district meeting under the convenership of Mrs. A. B. Collins, president of Belleville subdivision and member of the diocesan executive. Greetings from the Diocesan President, Mrs. W. H Raney were read to the gathering expressing good wishes for the success of the meeting.

An interesting discussion was held on ways and means of raising funds for the work and of increasing membership. Presidents of each sub division spoke on outstanding features of their branch with the honors going to Point Anne and Deseronto for the enthusiasm and planning which makes their meetings so successful.

Among the suggestions received regarding elections was the preparation by each member of nominations slate of officers which is then submitted to the nominating committee giving this group valuable assistance in preparing names for election. Prizes for attendance, bank night at meetings, social evenings after the discussion of business, were all helpful ways of creating interest in the meetings. Deseronto was preparing juniors to carry on the work of the league in future league. These girls were guest members for one year and many functions were planned with their entertainment in mind.

All branches have undertaken war work, associating themselves with the Red Cross as a unit, or joining with the various organizations of the community as War Workers.

At the close of the interesting meeting, the members of the Belleville sub division served refreshments, the tea table being presided over by Mrs. A. B. Collins. The appreciation of the visitors for the hospitality extended to them was voiced in a vote of thanks presented by Mrs. Marigold of Deseronto.

The Stars Say

For Friday, January 26

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

VERY definite progress may be made on this day, particularly in breaking up long-crystallized or static conditions, according to the lunar transits. This will be through hard work, sound judgment and a firm grasp of impeding circumstances. Rash or impulsive attack would prove hazardous. Change, removal or travel might be advisable.

Those whose birthday it is have the promise of a year in which difficult or static conditions may be profitably manipulated by energy and application, shrewd insight into causes and frustrations, and by the advice and co-operation of elders or other wise heads. Rash, impulsive and extravagant conduct would be perilous, change of plans and environs advisable.

A child born on this day may be deep, studious, serious and dependable, although prone to be stubborn, set and dogmatic. Yet, it may have originality and some definitely progressive ideas for group benefit.

AT THE BELLE

"The Secret of Dr. Kildare"

Romance, in a great hospital, baffling mystery in a beautiful girl's mysterious terror, and thrills of amateur detective work are blended in "The Secret of Dr. Kildare," scientific detective romance which is now at the Belle with Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore.

The story deals with a mental mystery. Ayres, as Dr. Jimmy Kildare, is called on to diagnose the mental state of beautiful Helen Gilbert. Employing detective methods he traces her terror to the suggestions of a fanatical nurse who insists she has a brain tumor and takes her to a quack doctor (Grant Mitchell). The dramatic denouement is Ayres' cure of the girl's blindness under the guidance of Lionel Barrymore, as the veteran Dr. Gillespie, by practical mental suggestion.

A Medical Miracle

Based on the popular story by Max Brand, the picture shows many interesting modern medical discoveries as sidelines to the central plot. Barrymore demonstrates the use of prostygmin in a strange case of paralysis, a seeming miracle, in one dramatic highlight. A scientific apparatus, one of the latest miracles of science, is seen on the screen for the first time. Many comedy episodes, such as Barrymore's game of "craps" with George Reed, playing his servant, enliven the thrills and heart interest.

Harold S. Bucquet, who directed "On Borrowed Time" piloted the production. Settings include the interior and exterior of a great New York hospital, gay night clubs, the home of a millionaire, and a high tower from which a view of New York is photographed.

Supporting players new to the "Dr. Kildare" series include Lionel Atwill as the millionaire father of the "mystery patient," Helen Gilbert, who scored as the dramatics teacher in "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever," and Sara Haden playing a fanatical nurse. Among those who continue the characterizations of earlier pictures in the series are Nat Pendleton as the two-fisted ambulance driver. Laraine Day as the attractive nurse, Samuel S. Hinds and Emma Dunn as Lew Ayres' parents, Walter Kingsford as the hospital superintendent, Grant Mitchell, Alma Kruger, Robert Kent and Marie Blake, the wise-cracking telephone operator.

"Joe and Ethel Turp"

Ethel and Joe Turp begin their screen careers by proxy in the persons of Ann Sothern and William Gargan in the filmization of Damon Runyon's widely-read story, "Joe and Ethel Turp Call on the President," which assures the spectator a laughing good time in the second good hit feature attraction.

Featured in the cast with "Mr. and Mrs. Turp" are Lewis Stone, momentarily forsaking his famous characterization of "Judge Hardy" to enact the Chief Executive, Walter Brennan, Marsha Hunt and Tom Neal, Brennan, twice Academy Award winner for the best supporting player performance, has what is hailed as the finest role of his career in the new comedy drama. His role of Jim, the postman of Flatbush, Brooklyn, carries him from his early twenties through more than thirty-five years of his life. Marsha Hunt, enacting the sweetheart of his youth, ages similarly in the course of the story.

"Drunk Driving" Thrilling

A short of unusual interest is "Drunk Driving" the latest and one of the best of the crime-does-not-pay series.

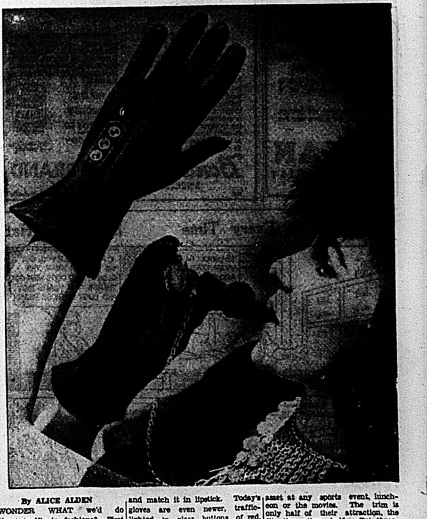
STOP FOR CHIC!



By ALICE ALDEN

WONDER WHAT we'd do without traffic in fashions? First our clothes are matched to automobile upholstery — or vice versa. Next, we adopt stop-red for a sensational wardrobe color and match it in lipstick. Today's gloves are even newer, traffic-lighted in glass buttons of red, yellow and green! They were designed by one of our clever young Americans for the lady at the wheel, but are an all-around asset at any sports event, luncheon or the movies. The trim is only half of their attraction, the fit the other half. Cut three-dimensional to follow the contour of the hand, they are also made with rounded finger-tips and stitched to stay.

These "COOKS" ARE CHAMPIONS

Mrs. George E. Cook, R.R. 3, Acton, Ont., with her daughters Edna (centre) and Florence.

MRS. COOK and her two daughters live up to their name. They have won nearly eighty prizes for baking at the Acton and Erin Fairs. "I really believe," says Mrs. Cook, "that Robin Hood is the best flour. I like it for cakes, cookies and pies; and it makes such fine-textured, beautiful white loaves of bread. I do all my baking with Robin Hood."

It isn't by chance that more Canadian women use Robin Hood than any other flour. Robin Hood is "the choice of champions" because champions are wise housewives who think first of giving their families the best in bread, cakes and pies. And Robin Hood gives them the best.

Every kernel of the choice Spring wheat used in milling Robin Hood is thoroughly washed before it is ground. Look into a bag of Robin Hood and see how clean and white it is. Test its fineness and rich baking quality by rubbing a handful between your fingers. Best of all, try Robin Hood in your own kitchen. If you haven't used it before you'll be delighted to find how good a cook you really are!

Sincerely,

Evangeline

More Variety for Luncheons

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

HERE ARE SOME dishes for Sunday night supper or for luncheon.

Potato Souffle is relished by elderly persons and by youngsters, too. Make a potato puree. This does not merely mean mashed potatoes, but a potato mash into which has been worked a fair-sized piece of butter and some warm milk. Cream well, add salt, pepper and a bit of grated nutmeg. Beat up two eggs and add to the puree. Bake in oven for 15 minutes.

Red Devil is our favorite name for the next dish. Toast several slices of bread, trim the crusts. Spread with creamed butter mixed with a little prepared mustard. Cover with slices of tomato, sprinkle with grated Parmesan and place under broiler until cheese is melted. Serve very hot, garnished with slices of stuffed olive and watercress sprigs.

No Name, but Good

We haven't any name for this recipe, but it's good just the same. Mix well two ounces grated cheese, one ounce butter, a teaspoon anchovy essence and a dash of cayenne. Work in a little vinegar to taste, moisten, if necessary, with cream, and serve on rounds of fried bread, sprinkled with paprika and chopped parsley.

Apples with Sausage Filling is that oft-sought "something different." Core and peel number of apples required. Fill cavities with well-seasoned sausage meat. Bake in a moderate oven until tender. Arrange on rounds of toast, pour a teaspoon melted butter over each and serve very hot, with a garnish of parsley and fried sausage, if desired.

Kidney Hot-Pot may be prepared in advance and heated when required. Fry sliced kidneys in butter until well browned and place in glass over casserole with layers of carrots, onions and potatoes. Add a scant tablespoon pearl barley. Flavor with herbs and season to taste, and add a little stock. Place in oven and bake slowly for two hours. Gravy may be thickened if required.

Mushroom Dish

Mushrooms are next. Stem and peel eight ounces mushrooms and place in saucepan with an ounce of butter rolled in flour, and a sprinkling of pepper, salt and finely chopped parsley. Stir for 10 minutes and add gradually the yolks of two eggs beaten with one-fourth pint cream. Simmer for five minutes, taking care not to let mixture boil, and serve at once.

For a wholesome sweet, cook four ounces cut macaroni in a pint of milk until thick, stir in two tablespoons of sugar, a beaten egg and a few drops of lemon essence. Spread mixture evenly on a flat dish and leave to cool. Cut into small pieces, shape into balls, dip in beaten egg, coat with fine bread crumbs and fry in deep fat until golden brown. Drain, sprinkle with cinnamon and confectioners' sugar. Serve hot.

Help in Running a House

By ELEANOR ROSS

HERE ARE some household suggestions, many of them contributed by kind and clever readers who are experts in running a household.

When buying pillow-slips at the white sales, now in progress, carry a memo giving the size of your pillows. Both slips and pillows vary greatly. If you prefer making your own slips, allow about 32 inches for each standard pillow-slip. When making, remember that tapes are easier to put on, easier to replace, and less liable to be damaged in the wash than a button fastening. Three pairs of tapes are sufficient, unless, of course, the slips are made with the hinging ends. If you wish to add your monogram, work it on the hanging end of a long pillow-slip. White embroidery always looks nice, and is in good taste.

Holiday meals often bring an aftermath of stains on table linen. Wine usually yields to a stream of hot water poured on from a height, the stains, first of all, being covered with salt. Sponge wine stains on unwashable fabrics with turpentine. A more drastic method, suitable, though, only for uncolored fabrics, is to sponge the stain with ammonium carbonate (salts of ammonia) dissolved in water.

Do not throw away the corks from bottles. They are very useful for cleaning purposes, especially in the spring. A cork dipped in a little damp salt will remove burn marks from plates, also stains on aluminum and enamelled saucepans.

The best sponge will become slimy after prolonged use. If so, dip in salts of lemon (from a drug store), putting a little in fairly hot water. Squeeze, rinse in clear, warm water.

A good way to keep a leather coat clean and supple and to prevent it from becoming dry and cracked is to rub it thoroughly with pure, clear wax. And finally, a good home-dye hint: when dyeing garments, tack them with long stitches and add a spare piece of material to the dye. After dyeing, carefully take out the tacking and you will have both material and thread for mending.

Working Mother Works Hard For Success

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph. D.

A FEW MOTHERS work from choice, most from necessity.

You and I agree that the young child should, until he can look after himself pretty well, have his mother home most of the time. He not only needs her physical care but her love and companionship as well.

The school child likes to meet his mother on arriving home from school; even the high school student profits from this meeting, as a rule. As one high school girl said in a youth forum I was leading, "Home is an empty and dismal place when, evening after evening, you arrive there without finding your mother to greet you." Thousands of youths in the United States could say the same. But few of them would say that if their mother were working, instead of always gadding about.

I have great sympathy for the working mother who worries about the physical and moral safety and welfare of her child while she must be away from home, especially if she is unable to have a substitute to look after him. I hear from many such mothers.

Companionship Suffers

It grieves many a mother that she cannot give her child the companionship he deserves. True, she can have her evenings and week-ends home, but feeling weary after a day's work, she may not be at her best in the evening. Besides, she usually must be encumbered with the household cares on returning home. Indeed, the average working mother must do nearly as much work at home as if she were not also working away from home—cook the dinner and breakfast, tidy the house, mend, wash and iron, and care for the sick and ailing children at night. How so many of these working mothers do keep going as they do is more than I can understand.

While it often happens—and no wonder!—that the working mother loses control of her children once they begin to run about, many a mother, even a widow who has had to work away from home from the time her children were babies, has brought up fine citizens.

If the working mother can have her little child well cared for in her absence; if, while she is with her child at home, she can discipline him effectively, and if she can, evenings and mornings and week-ends, train him well in the sharing of the home responsibility, she might excel as a parent. Some working mothers do. Remember also that their children usually have abundant opportunity for learning self-reliance.

When the child from six or eight upwards learns to share in the home responsibilities, the working mother has more time to relax, and be more agreeable and companionable at home. And if there is a father in the home of the working mother, he can contribute his share by helping in the home duties and in the care and guidance of the children.

Three things the working mother should emphasize: (1) early, adequate restraints of the child; (2) habits of responsibility in him; (3) lots of love and companionship between him and her.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Would you pretend that your feelings are hurt and that you are crying when the child of three or four is naughty?

A. No; to do so would be childish. Besides, it would eventually wear out in its effect. What is more the child should learn that he alone must suffer for his bad deeds.

AIRCRAFT REPORTED OVER SHETLAND IS.

London, Jan. 25. (CP)—Aircraft believed to be German bombers were reported over the Shetland Islands north of Scotland today. An air raid warning lasted 31 minutes.

It was reported three of the invaders dropped bombs, but no official confirmation was available immediately. British fighter planes chased off the invaders.

A witness said the planes resembled Heinkel bombers. One dived toward a steamship in an island harbor, but made no bomb attack. The invaders flew into a cloudbank, evading their pursuers.
